He has ridden the bony old nag of "provincial autonomy" to repeated victories in the province. He has successfully kept alive the bogey that somebody or other, somewhere, some nothing, has designs on the province slightly, but sight or day, than to scheme and connive to take away from rights of Quebec.

His most recent resurrection of the bogey was to do with the tapping of natural gas from Alberta to Eastern Canada, which, at least on that matter, includes Quebec as part of Canada.

Mr. Duplessis announced solemnly to newspaper men that anybody desiring to pump natural gas from Quebec will have to get the permission of the government of Quebec, and anybody who doesn't know who the government of Quebec is, is sadly out of touch with political Canadians.

Before any gas pipeline is even if position to assault Mr. Duplessis' precious provincial barricades, it must cross the provinces of Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario.

We have heard the anguished cries of persecution from Regina. Winnipeg has been strangely quiet while its rights are wrested from it. Toronto, traditionally not given to treading within lightly, has not uttered a peep, as far as we are aware, as the hob nailed boots of Ontario trampled all over its provincial autonomy. This is surely out of character for Regina, Winnipeg and Toronto.

But then, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario are not blessed with the presence of sensitive and astute premiers like Mr. Duplessis.

If ever there is a prize awarded for creating straw men of truly astonishing durability and longevity, Maurice Duplessis will

New Tune For Music Union

(Wall Street Journal)

Mr. James Caesar Petrillo, who once threatened the king of Denmark with a membership drive because "he's something of a musician," has decided his union's featherbed regulations forbid theatres, radio stations and the like to hire more musicians than they need to do the job.

The American Federation of Musicians adopted the rule several years back. It was designed to protect local fiddlers from being put by names being imported from about the country. The fear was that if a radio station or theatre hired the resident musicians would be out of work. So the idea was that if the local bands were hired to play, just as many local musicians as they need even if not to play, in any case, the rule seemed to be a good one at the time.

But Mr. Petrillo the other day told the musicians at their annual meeting in Milwaukee, where the German oompah bands once travelled from place to place blowing suds and tunes, that the idea wasn't working at all—and should be were resident musicians. People who were willing to hire one band were willing to hire both. Pockets of work has been lost. Today there is not one single Dixieland band in Chester in a picture theatre in Times Square. That is not good news for musicians.

Also it was not good business for the union, and that's the reason Mr. Petrillo changed his tune. And the change proves that the Petrillo now knows how he has to pay the piper.

Newspaper Chivalry
(Ottawa Citizen)

Who says newspaper men are hard boiled? What could be more delicate than this Associated Press report from Hollywood concerning the operation undergone by Theda Bara, original vamp of the silent movies ago? It is carefully guarded secret, but 10 years ago the columnists were saying she had pas-

Chinese Numerous

(Philadelphia Bulletin)

Some people whose memory runs back 50 years or more may recall the legend of the lady who refused to have more than three children because she heard that very fourth baby born into the world was Chinese.

There was another statistic to the effect that if the people of China marched four abreast the procession would never end. The birth rate in China would lengthen the procession as rapidly as the front ranks marched off into eternity.

These terrifying statistics turn out to be approximately true. The first real census in China, taken in 1945 by the Communists and considered by population experts to be "fairly reliable" showed that at midnight on June 30, 1953, the Chinese population was one-fourth of the estimated population of the whole earth.

The earliest estimate of the world's population which was much more than a wild guess was made about a century ago. It placed China's share of the whole globe had a title over a billion inhabitants.

Judging by the known rate of increase since then, the earth's people population in this century was about the same as China's today.

Complainers Are Promoted

(Windsor Star)

Out in rural parts there is an old saying that the squeaking wheel gets the grease. And so long as a wheel is running smoothly and turning quietly on its axle it gets no grease. That adage often has been applied to humans. It is those who never complain most get the most attention.

And there is some truth to this is suggested by in investigation made by a Chicago firm of efficiency research into a large factory employing 4,000 people. It discovered that men who were dissatisfied with their jobs were frequently promoted.

There may be some justification for this. The man who is dissatisfied with his job often thinks (perhaps rightly) that he could do the job in a better way, or capable of a better position. He thinks he deserves the attention of management, and it agrees with the workers' philosophy and is to do something about it.

This activity, however, will be regarded as unfair by those workers who seek only to do their jobs quietly and efficiently in the expectation management will see their faithful service and reward them. It will be disconcerting if they find the knockers getting the best breaks.

YANKEE BERI BERI SNEAKS UP ON YOU

Dr. Brady

American victims of beri beri remain ambulatory, and indeed many of them do not seek medical advice because they think their trouble is nothing that this or that nostrum won't cure.

Beri beri in Singalese means "I cannot," I'm too weak, too ill to do anything.

It is a nutritional deficiency disease, due to lack or sufficient vitamin B. Extreme privation of vitamin B, from poverty or famine, accounts for the severest form of beri beri in the orient, especially where refined white rice is the staple diet, and other item of diet. If the people replace polished rice with natural brown, red, unpolished rice they will no' develop beri beri, because unrefined rice is the best food source of vitamin B in the orient.

If the people replace refined white flour with whole wheat flour here in the occident they will not develop beri beri, because plain wheat (staff of life) is the best food source of vitamin B in America.

Occidental beri beri, like the severer orients type, does not strike victims down abruptly this afternoon; or last week. It develops insidiously, a' gradually increasing weakness which sneaks up on you ,while you doctor yourself with whatever sedatives, tonics or liver regulators casual bystanders recommend.

Since the only effectiv remedy for prevention or cure of American beri beri is vitamin B, and vitamin B can do no harm whether you have beri beri or not, here are some of the symptoms of beri beri:

Feeling of fatigue, heaviness and stiffness of the legs, sometimes the weakness of the legs is so pronounced that the legs collapse suddenly after a mile walk, fainting sensation around toes and numbness over top of foot. Calf of leg is tender when grasped by the hand and squeezed. Loss of sensation over the shin bone. Burning, numbness or loss of power in hands. Shortness of breath, palpitation on exertion. Dyspepsia, "pins and needles" in hand and/or feet, fatigue, breathlessness, palpitation, puffiness or edema round the ankles. Knee jerks not active or absent. You should be responsive kick when tendon just below knee cap is tapped. If the individual with Yankee beri beri squats on his heels the position is quite painful. Then, unable to rise to his feet without using his hands or being helped. Distension and prominence of veins in the neck and arms.

The best food sources of vitamin B are plain wheat, oatmeal, kidney, lean pork, cooked smoked ham, bacon, lean beef steaks, beans, fresh peas, dried beans, fresh peas, peanuts, nuts, whole grain.

THE LAST LAP

It's the finish, in all the things we do, that counts most in the end. We are judged more by some of the efforts that we have put into our work and task as a whole. To have sincerely striven is to have earned the applause of angels.

In a horse race or an athletic contest, it's the last lap that counts most of all. Into that all the reserve that one possesses is thrown. Even though that last lap does not result in winning honors, you will have displayed unmatched your courage and your calibre. All triumphs are not in the finish line.

Condition is about everything in the matter of a race. It is something that tells the story of the last lap. It also tells the story of one's happiness and success in life, for the mind, the body, and the spirit of a person must be conditioned to health and a wholesome outlook upon life.

Mere luck plays a very small part in one's ultimate success, unless you create that luck! People who get joy and spiritual substance out of habitual work never complain about not being given chances. They create the chances as they envision that last lap! We all hope for at least one worthy achievement to be entered below our name.

The matter of work, incentive and ambition within us is an habitual performance from day to day. Some people like to work, so long as it is useful and worthy, in any way. There is a way of doing it that may be made notable the last lap by everyone, in any contest, and indeed in life itself.

The reserves that we set aside for the last lap, and those which we store away in our own bodies, are what tell as we come to the end of the lap in many an enterprise. They give confidence and assurance, and a personal unlitt

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

IT WORKS

A Frenchman named Lepaux invited, about a century ago, the command to the world a new religion. He called it Theophilanthropism. Although he put a great deal of time and effort into promoting the new faith, it died out before it ever gained popularity. He therefore went to his friend Talleyrand and the shrewd old statesman replied:

"I am not surprised at the difficulty you encounter, but I can tell you as to how to succeed. Go and be crucified," said Talleyrand, "and then be buried, and then rise again on the third day, and then go on working miracles. Finally be dead, healing all manner of diseases, and casting out devils. Then and then only will it be possible for you to begin to succeed."

Attempts have often been made to have, every day, in the world, Christianity, but the substitutes are so patently inadequate and downright wanting as to the basic human needs that they have never succeeded. Christianity was right. Christianity has swept across the world because it has come to the world with power through the experiences men and women have, every day. In the midst of carelessness, makes one adequate to the trials and temptations of life, and sets a eternal life as its ultimate goal.

No adequate substitute for this religion has yet been found — nor, we believe, ever will be. It works.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Nature appears to put the finishing touches to her spring and summer work by sending forth pests to destroy and doom them. People who keep chickens notice that the hens are restless in the late particular hen, and for no known reason, suddenly begin to peck it and often kill it. Among dogs, say a litter of beagles, there will be one all the others have a curious hostility to, and it leads to fights in kennels that the whole tribe will set upon the unfortunate one and kill it if it is not rescued by the common consent.

I planted a little group of seven or eight Scotch pines by my summer cottage. They established in apparent equality for six or seven years, each taking on its own character. Then I noticed situated as far as earth, light and water were concerned, one of the woodpecker family, attacked one particular tree of the group and ringed it round with a succession of perforations of holes. The tree bled rosin for days. None of the other pines, though their branches intertwined, showed any signs of attack.

Insects swarmed about the wounds, bees and wasps came and helped themselves to the rosin. Finally I cut the tree down and a few hours to collect whatever he was after around the injuries. It occurred to me that this particular tree might have become infested with insects, and that is why the bird dug the holes in it. But a bird authority assures me that a woodpecker is not in search of buried insects; he drills holes in trees to provide a food supply.

Though the holes dried up, all summer long the tree's life was in danger. It was a special attention from a great variety of insects, and the birds came to busy themselves about it, beetles have undoubtedly laid eggs in its wood, others have infested its twigs, Ants held processions up and down all day long. A few feet away, the other trees of the little plantation were undisturbed by all such attentions. But the one tree is doomed. It sickens. Already, some of its branches are turning red.

Nature has the secret of these scunners nature takes on certain

Senator Calls Scenic Drive Plan by Council Nonsense

TRENTON—(Special)—Senator Fraser on Tuesday night informed town council he would be willing to vacate in 30 days' notice part of his Trenton Cooperage Mills plant on Wharf Street should council take action on their plans for a traffic outlet and scenic drive on that street.

Although council does not contemplate immediate action on such a project it is still being considered for future planning.

Senator Fraser's notice was given in a letter read before the middle of the month meeting. Mayor Rose and three councillors were present.

In the letter Senator Fraser also told council he wished to deed the Parks Board, in perpetuity, a considerable strip of property running along the east boundary of Wharf Street in the softball park.

The letter was a reply to a communication from council advising the Senator the town is not interested in the property he owns but is concerned with the road allowance on Wharf Street.

Called Nonsense

Forming council's proposal for a traffic outlet and scenic drive nonsense Senator Fraser proceeded to clarify the situation.

"You will now have received a diagram and report from the land surveyor" the letter continued, "and your records will show that Wharf Street was never opened and that this company procured an easement on the title of Wharf Street in 1908. Would further point out that Wharf Street from Wragg Street to the Trenton Yacht Club building is either covered by water or on a fill that this company has made and which is fast being reclaimed by the bay, the water front property ends up in the Yacht Club Storage siding from Wragg Street to Shuter Street.

"Therefore, at the present time has a cooper shop partly on the south side of Wharf Street at the intersection of Wragg. This cooper shop is now providing employment for ten or twelve men, but if it is the desire of the Mayor and Council for us to remove this building — and we might mention it is on land rented from the Trenton Cooperage Mills — we shall immediately take to do so on 30 days' notice.

"Might further point out for consideration that there is now a road providing an outlet from the business section to Wragg Street. This road runs through to the Canadian National parking lot and is being used by those who wish to reach the Carryfast Place road by this route."

OWNS WATER LOTS

Senator Fraser informed council that the Trenton Cooperage Mills owned also the owner of water lots running from the east boundary of Shuter Street and extending for 661 feet out in the bay, then extending south westerly to a point on the extension of the south boundary of Wragg Street and from there to the intersection of Wragg Street and Wharf Street.

In addition to this property Trenton Cooperage also owns 970 feet of shoreline running south-easterly from Wragg Street.

Senator Fraser mentioned the land the Trenton Cooperage Mills has made available and donated to industries located in Trenton. His company provided sites for Canadian Chemical Company, the Dowens Coutley Company, the Erie Resistor and Essex Electric Company. He said the property available to the Erie Resistor Company was given as a special further property for the extension of their industries. It also provided land for the new arena, no charge, 970 feet for street to provide access to the Essex and Erie plants and there is an additional piece of property which is now used by the Trenton Industrial development south of the plants compiled by these companies.

Senator Fraser noted that the Trenton Cooperage Mills is giving the Department of Public Works a deed of the land which is required to extend bayshore park. It is the writer's intention to make available in perpetuity to the Trenton Parks Board all the waterfront property presently owned by the Trenton Cooperage Mills Limited," the Senator stated. He emphasized that it is his desire to give to the 'town and 'to use by the people of Trenton, to do the best he can to make Trenton a better place for its citizens to live in, to have their homes and bring up their children.

Senator Fraser criticized council for spending taxpayers' money on the assessment changeover following by settlement of appeal, spending revenue on a survey by the R. W. Powers and Son property on the east side of the river and the property of the Trenton Country Club which is owned by Mills Limited and is not in adjacent streets. He called council's scenic drive proposal childish and reported an engineer had estimated the scenic driveway would cost between $100,000 and $200,000.

In the closing paragraph of Senator commented: "News flash" while Rome burns. Sewage system overloaded, the bay being polluted by the dumping of sewage disposal plant started. Sugge that we remove from the epidemic malice before we have an epidemic of typhoid."

Weddings

LAWLOR—LAWLESS

St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Grafton, was the scene of the wedding August 12, at 10 a.m. when Rose Margaret Lawless, daughter of Mrs Harry Lawless of Grafton, and the late Harry Lawless, was united in marriage to Gerald Edward Lawlor, Jr. son of Colonel and Mrs. John Lawlor, of Fall's Church, Virginia, U.S.

Rev. Father John Lawless, of Hamilton, brother of the bride, performed the ceremony and said the Nuptial Mass. Acolytes were cousins, Jimmy and Johnny Lawless. The altar was decorated with pink and white gladioli. The music was played by Miss Stelle Drumm and the choir sang.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Denis Calnan, Grafton, wore a ballerina length gown of white satin and lace. Her floral tip veil was caught to a circlet of lily-of-the-valley. She carried an orchid on a white satin prayer book.

Mrs. Bernard Murphy of Montreal, was her sister's only attendant. She wore a similar gown of pale blue taffeta and lace and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Ian Lawless, of Belleville, brother of the bride was best man. Another brother, Mr. Dennis Lawless and Mrs. Bernard Murphy, both of Montreal, were ushers.

Following a wedding dinner at the Baltimore Hotel, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Denis Calnan, Grafton, where Mrs. Lawless received wearing a dress of navy blue crepe with navy and white accessories assisted by the groom's mother in pale blue taffeta and pink accessories. Both wore gardenia corsages.

For travelling to Niagara Falls and their new home in Fall's Church, Virginia, the bride wore a summer suit of blue with navy and white accessories and an orchid corsage.

WENSLEY—BARKEE

Ferns and baskets of white gladioli decorated Picton United Church for the marriage at two o'clock on Saturday, August 14, of Dorothea Lorraine Barker and William Robert Wensley. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Barker, Picton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Wensley, Picton.

The Rev. F. J. Whiteley, B.A., B.D., was assisted in conducting the ceremony by the Rev. S. Sears, B.A., of Odessa.

Traditional wedding music was played by A. A. Benyie at the organ before and during the ceremony. Mrs. Dafferin Folkard, soloist, sang "The Wedding Prayer" "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because".

The bride was lovely in a strapless gown of peau d'ange lace and gossamer tulle, featuring a long fitted bodice joined to the bouffant skirt, a curtaining lace peplum, with a matching lace jacket. Tiny buttons down the neckline were topped by a tulip collar. Her Juliet cap covered with lace and seed pearls, held the tulle veil embroidered with matching lace. She carried a cascade of white poms and stephanotis.

Miss Merle Barker, Picton, maid of honor, and Miss Vincent, Picton, Miss Marjorie Brown, Peterborough, Miss Sally Howitt, Napanee, bridesmaids, were in matching gowns of strapless, ankle-length lace and nylon tulle in pale green. The fitted bodices joined the bouffant skirts and they were matching lace jackets fastened at the neck and lace gloves. They each carried cascades of white daisy mums.

Mr. Gerald McKinnon, Toronto, was groomsman. Ushers were Messrs. Colin Kotchapaw, Picton; Don Byers, Belleville, Bill Sexsmith, Deseronto.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother was in Winter Charm lace with matching accessories, copper tone velour hat, and corsage of bronze mums. The bridegroom's mother chose navy tulle over taffeta with navy and white accessories and corsage of roses.

Baskets and vases of multi-colored gladioli decorated the home. The bride's table with a white cloth, was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake topped by Sweetheart roses, Silver Belabra held white candles.

The grooms wore, Misses Diane Goodwin, Patsy Swayne, Janet Kerr, Mary Bailey, Betty Osborne,

Girl Guide, 13, Had Exciting Trip Alone Around World

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP)—Shkoutla Mayer, 13-year-old high school student and Girl Guide, has returned from a trip around the world which she made alone in 365 days.

Starting in Vancouver in July last year, she visited more than 30 countries travelling by sea and rail and returned convinced that Canada is best of all.

With a passport and health certificates, Shkoutla visited Japan, the Philippines, Malaya, India, Pakistan, Egypt, Italy, Switzerland, France, England and the United States, and saw Canada's major cities for the first time.

Except in India, where she stayed with relatives and met her 100-year-old grandfather, she lived at guide hostels. She hopes to compile a book about her travels.

She treasures her audience with Pope Pius at the Vatican, meeting Lady Templer, wife of the high commissioner of Malaya; and, of course, meeting her grandfather.

"A wonderful man," she said. "He rides a bicycle, prepares his own food and generally had an exciting life."

Shkoutla's future lies in the field of medicine, she said, and she will practise in Canada.

Photographer Aroused Ire Of Arab Princess

TORONTO (CP)—A newspaper photographer who snapped an Arab princess wearing Western style clothes and dark glasses as she stepped from a plane at Toronto's Malton airport almost caused an international incident Wednesday.

The princess Bedrieya al-Salim al-Subah said she could not be photographed without a veil. She demanded the photograph. A bodyguard in her party advanced on the photographer muttering about "the sinful princess" and the "laws of the Shakhdo mof Kuwait."

The princess, a sister-in-law of the fabulously-wealthy Shaikh of Kuwait, an independent oil-rich Arab shakhdom on the Persian gulf in the British protectorate of Saudi Arabia, stopped here to pick up her five children who have been left in Ontario while she toured the U.S. and Hawaii.

The trouble was straightened out, finally. Today the photographer's newspaper ran the princess' photo—with a veil painted in.

And the princess planned to leave tonight for home—and a return to the wearing of the veil.

Noted Director of Mental Health Organization Visits Toronto

By PAULINE KENNEDY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A woman who has had a big part in putting mental health work high on the list of international endeavors was here the other day.

Esther M. Thornton,' a handsome Oxford graduate in her 40s, holds the responsible administrative post of secretary-general for the World Federation of Mental Health. She came for the Toronto meeting of the International Congress of Mental Health.

Her job is to handle the practical aspects of meetings of the world wide organization.

She was picked for the post six years ago, when mental health groups in 41 countries federated, and found the need of someone to supervise organizational efforts in the head office at London, England.

BUSY TRAVELLER

Miss Thornton's work has taken her around the world several times on meetings held in a different country each year. Since she became secretary-general 20 new mental health societies have been organized in different countries by the federation and the term "mental health" has become a household word.

A graduate in medieval and modern languages from Oxford, terms such as "psychosis," "schizophrenia," and "psychosomatic," roll off her tongue as if she was a practising psychiatrist.

"I didn't know a thing about mental health until I joined the federation office," she said. "But you have to live fast and I love my work."

Active with the Girl Guide movement in Britain before the war, Miss Thornton got her administrative experience during the war as co-director of the prisoner of war department of the British Red Cross. She had the dizzying job of keeping track of prisoners' relatives and briefing them on prisoners' progress.

HIGH AIMS

The mental health federation represents 84 societies connected with general mental health problems in 41 countries.

Its immediate aim is to promote better standards of mental health and human relations throughout the world, Miss Thornton said, with an ultimate long-range goal of peace by eliminating tensions between peoples.

To run head office, keep in touch with member societies, and organize meetings such as the Toronto one attended by more than 2,000 delegates, Miss Thornton had two administrative assistants and a flock of secretaries.

Recent Bride-to-Be Honored by Showers

Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Clement Murray Irwin, nee Dorothy Fay Wiltse, was the honored guest at several showers: a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Jack McNeil with Mrs. B. C. Bishop and Mrs. Borden Alyea as co-hostesses; at a linen shower at the home of Mrs. Thomas Nash with Mrs. L. J. Greer as co-hostess.

Presentations were also made to the bride-to-be by the bridge club: linen from the American Optical Company, and gifts from friends at the homes of Mrs. Elgie Vader, Mountain View, and Mrs. Phyllis May, Belleville.

The bridegroom was also presented with gifts of silver from the staff and students of Albert College.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

PROBLEM OF THE UNRETURNABLE SHOWER GIFT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Just before I went on my vacation I was invited to a "Miscellaneous Shower" to be given for a girl I don't know very well, but like very much. During the resort gift week shopping I bought her a very good, lovely, simple (no decoration of any kind) medium size, white glass salt-tray. I thought this would be a "safe" kind of shower-gift, and right for a "Miscellaneous" shower. The shower was given days ago, and today I received a note from the bride-to-be asking me where I bought it, explaining she would like to exchange it for something else, as she was not planning to go to housekeeping for some time. What in the world am I expected to do now? — Marie S.

I suggest you write her and tell her that you bought it in a resort shop, and you regret very much that it is not returnable. It would be heavily unfair for her to assume then that you would suggest giving her another present, and should have sense enough to drop the subject. And I'm surprised that the girl who is the shower did-n't explain the circumstances, didn't call it a "Miscellaneous Shower" or a "Lingerie Shower" or a "Stocking Shower," which would have been more appropriate under the circumstances than a "Miscellaneous Shower."

NOT NECESSARY TO TAKE GIFTS FOR FIANCE'S SISTERS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My fiance makes his home with his two sisters, much older than he, both unmarried, and both most conservative and conventional. I have met them only once, at a family wedding some weeks ago. They have now invited me to spend the long Labor Day week-end with them. Should I take a gift when I go? If so, a gift for both, or individual gifts? I want you for any suggestions.—Reader.

I suggest you don't take any gift, unless perhaps a box of special candy or other sweets. But when you leave, let your hostess's eye open to see something you think they might particularly welcome, . . . then send this with your bread-and-butter letter. Perhaps a most carefully-chosen book . . . that both might enjoy, or some records of the type of music they like.

PARTY FOR FREESHMAN-TO-BE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My son is to enter college this fall, and he is leaves on his birthday. I suggested that he give a dinner party for a group of his closest friends here, perhaps four or five couples of his age. He's delighted with the idea, and we've been making plans. Will you please answer three questions for us? (1) For such an occasion, with eight or ten guests, is it correct to use place cards? If so, should he write them formally, or with the first names? (2) Should his current "steady" act as hostess and sit opposite him at table, or what is correct? (3) He doesn't want the guests to know, or at least beforehand, that it is his birthday party. But even so he couldn't we have a birthday cake to "announce" it is his birthday party, even though a day early?

— Mother.

What a wonderful mother you are . . . to have such a pleasant plan, to make such a grand memory for your son to take with him to college! (1) Yes, proper and most practical to have place cards, so the host won't have to remember the seating arrangements. Plain, white, heavy cards . . . with first names (even nicknames, if he wishes) written on them, not the formal title-and-last name. (2) His "date" should sit at his right, guest of honor, not hostess. And it's a good idea (and kind) to seat a girl on the right of her special 'date.' Then everything is happy. (3) Yes, please have a birthday cake, to be brought in, candles glowing, just before the dessert (ice cream, I hope) is served. He might like to have only three candles or the number for his birthday plus one.

PLEASE LADY, DON'T TELEPHONE HIM

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

If a boy promises to telephone a girl at a certain time, and he doesn't, and later does not explain, is it proper for the girl to telephone him, either just casually or to ask for an explanation? — Anne S.

It isn't sensible; it really isn't proper! Obviously when a boy acts like this he hasn't any interest in telephoning or in keeping his promise (which the girl may have wrongly built him into making), and the girl should be realistic enough to face facts and to abandon any pursuit. It would be foolish for her to think she could make, the telephone call seem "casual," and it would certainly look foolish for her to stoop to ask for an explanation. If he wanted to explain, he would telephone to explain.

USE MRS. JOHN SMITH' WHEN SENDING PACKAGES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

To settle a discussion, please answer this question: When a married woman orders an article

Readers' Friday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

I am planning a late September wedding. Could you please make suggestions as to what could be served to approximately seventy-five guests for a buffet lunch. If you have a recips for a white fruit cake (to be used for the large wedding cake) would you mind forwarding it.—Vivian C.

ANSWER:

Here's the following recipe is for a light fruit cake. I have recipes for white fruit cake, but they are not large like this one. I have made this one up in the large quantity you will need and have found it completely satisfactory. (Replace cherries with pineapples if tradition demands.)

LIGHT FRUIT CAKE

(Overrize recipe for wedding cake.)

Two lbs. candied pineapple (or 2 20-oz. tins drained pineapple tidbits), 1 lb. candied cherries, 1-2 lb. candied citron, 1-4 lb. each candied lemon peel and orange peel, 2 lbs. white sultanas, 1 lb. seeded raisins, 1-2 lb. washed and dried currants, 1-2 cup pineapple juice, 1-2 lb. blanched almonds, 1-2 lb. whole or broken walnuts or pecans, 4 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon mace, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon baking soda, 12 eggs, 2 tablespoons milk, 2 teaspoons almond flavoring, 1-2 lb. butter, 2 cups sugar. Cut 2 cups white sugar and 2 cups firmly packed brown sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Prepare the fruits and nuts and pour the pineapple juice over them and cover them and allow to stand overnight. Sift the dry ingredients together. Cream the butter very well and cream the sugar into it, then the eggs, then the sifted dry ingredients, then all remaining ingredients. Bake in pans that have been lined with three thicknesses of brown paper, then buttered. Bake at 275 deg. Fahr. with waterpan in oven throughout. Largest cake of the three 11-2 requires at least three hours. The two smaller cakes require less baking. This cake should be made a month before it is used.

QUESTION:

I am just going frantic! Every fruit cake I have baked so far is of good texture but with the fruit at the bottom of the cake. I use first cake flour then was advised to use plain flour, still no success! My stove is quite new and I usually bake a fruit cake at 320 deg. Fahr. I noticed each time, although following the recipes and measuring carefully that the mixtures are quite thin. Should I add flour, even if the recipe states so much? I enjoy your column very much. Hope you can help before my patient and loving "hubby" leaves me in disgust.—Marg. MacD.

ANSWER:

Oh dear! I hope this arrives in time to save you from being an inmate of a mental institution or a widow.

The batter for fruit cake is heavy not thin. Here is the

BASIC BATTER FOR FRUIT CAKE

Cream until fluffy 1 cup soft shortening, add gradually 2 cups brown sugar; beat in 4 large eggs (1 cup); sift together 7 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt (and whatever spices you used) and stir in alternately with 1 cup liquid (which may be jelly, molasses, coffee, pineapple juice). Add fruits and nuts. You may add as much as 2 lbs. of any fruits and nuts. Bake at 300 deg. Fahr. in oven with waterpan for 2 1-2 to 3 hours.

After you try this please let me know your marital status and date of mind.

The recipe for Blueberry Pie on August 6, was not complete. The corrected version follows:

FRESH BLUEBERRY PIE

(10x1 1-2 inch pie plate.)

Wash and drain blueberries (or if you are making this in the winter you will have to use frozen berries) 1 cup sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup (4 tablespoons) cornstarch, 1-4 cup cold water, 3-4 cup hot water, tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Wash berries and drain well, mix together sugar, salt and 1-2 cup of the berries. Stir the cornstarch into 1-4 cup cold water to make a paste then stir that into the berry-sugar mixture then stir in over low heat the hot water until thick. Cook over boiling water covered for 10 minutes. Remove from heat and add lemon juice and rind and let stand until cold. Pour over remaining 1-2 cups blueberries in pastry-lined pie plate and seal on pastry top crust. Brush top lightly with milk. Bake at 400 deg Fahr. about 45 minutes. For an 8 inch pie plate one-half above filling is sufficient

WAR CASUALTY TOWED

PATTERSON, N. J. (AP)—Clarence (Red) Mosley, the United States Air Force's first casualty computer of the Korean war, will be married next month. Mosley, 23, revealed Tuesday his plans to wed 22-year-old Ruth Shaw Sept. 25. He and Miss Shaw met at a party eight months ago. A year after he was discharged from army hospital a lot of them.

Could you give me some advice? I am 15 years old.—E. B.

Dear T. B.:

I rather doubt that your freckles are the cause of your difficulties with boys unless you have them to the point of actual disfigurement. Usually, freckles make a girl look cute. However, if you feel you are, too thickly sprinkled with them, perhaps a little carefully applied make-up could make them less conspicuous. Why don't you ask your local beauty shop about this? Don't do anything drastic though, without first consulting a skin doctor. There certainly must be one in your city. Your own family doctor could, I am sure, send you to a good one if you asked him.

I wish you had told me more about the kind of activities in which you take part. Are you specially good at some one of them so that the other young people admire your skill at it? If not, I suggest you pick out something and make yourself expert in it.

Do you always make the most of your looks? Have you a becoming hairdo, and do you always choose clothes best suited to your coloring and figure type? Are you always friendly, thoughtful of others quick with deed rather than long, complicated. Why don't you ask your local beauty shop about this? Don't do anything drastic though, without first consulting a skin doctor. There certainly must be one in your city. Your own family doctor could, I am sure, send you to a good one if you asked him.

I wish you had told me more about the kind of activities in which you take part. Are you

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

PLATINUM BLONDES

If you are a "sweet young thing" you may not remember the late movie star Jean Harlow, but your mother will. Jean was a great beauty and a lovable person. Because her natural charm of appearance she had her hair bleached to white gold and started a beauty frenzy that went around the world. Light-haired girls whose golden locks were getting tarnished—as happens with oncoming years—rushed to this means of restoring their glamour.

Beauty shops did a rush business and there was much talk about the satisfying and glamorizing effects of "white henna." Actually there is no such herb. White henna was a trade name.

The treatment consisted of mixing powdered magnesium carbonate with enough volume 12 peroxide to form a paste the consistency of whipping cream, with a few drops of ammonia added to speed up the brightening process. If too much ammonia was added, the hair shafts weakened to the point of breaking harsh and jolt-like; hence the need of experienced hands to do such work.

When overbleaching took place the hair would not accept soap suds; the lather came off in growth as water runs from a duck's back, so no shampoos had to be used. After the shampoo, the hair was divided at various places, the paste applying quickly and color change would take place evenly, with no ugly streaks. Particles of the pack were wiped away occasionally to check the bleach progress.

Where the hair was thin the change proceeded faster than where it was thick. Timing was important. After the removal of the bleaching element the hair was shampooed and a lemon rinse followed.

This was not for the girl who went in for self-administered beauty treatments. Not being able to see the back of her head she could not judge when she looked white henna evenly. If she did, she usually patched trouble on her head, and then went through an unhappy period of transition during which the dyed portions grew to cutting length.

The trouble with all permanent dyes and bleaches, even today, is that nature does not cooperate, but sends forth a new growth in the natural shade to the extent of one or more inches a year. That is why the temporary color rinses are more practical.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU DON'T NEED ADVICE AS MUCH AS CHARACTER

HARRY

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I feel funny writing to you, but I think I could use a little advice.

I am 19, soon will be 20 and there is a girl 18 that I like very much but we don't seem to get along very well. She doesn't like my friends because we hang out at a neighborhood bar and drink quite a bit, and she doesn't want me to go with them. I told her that anyone who doesn't like my friends knows what they can do.

Now I'm sorry I said that. Another thing is that I can't afford to take her out much. She says she doesn't care, and that she would just as soon sit around and watch television, but she doesn't know how it makes me feel to have the money to give her a good time.—Harry D.

Dear Harry:

If you're so anxious to take this girl out, why don't you cut out the drinking and use that money you're now spending for that? You can hardly expect her to believe you can't afford to take her out, or that you care very much whether you do or not, when she sees that you're able to fling money to spend on liquor. Moreover, it shouldn't be hard for a chap of your age to find ways and means of earning a little extra money if he really wanted too.

If you're really serious about this girl, show her that you can. Pull yourself together and stop fooling around, spending your time and money on something that is not only useless but can actually do you harm. Make it real effort to earn some extra money to take your girl to some nice place now and then, and let her see that you have business and have some character. You can't expect any girl to think a boy cares anything for her if he doesn't even try to do the things that would make her happy.

THINKS SHE DOESN'T "RATE" WITH THE BOYS

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Although I have joined many groups in our community, and take part in many activities, I still don't rate with the boys. I picked out a boy now why he didn't like me and he said that, for one thing, I have too many freckles. I must admit I do have WALLBRIDGE. — Quite a number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith and recently, when a shower in honor of their daughter, Jean and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Woodward, were presented with a beautiful smoker.

Although taken by surprise, Jack and Jean thanked all for their lovely gift, and invited all to come and visit them in their home Trenton.

A shower was given Miss L. Sine, Reg.N., at the home of Mrs. L. Ketchenson and after their marriage quite a number of neighbors and friends gathered in the Orange Hall and presented them with a surprise party.

A beautiful coffee table was presented to the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fisher. Both thanked all for their gift, and invited all to come and see them in their home, Barrie, Ontario. Mr. Fisher is stationed at Camp Borden.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Woodward of Trenton, were Sunday guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wannamaker and Marlene, of Detlor, called on a number of their friends last week, in this vicinity.

Mrs. Sam Townsend of Belleville spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter and children of Nova Scotia have returned to their home. While here, they attended the wedding of the latter's sister, Miss Lorena Sine, Reg.N., whose marriage took place in the Wallbridge Church, August 7th.

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Badgley recently, where a large number gathered to bid them farewell before leaving for their new home in Frankford. Mr. and Mrs. Badgley will be greatly missed in Wallbridge Church, where they took an active part, always ready and willing to help in all church activities.

Mr D. Trow returned to his home on Monday having spent the past two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris, while the latter were on vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Langsbeer, of Belleville. They visited with relatives in Buffalo, Niagara Falls Sarnia, Port Lambton and also called on other friends and relatives on their way home, in Fort Erie, Toronto and Uxbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rikley, Mr. and Mrs. Morley Phillips are spending this week camping near Stoco.

A number in this vicinity are attending Belleville Fair and report a good fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Johnston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Kellar of Healey's Falls, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Johnston accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Brown and daughter, Barbara, of Marsh Hill, motored to Algonquin Park and returned home by Haliburton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Wickson spent the past week motoring to Quebec and back through Montreal, seeing many sights of interest.

Sunday School Lesson:

Always Talking About Money

By ROY L. SMITH

Let no man apologize for the fact that "the church is always talking about money." Her Lord did the same. Even a hurried review of his parables and sermons reveals the fact that a surprisingly large percentage of them dealt with the problem of money. For every warning he made against lust and drunkenness he warned us twice against the hazards that inhere in possessions.

MONEY IS A PROBLEM

Read your morning paper, and make a list of the crimes it reports. Then go over the list and sort out all those that were committed because some person had a wrong attitude toward money. Go through that same morning paper and make a list of the troublesome public issues with which the government is wrestling. Then go back over that list and check off all those that root down in the problem of possessions.

Do the same thing for your personal life. Make a note of all those things that worry you, twist your thinking, keep you in a state of tension, consume nervous energy and deplete your strength. If you are honest with yourself you will eventually face the fact that the love of money is not only the "root of all evil" but it is the cause of at least 75 per cent of the strain under which you live. Someone has said, "The worst thing about money is that it costs too much."

GOOD RELIGION AND GOOD FORTUNE

Jesus met his followers again and again against the spiritual seepages that occur in money matters. The Apostle Paul, in his scriptures of this week's lesson, had been training the new Christians in a creative use of their money. It is a fact, of course, that he was greatly concerned about the hungry "saints" in Jerusalem for which the collection was designed, but he was even more seriously concerned about the well-fed Christians who needed some antidote for their prosperity.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for August 22: "Christian Giving." Acts 20:35; I Corinthians 16: 1-2; II Corinthians 8:1-9.

The best fortune any man ever achieves is that which comes to him when he develops an interest in some need outside his own necessities. Literally millions of people will testify that they never began to live until they escaped from themselves and began to live for something bigger than themselves — for orphanages, hospitals, libraries, and boy scouts, girl reserves, schools, community chests, and other similar agencies devoted to serving people who faced dire necessities.

The best religion is that one which is always talking about money, and inviting men to enlarge their lives and stretch their souls by taking on more than their own responsibilities.

THAT FIRST COLLECTION

It is extremely interesting to note the fact that the first collection the Christians ever took was not for the erection of a cathedral, but for the relief of the poor. A beloved Catholic priest once said, "God have mercy on the church when the poor cease knocking at its door."

Magnificent buildings do make their contribution to the glory of God, and Jesus never spoke disparagingly of the woman who "wasted" her money on an expensive ointment which she poured over His feet in adoration. But he also insisted on the rights of the poor to put it in their claims.

Y.P. PICNIC

CAMPBELLFORD — The annual picnic of the Young People of Peterborough Presbytery was held at Birdsall's beach on Saturday, when an enjoyable afternoon was spent in swimming and canoeing. There were also races and other competitions.

After the races and competitions, the group enjoyed a supper. Following this, Walter Pidgeon took many of those present for a ride in his motor launch.

A ball game in the evening brought the picnic to a close. Young people were present from churches in Peterborough, Centreville, Norwood, Warkworth and Campbellford.

The first Campbellford wolf cub pack, about 30 strong, met at the public school on Sunday morning and proceeded by truck to Bradley Bay, where they boarded cruisers for a trip down the Trent.

The cubs assembled at the cottage of Keith Bailey, and after each boy was issued a life jacket, they were allotted to the various craft.

RECREATIONS

The lads enjoyed an eight-mile cruise down the scenic Trent, and docked at Wilson's Island. Here the day was spent in various types of competition, in swimming and just plain resting.

To complete the day, the cruise returned by a different route, and a very tired but happy cub pack arrived back in Campbellford about 6.15 p.m.

CANNIFTON — Miss Ada Demair, Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto, and the Misses Flora and Agatha Murphy spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. D. Windsor at their cottage at East Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Blake Bedell and Mrs. M. Sicklinker travelled around the lake via Ivy Lea bridge to Niagara Falls. On their way they stopped overnight at Mr. and Mrs. A. Soble's in Port Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Huffman and son, Paul, and Miss Lillian Anderson, all from Buffalo, were visiting their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. T. Burling.

Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Rendle, Sr., of Saskatoon, and Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Rendle, Jr., of Greenbank Ontario, were Tuesday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Burling.

A shower was given by his family for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morgan, who were married recently.

Miss Dale Sharpe, of Kingston, has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Sharpe, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Moore and children, of Kingston, were supper hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Sharpe, one day this week.

Mr. and Mrs Jordan Latchford and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stewart went to Algonquin Park and around by Galt this last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Millon motored to Timiskaming, Quebec, this week, to visit her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ivy.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Shorey and Rickey had supper on Sunday with Mrs. John White, Roslin.

Mrs. A. Dewey, of Brooklyn, New York, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. Shorey.

Ernie Lywood went to Galt for a visit on his way back to barracks.

The leading gasoline and motor oil combinations in Canada, because of their chemical composition and use of additives, fall into three types—A, B, and C. Controlled tests prove that motorists who use type A have a bonus of power over users of Types B and C.

TYPE A

TYPE B

TYPE C

MARVELUBE MOTOR OIL AND ESSO GASOLINES HAVE LONG BEEN THE LEADERS IN TYPE A COMBINATION ... GIVING MOTORISTS A BONUS OF GREATER ENGINE POWER ... MORE MILEAGE ... BETTER PERFORMANCE.

More than two years of road tests in all makes of cars under all driving conditions ... and more than two years of laboratory tests in Imperial Oil research laboratories prove conclusively that when the "matched pair" of Marvelube motor oil and Esso gasolines are used together motorists can actually get—

GREATER ENGINE POWER ... MORE MILEAGE ... LESS ENGINE WEAR

THE SAME INCREASE IN POWER THAT RESULTS WHEN MORE OCTANES ARE ADDED TO THE GASOLINE

BETTER PERFORMANCE FROM ALL CARS, NEW AND OLD

Because Esso gasolines are clean burning ... and because Marvelube has special properties that keep engines remarkably clean ... when they are used together, the reduction in engine deposits is so marked the result is a bonus of greater power and engine efficiency.

Prison Rehabilitation Program Urged by Convention Speaker

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The modern prison creates a stagnant, corruptive atmosphere that makes a "mockery" of all efforts at correcting the prisoner, a New York psychiatrist says.

Dr. Ralph S. Banay, secretary of the Medical Correction Society, in a paper presented to the International Congress on Mental Health, called for a rehabilitation program that would depopulate the prisons and return delinquents to society with a real chance of adjusting successfully.

"A rational rehabilitation system would embrace two kinds of institutions for two different classes of offenders," he said. "Those who, because of age or emotional condition, are not susceptible of being treated would be committed to custodial institutions. The remaining delinquents would be confined to hospital-like institutions where teams of experts would pool their skills to reach and extirpate the roots of anti-social behavior."

Dr. Banay said today's prison robs the inmate of every shred of privacy. The never-ending necessity of living with and in front of others, under surveillance, generates an unhealthy tension and anxiety.

LOSES INDIVIDUALITY

"The inmate ceases to be a person. He loses all semblance of individuality and human dignity. If a man enters prison with the notion that it is an institution dedicated to advancing public and private morality, the illusion is quickly shattered. He soon learns that this society is just as evil as the outside world which he failed."

Dr. Banay said when the emotionally-impaired persons are lumped together in an institution, nothing but further emotional deterioration can result. The most dangerous, destructive and rebellious trends will be sharpened.

"Finally, the person who has already shown that he is unable to meet society's standards must go out into that society again with the extra burden of a prison record."

Mrs. Gertrude Koskoff, Republican member of the Connecticut legislature for Plainville, charged that punishing men for crime—"is society's most costly failure."

"If you doubt that statement, spend a day in any court in the country and you will see men facing their second, third, or fourth conviction. . . we go on and on in old grooves, pouring millions of dollars into institutions which operate under proved inefficiency."

PASS FOREIGN AID BILL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress Thursday passed a foreign aid bill providing $5,243,575,795 to bolster U.S. military and economic defences against communism around the globe. The total is some $750,000,000 less than the $6,020,633,335 asked by President Eisenhower. The measure now goes to the White House.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was talking and argewing with Puds Simkins, and he said, Here comes that darn liar, and he's got a bandidge around his head.

Meening Sam Cross, and I said, Oh boy, I bet he'll tell us another big wopper about that bandidge.

If he does, let's tell him one back, Puds said, and, I said, Oh boy, sure.

Which just then Sam came up, saying, Do you see this bandidge? I got this chasing a bergler last nite when I woke up and caught him in my room. I chased him out the window the way he got in, and if he hadn't of banged the window down on my hand I'd of jumped out after him and chased him till we came to a cop, he said.

Being one of the biggest ones he ever told, and Puds said, That reminds me of the time I sprained my toe chasing a wolf through the woods with a tennis racket. Oh boy, I bet he's still sore from the cracks I gave him, and if I hadn't tripped and hert my toe I bet I'd have a stuffed wolf in my room rite now.

Aw, who's going to bleeve that? Sam Cross said, and I said, I said, I bleeve it, because it reminds me of the time I skinned my knee against a shark's teeth. I was on a boat, and some lady was holding her baby over the side to show it the waves, and she saw this shark and got excited and dropped the baby overbord, and I jumped over after it with nuthing but a Boy Scout knife, and even that was no use because it wouldn't open, and my knee hit the shark's face when I landed, and that was what probably saved my life, because 2 of his teeth broke off and scared him. I've still got the meddle I won for rescuing the baby, I said.

Oh yeah? said Puds to Sam, said, and I said, Let's see your bergler.

Being a good sport.

On Friday evening, the friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Vandewater in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Robson (nee Patsy Calbury) on the occasion of their marriage. Mr. Gordon McInroy acted as master of ceremonies.

The program consisted of community singing, musical selection and solo by Mrs. David Mumby and a reading by Ida Beth Holden.

An address was read by Mr. Francis Thompson on behalf of community, wishing both much happiness in their married life. The honored couple were presented with a large wall mirror, a large picture and a purse of money. John replied thanking their friends for the lovely gifts and inviting one and all to visit them in their home in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Thompson and Mrs. Bill Armstrong attended the wedding of the former's niece, Shirley Fox, at Cooper on Saturday.

Mr. Fred Elliott accompanied Mr. Arthur Emerson and Mr. Gardiner Welch, Belleville, on a trip to London, Ontario this week.

Emilie's Death Accidental Is Jury's Finding

By HESTER SUCKLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

STE. AGATHE, Que. (CP)—A coroner's jury has completed another chapter in the tragic story of timid Emilie Dionne.

At an inquest in this Laurentian resort centre Thursday night, the six jurymen ruled that Emilie, the shyest of the world-famed quintuplets, died accidentally of asphyxiation during an epileptic attack Aug. 6. There was no criminal negligence.

The finding supported the autopsy report of Quebec medico-legal expert Dr. Rosario Fontaine that the 20-year-old girl's death "was due to asphyxiation during an epileptic stroke when the victim accidentally suffocated in her pillow."

The jury, after deliberating only eight minutes, placed an unpublished rider in the hands of coroner Dr. Jean Taillon of St. Jerome, Que., for transmission to Premier Duplessis of Quebec, in his capacity as attorney-general.

DETAILS TO COME

Details of the rider were not revealed, but Dr. Taillon said it concerned recommendations on medical care, particularly at L'Assuel Gite, the nearby home for the aged where Emilie died.

The inquest—opened Aug. 7, the day after Emilie's death, but adjourned until medical reports were available—was orderly and the 17 spectators, including witnesses, inoffensive.

The only member of the Dionne family present was Maurice Gleyzal, 33, of Waterloo, Que., a brother-in-law of the quints.

Mr. Gleyzal, who with his wife, Rose, identified Emilie's body, testified that Emilie had been under treatment at Montreal's Royal Victoria Hospital a few years ago. This was before he married Rose Dionne, an elder sister of the quintuplets.

Dr. Taillon said he understood Emilie was treated by world-famed neurosurgeon Dr. Wilder Penfield of the Montreal Neurological Institute, attached to the Royal Victoria, a number of years ago and more recently at Notre Dame Hospital in Montreal.

The brother-in-law and Dr. Taillon did not elaborate on the treatment.

Party Flies To Mukden

MUKDEN, Manchuria (Reuters) Clement Attlee and his fellow Labor party leaders today flew over the Great Wall of China to Mukden, industrial heart of China's rarely penetrated by Western visitors in the last five years.

They made the 250-mile flight from Peiping to visit China's biggest steelworkers, at Anshan, six miles from here, and other industrial enterprises in the region.

REAR-END TIP-OFF

TORONTO (CP)—A faulty rear-end transmission tipped off police to two theft suspects Thursday night. The noise awakened a suburban Etobicoke resident who spotted the youths stripping a parked car. The men fled in their own car with the wheels and tires. Police caught up with them. Charged were William Preston, 17, and Leonard Dixon, 18.

LEATHERNECKS AT FORT HENRY

For the first time in history the U.S. marines landed on Canadian soil and took over historic Fort Henry at Kingston on the invitation of the Canadian Army and government officials. Back in 1812—under less friendly conditions — a detachment of marines from the American war fleet in Lake Ontario made an unsuccessful assault on the British naval base at Point Henry — site of Kingston's present fort. The present occasion is the anniversary of the Odgensburg Agreement of 1939 which initiated the joint defence of North America by Canada and the United States. Welcoming the "invaders" are members of the Fort Henry guard in uniforms of the old British infantry regiments of 1867.—CP Photo).

Hees Refuses To Intervene In B.C. Dispute

VICTORIA (CP)—A provincial Progressive Conservative official said Thursday night national president George Hees has refused to intervene between rival Conservative factions in British Columbia.

W. M. Gage, president of the Oak Bay Conservative Association, said Mr. Hees rejected a written request to intervene in the problems splitting provincial ranks.

Mr. Gage made the statement after it was learned memberships are being accepted in a new federal association here.

Formation of the rival association is the first concrete step taken by federal Conservatives since the provincial executive passed a vote of non-confidence in national leader George Drew last month.

The motion climaxed a dispute between Mr. Drew and provincial leader Deane Finlayson over organization in British Columbia.

WEST HUNTINGDON — Despite the fact, the farmers are extra busy with stook threshing, mostly all took time off to attend the Belleville Fair this week.

The service in the United Church on Sunday morning was in charge of the prayer meeting group and those assisting with the service were: Mr. Clayton Wright, conducting the responsive Psalm reading; Mr. Alex McCurdy, offering prayer; Mr. Mac Sarles, reading the Scripture lesson. Mr. and Mrs. John Laisson gave a duet; Mr. H. R. Burke told the children's story, and Mr. Philip Carr gave the sermon. His subject was: "And the Brook Dried Up." Arthur Wilson arranged the order of service and presided over same. A number of visitors were present. The Gideons of Belleville will have charge of service next Sunday at 11 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Bush and family of Frankford, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson.

A number from here attended the camp meeting at Roblin on Sunday.

Mrs. Seeley, of Ivanhoe, spent the week-end with Miss Sarah Wilson.

Mrs. Robert Chambers, of Toronto, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sills.

Cottage prayer meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gay on Wednesday evening. Mr. Floyd MacInnes, of Halloway, was the guest speaker.

Relocation Plans, Models to Be Taken on Tour

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Hydro will take its relocation plans and models on a two-week road tour of the eastern Ontario communities to be affected by the St. Lawrence seaway and power development.

Officials expect the road show will clarify Hydro's proposals.

The first meeting is to be at Iroquois Tuesday night. From there the planners will move to Morrisburg for meetings Friday night and Saturday. Further sessions will be held the following week in Osnabruk township and in the Mille Roches-Moulinette area.

H. D. Rothwell, Hydro's liaison engineer for the seaway project and planning consultant Kent Barker will explain the plans for relocation of Iroquois, the one-third of Morrisburg to be flooded and the establishment of two new towns for residents in Aultsville, Wales, Farran's Point, Dickinson Landing, Mille Roches and Moulinette.

Given Two Years

SUDBURY (CP)—Two men who fled from Burwash industrial farm last Thursday were each sentenced to two years in Kingston penitentiary when they pleaded guilty to jail-breaking charges Thursday.

Louis Kline of Toronto and Maurice Walker of Cornwall deserted from a work gang and fled into nearby bush. They were picked up Friday in the McFarlane lake area, two miles north of Sudbury.

Kline and Walker also drew one-year sentences for the theft of clothing from a farm home near Burwash and six months for attempted car theft.

The terms are all concurrent.

Kline was originally sent to Burwash for possession of house-breaking tools and Walker was sentenced in Cornwall for breaking, entering and theft.

Honor de Gasperi For Four Days Before Burial

SELLA VAL SUGANA, Italy (AP)—Four days of funeral honor began early today for former premier Alcide de Gasperi with a memorial mass here in the Dolomites he loved and climbed.

As the body of the grim, gaunt fighter for European unity against communism lay in the mountain chalet where he died early Thursday, members of his family, high Italian officials and townfolk knelt in the tiny Roman Catholic church of Sella di Val Sugana.

The 73-year-old statesman's body was to be placed in a wood and crystal coffin later today and taken down the mountain trail to Borgo Val Sugana for private family services attended only by his widow and two of his daughters. The third daughter is a nun in a convent near Rome.

After the service the body was to be taken through the mountains of de-Gasperi's native south Tyrol to Trent, near the tiny village where he was born.

The body will lie in state in the Trent cathedral until Saturday when it will be placed aboard a special train for the mournful trip half-way down the peninsula to Rome.

A state funeral will be held Monday morning in Rome's downtown Chiesa del Gesu—Church of Jesus —where the statesman used to pause to pray on his way to the Parliament building.

Worth Remembering

While Scotland fostered the game of golf, it is also the only country that officially banned the sport! In 1457, disturbed because golf had lured young Scots from the more military exercise of archery, the Scottish Parliament banned the game. (A ban that would doubtless find favor with modern "golf-widows".)

James I and Charles I of Scotland were golf enthusiasts, however, and under their patronage the game came to be known as "the royal and ancient game of golf," by which title it is officially called to this day. Another sports fact worth remembering!

Communists Enlist Support Of Aborigines in Malaya Jungle To Outwit British Security Men

By WARREN WHITE

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (Reuters)—A silent battle is going on in the deep jungle of Malaya for the hearts and minds of the aborigine tribes who find refuge in the jungle hundreds of years ago.

The Communist terrorists in their six-year campaign to outwit British security forces have enlisted the support of the aborigines and in so doing have provided themselves with a remarkably-efficient jungle ally.

The aborigines are, in many areas, the eyes and ears of the Communist terrorist gangs.

They are the fishermen, hunters and vegetable growers who have kept the Communists and survive the British "Operation Starvet" campaign.

To counter this Communist weapon, the security forces are providing Malayan soldiers with a new role, sending them as soldier-diplomats into the jungle to make friends with the aborigines.

REDS FELT PINCH

The battle is being waged particularly along the backbone mountain range from the Thailand border south to the state of Selangor, in central Malaya.

After heavy losses in battles with the security forces, the Malayan Communist Party in January, 1951 ordered certain groups to establish bases in the jungle because they felt that guerrilla war in Malaya would take longer than first planned.

The politburo created a special department to organize the aborigines, a food collection, porters, guides, couriers, and most important of all, intelligence relief to report the movements of the security forces.

The Communists used "gentle" methods to win the support of the aborigines. They made friends with them by giving them new seeds and vegetables, improving their agricultural methods and developing their poultry strains.

FOUND "SOFT SPOT"

When the Communists tried to indoctrinate the aborigines, they found no opposition to Communist ideas.

They told the aborigines that they were fighting their former friends, the British, because they were fighting the people.

The Communists told the aborigines that one day, when the Chinese Communist republic was created in Malaya, they would get self-government.

Whether or not the aborigines put much store by Communist promises, they certainly have become effective allies of the Communists.

They have provided a "human rocket screen" along the approaches to their jungle fastnesses.

TEMPLES ACTED

British patrols, probing into the jungle, more often than not arrive in a Communist camp hours or days after the Communists have pulled out.

It was not till about the middle of 1953 that the then British high commissioner, Gen. Sir Gerald Templer, decided that aborigine support must be removed from the Communists and welded to the British effort.

He established a counter-intelligence network, using friendly aborigines.

With the help of paratroopers, he established jungle forts which were to become trading posts and medical centres for the aborigines and offensive bases for sorties by patrols against the terrorists.

The security forces set great store on the results they hope to achieve from winning over the aborigines.

They hope to reduce food supplies to the terrorists, and obtain more information about their hide-outs.

Offered Job, Holdup Man Says 'Aw, Nuts'

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A man walked into Bing's cafe, pointed a gun which looked like a cap pistol at Mrs. Ruben Phelps, in charge of the place, and said:

"I want your money."

"You're kidding," she said.

"I'd hate to shoot you."

"Is this the first time you held anyone up?"

"Yes."

"Why don't you wait until the boss returns. Maybe he'll give you a job."

"Aw, nuts," said the man, and walked out.

Nationalists In North Ireland Battle Police

POMEROY, Northern Ireland (CP) — Irish Nationalists clashed with police Thursday night during a big demonstration for their anti-British hero who was coming home from jail. At least 13 policemen and 40 demonstrators were injured, Reuters reported.

Bonfires blazed from surrounding mountains to welcome home Liam Kelly, 32, a Nationalist who has the distinction of holding seats in both the Northern Ireland and Irish Republic parliaments at the same time.

ARRIVED NEAR

He had just been released from a Belfast jail after serving a year for making seditious remarks about the Queen.

While in jail, Kelly was elected to the Irish Republic's Senate on the Republican Labor ticket and was sworn in by proxy in his cell a week ago with British permission.

As Kelly neared his home town, the Nationalists formed a parade to march him triumphantly to his home.

At their head fluttered the green, white and gold of the Irish republic.

But the parade entered the town, police ordered the demonstrators to take down the flag. The Nationalists ignored the order and marched into a cordon of 80 police who charged with batons flailing.

BACK TO BATTLE

Amid the groans of the wounded, the Nationalists retreated to the village churchyard and armed themselves with stones and bottles.

With the leader shouting, "Stand firm boys and let them have it," the demonstrators went back into battle. They beat off police who tried to grab the flag, but were next reviled back by another baton attack.

That ended the battle, and the village's one hotel was turned into a casualty station for the night.

Kelly was unhurt and went off to his home when the battle was over.

Anglicans from 14 Nations Held Minneapolis Congress

By HERMAN E. ALLEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Overshadowed by the approach of the 161-denomination assembly of the World Council of Churches at Evanston, Ill., was another worldwide church meeting which produced findings that should afford the council a measure of comfort in its concern with "our disunity as churches."

This was the Anglican congress at Minneapolis. Bringing together delegates from 14 independent national branches of the Anglican Congress was a discussion and inspirational session, without power to pass on any steps binding delegate churches.

Contrary to widespread belief in the United States, the Anglican communion is not under the authority of the Church of England. The term "Anglican" signifies only the common origin of the independent national churches, of which the American is the Protestant Episcopal church.

One of the main themes of the World Council meeting this week and next is "our oneness in Christ and our disunity as churches."

Anglican delegates who went on to the Evanston assembly from Minneapolis may have taken with them much that will help the assembly find an answer to this disunity.

Officially, the congress expressed "deep interest" in the Evanston assembly. Green said that throughout the meeting he sensed "a commitment to the world council in the idea of consultative meetings, and concentration on better understanding and eventually more agreement."

One great disappointment to those arranging the Evanston assembly was that the Roman Catholic church declined to participate, although some of the orthodox communions did.

Although the Anglicans did not suggest that they could carry off a reunion between Protestant and Catholic churches, one of the congress' official findings included this statement:

"Truly to be an Anglican is to combine within oneself both Catholic and Protestant traditions in a dynamic relationship. The tension between these different traditions becomes creative when it is held in charity."

BELIEVE REMAINS OF MARTYR FOUND

Grave of Father Jean de Brebeuf, martyred by Indians 300 years ago, is believed to be this site, marked with stakes after it was found by Jesuit archaeologists. Jim Hood of Midland, Ont., near the site of the martyrdom of the priests, holds a shovel while he ponders the problem of further digging with friends Carol Murray and Murray Manson. A plaque was found, three or four feet below the surface of the ground, inscribed with the words "Pere Jean de Brebeuf."

Communist Party Stripped Of Legal Rights by U.S. Bill

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — An election-bound Congress overshot the mark set by President Eisenhower for anti-Red legislation by voting to strip the Communist party of legal rights.

While outdoing the president in that respect, however, the lawmakers approached the end of the session today without having passed two of the principal measures he asked for dealing with subversives. They are:

1. A bill to permit the government to use evidence obtained by wiretapping in the prosecution of national security cases.

2. A bill to let the government bar from defence plants in times of emergency persons whom it has reasonable ground to believe might engage in espionage, sabotage or other subversion.

A burst of anti-Red activity, however, marked the closing days of the session, climaxed by the passage Thursday of a compromise bill to deny the Communist party legal privileges and force its members to register with the government.

The bill had not been asked by the president or Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, but apparently the administration was willing to accept it after it had been shorn of a provision imposing heavy penalties on Communist party members.

Also sent to the president Thursday were bills he had requested to strip U.S. naturalized citizens convicted of advocating the forcible overthrow of the government and to permit the death penalty for spying in peacetime as well as in wartime.

The White House announced Eisenhower would sign during the morning the first of the Administration's anti-subversive measures to be passed by Congress.

Under it, witnesses in national security cases could be granted immunity from prosecution by court order and then be compelled, or risk jail for contempt, to give testimony they now can withhold under their constitutional protection against self-incrimination.

Commonwealth Division May Be Used as Reserve

LONDON (CP)—The Daily Mail says today the Commonwealth division now serving in Korea will probably be "offered" as a strategic reserve within the proposed Southeast Asian Treaty Organization.

The Mail story coincides with reports that Canada plans to withdraw a substantial proportion of her 6,000-man contribution to the division within the next few months.

Canada's place in the division, says the right-wing paper, would be taken by additional Australian, New Zealand and British troops.

The Mail says if the decision to create a strategic reserve is made at the SEATO conference, to be held at Manila next month, at least one corps, totalling 30,000 men, would be stationed at Singapore.

It adds that Sir John Harding, chief of the imperial staff, is expected to make an announcement about the Commonwealth division today, at the end of three-day conference talks between top Commonwealth military officials at the army staff college, Camberley, Surrey.

Eisenhower's Plea to Churches Wins Applause

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — President Eisenhower's fervent plea to the world's spiritual chieftains to lead the way to a just and lasting peace drew an approving "amen" from churchmen today.

He laid his show-the-way challenge before representatives of 170,000,000 Christians Thursday at a session of the World Council of churches.

It was greeted with applause. Clergymen and laymen attending the convention later told reporters of their reaction to Eisenhower's speech, including his appeal for a prayerful campaign for peace that could result in a global day of prayer, his public profession of faith and an invitation to civilian government in "the light of religious ideals."

A half dozen or more used terms like "wonderful" and "very good." Bishop Otto Dibelius, leader of German Protestantism, appraised it as a "very remarkable speech," and added:

"It comes from the depths of the heart and is very much welcome by the members of this assembly."

The president addressed 18,000 men, women and children who sat on wood in Northwestern University's Deering meadow. In the audience were representatives of 163 denominations in 48 countries who are in the midst of a 17-day conference.

Eisenhower, standing on a knoll, spoke of a campaign for "just and lasting peace," and added:

"I believe that you spiritual leaders of a great world organization, together with your brethren of other faiths, can lead the way."

He said he was "glad" he referred to religion as "a practical force in our affairs and invited churchmen to give government criticism in the light of religious ideals."

Modern Industry Draining Human Personality Resources Says Egyptian Professor

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Screaming sports fans and over-indulgence in food, liquor or sex are the result of a "drained personality," an Egyptian university professor said Thursday.

Speaking at the plenary session of the fifth International Congress on Mental Health, Dr. A. H. el Kousay, dean of education at the Ibrahim University, Cairo, said modern industry "is draining the resources of the human personality."

After seven or eight hours a day on an assembly line the worker sees his personality greatly reduced.

"He feels really small. In order to remedy the situation and restore his own balance he resorts to various methods ranging from ball players, cracking jokes, indulgence in sex, liquor, gambling, crime and fighting or at best fighting sport, strikes, demonstrations, etc."

Dr. el Koussy told of some large industrial communities where a great number of workers have a "good dose" of liquor in the morning before they start the day's work.

"Another example of how modern daily is draining the resources of the human personality is the increase in mass pleasure movements, the cinema; the radio, television, etc., all of which are depriving people from a great deal of self-entertainment reached by personal effort."

He said the only hope in the problem lies in education.

"It has to be taken a hundred times more seriously and given an over-all application. We have to educate our parents, teachers, clergymen, legislators, statesmen and rulers."

Dr. el Koussy said the curricula for nearly all the higher institutes of learning were "very one-sided." They concentrate on increasing the narrow specialized professional skill, the ability for better personal appearance and the ability to compete on both skill and appearance.

"Such education has to be revised and a good foundation can be laid down in the education of children and adolescents. The good school on the elementary level does not neglect the three r's, but also takes into account a fourth r and that is the r of human relations. This must be given a much stronger emphasis."

Dr. C. A. Roberts of Ottawa, chief of the mental health division of the department of national health and welfare, reporting to a technical section on a four-way symposium on alcoholism and drug addiction, held prior to the congress, said recognition of drug addiction as a medical and social illness could do much to overcome some of the social problems existing because of drug addiction.

Bunche Is Named To Top UN Post

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold promoted Ralph Bunche Thursday to a top senior United Nations post and announced a million-dollar slash in the UN budget.

Bunche, first American Negro to win a Nobel Peace Prize, has been acting director of the UN trusteeship division.

Bunche and a Russian, Ivp S. Tchernychev, were named undersecretaries in a reorganization of the UN administrative set-up, effective Jan. 1. They will handle jobs on assignment from Hammarskjold which may range over all departments of the UN and may take them to all parts of the world.

Hammarskjold proposed a budget of $46,821,200 for 1955, about $1,000,000 less than the 1954 budget. A nine-nation advisory committee however, has suggested cutting out another $500,000.

Hees Says Govt. 'Missed Boat' In Seaway

MONTREAL (CP) — George Hees, national president of the Progressive Conservative Association, said today the federal government "missed the boat" in the building of the St. Lawrence seaway.

Mr. Hees said "lack of initiative and courage on the part of the federal government and its lack of confidence in Canada's ability to build a major development project are responsible for the fact that a major part of the St. Lawrence seaway is to be built by the United States."

The statement was contained in the text of a speech delivered at a luncheon meeting here.

Addressing executives of several Montreal Progressive Conservative Associations, Mr. Hees referred to an announcement Wednesday that Canada had agreed to allow the U. S. to build a four-mile, $76,000,000 link of the seaway on the American side of the International rapids.

"In addition to the employment for many thousands of Canadians which has been lost, we have also forfeited the use of many millions of dollars worth of Canadian materials, which will now be supplied by U. S. factories and mills," he said.

In New Role as Underdogs, Argos Will Take on New Look As Coach F. Clair Rebuilds

By WILF GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts, who toppled from the high heights of Grey Cup champions in 1952 to a last-place finish in the Big Four last year, swing into the 1954 season with a new look.

The once-powerful Argonauts, on their record over the years the most successful football club in the country, take on the role of underdogs this season as coach Frank Clair puts into action a sweeping rebuilding program he hopes will lead at least to a playoff berth.

The Argonauts' collapse last year provided proof that a number of veterans, mainstays of the team for years, had slipped and reached the end of the road as active players. Those familiar figures will be missing from the team's line-up this year along with a number whom Clair didn't invite back and few who couldn't come to terms.

YOUNGSTERS MAY HELP

Clair has turned to younger players from the college ranks and from Argos' farm club, Toronto Balmy Beach of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, to take their place.

He is faced with a formidable challenge. Although he has guided Argos to two Grey Cup titles since he took over as coach in 1950, Clair is on the spot. The Argonauts aren't used to finishing out of the playoffs and another poor season like 1953 could possibly place his job in jeopardy.

Clair has come up with a new crop of imports. There are no big names among these Americans but Clair, a shrewd judge of football talent, has picked them for the split-T attack he will use this year for the first time along with the straight-T offence.

He isn't dismayed about Argonauts' first two tests. They lost 18-7 to Edmonton Eskimos and 19-2 to Winnipeg Blue Bombers in exhibition engagements and the setbacks showed Clair he must strengthen the club's offence before Argos open the season Aug. 28 against Ottawa Rough Riders in Toronto's 27,500-seat Varsity Stadium.

DEFENCE LOOKS OKAY

"I feel a lot better about this team than I did about last year's club at this time," Clair said in discussing the future. "We team played well defensively for the most part and only our offence starts to click we'll have a pretty fair outfit. I think we have a good chance of making the playoffs."

He is hopeful even though there are big gaps to fill by the departure of 17 players from last year's team. They are Rod Ettinger, Lou Ascott, Don Mackenzie, Doug Smylie, Steve Karrys, Jack Gray, Joe Krol, Billy Bass, Doug Pyzer, Jack Roberts, Bob Marshall, Hal Fayerter, Les Scudero, Bud Foster, Marsh Hames, Paul Shannon and Bob Shaw.

The lack of scoring punch in the exhibition games has sent Clair shopping for a crashing import fullback, who can block on defence, and a quarterback to share the pivot spot with Nobby Wirkowski now in his fourth year with the Argos since he came from the University of Miami in Oxford, Ohio.

Wirkowski can't run well enough to operate smoothly from the split-T but is regarded highly by Clair for his superb passing. The coach has been disappointed in two other quarterbacks, Dick Shatto from the University of Detroit and Don Rydalch from Utah University. However, Shatto can play halfback as well, and has a good chance of being one of the club's 10 imports if Clair can't find another quarterback.

SOLID ALONG GROUND

The Argos' ground attack is expected to be their best in years. Tyrone Curtis, hampered last year by injuries, appears to have regained his old form and among the imports Clair has two speedy and shifty runners in Gene Wilson from South Carolina and Bill Cross, last year with Chicago Cardinals. Cross, five-foot-six and 150 pounds, is probably the smallest player in the league.

Among the Canadian backs Ted Toogood and Johnny Fedosoff will be used both on offence and defence. As straight defensive halves are Doug Gray, obtained from Hamilton Tiger-Cats in a trade, and Bill McFarlane, up from the University of Toronto. The flying wings are hometown boy Smylie, rookie Ken Foster from Balmy Beach and Al Bruno, a good-kicking kicker, who will share the punting with Gray.

Bobby Fiveash from Florida is making a strong bid for the full-back slot. His chances depend on whether Clair can come up with another import fullback before the import ceiling deadline this year by the third game of the schedule. Other fullback candidates are Jerry Sterbish from the University of Tennessee and Johnny Bell from Balmy Beach.

STRONG ON ENDS

The Argos are stocked with good ends. Norb Hecker, last season with Los Angeles Rams, is sure of one offensive end spot with the other going to Al Pfeifer or Al Bruno, two imports who have starred for Argos in previous years.

As defensive ends Clair is sounding on converted halfback Royal Copeland, Art Scullion and Caltem Fisher. Fisher, Curtis and tackle Jack Carpenter this year are the three ex-imports Argos can carry under the new ruling limiting the number of four-year imports on each club.

The tackle candidates include two imports, 225-pound Ted O'Connor from Nebraska University and 235-pound Cas Kryl from the University of Detroit. The Canadian tackles are George Arnett, Pete Bennett and Don Shaw from Balmy Beach.

Ed Bradley, picked last year on the Big Four all-star defensive team when with Montreal, is the only import at the guard spot. Veteran Lorne Parkin has switched to guard this season and other candidates are Fred Black, Merv Collins and Jack McGee, another graduate from Balmy Beach. Fisher is likely to play offensive guard in addition to defensive end.

Norb Hecker from the University of Kentucky and Tony Monsem, last year with Calgary Stampeders, are the two imports battling for the centre position. In reserve will be Ron Watton and Ziggie Hirst, two others trying to make the big time from the Balmy Beach ranks.

ARGO IMPORT

Norb Hecker, 27, after three years with Los Angeles Rams, has joined Toronto Argonauts in the Big Four football league. Six feet, one inch weighing 190, Hecker is an offensive end and defensive halfback. The Rams traded him to Washington Redskins but Hecker decided to play instead in Canada. (CP Photo).

Percival Urges Sending Canucks To Tour England

TWEED—Speaking to Tweed Kiwanis Club, Lloyd Percival, leading track and field coach, said that for the first time in 20 years Canada has the nucleus of an adequate Olympic team.

"What I am concerned about and what the athletes are concerned with, is that they may not be offered the opportunity of the competitive experience they need, between now and 1956, if they are to do well at the Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia.

"Regardless of the talent they are now demonstrating they will not be up to Olympic standards unless they get necessary competition and experience," Percival declared.

He claimed this is not available in Canada and the answer is to select those with Olympic possibilities and get them over to England next summer for a tour.

"I have discussed this with a number of Canadian business executives and leaders in British amateur sports and have high hopes that something may be arranged. This should include track and field as well as swimming athletes," he pointed out.

"If our amateur athletic authorities give more attention to such projects as this and less to such unnecessary and disheartening action such as withdrawal of Jackie McDonald at the Empire Games, we may begin to get somewhere," Percival said.

"Right now is the greatest opportunity we have ever had to develop amateur sport in Canada, because of the Empire Games, but unless something tangible is done to follow up we will be right back in the same old rut with nothing accomplished," he suggested.

"Any development scheme would soon unearth in such communities as Tweed and elsewhere athletic talent and competitive courage equal to any in the world. We have the flesh but we must construct the skeleton on which to put it," he concluded.

Weinmeister Puts Blast on Giants In Magazine Story

NEW YORK (AP)—Arnie Weinmeister, all-star National Football League tackle who quit New York Giants to play for British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union this season, Thursday put the rap on the Giants' management for "treating us like criminals when we lost a game."

In a by-lined article in the September issue of True magazine, Weinmeister said he was tired of having Giant co-owner Wellington Mara "act like a private eye" in practice sessions and accused the management of "pushing economy beyond the point of virtue."

The Giants declined to comment on the article.

Weinmeister said he will get $15,000 a year on a two-year contract with the Lions at Vancouver. He claimed he got $11,000 in his contract and $1,000 in a special charter from the Giants last season. However, he emphasized that he never was dissatisfied with the Giants financially.

AUSSIES IN SEMIS

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall, Australia's 19-year-old Davis Cup aces, Thursday scored an impressive 7-5, 6-1, 6-4 quarter-final victory over Gardnar Mulloy and Art Larsen in the U.S. doubles tennis tournament. Hoad and Rosewall's 21-year-old countrymen, Ashley Cooper and Roy Emerson, however, fell before the more experienced No. 2 American team of Bill Talbert and Hans Richardson, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Trailermen Win Lacrosse Title

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Peterborough Trailermen came out on top of the senior A series of the Ontario Lacrosse Association, it was announced Thursday.

The Trailermen won 23 games, lost six and tied one over the regular season, for 47 points.

Jim McNulty, starry player for Hamilton Tigers, topped the scorers with 98 points, leading both the goal and assist departments with 50 and 48 respectively.

Moon Wootton of Peterborough let 223 goals by him in 29 games for a goals-against average of 7.69 per games best in the league.

Final standing was:

	W	L	T	F	A	Pts.
Peterborough	23	6	1	345	223	47
St. Kitts	16	13	0	275	186	32
Hamilton	11	18	1	289	306	23
Mimico	4	22	0	130	312	8

This time Sunderland is relying on the Old Guard. The stars will be more accustomed to each other's play and are expected to be in the running for league honors.

But there is no standout team for the championship.

Soccer Season In Britain Kicks Off Saturday

LONDON (AP)—England's 1954-55 soccer season kicks off Saturday with only last season's form as a guide. There have been big-money trades or purchases during the summer and teams are relying on new-finding ideas or home-developed players.

Sunderland's failure last season scared clubs away from the player market. The northern club set out in 1953 with a team worth about £250,000. They bought stars like centre half Ray Daniel, forward Billy Elliott and Ted Purdon and goalkeeper Jimmy Cowan. But Sunderland found money could not buy success and finished fifth from the bottom.

This time Sunderland is relying on the Old Guard. The stars will be more accustomed to each other's play and are expected to be in the running for league honors.

But there is no standout team for the championship.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—In trying to decide at this point whether Cleveland Indians or New York Yankees are destined to enter the World Series on Sept. 29, it becomes necessary to take a long look at Chicago White Sox.

The Sox by this time must have realized they are not going to win the American League race. The best that manager Paul Richards' ensemble can hope for is to win a special award as the best third-place ball club in the history of the junior circuit.

On June 1 the Sox were running a tight second, only a single game behind the Indians. Since then they have sustained a winning average of well over .600, a gait that would have been good enough to win the flag some years, but they find themselves looking on.

When a thing such as that happens to a set of men they are likely to turn mean and want to take it out on someone, and it is for this reason that we feel it necessary to try to figure out what the Sox are likely to do during the next six weeks, and to whom. They are going to decide the pennant race, it seems here.

To begin with, Chicago has six more games to play with Cleveland and only three more whacks at the Yankees. Three of their contests with the Indians will come in the final week. That series figures to put a terrific strain on the Tribe if the race still is close.

The While Sox now are ahead of Cleveland over the season, having won nine of their 16 engagements. In fact, Richards' boys are in the black against every team in the league except the Yankees who have clobbered them 13 times in 19 tries.

History of 1951 Pennant Prescribed Reading For Milwaukee Braves

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

One of the toughest playoff battles waged in local softball circles in years enters the sixth round tonight when Northern Electric plays host to Point Anne Cementmen at the CNR Athletic Grounds at 6.15. Northern protonged the series at Point Anne Wednesday night by overcoming a 6-1 Point Anne lead in the sixth inning and hanging on until darkness halted play in the tenth. The tie left Northern still trailing 3-1 in games in a best-of-seven series. The winners move into OASA Senior B playdowns and the losers represent the B and D leagues in Intermediate A playoffs.

• •

Regardless of what happens both teams will come right back at one another in a best-of-five series for the city championship. Reason for the extended playoff is that both teams want the action to keep in top form for OASA competition. This same strategy has worked wonders in past years when local representatives have cleaned up as many as four eastern Ontario crowns in different classifications. We will go out on the wall-known limb and predict a 6-5 Point Anne victory tonight. Pat Maracle will likely get the starting assignment for the Pointers with Don Boyle the likely starter for Northern.

EGAD! THE POOR RING.

It will be double or nothing tonight in the "squared circle" in Memorial Arena when Ray Villmer and Paul Ballargeon ink into that wrestling cage with Mighty Ursus and George ((Ezebra) Bollas. On hand to see that mayhem is kept to a minimum will be no less than two referees. Bunny Dunlop will be chief mastermind among the law enforcers. It is hoped that his partner is sturdy because Ursus and Bollas will weigh in at a paltry 580 pounds. Villmer and Ballargeon are confident they have the speed to outmaneuver their ponderous opponents. Ursus and the Zebra are making no statements. But their growls are hair raising.

Vern Taft and Pat Flanagan will provide the action in the main preliminary while Jan Gotch and Bob Jackson will tangle in the opening bout.

• •

BOBO OVER CASTELLANI.

Carl (Bobo) Olson, world's middleweight champion, takes on Rocco Castellani tonight in San Francisco. Bobo, who succeeded to the title after punching his way through an elimination series for the crown abdicated by Sugar Ray Robinson, gets more impressive each time out. He beat Sugar's brother in this speed and busiest but he is a tough, thorough walloper who bulled his way past Kid Gavilan in Chicago last spring in one of the best fights of the decade. Bobo is likely to keep bulling and punching tonight long after Castellani has run out of ring cuts. Castellani is no tryout but Olson looks like a better choice tonight.

UP IN THE COOL GRAY DAWN, HO! HO!

Approximately 180 divot diggers from London to Ottawa and all points between will shoot for nearly $700 in prizes in Oshawa's "kitchen 18 hole golf tourney" at the Bay of Quinte Golf and Country Club tomorrow. Tee off time for the first flight is 7.30 a.m. and when the last man hits the 19th is anyone's guess. Among Ontario's top swivel sticks will be pencilpusher Will Neale Bentley, runner up in the Ontario amateur this year, K. F. Mooers, Kingston District champ, Bruce Castator and a host of others. There are three awards for low gross and low net scores in each of three flights.

They oppose Barrie at 10.30 a.m. Peterborough and Hamilton round out the entry list.

Team Better Off Than Giants At This Stage of Loop Race; Indians Lose ½ Game to Yanks

By REN FHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The "history of the 1951 pennant race" became required reading for the Milwaukee Braves today.

Written into the annals of the National League by the New York Giants, this remarkable record provides convincing and recent proof that baseball miracles are possible.

Although firmly believing they are the new team of destiny, the Braves could use a little added encouragement. They lost two out of three games to St. Louis, including a 2-1, 10-inning thriller Thursday, and now trail New York by 5½ lengths.

Even now, however, they are much better off than the Giants were at this stage three seasons ago. Milwaukee still could do it all alone, without depending on a collapse by either the Giants or Brooklyn.

COULD WORK OUT

It could work this way. The Braves have five games left with the Giants. They've lost five more than the Giants have. If each of the five would cancel out the New York lead, the Braves would simply play six more times and the Braves have lost only two more than the Giants.

The Giants, apparently back in good health for the stretch drive of real slump, won their third in a row, 5-0 over Philadelphia. Brooklyn again lost, bowing 4-3 for its 7-5 verdict over the scrappy Pittsburgh Pirates. Cincinnati won by Chicago, 7-0 and 6-3.

The American League came up some changes for the first time in 10 days as Detroit ended Cleveland's winning streak at two games and New York and Chicago both won.

Detroit and Cleveland split a twin bill. The Indians won the first game 4-3 but lost the nightcap 8-2. The Yankees whipped Philadelphia 8-5 for their 10th straight and Chicago edged Baltimore 4-3.

Cleveland now leads New York by 2½ and Chicago by 4½.

Boston jumped ahead of Washington in their private battle for fifth place with an 11-6 triumph. Ted Williams broke his string of 17 hitless times at the plate with a single and a double. He also walked four times.

TAMPA PHILLIES

Ruben Gomez tamed the Phillies on seven hits and received home run support from Davey Williams, Ray Katt and Bobby Thomson. Gomez has pitched only eight complete games but this was his fourth shutout.

The last-place Pirates refused to fold, even when Brooklyn ran up a 7-0 lead in the first three innings on Gil Hodges' 19th homer and a bases-loaded triple by Walt Moryn. Pittsburgh made it close on home runs by Jerry Lynch, Preston Ward and Frank Thomas.

The Braves drew 46,650 to an afternoon Ladies' Day contest with the Cardinals, the largest crowd ever squeezed into County Stadium. The local darlings tried their best to give the throng something to shout about, coming from behind with two out in the ninth to tie the score 2-2 on a single by Wally Moon and a long fly by Solly Hemus tonight victory to the Redbirds in the 10th.

FELLER WINS

Bobby Feller won the 260th game of his brilliant career in the opener against Detroit with home-run support from Vic Wertz and Dave Pope. The Tigers fell upon three Indian hurlers for 14 hits in the second game, including a three-run homer by Bob Nieman.

Baltimore ended Jack Harshman's string of scoreless innings at 34 by scoring three runs in the fifth but the White Sox held on after their one-run triumph, getting the winning tally in a two-run uprising in the eighth. Nellie Fox, who had a perfect day at bat with four hits, drove in the deciding run.

The Yankees got a late inning scare from the fiery Creole Allen but efficient Eddie Lopat with five straight hits in the eighth, four after scoging five runs the A's were checked by Johnny Sain. Philadelphia put two men on in the ninth with two out before Sain finished off by getting Elmer Valo on an infield grounder.

Playoff Berths In Intercounty Not Yet Decided

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

With only two days left in the schedule the Senior Intercounty Baseball League still has to decide its playoff teams. The race has been that close.

Neither St.—Thomas Elgins nor Kitchener Panthers appear to be ready to give up their fight for fourth place, the last playoff position. The Elgins are currently holding down the spot—one-half game in front of the Panthers. The two teams meet in the season's finale at St. Thomas Saturday.

Thursday night both the Elgins and the Panthers won victories in the two Intercounty games. St. Thomas spoiled the bid of Brantford Red Sox to climb into a tie for first place by edging the Sox 3-2. The Panthers, meanwhile, received some fine pitching to defeat London Majors 4-1 in London.

ALLEN'S FIFTH

Bill Allen limited the Majors to six hits and struck out the same number of London batters to win his fifth game of the season and his first over the Majors. Allen sent home one of the four runs.

Charlie Wolf was Kitchener's big hitter, collecting three hits in four trips to the plate. Ken Brantford Fautka got two, including a double, and cashed a run. Don Mayes' three runs accounted for Leaside's only score.

Bill Best claimed 10 Panthers on strikeouts in seven innings but was charged with his fifth loss. He has nine wins.

St. Thomas had to score four ninth-inning runs to edge Brantford. A crowd of more than 1,500 fans saw centrefielder Willie Cassano's third home run of the year. Cassano's home run drove in Bob Harris, who had a double and sent home two St. Thomas runs. Brantford catcher Harry Fisher poled a homer for Brantford.

Mac Manning, who went all the way on the Brantford mound, sent home three runs for the Sox but was charged with the defeat—his first after two victories. Manager Tommy White, also with the Elgins, was the winner. It was his fifth against five loss.

A three-hitter by playing coach Bert Gibb led Coniston Red Sox to a 5-0 victory over Garson Greyhounds in Sudbury in the only game in the Senior League group.

London plays at Kitchener tonight while Brantford meets the Elgins at St. Thomas. In the other scheduled Intercounty game at Gait. . . .

Macks Hint 'Angel' Has Been Found to Acquire Stock of A's

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Earle Both Roy and Earle would retain their 58 per cent majority, and baseball's Mack - hinted Thursday they have found an "angel" to save Mack ownership of the Philadelphia Athletics and another source reported it involved selling their father's stock for $3,000,000 to someone who will then invest $2,000,000 more to rebuild the club.

Just who the "angel" is, neither of the Macks would say but they inferred he exists and that they would burn the hatchet and run the ball club next year and for many years to come.

It was Earle who hinted a plan was in the making that would enable the Mack family to remain in baseball.

Roy chimed in with a hint that a detailed plan of refinancing and reorganization may be ready for announcement at the end of about two weeks.

NEITHER TALKS

While neither brother would talk about this, it was learned that the proposition was to sell Connie Mack Sr.'s 43-per-cent interest to a new stockholder who then would invest additional working capital estimated at approximately $2,000,000.

Crawford Last Canadian Hope In Amateur Golf Tournament; Semi-Final Round to Start

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Lyle Crawford, 21-year-old Vancouver golfer who took up the game on a bet, carries with him today Canada's sole chance of bringing home the Canadian amateur golf championship.

At the start of the week-long tournament Monday you could have written your own ticket on this rank outsider, a part-time commercial fisherman. Now, say bold enough to have backed Crawford are laughing softly at their outlandish-odds stubs.

Although he enters the semi-finals today against redoubtable Harvie Ward, Jr., of San Francisco, Crawford showed distinctly in Thursday's fifth and sixth rounds both that he's no pushover.

If he gets by in the upper half of the semi-final bracket he will meet Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., or Harry Haverstick, Jr., of Lancaster, Pa., neither of whom can be ruled out as successors to the title won last year by Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Texas.

BIG UPSET

In Thursday's two rounds, Crawford first put into Robert Manley, Jr., of Savannah, Ga., a polished golfer who unceremoniously Wednesday shoved aside Don Harris, Granby, Que., finalist last year at Quebec City.

It was the big upset of the fifth round when Crawford bypassed Manley 3 up at the same course by which Manley had disposed of Doc.

That brought the Vancouver boy into the sixth round in the afternoon against Ben Norman, Kitchener's pride and joy—since Gerry Kesselring departed for the pro ranks—and two of Canada's rising young golfers had to set about cutting each other's throats.

It was a dilly. They put on a great display for the galleries that all but deserted other matches.

The tight match, with hole-swapping here there, came down near the end of the back nine with the issue still in doubt. Crawford got in front by winning the 13th and 14th but Moe grabbed the next two. Lyle took the 17th when Moe got himself into a bit of trouble.

They halved the 18th, Moe's 3-foot putt just failing to drop. Away they went to extra holes still fighting grimly. At the fifth extra hole, a 375-yard par four, both had strives of about 270 yards.

Their second shots were just off the green, on the apron. Crawford chipped two feet from the pin. Moe three feet. Moe putted and missed. It was Lyle's big chance and he ran down his putt.

Norman gobbled up John Kraft of Denver 4 in the morning round.

Crawford is a member of the Vancouver Golf Club. He won the British Columbia Amateur and Closed title and made the Willingdon Cup team for the first time. His brother was the team doctors here last Saturday. When he was 13 he bet an older cousin he could take him in golf and the cousin within a year. Crawford reports that he won the bet. There is no record of what the cousin has done golf-wise since.

Harvie Ward brought himself a tartar in the morning round against 19-year-old Ray Billey of Kitchener, British Columbia junior champion. The hole-swapping went on and on and the match was all square. Ward took it with a par four. Billey's strike long with his second shot, needed a five.

Bill Campbell, finalist this year in the British amateur, marched along to a 4 and 3 win in the morning over Don Varey of Brantford, Ont., setting up a five-hole lead before Varey could slice into it.

In the afternoon the 31-year-old Huntington insurance man didn't give up a hole to Joe Leblanc of Montreal, the little fellow whose dynamite ball knocked off champion Cherry the day before. It was a 6 and 5 parade for Campbell.

Luke Appling Having Trouble In Richmond

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Luke Appling is getting plenty of chances this season to ask himself whether it's better to be a Triple A manager in last place or a double A manager in first place.

The durable Chicago White Sox star turned down a reported $10,000 last winter to continue as manager at Memphis in the Southern Association and jumped to the new Richmond club of the International League.

Luke brought Memphis its first pennant in 28 seasons last year and he's had nothing but trouble in the switch.

When Richmond lost 3-2 in 11 innings at Syracuse Thursday night it was the defeat No. 80 for the Virginians. The club has won only 49 games and is in last place.

In winning, the Chiefs strengthened their slender hold on fourth and the accompanying playoff berth.

Soccer Gossip

Batawa improved its position in second place in the Eastern Ontario Football League on Saturday when it trounced a short - handed Peterborough Merchants team 12-0 in the Lift-lock City. On the same day, Northern Electric were beaten 4-3 in a league-leading Peterborough U.E.W.

The U.E.W. need two more points in their remaining three games to be sure of retaining the league championship.

Batawa's success is due to be played this week-end. Results of both games have a decided bearing on second place. Batawa have the inside track thirree points ahead of Northern Electric and Kingston United but have played one game more.

Batawa and the Electrics hook up in the Shoetown. A win for Batawa would put Northern Electric in the driver's seat, while a Northern while an Electric win would leave the issue undecided, finishing in second slot.

In the other key game scheduled, Kingston United entertain league-leading U.E.W. in Kingston. A win for U.E.W. would assure them of the championship. United have to win to keep second place in hopes of finishing second.

In the third game scheduled, the other two Peterborough clubs, Scottish and Merchants, meet with much pride at stake.

JUVENILES PRACTISE

Foley Foundry juveniles and Branch 99 Canadian Legion banana are slated to practise each Thursday at the Cricket Field, Bayside Park, Belleville, with the teams in Hamilton to play off for supremacy in the city. The winner will meet them in the Belleville-Trenton championship.

In the Bay of Quinte League Northern Electric and Batawa play off next Wednesday in the Cup and the Trenton Challenge Cup. The Belleville Cup play they are drawn against Trenton Mercants in the semi-finals. They play at the Batawa field of a two-and-home series last Tuesday, 5-6.

As this was the first game of the season for the Army team, the false conclusion could be drawn about their abilities and it will be very much unfit they have played together a few times before making comparisons. The second game of the series will be played at Bain Memorial Park in Trenton on Monday evening with a 6:30 kick-off.

In the other semi-final played at Trenton on Wednesday, Trenton edged Northern Electric 5-4 in a long battle. But Belleville had a four goal cushion as the result of the first game of the series and won the two-game total. They will meet the winners of the Trenton-Batawa series in a sudden death game which will be played on a neutral ground on Wednesday, September 1.

This week's tip to the budding soccer star: "You won't score if you don't try."

TIED IN BURSARY E

TORONTO (CP)—Three former winners, all looking for a free-ride to the United States winter golf trail this year, took the lead Friday day in the first round of the Bursary tournament.

Al Balding of Toronto, Bob Dean of Toronto and Jack Kay of Montreal all fired two-under-par 68s to go in front of the field of 72.

Two 18-hole rounds will be held at the Uplands Seaside course today to decide which three golfers will win the Bursary, sponsored by a Toronto automobile firm. The Bursary sends three golfers for a minimum three months of the winter circuit and is limited to men 30 years of age and under.

Canada's Team Capt. Confident Squad Can Win

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Capt. Bruno Macken of Canada's Davis Cup tennis team is confident his underdog squad will defeat Mexico in the North American semi-finals opening today and go on to meet the United States.

"We don't feel we're underdogs," Macken said. "We've been beating boys than the Mexicans earlier this year.

"It's true we didn't look too good in early practice, and the Mexicans think they can take us. But we sharpened up during the past few days, and we're much better than the Mexican figure us."

The Mexicans, playing on home courts at Chapultepec sports centre and accustomed to the 7,500-foot altitude, have freely predicted victory.

HAVE ADJUSTED

"This altitude is about 7,000 feet higher than we're used to, but we adjusted fairly well," the Montreal ace said.

"We've watched our food, trained hard but are not overtrained, and we're ready to go."

First test will be this afternoon. Canada's Jim Bunn, Paul Willey of Vancouver, so far has not drawn an assignment.

Cool and sunny weather was predicted for opening day.

The first match this time Mexico and Canada have met in Davis Cup play. Canada has won the last two and Mexico won the first two.

Special Meeting Will Discuss CRU Ruling

MONTREAL (CP) — President Roy Robertson of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union said Thursday night he's called a special executive meeting of the league's governors "to discuss the Cuss and act" on a Canadian Rugby Union ruling limiting use of imported players.

Robertson's announcement followed a meeting of Montreal Alouettes and Ottawa Rough Riders against a statement in Toronto Wednesday night by Lorne McBrien, CRU secretary, that Big Four clubs and teams must use only eight of the 10 imports allowed in the league.

The Big Four president, who also heads a group that owns the Alouettes, said the executive will discuss whether the CRU should have the right to interfere in the operation of any league.

"Under the present constitution they (the CRU) have the right to say what they did," he went on. "But have the final cut-if our member clubs believe they should be in the future."

TRIED EARLIER

The CRU ruling was unanimously approved at an annual meeting, with the Big Four subsequently decided that playing nine imports per game would be permissible in the coming season.

Eastern Canada general manager, Lou Hayman, had a sharp issue with the CRU stand.

Hayman said each league should be allowed to conduct its own affairs with respect to the number of play. The CRU "could not legislate against the sovereignty of the leagues."

Ottawa Rough Riders want to use nine imports instead of eight in Big Four games, club secretary Wes Brown said in Ottawa at Ottawa.

"The Ottawa club feels the same way as Montreal," he said. "We would prefer to play nine imports."

Rough Riders took issue with the report that the CRU ruling was adopted unanimously. It was understood there was opposition to the move at the CRU annual meeting last March.

May Expand Maple Leaf Stadium To Get Major League Franchise

TORONTO (CP)—Expansion of Maple Leaf Stadium, home of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League, is being studied with a view to getting a major league franchise, control-lers Jack Lipsett said.

The city councillor said Thursday that a group of city business and sportsmen is prepared to put up money to acquire a major league franchise, but only if a civic stadium is provided large enough for the majors.

Lipsett didn't identify any of the group. If such a stadium were built it is believed the group would go after the franchise of the Philadelphia Athletics of the American League. Kansas City also wants the franchise but some league owners are reported opposed.

Lipsett said that to meet the requirements of the group Maple Leaf Stadium would have to be enlarged from an 18,000-seat to a 36,000-seat capacity. It was estimated that the franchise cost would be around $10,000,000, including improvement of existing baseball facilities in the city.

The controller said provision must also be made for a major league football field and an Olympic-size track and field course. The city has a bid in for the 1960 Olympics.

Olson Solid Favorite to Retain Boxing Crown Over Castellani

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP)—Middleweight King Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco lays his world championship on the line tonight and is a solid favorite to retain it in a 15-round match with Ralph Castellani of Cleveland.

The bout will be nationally televised from the San Francisco Civic Auditorium by the Canadian Broadcasting Company, with the 10,000 seats already blacked out of the TV picture. The match goes on at 10 p.m. EDT.

The setting is the spacious Cow Palace and promoter Benny Ford believes the attraction will virtually fill the near 18,000-seat capacity.

The partly bald, 26-year-old Olson is captured the middleweight crown from Randy Turpin of England in 1953 and turned back the threat of Kid Gavilan in Chicago last April in one of his greatest fights.

16 FIGHTS AGO

The last time Bobo was beaten was 16 fights ago in a bid for the title against Sugar Ray Robinson here in his adopted home in 1952.

Castellani, a 24-year-old ring-man without much of a punch—first, to him than the champion, who is not famous for chilling his foes—has not been whipped in 10 straight starts.

Oddly enough, Olson and Rocky have had 42 professional fights apiece, each has lost five and both turned up for this title struggle by belabouring the gan named Pedro Gonzales. Rocky won a decision, Bobo ended the matter in four rounds.

Olson has been guaranteed $120,000 by Norris Enterprises while Al Naiman of Cleveland Rocky will get 66 per cent of anything over the net above that fancy sum.

Eight Chatham Hockey Players Granted Releases

CHATHAM (CP)—Eight of last year's Chatham Maroons players planning to reorganize a senior A team were granted releases Thursday from Jack Stewart by the Ontario Hockey Association Thursday.

Ernie Dick, spokesman for the group, said they were notified of their release by telegram and this was later confirmed by wire.

He said the players will elect a team executive today and make a proposal to rent the Chatham arena, which has been closed since ci Monday.

The players released were Ernie Dick, Jim Connelly, Frank Bonello, Albert Pinoffe, Dick Platowski, Jim Arnaud, Jim Campbell and George Edwards.

Two Montreal Girls in Finals Tennis Tourney

By JOHN VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Two Montreal girls, one a hard-hitting blonde and the other a lively brunette, meet today to decide the junior women's open singles championship at the Canadian junior tennis tournament.

Most of the remaining titles will be determined as the six-year-old annual meet swings into its eighth day at the Ottawa Tennis Club. There are only 21 matches to be played.

Marilyn Laframboise, blonde daughter of a Montreal policeman, meets Eleanor Dodge in the women's final. The men's singles is to be whittled down to the final four today with the finals set for over to Saturday.

Miss Laframbroise of Hamtramck, Mich., and John John Adler of Scarsdale, N.Y., decide the first title of the meet in their best-of-three-sets match will be the Canadian juvenile boys' singles championship.

GIRLS' SINGLES

Another Hamtramck player, Virginia Hesse, tackles the winner of the Laframbroise-Dodge duel Saturday in the girls' singles final.

Mario Lauzon of Montreal, the only Canadian left in the junior men's open singles, meets John Mandel of Brooklyn, N.Y., for the right to tackle John Schram of Hamtramck in the semi-finals.

The other semi-final matchup together John McLean of Buffalo, a runner-up in the title race last year, and David Freishtat of Baltimore, who beat out Gerald Mann of Hamtramck yesterday 6-4, 7-5.

Doble had just finished eliminating Guy Durocher, winner of the junior men's closed championship, 6-2, 6-4, in the other half of the bottom of the running.

Doble is still in the boys' singles. He meets Don Rubell of Brooklyn, N.Y., in the semi-finals of tight event today. John Bassett of Toronto and Bruce Brian of Baltimore tangle in the other half.

Miss Laframbroise eliminated Ingerburg Webber of Kitchener, Ont., Thursday to move into the final of the junior women's. The score was 6-3, 6-1. Miss Dodge ousted Miss Barclay 6-1, 6-2.

Burke Shoots 66 to Take Lead in Tourney

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Jack Burke Jr., of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., fired 66 over the golden Elks Country Club course Thursday to take the first round lead in the $15,000 Fort Wayne golf tournament.

Burke, second high money winner on the pro circuit this year, had nines of 34 and 32 against par 36-36.

Glenn Teal of Jacksonville, Fla., and Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., 67th and 95th respectively among the money winners, were a stroke back at 67.

Bracketed at 68 were six players, including Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., and Pete Cooper of Jacksonville, who carried the first holeout-one of the season. His ace came on the 165-yard fifth hole hit with a No. 7 iron and the pin and spun back into the cup.

Horvath, who shot a 32 on the front nine for a one-stroke advantage, said he was withdrawing because of respiratory trouble.

ENTER 40 CANOISTS

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada will enter a 40-man team in the North American canoe championships at Washington, D.C., Sept. 5, the Canadian Canoe Association announced Thursday. The suburban Lachine Racing Canoe Club will supply 20 members of the team consisting of retaining the aggregate championship. It was last year. Other Canadian team members will come from Winnipeg, Toronto and Sudbury.

The Kibitzer

Mess around with the wrong kind of jump bids and your pair will operate without confidence. There is one basic meaning for a jump. It is: With what I know we have tricks enough for a game.

For a game how many tricks do you need with what your partner has promised? Simply the balance for the denomination in which your pair will end the contract; total, nine in no-trump, ten in major, 11 in minor.

When partner opens with a bid of one count on him for five of the needed tricks. Your jump takeout to any new suit shows six; jump assist in any major shows six.

Now suppose you open with a bid of one and partner responds in another suit. How many tricks you would you show with a jump on your second round? Depends on what your jump is in.

Your responding partner has promised three tricks. You need six more. Your jump takeout to any new suit is not decided, eight if you jump assist in a minor, seven if you jump assist in a major.

Take the pair of partnership hands shown here:

NORTH	SOUTH
♠A Q	♠K 7 4
♥K Q J 9 7 2	♥A 8 3
♦K 8 3 2	♦10 9 7 5
♣3	♣9 6 4

Open south with a heart. Although your count is eight tricks, opens opposite a minimum. North takes out with two diamonds.

Although he counts four tricks his simple response shows only three. Your count is eight and you see 11. Until trump is decided you may need 11 tricks for game. You already see that many. Jump!

Your jump is to three hearts. Your partner thus learns you have eight tricks. With his own fourth trick he can count 12 in the pair. He has the information needed to bid game.

You hear some players say that a jump rebid in the same suit is not forcing to game. Put them down in your notes as block book asses who do not know the true count for a jump.

Among cumbersome players they are a dime a dozen.

Western Football Clubs Ready For Season's Opening Saturday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

LaBaron versus Jacobs, Arnold against Tripucka.

That is the probable way the 1954 Western Interprovincial Football Union season will open Saturday, and the starting quarterbacks hold a clue to the new policy of the four clubs involved.

The fifth and the newest club, British Columbia Lions, don't enter the picture until their Aug. 28 home opener against Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Eddie LaBaron, former Washington Redskins deception wizard, will lead Calgary Stampeders against Winnipeg and aerial-ardent Indian Jack Jacobs in one opener, while Edmonton Eskimos' Claude Arnold —the guy billed as Canada's top quarter—will head a bruised and battered squad against Saskatchewan Roughriders and their re-claimed Frank Tripucka.

LaBaron is Stampeders' colorful new-brat replacement for fading Frankie Albert, whose top billing wasn't enough to keep Stamps out of the league cellar last year.

GLITTERING FIELD

LaBaron will get support from a glittering field of first-year import half including Lowell Wagner from San Francisco State, Jack Reid rating threat Eddie Macon from College of the Pacific, Stanford graduate Pupe Andrews, Neil Ferry up from Los Angeles Rams and Jerry Boody of Baylor University.

Winnipeg coach Al Sherman, 31-year-old former backfield coach for New York Giants, views these powerful toss-and-run combinations from the obvious angle: The accent is on pass defence.

Pre-season exhibition games, meanwhile, have taken a heavy toll on Eskimos, who easily led the league throughout the 1953 season but fell in the final to Bombers.

Jackie Parker, flashy Mississippi State quarter who was shoved into a halfback spot to make room at quarter for second-year Canadian import Arnold, suffered a rib separation, as did all-star Chinese fullback Norman Kwong. Parker might make it for Saturday, but Kwong is definitely out.

Arnold's field-generalizing cohort Berney Faloney—picked on almost a dozen all-Canada squads last year for his play with Maryland University—is out with undetermined injuries.

Snead Lowers Course Record By Two Strokes

By MEL MORRIS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LAVAL SUR LE LAC, Que. (CP) — Sam Snead's golf swing exchanges his rod for a golf club today and sets out in pursuit of the Canada Cup after lowering the course record by two strokes in a practice round Thursday.

The international twosomes tournament gets underway at this suburban Montreal course this afternoon with top players from 25 countries competing.

A Virginia hillbilly who admits that golf is his only sport is fishing, Snead gave par a nine-stroke beating as he toured the course Thursday in 68, two under par partner Jimmy Demaret.

Sam Snead's performance was matched by Fred Daly of Ireland with a blistering 31-32 round over the 6,400-yard layout. Both players finished two strokes below the course record held by home pro Jules Huot but neither score could be recognized as a new mark since they didn't start holing out short putts.

TUNE-UP ROUNDS

Sub-par rounds were the rule rather than the exception as the other Canada Cup contenders whipped through the tune-up.

Little Michio Ishii of Japan finished one stroke behind Daly and Snead with a 64. Bobby Locke of South Africa posted a 65 after wrecking the back nine with a six-under par 30, the lowest nine-hole score of the day.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver, who teams with Huot to make up the Canadian team, shot a one-under par 71.

Official competition gets under way at 2 p.m. EDT with Harry Weetman and Peter Allis of England teeing off with Carlos Celles and Sebastian Miguel of Spain. The winner is decided on the basis of the lowest medal score for the two-man teams over 72 holes.

GUELPH NATIVE DIES

TORONTO (CP)—Thomas J. R. Macaulay, 53, eldest son of the late Dr. J. and Mrs. R. R. Macaulay of Guelph, died suddenly Monday in Kingston, Jamaica, it was learned Wednesday. In the Second World War he organized the Combined Services theatre, which entertained Allied troops in Europe.

Marjorie Lawrence and Studio Quarrel Over Handling of Biography

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—MGM expects to start a film on the life of Marjorie Lawrence next week despite threats from the singer that she will sue to stop it.

The Australian operatic star's bitterness with the studio broke into the open today with charges and replies over the handling of her film biography. It is called "Interrupted Melody" and will star Eleanor Parker and Glenn Ford.

Miss Lawrence's principal complaint is that the studio will not use her own voice for the sound track. At her home in Hot Springs, Ark., she declared the studio had her make extensive recordings with a symphony orchestra. "Everyone agreed they were superb," she said, adding that later the sound tracks were "sabotaged" to make her sound like "singing through a bale of cotton."

DIDN'T SABOTAGE SOUND

Jack Cummings, producer of the picture, denies any sabotage.

"This is a very unfortunate situation," he remarked. "The last thing in the world I want is to hurt Miss Lawrence's feelings.

"First, we hired the noted conductor, Erich Leinsdorf, to record with her and a full orchestra. We did everything we could with microphones and so forth. But still the results were not suitable for use on a movie sound track.

"In hopes that we were wrong, we ordered a second session, at considerable expense. This time we hired Dr. Walter Damrosch, head of the opera department at U.S.C. (University of Southern California) and one of the 10 top operatic experts in the country. Again the recordings fell short. In order to keep the dramatic value of the story, we were forced to use another voice. We were heart-broken.

HIT BY POLIO

"Miss Lawrence was stricken with polio. We feel compassion for her, but we have done everything we can."

Cummings said MGM paid singer Eileen Farrell 50 per cent more than her agreed salary to do the recordings anonymously, thus saving Miss Lawrence embarrassment.

Other points of contention:

Lawrence—She offered to buy back the story.

Cummings—"It isn't that easy. The purchase price was a substantial sum but now there is a great deal more money in the film. Recordings cost $100,000 alone. There is Eleanor Parker's salary, and Glenn Ford gets $125,000. It would be impossible for her to pay all that."

Lawrence—The story came out as "just another picture."

Cummings—"I think we have a fine story. It has been written three times, when the casting was changed from Lana Turner to Greer Garson to Eleanor Parker. Each time the story was improved."

Lawrence—Studio officials were discourteous to the point of being contemptuous."

Cummings—"I'm sorry if she feels that way. We feel we showed her every courtesy. We admire her great achievements as a singer and a human being."

AT THE McCARTHY

"The Long Wait", second of the Mickey Spillane hard-boiled, bullet-of-blood, barrel-of-sex thrillers to be filmed in the first two years, last year's successful "I, The Jury"], is now playing at the McCarthy Theatre through United Artists release. The picture, directed by Victor Saville, stars Anthony Quinn, Charles Coburn, Gene Evans and Peggie Castle. Backing up this quartette is a trio of high sex-quotient girls named Mary Ellen Kay, Barbara Lamb and Dolores Donlon. Lesser Samula produced and collaborated with Alan Green on the screenplay.

Quinn is cast as a very tough hombre named Johnny McBride, out to clear himself of a murder rap.

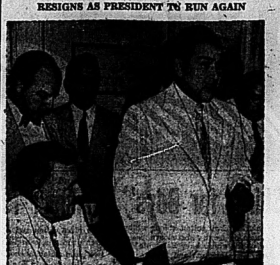
RESIGNS AS PRESIDENT TO RUN AGAIN



Fulgencio Batista, who resigned the presidency of Cuba, which he seized 20 months ago, is known after he announced to the cabinet in Havana that he would campaign for legal election as president. He was given a leave of absence, during which his right-hand-man, Andres Domingo Morales del Castello (seated left) takes over.

Clay Says John Was 'Turncoat' Or 'Double Agent'

TORONTO (CP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor in West Germany after the Second World War, said Thursday Dr. Otto John, chief of West German intelligence who recently defected to the Communists, was either a "double agent" working for two governments or a "turncoat."

Gen. Clay, who retired from the U.S. Army to become chairman of the board of Continental Can Company, disagreed with a theory that John was an agent who defected because he believed Germany was being hopelessly split between East and West.

The 57-year-old general made his remarks in an interview. He is here on a business trip.

Summer Course Opens

KINGSTON (CP) — Officials of Ontario's only course to train grade school teachers for the job of principal said Thursday it has passed the experimental stage.

A summer course in school administration and supervision was started last year by the Ontario Public School Men Teachers' Federation because, officials said, some public school principals were not prepared for their tasks.

This year 15 teachers from 42 Ontario centres enrolled in the course at their own expense. Lectures began last Saturday and end Aug. 27.

TO BUILD ATOMIC PLANT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Army entered the atomic power field with an announcement Thursday that it will build a nuclear power plant to produce heat and electricity. It said the plant could be taken apart and flown for quick reassembly at remote bases. The working model will be built at Port Belvoir in nearby Virginia and is expected to be on a producing basis within two or three years.

IN HONOR OF DIEPPE

HAMILTON (CP) — The Royal Hamilton Light Infantry held a memorial service at the cenotaph Thursday night in honor of those members who lost their lives at Dieppe during the Second World War. Brig. Denis Whitaker, former colonel of the regiment, received the salute during the parade. Thirteen placed wreaths at the cenotaph.

67 Persons Hurt In Anti-British Riot in Athens

Demand for Cyprus Merger Sees Violent Street Fights

ATHENS (Reuters) — Lingering bitterness against Britain marked "day after" feelings in Greece today followed violent demonstrations for enosis—merger of Cyprus with Greece.

In two hours of street battles in Athens, 67 persons, including 27 police, were injured, five seriously, stones and clubs in their attempt to reach the British embassy here to protest Britain's repeated refusal to grant the island of Cyprus her Mediterranean island colony and Greece.

Crowds estimated at 100,000 shouted "Down with the British—down with the cannibals," and broke windows of street cars and buses operated by a British-owned power company.

Eleven persons were reported injured at the embassy as demonstrators clashed with police in front of the British consulate and had to be dispersed with fine hoses.

At Volos, demonstrators burned their United flag.

On the island of Carfu, demonstrators attacked the British subconsulate and British Institute.

THOUSANDS MARCH

Thousands of villagers carrying flags and banners swarmed into the capital town of the island of Rhodes, but no incidents were reported.

Archbishop Spridon of Athens told the crowd: "We hope the glorious Churchill will close his political career with action for the liberty and unification of Cyprus with Greece."

Toronto Police Being Trained As 'Frogmen'

TORONTO (CP) — Two Toronto city detectives are being trained as underwater firemen.

Robert Bamlett and Tom Stormon use their own aqua lungs, masks and flippers. For diving deep into cold water they have rubber-lined suits similar to those worn by the navy's underwater demolition teams during the Second World War.

The equipment of detectives Bamlett and Thornton enables them to stay below the surface for one hour. They can dive to a depth of 50 feet.

The training has already enabled one of the detectives to recover a revolver used in a jewelry store robbery from Toronto bay.

Princess Marks 24th Birthday In Highlands

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP)—Princess Margaret celebrated her 24th birthday today in the quiet of the Scottish highlands and amid the warmth of her family circle.

Telegrams and birthday greetings from all over the world arrived but by tradition it was a family birthday only. Nothing formal was planned.

HONOR PLANNED

A picnic lunch in Glen Muick for many years a favorite spot for birthday celebrations both by the queen and the princess, was all the scheduled treatherous Scots always ever played fair.

Then the Queen will propose the birthday toast. Later, the princess will open her presents, with those from her nephew and niece, princes Prince Charles and Princess Anne, high on the list.

Tonight brings a party and a dance for a few friends. One young man included in the guest list is Colin Tennant, 27-year-old heir to Lord Glenconner and latest name linked romantically by the British press with the princess.

TAKE NO NOTICE

If the pretty princess took any notice at all of the romance rumors there was no indication from Balmoral Castle, the Royal Family's Scottish holiday residence.

For one more year Princess Margaret must obtain the Queen's permission for marriage. When she becomes 25 she will attain the constitutional age for her right to marry without the Queen's consent.

Social Security System in U.S. Is Liberalized

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has given President Eisenhower a farewell bouquet in the form of a bill liberalizing and extending the social security system just about as he wanted.

Both the House of Representatives and the Senate adopted approval of a compromise version late Friday and the bill, final one for legislation of the 83rd Congress, went to Eisenhower for his expected signature.

It will increase present and future benefits for retired persons and survivors, boost taxes to finance the higher payments and bring an additional 10,000,000 under the 20-year-old system.

This was one of the key bills in the Eisenhower legislative program and one which the Republicans expect to reap a political harvest.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A large area of high pressure over Ontario continues to intensify as it moves slowly eastward. Ideal holiday weather is in store for all of the province today, and for most regions on Sunday, with some cloudiness edging into western sections of northern Ontario Sunday afternoon.

SEVEN SURVIVE 17-HOUR ORDEAL ON LAKE SIMCOE

Swim 2 Miles to Shore After Open Boat Sinks

SUTTON, Ont. (CP)—Two instructors and five teen-age campers survived 17 hours in an open boat on rough Lake Simcoe waters Friday, then swam two miles to shore after the vessel sank.

Police said they probably owe their lives to cool heads and courage and to a camp drill which emphasizes the value of wearing life preservers at all times.

The seven youths, all from Toronto and suburbs, were reported drowned when they failed to turn up after a three-day trip in their 16-foot outboard motor boat.

Two of them swam to Georgina Island, near this village about 40 miles north of Toronto, shortly after the boat capsized. The others reached the same island four hours later.

All of them made their way back to camp, with the help of police and rescue boats, by 2 a.m. Friday per Friday night. All were in good shape.

ATTENDING CAMP

The campers were Bob Jones, 13, Jim Lee, 13, Gary Trotter, 13, and Paul Davis, 14. The instructors were Peter Lee, 17, and Bob Stewart, 17. They are members of the Boys' Life Club of the Young Men's Christian Association attending Sunfish camp.

Bill Reid, 17, left the sinking boat early to get help. They were picked up by a fisherman, a Mr. Shaw. The other five headed for the island four hours later. They landed near a Girl Guides' holiday camp and took shelter until rescuers arrived.

Sexton said there was no panic when the boat turned over.

"We had a vote on top of the boat," he said. "It asked the rest of the boys if they wanted to swim for it. They voted in favor.

"When we were two miles off the point we moved off. I waited until they were all in the water and then shoved off, too. We kept together."

Strathroy Mother, Two Children Drown in L. Huron

GRAND BEND, Ont. (CP)—A Strathroy mother saw her two small sons drown before she herself plunged under water in choppy Lake Huron Friday. Helped to the beach by her husband, she died before artificial respiration could be applied. Dead are Mrs. Arlie Sheridan, 34, and children, 5 and 6.

Also in the boat which capsized off Southcott Pines beach a mile south of Grand Bend were Evan Smithrim, 7, and Elizabeth Ann Smithrim, 5, children of the woman's sister.

The Smithrims were staying at a cottage at Grand Bend during their holidays. Allen had taken the family out in the motor boat when about 200 yards off shore a wave overturned the boat.

Donna Kernohan, 21, was among the first to get to the survivors in the water.

"When I went to the beach I saw Mr. Smithrim coming out of the water carrying his wife," Miss Kernohan said. "Allies was holding the baby, but there was no one else in sight."

She applied artificial respiration to the daughter and later doctors credited her with saving Janet's life.

Magistrate Calls Man Charged With Bigamy 'Stupid'

HAMILTON (CP)—Victor Goffin, 42, appeared in court on 62nd birthday Monday, was found guilty of bigamy there and was remanded for sentence.

A Hamilton elevator operator, Goffin took the stand in his own defence and admitted having four "wives". The charge is that he married bigamously his third "wife" Jessie L. Beatty, former vaudeville newspaper woman in another.

Goffin said he was married in 1936 to Elizabeth C. Coffin. He then went through forms of marriage with three other women—in 1922 to a woman in England; in 1943 to Miss Beatty in Buffalo and 13 days after to Miss Ann Cameron, to a woman in Victoria, B.C.

He told the court he got in Victoria was pregnant at the time and he was desperate. "Probably 'marriage' was annulled shortly afterwards," he said.

Presiding magistrate Bramer Hopkins, a bachelor, commended: "I wouldn't say that Goffin is a criminal type. He's just stupid."

Canadian Scientists Developing New Air-to-Air Guided Missile

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian development of an air-to-air guided missile is in its final stages, defence officials said Friday.

For nearly four years, scientists have been working on the Velvet Canadian Armament Research and Development Establishment at Valcartier, Que., to produce a guided missile to arm fighter aircraft.

It will be one of the most effective be at least part of the answer to the threat of long-range Russian jet bombers.

One authority said that rapid progress has been made in aircraft development since the Second World War but that there has been little advance up to now in aircraft armament.

Canada's new missile is not the be-all and end-all of fighter aircraft armament. But, fired at a plane from within a certain range its ratio of kills probably will be extremely high.

The missile can be carried in either the CF-100 long-range all-weather interceptor or the Jet Velvet Working models of the missile, or the outer shell without the inner workings, can be fired from time to time as various stages of development were reached.

The weapon itself has not yet been fired. When it is, the RCAF probably will use pilotless jet aircraft as targets. There are test sites at its new $30,000,000 weapons range centre at Cold Lake, Alta.

The range of the missile is one of the most secret things about it but is probably several miles.

Two Pickering Women Drown As Car Crashes Into Canal

CORNWALL (CP) — Mrs. Margaret McCarthy, 40, and Mrs. Norma West, 35, both of Pickering, drowned early today when the automobile in which they were passengers left the highway and plunged into Farrah's Point canal, 14 miles west of here.

Walter Comics, 21, of Toronto, the driver, rescued a third passenger, Mary McCarthy of Pickering, but the car sank out of sight in 20 feet of water when he returned for the rescue of the other women.

Mrs. McCarthy was Mrs. West's sister and the 19-year-old girl's mother.

Comics said he was blinded by headlights of an oncoming car on a wide, sweeping curve of the highway which had just been resurfaced. There was no guard rail at the spot.

The mishap occurred about 17 miles from the spot where a Colonial Coach Lines bus plunged into the canal last year killing 20 passengers.

Seven hours after it plunged into the canal the car was raised and towed to shore. Dr. C. A. Stewart, district coroner, said an inquest "almost certainly" will be held.

In a hospital interview, Comics said he pulled Miss McCarthy, a nurse-swimmer, from the sinking car and brought her ashore. He then went out to the car but was unable to reached the other trapped women.

"We were motoring from Toronto for a holiday," he said. "I was driving around the curve. I was blinded by headlights on an oncoming car. I pulled too far to the right and the car hit the soft shoulder of the road. The next thing I knew we somersaulted over and over until we struck the water. I regained consciousness and got her out of the car. It all happened so fast it's hard for me to really know just what the trouble was."

N.B. Textile Mill Operating For 73 Years Will Close Down

MILLTOWN, N.B. (CP) — This border town's only industry—the St. Croix Mill of Textile Sales Ltd. —is closing after 73 years as an economic bulwark of Milltown and neighboring St. Stephen.

A surprise announcement to employees Friday said the plant employing about 300 men and women will stop production gradually. The shutdown process is expected to take between three and four weeks.

Mill manager D. E. Baylis said he saw no prospect for the mill reopening in the near future. Other officials said machinery will not be removed at present but will be kept ready in case machinery will not be removed at present but will be kept ready in case operations resume later.

Mr. Baylis said the closure was forced by depressed conditions common to the textile industry. Canadian textile industry. Seven months ago the Marysville mill of Canadian Cottons Ltd. was closed, leaving 350 jobless. Since then, government and other officials have been trying to get another industry established at Marysville.

With head offices in Montreal, Textile Sales operates several other textile plants in Canada.

Decision to shut the Milltown plant was reached after long consideration and with "the greatest reluctance" by the company's directors, Mr. Baylis said.

"The simple fact is that efficient operation, production of best quality materials and intensive sales had practically no effect in stabilizing today."

"The decision to close the mill was forced upon us by the unfavorable conditions against which the entire textile industry in Canada is struggling today."

The mill development stunned mill workers and the border area generally. Mayor Ralph Eggo called it a disaster for the town. Some of the disheartened employees already are planning to go elsewhere in search of work.

Town councillors met in emergency session to discuss the matter. Labor Minister Gregg hurried from Fredericton to survey any help possible by his federal department.

"Everything that can be done federally will be done, as we attempted to do in Marysville," he said.

Hydro's Plan for Iroquois Called Facade of Cardboard

IROQUOIS, Ont. (CP) — Dr. Welles Coates, planning consultant for Iroquois, told Ontario Hydro plans for the relocation of this eastern Ontario village to make way for the St. Lawrence seaway are a "tasty facade made of cardboard."

He said Friday that plans unveiled by cabinet ministers and hydro electric-power commission in Toronto Tuesday were a "revelation of inadequacy in principal and in almost every detail."

Speaking at a public meeting, Dr. Coates commented:

"Even a quick examination reveals that this is a tasty facade of cardboard and that the planning is only skin deep. In detail the proposals are pedestrian in approach and unimaginative and inept."

Earlier, Reeve Lloyd C. Davis called for the resignation of George Challies, Ontario minister without portfolio, as a director of Ontario Hydro so that he "can serve his community rather than Hydro."

HUNT INSIST

Mr. Davis said residents of Iroquois, 35 miles southwest of Cornwall, must have "adequate compensation value for their homes when the seaway removes the municipality."

The meeting was called to keep residents posted on developments in the relocation project, which will force removal of the village by a new date. Hydro has given the seven communities to be affected by the seaway.

In an examination of the Hydro proposal, Dr. Coates said that a new highway should be recommended for the area—it would cross the river at the control dam—would bisect the new town. The plans would locate industry, warehouses and docks in the position best suited for the prevailing winds to carry away any odors across the residential district, he added.

He advised a larger area, east of the present village, to be kept out of development expected under the seaway. He said the new town centres — four Canadian and eight from overseas—ready to move in. Population in the new town eventually would be about 40,000. It now is 1,100.

Workers Start To Dismantle Wrong House

THOROLD, (CP)—Employees of a construction firm arrived here today to dismantle a house on property recently purchased by the province.

One block away was another old, unoccupied house.

The province's chief staff, ordered to dismantle the wrong one.

Canadian Troops Will Be Home By Christmas

OTTAWA (CP)—The army plans to bring hundreds of Canadian troops home from Korea by Christmas, defence officials said Friday.

However, it was not yet decided which units of the 8,000-man brigade would be withdrawn.

The officials were commenting on a statement in the Commons Friday by Sir John Harding, chief of the Imperial general staff, that the Commonwealth Division will be cut to one-third its present size.

The brigade's withdrawal, they said, would seem to be to withdraw two of its three infantry battalions. But it might be decided to bring home one battalion of infantry, the artillery regiment and the armored squadron.

UNIT INVOLVED

The 2nd Battalion, Black Watch, Montreal, is an army unit to be rotated home in October after a year's garrison duty.

It was to be relieved by the 1st Battalion of the same regiment but this now may be cancelled.

The other major Canadian units in Korea are the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, Canadian Guards, 3rd Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, and D Squadron, Royal Canadian Dragoons.

PLAN TO EASE BORDER RULES TO SPEED WORK

First of St. Lawrence Agreements Is Awaited

OTTAWA (CP)—The first of a series of agreements easing the movement of labor and material for the international St. Lawrence river power project is expected to be completed in a few weeks.

Officials here Friday said the administrative pact between the Canadian and United States governments likely will set the pattern for a "piecemeal" approach to easing customs and immigration formalities in the construction of a power dam on the International rapids section of the St. Lawrence.

The first agreement would cover the movement of workers and supplies for the huge coffer dams required to divert the river from the site of the power dam at the foot of Barnhart island near Cornwall.

WOULD INVOLVE LAWS

In the building of the coffer dams—first step in the huge power project—one of the point seaway power development—supplies and workers would be required to be funnelled into the river area. When the dams are completed, presumably, it would involve immigration laws and the payment of customs, excise and sales taxes.

Both the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Canadian Construction Association have opposed making any tariff concessions to the United States in the Canadian participation.

The government's feeling, however, is that neither country should charge tariffs on machinery and materials or, if there are paid, refunds should be allowed. Officials said it is felt Canadians will benefit as much as Americans from such an arrangement.

Officials said a step-by-step approach to the problem was decided on after it was decided that a proposal for international free zones along the river would raise many difficulties.

TACKLING PROBLEMS

"We'll cross our bridges as we come to them," they said.

"Whenever the two countries agree on the construction particular phase of the project, then we'll decide what action they should take to simplify customs and other restrictions to facilitate that particular construction.

"Mind you, we cannot guarantee that all restrictions will be eliminated. All we can hope for is a reduction of the tariff and immigration restrictions that now exist, but not complete elimination."

Commonwealth Forces in Korea Pared Two-Thirds

CAMBERLEY, England (CP)—Commonwealth forces here, in line with action already taken by the United States, Friday announced a reduction in their chief forces in Korea by roughly two-thirds.

The decision came out of the annual Commonwealth military conference which ended its three-day sessions Friday.

At a press conference following the talks, Field Marshal Sir John Harding, chief of the Imperial general staff, announced the proposed reduction of the Commonwealth division in Korea from six to four, of six divisions from the United Nations command.

Canada was represented at the talks by Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, chief of the general staff and Brig. J. E. C. Pangman, senior Canadian liaison officer in London.

Tells Canada He Is on One-Hour Hop, Next He Sees Paris But Cannot Stop

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — A former U. S. Marine jet pilot flew into Shannon airport from New Foundland, Canada, on a one-hour hop early today after starting off on what he insisted was a one-hour hop in Canada.

Thomas H. Danaher, 30-year-old uranium miner from Wichita Falls, Texas, landed at Shannon after he had managed to come this close to Paris but not quite emotionally. "The trip added 10 years to my age."

Danaher, a six-footer in a ten-gallon Texas hat, a leather jacket and fawn trousers, said he always wanted to see Paris. The marine reservist lives in the Pacific in the winter and Canada in the summer.

So, fitting out his Beech Bonanza at Vancouver, Canada, he notified authorities in Canada he was off on a short hop. Somehow, he neglected to tell reporters he headed across the Atlantic and reached Paris—at least, nearly sky above Paris. He couldn't get permission to come down and turned back to Shannon, he added.

After 2,100 miles and 13½ hours flying he came down about mid-night.

Make 'Last Ditch' Effort to Salvage European Army

Experts Work on Spaak Plan For Compromise Agreement

BRUSSELS (AP) — The United States today stepped into the impasse here over the European Army plan in a desperate effort to negotiate a settlement between the foreign ministers of France and five other West European countries.

Special Ambassador David K. Bruce, the United States' expert on European integration problems, flew in Don Paris unannounced Friday night. He arrived as the foreign ministers were locked in a marathon eight-hour session trying to hammer out their differences over France's proposed changes in the European Defence Community treaty. West German, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg already have ratified the pact France and Italy have not.

Unwilling to admit defeat, the foreign ministers assigned a committee of defence, legal and economic experts to meet again today to try working out details of a compromise proposed by Belgian foreign minister Paul-Henri Spaak.

The ministers will take up the compromise plan in an afternoon session. This probably will be the final attempt at a settlement in the parley, which had been scheduled to end today.

Spaak's formula calls for tacking up unsettled issues after France and the five ratify the treaty. But French premier Pierre Mendes-France has said he is willing to reopen negotiations later is not enough to help him get EDC approved by the hostile French Parliament.

SPAAK OPTIMISTIC

Only Spaak seemed optimistic after the breakup of the long session. He said, "We went through the questions which are touching a deadlock" and added he still had "some hope."

Mendes - France told reporters, "Things are going badly."

West German chancellor Konrad Adenauer, emerging from the session, looked drawn, shrugged.

"What good can you expect at such a bad session?"

The French Parliament still has not ratified the treaty, 27 months after it was signed, and Mendes-France says it never will unless his proposals are accepted.

He wants, among many other things, to delay for eight years organizational changes in NATO whereby an international commissariat would control administrative decisions on defence for all members' nations.

It is through this device that the other nations would be given controls over Germany to prevent a rebirth of nationalistic militarism.

Price of Coffee Dropped By 3 Chain Stores

TORONTO, (CP) — Three major food chain stores here have dropped the price of coffee be a penny, from 64 cents to a pound.

The chain stores, A & P and Dominion announced the cut Thursday. The other chain, Loblaws, announced a similar fee prices in line with the others. Current prices are from 61 cents to $1.19 for a paper-wrapped pound. Vacuum packed coffee sells at $1.25. A three-pound has dropped from $3.75 to $3.49.

Restaurant owners say there will be little difference in the price they pay for coffee. It will be two cents a pound less one operator estimried.

The price drops follow the easing of foreign exchange regula-

Will Not Call Premier Frost To Give Evidence

TORONTO (CP) — A special meeting of the Ontario legislature's committee investigating ways requested by Albert Wren (Lib.-Lak-Kenora) today to ask Premier Frost to give evidence on the administration of the highways department, committee chairman A. Kelso Roberts (PC—St. Patrick) announced.

Mr. Roberts said the meeting will deal only with Mr. Wren's charges of Highways Minister Doucett committed perjury in previous evidence before the committee. Mr. Doucett has denied the charge.

Mr. Roberts said subpoenas will be issued to six of the 10 witnesses called by Mr. Wren in requesting the meeting. Premier Frost, Mr. Doucett, provincial auditor Harvey Cotnam and chief provincial prosecutor in the conspiracy trials of three contracting firms in connection with highways irregularities, will not be called.

Date of the next meeting will probably be announced next week, Mr. Roberts said.

Robert Scott Of City Named Union Trustee

CHICAGO (CP) — Two Canadians were elected to high union posts in the convention of the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen here Friday.

C. R. Scott, of Belleville, Ont., will be life trustee elected for the union, and Harold J. Stockdale of Montreal was chosen to be general delegate to the AFL Canadian Trades and Labor assembly.

Jesse Clark, of Chicago, president of the union since 1945, was re-elected.

SWITCH AFFILIATION

TORONTO (CP) — The Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union CIO-CCL said Friday night workers at the Valley View Dairy have voted to switch affiliation from the Milk Drivers and Dairy Employees AFL-TLC to its organization. The result gave the CIO control of the second of 14 major Toronto dairies. The others are controlled by the AFL, but the CIO says it will campaign to win over many of these.

New Comic Strip Will Show Great Newspapers in Action

PETE HOFFMAN

A thrill a day—that sums up Jeff Cobb, scheduled to start next Monday in Sunday's Comic Section.

Jeff Cobb is the new comic strip which proves, once and for all, that truth is stranger than fiction—and much more absorbing.

You will agree, as you follow the day-by-day unfolding of real-life human dramas which might have taken place in your own home town. This is literally true, since each episode is taken from the pages of some American newspaper.

The files of papers in every part of the country have been combed to bring you the stories of people just like yourself, in exciting events that actually happened. The only change is in the names of those involved. Otherwise, it's strictly the absolutely true.

Pete Hoffman, who writes and draws Jeff Cobb, is no newcomer. He has been creating thrills and tender love for years, when his earliest drawings were published in his hometown newspaper.

Recognition of Hoffman's exceptional talent continued to enlarge, where he served as art editor of both the school paper and the yearbook in four straight years. He had scarcely received his B.A. degree when he was launched on a highly successful career as a free-lance artist.

Then followed a four-year stint as an officer in the Army during World War II, from which Hoffman emerged as a captain.

Hoffman resumed his artistic progress immediately by taking over a successful comic-strip and fattening it to new heights of popularity in eight and one-half years.

It was this success that brought Hoffman a chance to realize a life-long dream, comic strip which would add real-life authenticity to top-flight writing and drawing.

The result was Jeff Cobb Don't miss the first installment on Monday's comic page.

Obituary

JAMES DOLAN HUNTER

James Dolan Hunter, 101 Cedar Street, died suddenly at his home Friday evening, August 20th. He was in his 51st year.

The deceased was born in Belleville, the son of the late Captain James Hunter and Mary Anne Hunter, and lived his whole life in Belleville.

He was a foreman at the Corbin Sack Company plant and was a member of the Corbin Foreman Club. He was well known as a curling enthusiast and fisherman.

He is survived by his wife, the former Lillian Fobert, and one son, William J. Hunter, of Belleville.

Also surviving him are four sisters, Mrs. Addison (Reita) Lloyd; Mrs. Kenneth (Mina) Gerow; Mrs. J. D. (Kathleen) Baker, all of Belleville, and Mrs. Estella Barrigar, Rochester, N.Y.

He was a member of St. Michael's Church.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Smoke Must Have Come from Two Nuisance Fires

A concentration of low lying smoke from two nuisance fires, that had occurred several hours previously resulted in an early morning police investigation for members of the Belleville Fire Department early today.

Friday evening firemen had been called to the city dump and also to the Collins street quarry where they extinguished blazes. Shortly after midnight a heavy concentration of smoke in the East Hill area alarmed residents and firemen were called out to put the fire out, but to find the fire.

But no fire was discovered and firemen reported the smoke must have come from the two nuisance fires reported earlier in the evening.

Friday afternoon firemen were called to the vicinity of McFarland's quarry on the Foxboro Road for a grass fire.

Montreal Man Falls Out Of Boat, Drowns

MARMORA — Frank Lamontagne, 32, of Montreal, an employee of Dominion Structures, who have a contract at Bethlehem Steel Company's plant here was drowned in Beaver Creek at Wangarin Lodge about 5 p. m. on Friday. He and a companion, Bill Lesperance, were out in an outboard motorboat, the companion running the motor, Lamontagne fell out and not being able to swim, sank in about twelve feet of water. Lesperance, also a non-swimmer, made a vain attempt to save him. After being about three quarters of an hour in the water the body was brought to shore. Efforts at resuscitation with a pulmotor were carried out for some time without avail. Corporal Jack Hatch and provincial Officers R. Devey and G. E. Lebow of Picton Detachment were on the scene shortly after the accident and effected the recovery of the body. The Coroner of Marmora was also called.

Dr. Russell Scott of Belleville attended at coroner and decided an inquest was unnecessary. The body was later removed to the Cassidy Funeral Home at Tweed whence it is being sent to Montreal for burial.

Sip 'N Bite Canteen Named After Two Frisky Bear Cubs

TRENTON, (Special.) — Most snackbars and cafes are open, but a recent ring-ostorie named which right off starts people wondering the reason behind them.

A recently erected snackbar in the Quinte area is the "Sip 'N Bite Canteen," on Highway No. 2, about five miles east of here. In this case the reasons for the name is not 20 yards away from the canteen.

They are Sip and Bite— two live black bear cubs owned by Willihm Johnson, and are on display beside the canteen and the Quinte Nurseries, both of which also are operated by Mr. Johnson and his wife.

Now six months old the cubs were bought by the Johnsons about five months ago and are respectively male and female. However the sex of Sip is somewhat with just keeping them that way and has no ambition for starting a brood.

The idea for purchasing the animals came early last April when the Johnsons heard that a Campbellford district farmer, Kenneth Ketchum, had discovered a trio of abandoned week-old cubs in the bush near his farm and was anxious to sell them.

The Johnsons would like to have two but still the cubs, but the departmental regulations require that there be only two bears to a cage so they settled for the present pair.

When they took the cubs home they weighed about 10 pounds each and fed on a diet of cow's bushel basket. Kittenish, by day they romped round the house, later they were put outside the house into a rabbit pen.

At the end of May the present cage was built for them facing the highway at the same time as the Johnsons opened up the canteen. Because of their characteristics they were named Sip (the female; she has a habit of sucking people's fingers), and Bite (the male; not as threatening as it sounds—he's a little frisky).

FED BY HAND

Up to about two months ago the bears were fed by hand from a bottle. Then they were put on pablum and fed four times a day from a pail full of the wiet. Old Mr. Johnston now estimates Bite weighs 40 pounds and Sip 30 pounds.

The diet is interspersed with give-aways of candies, ice cream, peanuts and popcorn from motorists and sightseers who are viewing the bears from early morning. Probably the only trouble the bears give is in this instance.

"If you feed one the other's got to be fed."

Should Sip receive a handout while Bite is left with his paw hanging he will try to take the food away from his young mate. Putting this down to simple display however, while proving a lively distraction, has led to a little misunderstanding of the Johnsons' sentiments regarding wildlife.

"We have had everybody round here trying to sell us racoons and foxes and everything else," Mr. Johnson says.

One man came around and offered to sell them a couple of baby foxes, while another phoned and wanted them to buy some skunks with the battle-scent removed.

Station to Hold Sport's Day

TRENTON (Special)—Next Wednesday, August 25, personnel of the RCAF station, Trenton, will compete in the station's 20th annual Sports Day.

Contestants will be divided into two groups representing male and female personnel in about 20 events including field and track and tug-o'war. Elimination field and track heats were held last Wednesday. Rules laid down allow each contestant to enter three individual and any number of team events. It is expected Mayor Ross Burt will be among the distinguished guests invited.

The day will be climaxed by a dance at the station.

moved.

"Only the other day the mailman wanted to know if we wanted a couple of racoons," Mrs. Johnson said.

The animals are housed in a cage built to departmental specifications which will not need enlarging when the cubs reach full growth. The only additions seen necessary for it at the moment is a large water tank. At present the cubs have free access off, in a large metal tub, before diversifying it over winter.

One thing that will need doing shortly is preparation of proper quarters for the winter months when the bears hibernate.

A small shed inside the pen, where the bears now sleep, will be insulated and a steel roof added. However, Mr. Johnson says he does not expect the cubs' hibernation period to exceed very well as long as it would in the wild state.

FLY IRON LUNGS

Belleville Teacher Sails for Germany On NATO Duty

Miss Jean Harkins of Belleville was among the more than 100 Canadian civilian school teachers who sailed today for Germany and France where they will teach children of servicemen on NATO bases in the two countries and at air force bases.

Miss Harkins sailed aboard the Empress of France on August 17th and will go to the Soest area of Germany. Other teachers chosen for overseas teaching duty, she will remain in Germany for a two year period. She taught last year at Queen Alexandra school at its new location and was chosen for teaching duties overseas.

Police Blotter

A 29-year-old Lakefield man ostensibly selling flowers for the Canadian Legion rounded up in the police station cell blocks Friday night after he became abusive with a prospective customer. The "customer" promptly called the police and the man was arrested on a drunk charge.

Garbagemen and garbage pails also came to the attention of police. One resident called the police station at 5:30 a.m. with a complaint that the garbage truck was making too much noise during the morning collection while a West Hill woman reported that her brand new garbage pail was missing.

STIFF NOTE TO CZECHS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State department said Friday the U.S. is demanding from Communist Czechoslovakia payment of $271,304 as damages for the shooting down 18 months ago of an American F-84 jet fighter plane. The pilot parachuted to safety.

VEILED PRINCESS

An international incident threatened when a Toronto Telegram photographer took a picture of Princess Bedriesya Al-Shihab as she stepped from a plane in Toronto. A Moslem from the Sheikhdom of Kuwait, she protested that she could not be photographed without a veil. The princess, who wears a veil at home but dresses in Western style when travelling abroad, finally asked The Telegram to paint a veil on her picture and the newspaper acceded, with this result. Good Turn Each Day

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Can I help you, sir?" asked a British Scout in uniform when he saw a stranger groping his way through a dense London fog. William D. Boyce, a visitor from the United States, was very glad to accept this boy's help. The Scout accompanied the stranger to his destination, just to make sure that he got there. When the American thanked his young guide, he also offered him a shilling. But the boy refused the money saying, "I am a Boy Scout and Scouts do not take tips for their daily good turn."

Mr. Boyce was surprised and impressed. He determined to learn more about the Scouting Movement. As this happened in 1909 he was able to make an appointment with Baden Powell, the founder of Boy Scouts. When the principles of Scouting were carefully explained to the American visitor, he was convinced that here was something which he must transplant to his native soil.

How well this movement has taken root in less than half a century is shown by the most recent world census of 1952 totals. Out of 31,561,203 Scouts in 57 countries, there are 3,183,266 in the United States. To the south of the U.S. in Mexico there are 3,891 Scouts, and to the north in Canada 146,000.

UNKNOWN SCOUT

The name of this British Scout who did his good turn, a good turn, and thus introduced Scouting to this continent, was never discovered. Hidewell Park, England, that great centre of Scouting, there is a beautiful bronze statue of a buffalo. Beneath is this inscription:

"To the Unknown Scout, whose faithfulness in the performance of the Daily Good Turn brought the Scout Movement to the United States of America."

The Gala Dinner which each boy makes when he is admitted to a Wolf Pack for eight to 11 year olds states:

"I promise to do my best to do my duty to God and the King, to keep the Law of the Wolf Cub Pack, and to do a good turn to somebody every day."

The Scout in his teens, and the Senior Scout pledge themselves "to help other people at all times."

A novel way to emphasize the importance of the Good Turn program was started out last Autumn by the Wolf Cub Pack of Red Deer, Alberta. At the weekly meetings an unsigned list of good turns for each day was handed to Akela, the Cub Master. These papers were wrapped in tinfoil. Then they were added to an ever-growing "snowball" in the Christmas party. Cubmaster Calander showed the great tinfoil snowball with its precious reward, and a few of the anonymous sheets were read aloud by individual Cubs.

GOOD TURNS AT HOME

Many good turns are done right at home. How many thousands of mothers have been thankful for Scouting when a son has willingly offered to do some extra task around the house, run an errand, shovelled snow, looked after a younger child at play.

The story is told of a widow with a large family whose oldest boy was a Scout. One day when he had been particularly busy helping his mother with tasks such as carrying out the ashes in the furnace, which his Dad used to do, he met his Scoutmaster in the evening on his way to perform some letters. "Have you done your good turn today?" his leader asked. The boy hesitated, embarrassed. Then he faltered, "I'm awfully sorry, Sir, but I've been so busy with work Mother had to have done that I've had no time for my good turn!"

This boy was certainly the exception. Most lads have all kinds of spare time . . . and it is the very kind of things to do which is a contributing cause to their getting into destructive mischief. Families who are in trouble with the law are very seldom from Scout groups or Sunday School classes.

From the very first the daily good turn was woven into the fabric of Scouting. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, the originator of Boy Scouts, in his books "Scoutmastership" wrote: "With a little encouragement on the part of the Scoutmaster, the practice of daily good turning becomes a sort of fashion with boys. It is the very best step towards making a Christian in fact, and not merely in theory . . . this "good turn business" brings out the spirit of Christian character towards his neighbour."

WE'RE ENVIED

GODERICH (CP)—Canada is the envy of every other country in the world, Finance Minister Walter Harris said Thursday.

"Our currency is the best in the world to own and outsiders are still seeking to bring their money into Canada to invest," Mr. Harris said at the official opening of the Kinsmen Club's Trade Fair here.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

Behold The Glories Of The Lamb

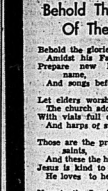
Behold the glories of the Lamb
Amidst his Father's throne;
Prepare new honors for his name,
And songs before unknown.

Let elders worship at his feet
The church adore around;
With vials full of odors sweet,
And harps of sweetest sound.

Those are the prayers of all the saints,
And these the hymns they raise;
Jesus is kind to our complaints,
He loves to hear our praise.

Now to the Lamb that once was slain
Be endless blessing paid.
Salvation, glory, joy remain
Forever, on thy head.

Thou hast redeemed our souls with blood,
Hast set the prisoners free;
Hast made us kings and priests to God;
And we shall reign with thee.



Dr. Isaac Watts, who was preaching great sermons and penning great hymns in England two centuries ago, brought out a popular collection of "Hymns And Spiritual Songs" in 1707, and the hymn which appears above was the one that led off that famous volume.

"A New Song To The Lamb That Was Slain" was the title which Dr. Watts gave to his hymn-poem. As it appeared in 1707 it had eight verses, but three of these—the fourth, fifth and last—have been dropped.

Here is the Bible passage in the fifth chapter of Revelation (verses 6-10) on which the verses cited above are based:

"And I beheld, and lo, in the midst of the throne of the four beasts, and in the midst of the elders, stood a Lamb as it had been slain, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven spirits of God sent forth unto all the earth.

"And he came and took the book out of the right hand of him that sat upon the throne. And when he had taken the book, the four beasts and four and twenty elders fell down before the Lamb, having every one of them harps, and golden vials full of odors, which are the prayers of saints.

And they sang a new song, saying, Thou are worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof; for Thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by Thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue and people and nation. And hast made us into our God kings and priests: and we shall reign on the earth."

A Lift For Living

Our Loose Ends

By Dr. Ralph W. Sockman

A curious fact about life is that when we just let ourselves go and do what we like we like when we like it, we cease before long to like what we do.

William James said that a person should do one unpleasant duty every day just to keep himself in moral training. If we never put ourselves out to curb some impulses, we eventually feel "put out."

In a hotel not long ago, I saw signs at various points reading, "For the convenience of our guests." Such suggestions are appreciated in a hotel. But a home can hardly be run as a convenience. To be sure, we want as many household conveniences as we can secure. But only when the members of a family share some uncongenial tasks and some mutual sacrifices do they come to enjoy the solid satisfactions and spiritual blessings of the home. We must sometimes sacrifice our personal convenience.

When a person becomes a social, active member of any group, we say he is "tied into it." What our community organizations need are more people who are willing to be tied into them. So often our association with good organizations is so loose that we can't be counted on. We may believe in them or support them when we find it convenient, but we do not tie ourselves to them.

AUTOMATIC CONTROL

Or we say: "I don't want to be tied down to any duties or commitments. I want to be free to choose what I wish to do when the time comes."

I sympathize in part with that feeling. I do not like things to become so mechanical that they are dull. I do not want to become a mere creature of habit. But I raise the question whether, in our desire to live the free life, we may not be forgetting that one way to achieve freedom is to bring some actions under such automatic control that we do not have to spend time discussing them.

What a waste of time and energy! If we men debated every morning with ourselves whether we would shave or what train we would catch to business! Such things we reduce to fixed habits and thus free our minds for bigger choices. Likewise, there are some moral and social duties which we should take for granted without stopping to debate them.

Let us ask ourselves whether we may daily opinion and forgive me for the one I had yesterday."

Whereupon another said he had a favorite prayer, and he repeated the oft-quoted petition: "O Lord, give me the courage to change the things that should be changed and the patience to endure the things that cannot be changed, and the wisdom to know the difference."

Yes, and we need the wisdom to know also what questions should be closed and what should be left open. The other day, a military plane plummeted to the ground in an open space of a Long Island village street.

When the pilot felt his plane failing, he faced two choices: Should he bail out to safety and let his plane drop where it might kill many others, or should he guide it away from the houses and go down to his own death?

As a good soldier, he had settled the question at home. So died heroically that others might live.

FUN—FOR THE ELEPHANTS

MESTRE, Italy (AP)—Trunk-to-tail, a file of elephants plodded through Mestre's streets Thursday, heading a circus parade. They came to a fruit stand and the leading elephant reached out an inquisitive trunk and sampled a pear. Trumpeting with joy, the elephants broke ranks. Keepers got them in line again only after there was no more fruit in sight.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

ROSS' GULL

Only within the memory of some people still living has there been any special interest taken in bird lore. Previously, a mere handful of men through the centuries, as Aristotle, Pliny, Audubon, or Wilson, used to seek information on the subject, and a few explorers discovered, on the side, interesting incidents, which they passed on to those keeping records. And so it was that the Norwegian explorer, Nansen, on one of his northern expeditions of the 1890's came upon the nesting site of Ross' Gull in Franz Josef Land which lies north of Russia.

Since then this small, pale-mantled gull has been found to breed in the valleys and deltas of rivers in northeastern Siberia, and has been recorded in the high Arctic regions of Asia and America as well as Europe. All Canadian records have come from Arctic islands. It is said to be abundant in Franz Josef Land in August, and may be seen migrating from Point Barrow, Alaska, in June to Point Barrow, Greenland is another breeding site.

Nevertheless, Ross' Gull is conceded to be one of the rarest of birds, and while it is known it never comes down to civilization and spends only 1 1-2 months at its nesting grounds, the remainder of the year, though just a few hundred miles away, lies in the wilderness of the Polar Basin.

The substantial nests of grass, twigs, and lichens are placed in boggy tundra or on an island in a tundra lake, with three olive-green, brown spotted eggs only a few inches from water. They are found in colonies. At that time the gulls live mainly on insects and the Arctic 10 1-2 months, small sea food is obtained from the open water between the large ice fields which are constantly in motion.

It is certainly a thing that we are not privileged to see these beautifully colored birds, whose wings, and the tail is wedge-shaped, the central feathers projecting one inch beyond the next pair, making the total length of the bird 14 inches, or 10 inches less than our commonest gull, the Herring Gull. Coral red feet add to the attractiveness. But the oddest and most decorative feature is the rosy pink coloring of the adult's underparts in summer. It is this which has caused the bird sometimes to be referred to as Ross' Rosy Gull.

What to do...

TO PREVENT HOME ACCIDENTS

"Home, sweet home" can be a very dangerous place—especially for children. Accidents cause more deaths among children than from any other cause, and they are increasing at a good percentage occur right at home.

Here are some rules prepared by Dr. John Anderson, to make your home a safer place for children—and for adults too.

One of the first things to do is to label clearly and put out of the reach of children all drugs, poisons and cleaning materials. If a strong or poisonous cleaning fluid is used around the home, make sure it is kept in a secure place. Many children have lost their lives by drinking such things.

Burns and scalds are often caused by home accidents. To prevent fire, open fire places should be properly screened. Kerosene lamps should be turned to the back of the stove, matches and firearms should be kept out of reach, burning rubbish should be well supervised and safely disposed of, and store rooms should be cleared of rubbish and inflammable material.

To prevent falls by children, babies should never be left alone in bed, high chair, bath tub or in the crib with the sides down. A gate placed at the top of the stairs will prevent small children from falling down. Stairways and floors should be kept free of unnecessary articles such as toys, magazines, brooms, etc. Anything is split on the floor it should be wiped up immediately.

Poisons from small children should be removed. These include such things as matches, nails, buttons and marbles which may be swallowed, open safety pins, and sharp articles such as knives, scissors and tools.

Telephones are a great convenience but not much use if you don't know where to phone in an emergency. Put the following numbers near it in a conspicuous place. Add your own number at which parents may be reached.

EDUCATIONAL MIDWAY

That was a whopping midway at the Belleville fair this year.

Midway barkers always insist that the show is educational.

Sometimes it is.

There was a lesson, for instance, in the manner in which one concession admitted three people free to each show.

The selection was made by a man in a clown suit. But this was strictly a disguise. He was a smart man. He could pick on member of a couple—or of a family group. Who ever heard of a person refusing an offer of something for nothing?

And can Mom enjoy the show and leave Dad outside with the children?

You know what happened — one free admission plus one or two paid ones, instead of no admissions at all.

We repeat, midways are educational.

CHOICE OF HYDRO NAMES

The Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission, in announcing that the St. Lawrence power development would be named after Premier Robert H. Saunders, felt short what might have been one of the province's most entertaining guessing games.

It has been Hydro practice for the past few years to name new developments after men who have served in Hydro. In accordance with this policy steam generating plants in Windsor and Toronto, have been named the J. Clarke Keith and Richard L. Hearn stations, respectively. The Adam Beck No. 2 adds to the glory of Hydro's founder. The fact that these names add nothing to a geographical or functional description of the plants apparently is neither nor here. They are, however, extremely unimaginative.

There has been some criticism of naming great public works after living persons, especially while the men are still alive. There is also something to be said for honoring good men while they are alive to appreciate it, but a generation after they are dead, names are forgotten and institutional bearing their names call forth more questioning of their identity than praise for their namesakes.

Canadians have been uniformly unsuspired in naming cities, towns, streets and public buildings of all kinds. The names of deceased monarchs have been given to schools whose pupils know little about them.

There is something to be said in favor of any program that will result in more distinctly Canadian names to Canadian institutions. A notable recent example is the Aluminum Company's decision to keep the names of Kitimat and Kemano for its major enterprise in British Columbia.

Hydro, might have, for instance, called its new power plant, the "Long Sault Rapids Powerhouse". Such a name would at least have a geographical and functional significance. The name Adam Beck has an historical significance because of the valor of one of Canada's earliest heroes — Adam Dollard — whose courageous stand at the Long Sault Rapids prevented the early settlers of Montreal from destruction at the hands of the Iroquois.

Or the plant might have been called "Iroquois" after the town which is to be flooded. The St. Lawrence river has been Canada's lifeline for years and it would not have been remiss to name the powerhouse after the river which it will span and upon which it will depend.

These people of Hydro, and more specifically the purchasers of hydro-electric power who own the Hydro Electric Power Commission, might have enjoyed participating in a contest to name the province's greatest works. Choosing contest to name the province's greatest works. Choosing a name through a contest may take time, but so will the building of the project.

Future Hydro developments in Ontario might very well be named for Indian Chiefs, or the places in which they are located, or because of historical associations, or by a popular vote of Hydro users.

NEW STEP FORWARD

The English Electric Company has announced that its new twin jet fighter, designated merely P-1, has several times exceeded the speed of sound in level flight without the use of re-heat or other types of power boosters.

Twenty-seven years ago Orville and Wilbur Wright lifted mankind into the sky when they flew for the first time under power in a contraption of wire and canvas that covered 120 feet in the air. Less than 8 decade ago human beings successfully penetrated the sound barrier by combining the thrust of jet engines with the force of gravity in vertical dives from high altitude. The English Electric Company's new fighter has pierced the sonic barrier without the aid of gravity. The next step is a plane that can exceed the speed of sound in a vertical climb.

After that is the conquest of space itself.

ALPHABETICAL CONFUSION

Want to be an I.B.M. operator?

No, no, no, do not mean one of those neat and efficient—and well-paid—office girls who run the products of the International Business Machine Company.

We mean a person who deals with a much more intricate piece of machinery, the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile.

The United States National Security Council is currently "seized" with the problem of the I.B.M., (new style designation), according to a report from Washington.

When it becomes unseized it had better try to glue itself onto the problem of a new alphabet. Something with about 26,000,000 letters. The present one is getting a little overcrowded.

The Campaign Against Rest

(Hamilton Spectator)

Having been dedicated for some years to the sedentary life, we learn with a sense of ruthless indignation a campaign is being waged in British medical circles against rest.

We have always been able to condemn the enemy at our more active fellows, but this leaves us a little frightened. Dr. W. Arnott of the University of Birmingham regards rest in overdoses as "very toxic, even lethal." He believes it is one of the worst drugs of addiction and feels it should be brought within the scope of the Dangerous Drugs Act with morphine, cocaine, heroin and the like.

The doctor fires some telling shots. Worst of all prescription as a cause of disease, he says, is "the appalling amount of ignorance due to two rather disagreeable traits in human character: Unwillingness of the doctor to admit his ignorance of the cause or cure of the diseases now laid to overwork, and the indecent eagerness with which patients accept the explanation that overwork is the cause of their ailments."

Work? Work is the cure, not rest. Rest is so dangerous it should be added to the list of prescriptions, and these to be doled out sparingly. Britain has become a nation of fads for making announcements of this sort in the medical world. Until this latest effort is one of the worst delayed-action bombshells ever launched on mankind. Couldn't this have waited until October, say, when all the soda was put away for the winter?

Well, we always had held the unorthodox conviction that they would catch up with us, but we didn't think it would be so soon. Back to work, men: the picnic's over. We'll probably live longer that way, but will we enjoy it as much?

Victory For Italy on K-2

(New York Herald Tribune)

Another mountain in the Himalayas, this time 28,500-foot Mt. Godwin Austen, or K-2, second highest peak in the world, has been scaled for the first time. The victory, ten Italians and a Pakistani, were led by Prof. Ardito Desio, a geologist of Milan. Their ascent, which was described thrilled Britons and Maurice Herzog's exploits of yesterday stirred France's heart, the victory on K-2 is proud news for Italians. The mountaineering tradition is strong in Italy, and K-2 has long been one of its chief targets.

Following exploratory work in 1902 by a British-Australian-Swiss party, which failed to reached 24,600 feet. Later expeditions called the K-2 "impossible." Charles S. Houston, who led an American assault last year called it "the toughest and most challenging mountain in the world."

Prof. Desio's party, still in Kashmir, will have much to tell when they return to Italy. Their chief Alpinists, Mario Puchor, died on the ice-cloaked sides of K-2 in 1939. Charles S. Houston, one-time porters deserted, and more had to be recruited from the Hunza Mountains before the treacherous Godwin Austen glacier could be crossed. Ardito Desio had Himalayan weather gave way to good. The final ascent must have provided glimpses of the ridgepole of the world, where Kashmir, China and Tibet join close together.

People often ask: Why climb mountains? One answer that has been given is, "because they are there." Another might be that these expeditions win or lose, the men on them are building and discovering. The arrive at, is what men are here for."

Hard to Mind Own Business

(Ottawa Journal)

There is an interesting editorial in the Calgary Herald under the caption, "On People Minding Their Own Business" in which some interference by an indignant person with a convention in Michigan of the American Sunbathing Association (which is a nudist colony dressed up in pretty phrase).

It's a nice thought, that people should mind their own business, but the whole trend of the times, and of modern manners, is against it. Nobody's affairs are private any more—not the things people tell Dorothy Killgallen, for example, for the edification of Journal readers! And the most intimate details of Hollywood's domestic establishments are served hot to a breathless audience, if a starlet turns up with a black eye, or one actor pokes another on the right club, the spectators dash to the telephone to tell the gossip columnist and the world.

The individual who does try to mind his own business is more than likely to end up in jail. He must tell the authorities about, for example, and to the last decimal point, how much money he has and what he owns, how much and how he gave his church and the Red Cross, his doctor and his dentist. He must at stated intervals take the census and tell the Dominion Bureau of Statistics all about his business, and will pry into his secrets

Then there is only a radio master of ceremonies to test his knowledge of jazz tunes or assist in the capital of Afghanistan.

He gets importunate questionnaires from all sorts of organizations and busybodies, all engaged in the popular pastime of minding other people's affairs.

Somebody will demand almost as a matter of right, that he be put into a printed form what he eats for breakfast and how much he pays for it, and what he does he go to church regularly and which one. And then there is the matter of advice that he will be spoiled" for his opinion on the subject of sex, be it on Mars, whether there is life on Mars, and does he think girls should wear bras on the bowl?

All in all there is little scope nowadays for a man who wants to mind his own business unless he retires from the paths of men and lives in a secluded cave on Cliffe Hill and plums. Otherwise he cannot help being nosy, and if the neighbors don't—or probably both.

New Drapes Old Story

(Windsor Star)

Some men are unobservant people in their own homes. Their wives can move the furniture, put up new curtains or rearrange the furniture and the husband doesn't notice the difference. That is, provided the bread-winner's favorite chair isn't moved from its habitual location.

One absent husband, notoriously absent from his regard, went home the other day and noticed that there were red curtains on the kitchen window. Thinking he was pleased with them, he complimented his wife on her new curtains.

She looked at him with a queer look. "When did you first notice them?" she asked. He looked more brightly he had noticed them just when he entered the kitchen. She smiled at him with new interest. "Those curtains have been there since almost Christmas," she said.

He was deflated. He had been pleased by the opportunity to commend his wife on her choice of curtains but he hesitated to commend her taste. He figured it less humiliating not to notice anything.

The Manly Art Of Sleeping

(Halifax Chronicle-Herald)

Considering that since the dawn of human history men have been spending approximately one-third of their lives in bed, it is somewhat surprising that no one has yet devised a means of getting out of bed quickly punctually and painlessly.

Of course, it is not everywhere that early and punctual rising is seen either as a virtue or as a necessity.

The South Sea Islander, for example, sees no need to rise at an unseemly hour, to wash and shave unenthusiastically, attired himself in a costume which, however amenable to polite convention be highly unsuitable for summer work in a city office, and rush off to catch a public conveyance which, like time and tide waits for no man.

He sleeps until he has finished sleeping, and then in sensibly light attire he goes out and picks his breakfast off a neighboring tree, after which he has leisure to attend to the truly masculine arts of contemplation, conversation and further sleeping.

Slogan-Happy In Minneapply

(Minneapolis Tribune)

It just occurred to us that if the males of Minneapolis ever do go in for wearing shorts on a massive scale, this city will have national renown in a twinkling. Consider the promotional possibilities.

Here, for example, is a nice air-conditioned slogan: "Minneapolis; the City of 200,000 Shorts in the Land of 10,000 Lakes." From there it's an obvious jump to "Where Cool Lake Breezes Caress Male Kneecaps."

there's always "Our Summer Hobby is Looking Knobby" and "Where Masculine Knees Do That Old Strip Tease."

To the inquisitive tourist, we could hold out this invitation: "Good Shrimps and Live With Us in Air-Cooled Ease." "Minneapolis, the Unconventional Convention City." Or point to "Minneapolis, the Short Cut to Freedom for the Knees."

As we say, the promotion ideas are virtually inexhaustible. Have at 'em, smart young copywriters, and test your genius on that short shorts story.

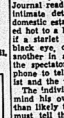
THE DRUGGISTS AND THE RACKETEERS

For a long while I couldn't understand why so many merchant druggists had rather damn and slander me and send the customer out of the store humiliated and indignant as to sell him 25c worth of cod liver oil, emulsion, iodine, citrate or other simple home remedy in a pleasant way, which will make him feel more or less at home and not a ridiculous character when he needs medicine again. Now I believe the main reason for this attitude is greed "the merchant druggist cares to let the clinic racketeers who order so many high priced "wonder" drugs on which he mates veritable FEA profits. And the businessman of medicine, collecting their percentages of this graft assure the merchant druggists that I'm a blustering crank anyway.



Dr. Brady

Not that this worries me, that is, for my own sake I'm glad I was never so happy in the thirty-odd years I paid my dues like a good boy and remained a member in fellow of the AMA as I have been since I withdrew from the organization some seven years ago, i.e. the only way one can withdraw, by discontinuing to pay dues.

The conspiracy of the racketeers to deprive people of the right to purchase these home remedies which have been freely available to the public for many years before, does worry me, for the sake of the health and happiness of you laymen who are the victims of the racketeers.

Formerly citrate of soda was the widely-used in the medicine of cow's milk for infant feeding. About half a teaspoonful of this crystalline powder in each pint of milk prevented formation of large, hard curds. Nowadays we used thin oatmeal or other gruel to dilute the milk and occasionally perhaps a dash of lime water to prevent formation of large curds.

But when the clinic racketeers converted medicine into a business, citrate of soda has become too "dangerous" to sell indiscriminately. Now the merchant druggist will tell you he can't sell you sodium citrate without a prescription.

Just what shenanigan lies conniving businessmen used to get on which he mates veritable FEA profits. And the businessman of medicine, collecting their percentages of this graft assure the merchant druggists that I'm a blustering crank anyway.

Not that this worries me, that is, for my own sake I'm glad I was never so happy in the thirty-odd years I paid my dues like a good boy and remained a member in fellow of the AMA as I have been since I withdrew from the organization some seven years ago, i.e. the only way one can withdraw, by discontinuing to pay dues.

ZEST FOR LIFE

To be inspired, anxious, and with a hunger for work to achieve things need to have a burning desire.

In simpler words you must have "zest for life" itself before you can be a master of the thing at hand.

No one can do his best who does not feel like doing it. It's the will and the desire that feed all things to growth and power. With the mind clear of all fear and worry and, as Dr. Osler once said, "with the clean tongue," and the rested body, what cannot one accomplish? Let's just look at it this way: What cannot any person achieve?

Well, he can do his best work when we are relaxed, and deeply interested in the task at hand. It's the zest for life that urges us all to do things that the ordinary person would consider too fatiguing. Nothing is insignificant that is useful and important. Few tire at their work who are interested and enthused and who get actual fun out of what they do. People run out. They do not walk.

There is nothing so inspiring than to see a man or woman happily at work. Even to get a piece of good news in a letter, or read it in your newspaper, will have a stimulating effect it has upon one. You stand up straighter, breathe deeper, and enjoy physical makeup is stimulated. You even drop a few pounds and live a bit of youth again!

With a zest for life you celebrate yourself and every faculty is alerted, and you feel that your mind, body and spirit are functioning effect are in step and co-operative. You wish to give back to life much for what it has given to you. You feel that you have a permanent investment in mankind as a privilege to the one to come!

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

ORDAINED OF GOD

What is marriage?

Marriage is a covenant — or promise — entered into by a man and a woman who desire to fuse their lives together in every particular and who publicly announce their willingness to assume the responsibility which this important step involves.

The marriage ceremony is the legal — and usually the religious — avowal by the interested parties that they are willing to assume certain obligations toward each other, toward society, and toward God. They also declare their desire toward each other is that, forsaking all others, they will cleave unto each other as long as they both shall live. Toward society they assume the responsibilities involved in founding a home and keeping it decent and upright. They declare to God is to live together as heirs of the grace of life, looking, in this relationship into which they have entered, to the God who made them one in the beginning.

The adulterer is a cheat. He wants to have the pleasures of the flesh, but a careful reading of the Bible reveals that this desire is basically unsocial and sinful. Impurity damages life at its most profound depths. The immoral are enemies of society.

Canada to Start Withdrawal Of 6,000-Man Brigade Soon

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is expected to start a gradual withdrawal of its 6,000-man brigade in Korea in the next few months.

Officials said Thursday a "very substantial" proportion of the brigade "almost certainly" will be back home by the end of this year.

"We expect to reduce our forces in Korea substantially," one Americans," one authority said, speaking on the U. S. Army announcement that four of its six divisions will be pulled out in the next several months. The U. S. withdrew two divisions earlier this year.

This Canadian decision flies in the face of a U. S. request that other United Nations members keep their forces in Korea to preserve the international complexion of the UN command.

Exactly when and in what proportion Canadian forces in Korea —the brigade and three destroyers—will be withdrawn now is being discussed here and at Camberley, England, where senior Commonwealth army commanders are in conference. Canada, Australian and British units form the 1st Commonwealth division in Korea.

Possibly one or two of the three infantry battalions and some artillery and armor might be withdrawn for a start, with the rest of the brigade to return home at a later date. There has been some thought that the Commonwealth division should be reduced by about two-thirds to brigade strength.

Question Box

A Public Education Service of

THE HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA

111 Avenue Road; Toronto 5;

In co-operation with this newspaper.

All questions submitted are answered anonymously by members of the medical advisory board or special technical sections of the HEALTH LEAGUE.

BACK FROM THE DEAD

The early experiments of the Health League artificial respiration committee created an uproar in some circles. The committee was formed not to teach methods of artificial respiration (this is being done satisfactorily by other organizations) but to study the potentialities and the "whys" of artificial respiration.

The committee found itself in a field that was and still is rather awesome and mysterious. In fact some of its findings (which now are taken for granted) seemed in the beginning almost occult, and were therefore resisted by the kind of people who are happy in the belief that human life and death is as simple as 2 plus 2 equal 4.

It had been generally known that artificial respiration would often revive a victim of drowning or shock when other signs of life were present. The committee appointed a doctor into a mysterious area by its collation and presentation of undeniable evidence that artificial respiration could do more than that.

It could revive people who were literally dead by every test known to medical science.

DIE UNNECESSARILY

In other words, people whose lives could have been saved had often been permitted to die unnecessarily because of a general belief that artificial respiration was useless without the presence of signs of life. When these findings were first broadcast there was some pooh-poohing; it was expected. However there was no denying the mass of evidence, and today most medical men recognize that life can be revived even after "death" in many cases if there is a certain amount of patience and doggedness in the administration of artificial respiration. There is still a great deal of exploration and public education needed, and this is the present function of the artificial respiration committee.

LARYNGEAL SPASM

Another phenomenon brought to attention by the studies of the committee was laryngeal spasm. A large number of so-called "drowning" victims are found to have not a drop of water in their lungs. At one time this was considered to be a rare occurrence and an indication of foul play.

There is at least one case on record of a man who would have been charged with the murder of his wife and children, if one of the children had not been revived. The man had driven off a pier into deep water with his wife and children, and had managed to escape through a window. When police found no water in the van, they had the statement of the child who was later revived, plus the awakening knowledge of the fact of laryngeal spasm, made it evident that the occurrence was entirely natural. It is not known how many innocent persons may have gone to the gallows because of a misinterpretation of laryngeal spasm.

In addition, the drowning victime has laryngeal spasm, can he be revived by artificial respiration? What causes laryngeal spasm? Is it very common in drowning?

Answer: Laryngeal spasm does occur in a certain percentage of drownings according to observations made by Banting and others in Toronto. When this does occur artificial respiration may not be successful unless the airway is cleared or the spasm relieved.

Laverne Moore, of Springbrook, came fourth in the Hastings county Junior Farmer competition at Belleville Fair. There were 65 competitors from all over the county.

Peter Kenning, Stirling, received 412 points for his efforts in the junior class.

In the senior class, Laverne Moore had 746 points.

Picton

PICTON — Mrs. Bruce McDonald, Paul St., is spending the month of August on holiday in West Virginia.

Miss Merle Ostrander, Belleville, is the guest for two weeks of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Courter, at their home in Baton Rouge, La.

Mrs. Pearl Ostrander is spending the week-end in Masefield, Ohio, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Donald Barr and family. On her return she will be accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. W. Wright, Reg. No., who has been spending some time in Massfield.

Mrs. Ray Milligan, Trenton, and daughter Sharon, are guests for a few days of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bongard, Grove St.

The shower for Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Hudgin, who recently lost their home at South Bay by fire, was largely attended in the Point Traverse school house, on Tuesday evening. Friends and neighbors expressed their sympathy with a shower of useful gifts.

Physicians are aware of the possibility of spasm and can deal with it effectively, but there is not arrive at the scene of the accident in time. The spasm is said to be reflex in nature. It is not known how common it is. Artificial respiration in any case offers the only hope of saving life.

Canadian Money, Equipment May Change Destiny of Many In Segments of Southeast Asia

OTTAWA (CP)—Gifts of Canadian money, equipment and technical skill are helping mould segments of Southeast Asia into huge feeding bowls that may change the destinies of millions in that teeming population area.

Through her Colombo Plan contributions Canada is helping herself too, for many of the gifts of equipment and goods are from Canadian factories, some of which have been suffering a lack of markets.

Canada has shipped wheat and tractors, boilers and aircraft, copper and aluminum and millions of dollars worth of hydro electrical equipment.

Altogether, Canada has contributed a total of $100,000,000 and likely will contribute another $50,000,000 in the next two years—that is, a rate of $25,000,000 a year over a six-year period. There have been some suggestions that Canada should increase her contribution but this the government is not likely to do.

The Colombo Plan, now four years old, was born out of the Commonwealth determination to raise the living standards of some 570,000,000 Asian people, to help them appreciate freedom and prevent them falling into the clutches of communism.

It was a formidable task. Food is scarce, health conditions deplorable, housing so bad that a two-room hut of mud serves whole families. The plan was to pour 5,000,000,000 during a seven period into the sub-continent's capital development, but political strife between India and Pakistan threatened to interfere.

But the neighbors got along. And soon the United States came in to add its contributions to those of Canada, Britain, Australia and New Zealand.

VAST PROJECTS

Now great irrigation and power projects are springing to life in the ancient soil near Calcutta and the historic Khyber pass in Pakistan's northwest frontier.

Rail lines are knifing through the jungle, speeding up the distribution of food. Factories are being established and natives trained in western schools and scientific establishments to provide badly needed technical skills at home.

In all this Canada is playing a part. Canadian aid is helping erect huge power dams on the sub-continent. Canadian-made Beaver aircraft are spraying and destroying locusts in Pakistan. Other Canadian planes are surveying the country's hinterland for new resources. Canadian-made ships are building up the fishing industry in Ceylon. And in India, Canadian locomotives, buses and trucks are revitalizing the transportation system.

THE "PEACOCK'S EYE"

The story of "The Peacock's Eye"—the Mayurakshi river project just north of Calcutta—is typical of Canadian help. This huge irrigation and hydro plan is designed to water 6,000,000 acres of land and tens of food annually. It also is designed to tame a wild river that has smashed peasant villages in the past.

It became one of India's highpriority projects. But when it is completed—probably by 1955 — it will be almost entirely a Canadian job. Canada, directly and indirectly through her Colombo Plan contributions, has poured some $18,000,000 into this program—$3,000,000 in cash and $15,000,000 through the shipment of free wheat. India thus sold and used the proceeds for the Mayurakshi.

Typical also is the Warsak project—development of another irrigation and power project near the Khyber pass in Pakistan. Canada has put some $9,000,000 into this plan, designing and supervising construction of the dam and providing the generating equipment.

DIVERSIFIED WORK

Canada also has allocated some $5,000,000 to provide a steam power plant for another big farming project, the restoration of about 1,000,000 acres of land in the Ganges-Kobadak area in east Pakistan.

She has provided $5,500,000 to build a cement plant for some 7,000,000 barrels a year in west Pakistan; $21,000,000 worth of steam locomotives to build up Pakistan's rail system; $4,500000 to provide trucks, buses and tractors for the Pakistan Army.

Generally, Canada tries to divide her $25,000,000-yearly contribution by providing about $13,000,000 for India, $10,000,000 for Pakistan and 2,000,000 for Ceylon. That kind of sharing of funds likely will continue for the next two years.

Contributing countries now are thinking of the future when the six-year program ends in 1956, and whether they can afford to leave the problem of Southeast Asia on their own.

Canadian officials think not. The future of the Colombo Plan is to be threshed out at a meeting of the Colombo plan consultative body—the representatives of 14 countries—in the receiving countries—here Oct. 4. They will review what has been accomplished and decide what course to follow when the plan comes to an end. Officials here feel that the money invested has borne fruit and that the plan should be continued in the years ahead.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

The engagement is announced of Doris Jean, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gladney, to Hugh Allan, son of the Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Beach and Mrs. Beach, of Peach, Ontario. The marriage is to take place quietly Saturday, September 4th.

• • •

Major Homer Thomas, of Ottawa, is spending the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Woodman Thomas 182 Albert Street.

• • •

Word received in the city from Police Constable Peter Thomson, is that he is having a wonderful time in his native Scotland. The officer has not been home for many years.

• • •

Misses Muriel Jamieson and Dorothy Cain are attending the Don Valley School of Art.

• • •

The Rev. and Mrs. David Orpborn and children, Miss Jean of Mrs. Rita Calnan, and Alethe Rose, of Bethesda, and Mr. William Black, of Trenton, were Thursday night visitors at their home 51 Bridge Street East.

• • •

Miss Eleanor Clarke, who is a counsellor this summer at the Crippled Children's Camp, at Merrymeeting Lake, is visiting home this week-end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Clarke.

Women's Institute

PINE GROVE W.I.

Pine Grove Women's Institute met the 11th of June, a monthly meeting at Mrs. H. Coulter's home with the president, Mrs. G. Bartindale, presiding.

The president welcomed the visitors after which she read a poem "Watering Last Year's Crops."

It was decided to invite Stirling and Chatterton branches to participate in the Extension Service Course "Brighten Your Home With Color," with Pine Grove expects to have on November 3rd.

The balance, due to the Belleville Hospital Building Fund, is to be sent in at once.

SAFETY SIGNS

Due to the efforts of Mrs. J. Brown the Coca-Cola company have agreed to put up highway safety signs for Marsh Hill School before school re-opens, in September.

In the absence of Mrs. F. Finkle, convener for Community Activities and Public Relations, Mrs. L. Finkle took charge of the program, which the convener had prepared. Mrs. H. Dexter read a poem "Neighbors." Mrs. A. Tanner read an article "What Use is Community Activity?", which showed that the constant running of the feet, the fingers, and the mind helped to develop capabilities, and self-reliance. One of Edgar Guest's poems was read by Mrs. J. Brown and "The Oyster," by Mrs. A. Finkle.

A paper on "Community Activities, and Public Relations," prepared by Mrs. F. Finkle was read by Mrs L. Finkle. "We should be more charitable of the failings of others. Our work should be planned to allow more time for outside activities. How a person has spent his life is more important than how much money he has made. Participation has much more value than to just sit back and listen. Our minds need cheer and relaxation and this is just as important as good nourishment is to the body."

Current Events were given by everyone present.

At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were served and a social half-hour enjoyed.

The September meeting will be held at Mrs. F. Henderson's home on the afternoon of the 15th. There will be Grandmothers' meeting convened by the members who are grandmothers.

Housewife Carves Noted Career for Herself in N.S.

By JIM SHERBANIUK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — Mrs. Abbie Lane had been a housewife and mother, for 18 years when she traded the comforts of domestic life for a career in the hard-headed business world.

Now she is one of the most prominent women in the Maritimes and Halifax's first woman deputy mayor. Some people say she should have stuck to her pinking shears, but they all agree she sets a pace in social and business circles that would stagger most men.

Abigail Amanda Lane is active in civic politics, has helped in provincial and federal Progressive Conservative organization, is Nova Scotia president of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, member of the school board, an ardent social worker, well-known stage personality and does two daily radio shows, besides her regular household duties.

NO PRETENSIONS

But she says she is just an ordinary housewife who decided 12 years ago that "the modern woman's place is in the home" is just so much bunkum.

It all started on a dare.

Back in 1942 when war work gave her a taste of the business world, she considered getting a full-time job. Her husband, manager of a savings and loan company, withheld his laughing long enough to tell her she had been away from work so long she'd never be able to take orders.

"I dare you," he taunted. "You wouldn't last two weeks."

Just to show her husband, she took the first job that came along—bookkeeper for a commercial firm.

"And I hated it," she admits. "But I wasn't going to give in."

LOVED NEWSPAPER WORK

"Then along came an offer from the old Halifax Chronicle to be their society editor, and it was heaven.

She had never written a line of copy but she could type and before long was working on the side hadn't started journalism years ago. At that time, the job of woman's editor included covering anything from murders to beauty contests.

Newspaper work only whetted her appetite and when the paper established radio station CJCH in 1944, she joined the staff in a woman's commentator. The CBC soon lined her up as the "Mother" in a farm drama series. Her term with the paper ended when the Chronicle merged with the Halifax Herald, Dec. 31, 1946.

Her other interests soon had her up to her neck in work, but she continued in radio to become one of the Maritimes' favorite personalities.

HOT CAMPAIGNER

Her first crack at politics came three years ago when she contested a civic by-election and launched a whirlwind "I'll be a campaign." Her election committee was made up of dozens of housewives who looked up the telephone numbers of every voter in the ward—about 5,000—and kept phones ringing for

DEPUTY MAYOR

Mrs. Abbie Lane of Halifax is one of the most prominent women in the Maritime Provinces, and Halifax's first woman deputy mayor. A housewife and mother, Mrs. Lane also has two daily radio shows, is a member of the school board, an ardent social worker and is Nova Scotia president of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire. McMurray Family Holds Gathering

About 75 descendants of Jonas McMurray and Margaret Hamber who spent their lifetime on the 6th concession of Rawdon, met at the spacious home of W. A. McMurray, Gilmour, on Sunday last, and enjoyed a chicken dinner and supper.

The group was treated to ice-cream in the mid-afternoon.

Everyone who attended was in favor of it being an annual event making Versie McMurray of Gilmour, president, and Mrs. Doug Thompson of Belleville, secretary-treasurer.

Next year they are to meet at Don Reid's of Ivanhoe.

weeks. Abbie won by more than 500 votes and since then has been re-elected by acclamation.

Mrs. Lane has managed to raise three children—Jean, 14, Ted, 20, and Margaret, 27, married and a mother. Mrs. Lane gives much of the credit for her success to her husband who has always prompted and encouraged her. He's used to being referred to as "Mr. Abbie Lane."

Although she's a popular and well-paid radio performer, she maintains that her husband still earns the family's bread and butter.

"I just supply the jam."

She has a definite idea about a woman's role in the world.

"If a woman's children still need her, then her place is in the home. But otherwise she owes it to the community to take an active part in affairs.

"Outside interests make a woman more attractive to her husband and keep her from becoming lonely in old age."

SISTERS ALL

By Jean-Love Galloway

The machine age has progressed so far now that there is practically nothing which can't be done quicker and better by a few pieces of iron than by the human hand. Latest invention now is a pulse-taker. Soon the handsome doctor or the pretty nurse-in-white will no longer press your wrist and clock your heart beat. Medical science has a new gadget, which, when clamped to the wrist, is more sensitive to the weakest pulse. It can also record the pulse constantly if necessary, indicating the rise and fall of the

DIAMOND CARE

Diamonds are supposed to be about the hardest, toughest material there is. That is why insurance adjusters were surprised when a friend of ours showed them her diamond had a chip out of it.

In fact, the chip or splinter was so small that it couldn't be seen with the naked eye. Only reason she knew it was damaged was a jeweller's observation while cleaning it.

While most floater insurance policies carry clauses which exempt breakage of glass and china, most of them will cover accidental damage, such as splintered diamond. It is good policy to have your ring checked and polished at least once a year by a reliable jeweller.

MEN IN SILK

You can buy well-tailored rayon knitted pyjamas for men made by a widely advertised Canadian shirt manufacturer. The pyjamas cost about $6.50. They are soft, strong and mannish in blue, gold or Wine. They need no ironing and dry quickly. What a practical gift for Dad or big brother.

SAVE ON SPOTS

Dry cleaning costs account for a substantial proportion of the monthly cash outgo of most families. One way to reduce these bills, is to keep spot remover handy. You can get a bottle of dry cleaning fluid with an applier-top for 15c.

All you have to do is to unscrew the bottle and rub the moistened hair top onto the soiled cloth. This type of bottle is particularly handy for freshening the collars of suit coats and dresses especially parts which wear and soil quickly.

Women's Activities

BETHANY W.M.S. and W.A.

The Bethany ladies met on Thursday evening at the church to hold their regular meeting with an attendance of 18 ladies and two children. The president of the W.M.S., Mrs. Bert Martin, opened the meeting and took as her theme for the worship service, "Summer."

Mrs. Earl Howes and Mrs. Harold Pound read Scripture passages referring to summer. Mrs. S. C. Cooley conducted the interesting program she had prepared. A poem, "The Way of Life," was read; a reading "It Depends Upon Me;" was given by Mrs. Frank Walker; a poem "The Youthful Day." by Mrs. H. Walker; Miss Howes Tummon sang "Jesus Wants Me For a Sunbeam," Mrs. John Ritz gave a Christian Stewardship reading; a poem, "Sometimes" by Mrs. D. Tummon; Mrs. Russell Ritz gave a temperance reading, "Alcohol From a Social Standpoint."

Mrs. John Ritz gave a chapter from the Study Book, "Where'er the Sun." Mrs. Cooley thanked all who had taken part.

Mrs. Bert Martin took charge of the business period. The offering was taken and the secretary's and treasurer's reports were given. Mrs. Russell Ritz and Mrs. Cora Sills are to prepare the next program.

Mrs. Grant Cole, president of the W.A., conducted the business. It was decided for the W.A. to buy a new Revised Version of the Bible, also two dozen hymn books for the church. The ladies served refreshments and a social time was spent.

Bible Briefs Who Was This?

By A.A.M.

What was the name of the runaway slave who befriended Paul when he was in prison, in Rome? Paul sent this slave to his former owner, Philemon with a private letter. Philemon was a member of the church in Colosse and opened his home to the Christians for their meetings and Paul believed he would forgive his slave for escaping from him.

The name of this slave meant useful or beneficial. Paul pointed out in his letter that although formerly he was of little use to Philemon, now that he had become a Christian he was useful both to Paul and to his former owner.

In those days slavery was common and in Rome over half of the population were slaves. Roman law allowed masters to treat a runaway slave who had been captured, with great severity. So it took a lot of faith and courage for a part of this slave to return of his own free will, on Paul's advice to his former master.

Paul would have preferred to keep his slave with him, but he did not wish to do this without Philemon's consent. Briefly, but tactfully, Paul reminded Philemon to look on this man not as a slave but as a beloved brother.

As Conducted by Mary Moore

By MRS. BEECKMAN

DO YOU KNOW PROPER REPLY TO "I AM GLAD TO HAVE MET YOU"?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

For some time I've been meaning to write you for your answer to a question that always perplexes me. And now that I'm going to spend my vacation at an attractive place where I'll be meeting many new people—this is the perfect time to ask it. When someone says to me, after an introduction and perhaps a short chat, "I am very glad to have met you," just what should I reply? Is it enough (several of my girl friends insist it is) just to say "Thank you!"

Marjorie W.

No: "Thank you" is not enough. And let's figure out why not. When you acknowledge this pleasant comment, your acknowledgment should, naturally, have two parts: (1) every "Thank you" for the gracious comment; and (2) some words to show that you, too, have had pleasure in the meeting. For example: "Thank you, Miss Hall. I am so happy to have met you, too." Or "Thank you, very much. It was such a special pleasure to meet you, too, Mrs. Allen." And you may, if you wish, add ". . . and I hope to see you again (or 'soon' or 'very soon' or 'soon again')."

It's not only ungracious to say only "Thank you," but it's a little ridiculous, too, for it means that you're grateful that the other person was glad to meet you. . . how can anyone be glad to meet the other person. No social grace about this. . . no way to win friends!

And right you are that this is a special question for vacation time when you're meeting new people, many of whom will, I am sure, be saying to you, as you're leaving after an introduction, "it's been very glad to have met you."

TO WHOM TO ADDRESS NOTE OF SYMPATHY?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The sister of a man who has been a friend of mine for several years, recently was in a motor accident and a few days ago she died. She and her two sisters, and my friend and a brother lived together in the family homestead. I never met my friend's sister, but I have met one of his other sisters and his brother on several occasions. I would like to send a card of sympathy. To whom should I address it?

Jennie K.

I do hope that when you say "a card of sympathy" you don't mean a ready-made (printed or engraved) card-of-sympathy. . . this is very bad taste indeed, and don't send one. What you should do is to write a sincere little note of sympathy to the man. Two or three sentences are enough to tell him of your sympathy and understanding. . . and you write this note on your letter-paper, or note-paper, or on plain white double-sheet notepaper.

HOW SHOULD MEMBERS' NAMES BE LISTED?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In our Club Membership list, how should the names of the members be listed? That is, should it be "Mrs. John Allen" or "Elizabeth Allen"?

M.

For a social list, "Mrs. John Allen" is correct. For a professional list, the names of members may be listed as they are known professionally . . . then often the married name is added in parentheses, either after or under the professional name.

QUESTION:

You helped me out with our wedding supper this spring and now that I am settled into housekeeping and also holding down an office job, I am again in need of advice. I have just read your recipe for jellied veal and would like to make it but as it is such a large quantity am wondering how long it would keep or could it be frozen? . . . Also, has a freezer section at the top and I would like to make use of it by freezing dishes ahead of time for quick dinners, but do not know what can be frozen or how. We are fond of stews, stewed steak, casserole dishes with macaroni, etc. Could those type of things be frozen and what is the correct procedure? . . . am interested in getting wheat germ into our diet but am not sure what is the best way to go about it. I understand there is processed wheat germ, raw wheat germ and liquid wheat germ. Which is the best to use? I have been told a feed store is the cheapest place to buy it. We have cream of wheat every morning and I presume that is the place to put the wheat germ but how much, and would that be sufficient amount per day?—G. B.

ANSWER:

I was delighted to see your handwriting and recognized it at once as from the girl who was doing all of her wedding preparations herself. So you are now a settled housekeeper. Bless you and more power to you. Your husband certainly has a treasure.

There are things that freeze more successfully than others (about veal will. Why don't you cut the jellied veal recipe in half. Then you will have two medium-sized loaf pans full. You could start using from one at once and the other, will keep for 5 or 6 days in the cold part of the refrigerator, but should be in an enamel, glass or crockery mould.

Generally speaking you cancook. freeze most cooked foods—but the following are exceptions: (Do not freeze: (hese) boiled potatoes, cream puddings and fillings, custards, gelatin salads and desserts (this embraces the jellied veal) mayonnaise, salad vegetables to be eaten raw, whites of hard-cooked eggs.

No special recipes are needed to prepare cooked dishes for freezing as long as the above exceptions are remembered. Go ahead and freeze your cooked stew, stewed steaks, macaroni casseroles, etc. It is best to slightly undercook vegetable products though, for they have to be thawed and reheated which gives them a few more minutes of cooking. Cooked foods that are to be frozen should be cooled as quickly as possible. The cooking dish may be placed in a pan of cold water or in a large pan into which water is running. Keep the food covered. Do not add as much pepper to foods that are to be frozen as you would to foods that are to be eaten as pepper gets stronger on freezing. Onions get milder. Fats separate out so use them sparingly. Do not refreeze prepared dishes. Since you should not refreeze, package cooked food in small containers so that just enough for the meal under preparation is removed from the freezer compartment. It is advisable to freeze prepared foods in flat block containers as this conserves freezer space.

As for wheat germ. . . Buy raw wheat germ at the feed store as fresh as possible. Find out from the feed store proprietor when his fresh supply comes in, then buy only one-half pound (about 5 cents). For two people use 1-4 cup to your cooked cereal. May I add that you should enjoy the cooked cereal and not always use cream of wheat. Try cornmeal and rolled oats and cracked wheat and the mixed cracked grains in succession. Use 1-4 cup wheat germ in all, and do not overdo.

Beauty

DON'T RAISE YOUR EYEBROWS

If a girl has good eyebrows she should not tamper with them, except to remove stray hairs. The natural look is not only smartest at the present time, but it is also the most beautiful.

The ideal eyebrow follows the natural lines of the open eyes and should harmonize with other features.

Beauty shop operators who specialize in eyebrow arching have certain rules that they follow, rules that have been carefully planned and worked out.

If the face is full and features heavy, pencil-thin eye brows seem disproportionate, so tweezing is inadvisable. In this case, Mother Nature knows best.

When the nose is long, eyebrows should be fairly well separated, the inner points coming inward no further than the inner points of the eyes.

If the nose is wide, the far point of the eyebrow should be extended with the crayon with a slightly upward sweep. "This modeling, of course, must be done with discretion.

The girl who insists upon giving the entire eyebrow an uplift should keep in mind the fact that this line will make the eyes look smaller and straighter adds to the length of a face that is thin or heart-shaped.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A PSYCHIATRIST GIVES A WOMAN A PROBLEM TO SOLVE

The stranges things do happen!

Instead of going to a psychiatrist with a problem, a psychiatrist has turned into a young woman's life to create a problem for her.

This young doctor appeared on the scene, the young woman says, shortly after the break-up of her marriage, three years ago.

"Although I wasn't interested in him at the time," she writes, "he seemed to fall for me, and kept after me until I fell in love with him. Because he is several years younger than I am, it took him over a year to persuade me that the age difference didn't matter, and that our marriage would be a happy one as he loved me very much."

Then a sudden family emergency took her away for three months, and when she returned home she was amazed to find that, in her absence, the psychiatrist had married somebody else.

"I was shocked numb," the letter continues. "When I asked him he was that it was all my fault, because, I was so virtuous, and that he was tired of being involved with a woman that he had to marry. He said that they are not happy together and regret their marriage.

"After that I set about trying to forget by going out with other men, but I could not fall in love with him. Yesterday I met him at a friend's home, and he told me he and his wife were getting a divorce. He said he had time to do a lot of thinking, and he realized his mistake in taking up with the woman and that, through suffering, he had really grown up at last. He then asked me if I would marry him after his divorce, saying he would never be happy with any woman but me.

NOT TO BE TRUSTED

"I am fearful that he is not to be trusted, but he said I do not realize the temptation a man has and that I should forgive him and marry him. Do you think he is right?

Well, personally, I'm afraid I'd find it hard to put much confidence in a man who had so little real feeling for me that he could plunge into an affair with another woman immediately after winning my promise to become his wife. What kind of love is that? It isn't the kind to inspire such singlehearted devotion that any such behavior would be unthinkable. It means that in this young man's interpretation, I don't matter. His extreme his conduct by telling the young woman who was supposedly to be his wife that she didn't "realize the temptations a man has." But if he is true to you, except such temptations, with marriage in prospect, is he going to be any better after he exist the marriage?

If the young woman, on her side, has such a strong attachment to this man that she would rather take a chance on him than lose him entirely, then I would urge her at least to wait awhile before marrying him, and see if his claim of having "really grown up at last" is valid. But somehow

15,000 Public School Women Will Attend

TORONTO (CP)—Four hundred delegates representing 15,000 public school women teachers will attend the annual meeting of the Federation of Women's Teachers' Associations of Ontario here Aug. 25-26.

Delegates and observers, representing every community and rural area with a public school, will review professional and general developments in Ontario teaching during the last year affecting women teachers.

The delegates will consider public school federation plans and projects for 1955. Federation president, Alice Ogden of St. Catharines, will preside.

At the annual dinner of the association honorary memberships in the federation, its highest award to women performing outstanding service in education, will go to seven women.

They include: Edna Calder, Sault Ste. Marie, and Pearle Campbell, Belleville.

it is my feeling that she would be taking quite a gamble on such a marriage, and that she could do better in the way of a husband if she crossed this ill-starred romance off completely and waited for someone else to come along.

TOO MUCH RAIN

TWILLINGATE, Nfld. (CP)—Older fishermen say this year's codfish catch can be called a record but several crews have a lot of fish yet to be cured. Rain has fallen nearly every day since the middle of July.

IF YOU'RE bothered by bikes and carts left scattered in your driveway, try enlisting cooperation by a friendly "parking ticket" system. Let the youngsters be their own police force and tag each other's offending machines. Make tickets from heavy paper and string.

Exports Drop $69,200,000 During July

OTTAWA (CP)—Exports, vital to Canadian prosperity, dropped by $69,200,000 in July, cutting shipments for the first seven months of 1954 by $213,100,000.

Canada was still buying more from the world than she sold, reducing, in a $15,500,000 deficit in the month's trade, more than double the $7,100,000 adverse balance a year ago, the bureau of statistics estimated today.

This deficit pushed the seven-month adverse balance to $191,-200,000, just $12,800,000 below last year's $204,000,000.

The preliminary c e t i m a t e showed trade down in all major markets. Exports to the United States dropped to $134,900,000 from $212,700,000 last year, cutting the seven-month total to $1,339,700,000 from $1,432,800,000.

Sales to Britain were sliced to $53,400,000 from $83,300,000 reducing the seven-month shipments to $346,800,000 from $397,100,000.

Total imports dropped in July to $344,600,000 from $405,400,000 with the cuts largely in buying from the U. S. This reduced imports for the seven months to $2-398,100,000 from $2,522,000,000.

Garden Notes

How to Stretch Rain

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Summer showers are really silver rain, as valuable are they to the gardener. Usually they disappear before they have time to do much good—They run off the baked earth, or are evaporated by the heat of the sun.

You can stretch these valuable raindrops by covering the garden and flower beds with some kind of mulching material. This practice not only cuts down on the amount of evaporation from the soil, but also keeps weeds in check and builds better soil. Many materials can be used, including peat moss, grass clippings (though I believe they should be left on the lawn) manure, straw, sawdust or dried leaves.

One of these newest mulching materials used successfully by florists is ground corn cobs. This makes a light porous and weed-free mulch. Any of these will, if applied four inches deep between the rows, keep the weeds down, let in both air and moisture and prevent the soil from drying out. Spent hops, the discarded material from a brewery is also an excellent mulch material, if you can obtain it.

DO NOT MIX MULCH

Do not mix the mulch with the soil, since it will rob the soil of nitrogen until it is broken down by bacteria. Where straw, sawdust or shavings are used they will draw nitrogen from the soil even when these materials which are high in fibre, are not mixed with the soil, some decomposition will take place. It is therefore necessary to apply one pound of complete plant food to each 100 square feet of ground after the mulch is on.

This is in addition to the regular application which is used on, when you planted your garden, and the mid-season side dressings on corn, tomatoes, peppers, etc.

The extra plant food is of no direct use to your garden plants, but it does satisfy the soil micro-o-ganisms. It prevents them from making off with more than their share of the nitrogen while they are busy consuming the lower layers of humus.

WAIT FOR RAIN

Don't apply mulch when the soil is dry, either wait until a good soaking rain has wet the soil thoroughly, or soak it down well with the hose. If a few weeds do push through the mulch, they are easily hand pulled.

Most gardeners skimp on their mulching material. You will need a layer three inches deep at least. Then, put up the "Do not disturb" sign until spring. During the winter your soil will be protected from the beating, compacting action of rains. By spring the material will be packed down, in good shape for turning under to increase the humus content of your soil.

If this practice is followed each year in conjunction with plant food use, mulches will make your garden soil a better place for plants to live, whether it be sand, or clay.

TIME FOR EVERGREENS

This is the time to transplant evergreens. But, be sure to soak the roots thoroughly once a week for the next two months if sufficient rain does not fall. Spray the tops every day for several weeks to slow down rapid transpiration of moisture from the foliage.

Are you finding tomatoes with holes eaten in them? These borer type worms are doing considerable damage in some gardens

The cure is a stomach poison. Any one of the combination dust insecticides will be effective. There are several put up under different brand names. These are often packaged in a dust gun.

The best time to use this dust is while the plant foliage, and fruit are still damp from dew in early morning or late evening. These insecticides are considered safe for home use.

In fields stronger type sprays can be used, such as arsenate of lead, but for garden produce dusts are the better choice Spray vigorously down into the centre of the plant. Powder which hits the soil will bounce back to coat the underside of the leaves. Apply according to directions at one week intervals. One application, or widely spaced applications will not be effective.

Rumored Russia Has Developed Powerful Jet

BOSTON (AP)—One of the most disquieting reports from behind the Iron Curtain is that Russia has produced a jet engine twice as powerful as anything in the United States, Maj.-Gen. George C. Finch, deputy commander of the U.S. continental command, said today.

"If that proves true," he said, "we really have something to worry about."

Finch spoke before the national encampment of the Army and Navy Union. He said the Soviet Union is stockpiling atom bombs and the Russians now have 40,000 first-line war planes available.

"It is a known fact that they have a sizeable fleet of long range bombers—TU4s — roughly similar to our (U.S.) B-29 Superforts. Their improved TU-4s are believed to have greater range and speed than our B-50s."

What?--- No Kitchen Sink?

KITCHENER (CP) — It looked more like a Christmas tree than a car.

That was the opinion of policemen who Thursday seized the bedecked auto of middle-aged Martin Binkle of Kitchener.

It took Binkle an hour, under the watchful eye of traffic sergeant Wilfred Heinrich, to remove most of $471 worth of gadgets pinned, wired, bolted, pasted and tied to, hanging and streaming from the vehicle.

"That's better. Now you can see out," the sergeant told Binkle.

The car was seized when Binkle came to the station to pay a parking violation fine.

Among the hundreds of gadgets were six rear view mirrors, two spot lights, two fog lights, two back-up lights and four horns.

CRIME FOILED

HAMILTON (CP) — A "Gangbreakers Club" formed by two teen-aged brothers paid off Thursday. Ronald Newkirk, 16, and Lloyd, 13, spotted two boys shoving a stick with a wad of gum on the tip into a March of Dimes drum. Police later charged the two with theft.

AUGUST DAYS

Dear August days, days of bright dawn and dream,

Dear idle days, with butterflies a-wing,

Days all alight with golden harvest sheen,

Dear summer days, days that enchantment bring!

At night a noisy cricket chirrs and chides,

A harvest moon sails in a cloudless sky,

While like a ship on silent, silver tides,

In dreams the August days are drifting by.

PRESENTATION

A pleasant time was spent Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. McQuade when friends of Maple Ave., assembled to honor the daughter, Miss Shirley McQuade, a bride-to-be with a prenuptial presentation and address. Miss Joan Archard read the address, and the presentation of a pretty table and lamp was made on behalf of the friends by Mrs. G. Upton and Mrs. Percy Archard. The gifts were gratefully received. A social time with refreshments brought the evening to a close.

Miss Beverley Tait is now at home after successfully completing the course of the summer school in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Whyte and Sandra of Montreal, after enjoying delightful holidays in Boston, spent last week the guests of his mother, Mrs. Leona Whyte at her summer home near Bath.

On Tuesday, Mrs. L. Whyte and her guests with Miss Helen Arthur, Belleville, and Mrs. H. B. Anderson and Miss J. E. Blakely, Wellington were dinner guests at Grahamanor, Wellington's popular resort. In the afternoon Miss Arthur entertained all at a delicious luncheon dinner in Wellington Park. Miss Marjorie Blakely and Miss D. Tayler, Toronto, being among the guests.

Friends extend congratulations and best wishes to Mary E. Lunn and Mr. Ernest Teskey who were married on Saturday, Aug. 14th at the rectory, Rev. P. P. Heaven officiating. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lunn, Hillier, and the groom is a son of Mr. Joseph Teskey and the late Mrs. Teskey, Wellington.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Brickman and Audra of Victoria, spent Sunday at their pleasant summer home in Wellington.

Production from Arabian oil fields in 1953 was more than 1,500,000 barrels daily.

There's an Armstrong Bulldog for almost every engine. With the Armstrong, the rope is in the starter. That means no more lost ropes, rope knives, or serious welding on rope pulleys. You grasp the convenient handle and pull. It engages instantly and automatically. When you release the rope it rewinds inside the starter automatically.

It's Fast! You don't have to tie-up your power equipment to have an Armstrong BULLDOG starter installed. On most engines it can be installed in about 10 to 20 minutes.

Go-Go Boys From Chicago White Sox Have Another Win Streak Going

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

Belleville Rains, second place finishers in the Vladacot-Ontario Senior Baseball League during the regular season are off for Oakville today to meet the fourth place Oaks in the first game of a best-of-five semi-final series. Oakville will meet the Rains in the second game Tuesday night under the lights at the Fair Grounds and will be here again Saturday night for the third game. Plans for additional games will be made if and when necessary. If the series goes the limit of five games Rains will have the odd one here as they finished higher up in the league standings than the Oaks.

• • •

In the other half of the semi-finals, Oshawa tangle with Toronto Hockings in the first game of their best-of-five series in Toronto's Millen Stadium on Sunday afternoon. The second and third games will be played in Oshawa Monday and Tuesday nights. Dates of additional games for their best-of-five series have not been announced.

Winners of each series will meet in a best-of-seven final.

Rain manager Jack Carson states that the Rains will not enter any ORA playdowns until they are finished with Y-O playdowns or are eliminated. The locals, who finished the season with five regulars batting over .300, are quietly confident. They are not under-estimating Oakville and stylish left hander Russ Paton but they are not afraid of him either.

• • •

OX POINTERS TRIM NORTHERN ELECTRIC.

Indestructible Pat Maracle, Point Anne's peerless pitching veteran, shorted Northern Electric with a nifty three-hitter at the CNR Athletic Grounds last night in a 9-3 victory that gave the Point Anne OASA playoff series four games to one with one tied. He walked four. Two of his walks, to Jack Whiting and Harry DeRushie who was pinch hitting for Lum Carson, preceded Glen Young's triple off centrefielder Jake Wade's glove in the bottom of the seventh to account for two of the three runs against him.

With two out, and Young on third, Pat got Claude Carr on a fly to rightfield to end the inning. The score was 6-3 for Point Anne at this point. Pat's mates came on with a three run rally against relief hurler Don Boyle in the top of the eighth to put the game out of reach.

• • •

Point Anne has decided to enter the OASA Intermediate A playdowns despite their series win over Northern Electric. The Electrics have been left with the choice of either playing for Senior B supremacy in OASA competition or checking the whole idea of playdowns. They must go Senior B because Belleville's population automatically puts a city representative in that classification. So Northern will be the Senior B reps.

Point Anne will meet Peterborough in the Litlock City on September 1st in the first game of a best-of-three series. The return game will be played in Point Anne Saturday, September 4th at 4:30 p.m. Northern will meet Peterborough's Senior B entry at the CNR grounds Saturday, August 28th.

The Ox Pointers and Northern will meet in a best-of-five series for the city title at dates to be announced.

• • •

MORE GOLF YET!

For Murray McIntosh and T. A. "Tommy" Carruthers, today's 18 hole invitation tournament at the B. of Q. Golf and Country Club will be merely a warm up for more strenuous proceedings Sunday. Murray and T. A. hook up in a 36 hole final for the club championship.

Carruthers, the defending champion, downed Dr. George Faulkner in reaching the final. Murray downed Mike Aquafredda and Pete Jones. It is to be hoped that the 180 grass cutters negotiating the course today in Ontario's "richest 18 hole golf tournament" leave enough turf for the local lashers to tee up on come Sunday dawning.

• • •

SLIVERS.

Stewart Warner and the Bobcats commence a best-of-seven series for the right to represent the Belleville and District Softball League in the OASA Intermediate AA playdowns Monday night at the Alemlie Field at 6:15. The same two teams are back at the Alemlie Field Wednesday night while the CNR will be the battle ground Friday. Other dates for the series will be announced later.

Chance to Overhaul Either Indians or Yankees Remote; Cleveland Gains Some Ground

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Somebody must have forgotten to tell the Chicago White Sox they are out of the American League pennant race.

The go-go boys are back in high gear with a five-game winning streak and breezing as if they thought they still had a chance.

Mathematically, they're right. The figures show the Sox still could overhaul both the second place New York Yankees and the league-leading Cleveland Indians. They are five games behind New York, 3½ back of Cleveland.

But the chances of any such strange thing happening are so remote that anybody waiting in line at Comiskey Park to buy a world series ticket better be prepared for at least another year's vigil.

TRUCKS SHINES

Virgil Trucks struck out six Friday night in beating Detroit 8-2. He scattered nine hits in becoming the first American League pitcher to win 18 games. Another Sox player, Minnie Minoso, moved within five points of the league batting lead with a run - scoring triple that raised his average to .360.

Cleveland defeated Baltimore 7-2 and gained a full game on the Yankees, whose 10-game winning streak was ended by Willard Nixon and the Boston Red Sox 6-3. Nixon is the first pitcher to beat New York four times this year.

Milwaukee slipped another full length behind New York and Cleveland by trimming Kansas City. The Braves were beaten for the third time in four games by the Chicago New York defeated Pittsburgh 4-0 and Brooklyn whipped Philadelphia 6-4. The Giants lead the Dodgers by two games and Milwaukee by 6½, pending today's action.

Cincinnati took over fourth place in the National, shading St. Louis 3-2 despite six double plays by the Cardinals. Philadelphia and Washington in the American League were rained out.

Nixon, skipped over in a Red Sox series in New York last week-end, won his seventh game in Boston with an eighth-inning double that drove in the winning run. Bid Dickey got Bell to finish the 14th, however, when Nixon was injured in a slide as he attempted to stretch his hit into a triple. Ted Williams beat out a bunt and added a double and a single in three critical times at bat.

ROSEN'S 21ST

Al Rosen hit his 21st home run and Larry Doby delivered a three-run triple as the Indians scored six runs in the first two innings at Baltimore.

The Giants scored all of their runs against Pittsburgh on a grand-slam home run by Don Mueller in the fifth inning. It was the second base-loaded homer of his career for Mueller, who specializes in hitting singles.

Ellis Liddle, who came to the Giants from Milwaukee with John Antonelli during the winter, allowed only three hits, all singles. Liddle pitched three complete games, a five-hit shutout, a four-hit victory and Friday night's three-hitter.

Brooklyn found the home-run range against Philadelphia. Roberts of the Phils and handed the strong-armed righthander his 9th defeat. Duke Snider hit his 30th with a man on in the first. Carl Furillo found the same range with a man on, in the second, and Sandy Amoros homered with the bases empty in the sixth.

Karpuk Placed On Trading Block By Argonauts

TORONTO (CP)—Pete Karpuk, obtained on waivers by Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Thursday, was placed on the trading block Friday. He may be heading for Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Carl Voyles, Hamilton coach, said he spoke to Frank Clair, Argonaut mentor, about a trade for Karpuk. Voyles told Clair he would think over a possible deal for the player.

Argos hastened to put Karpuk on the trading block because Pete said he wanted to commute to Toronto for the football games from Galt, where he is managing that city's Flying Saucer Terriers in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League.

Montreal Girl Wins Two Junior Tennis Titles

By JOHN VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Marriette Laframboise, the dynamic little chatterbox from Montreal, after her third title today as the Canadian tennis championships wind up.

Miss Laframboise, 18 and playing her last junior tournament, won the junior women's singles championship Friday when she defeated Eleanor Dodge, another Montrealer, and then went on to win the women's doubles with Miss Dodge.

Six titles go on the line today in both girls' and doubles events. The feature match will bring together David Freishtat of Baltimore and John Mandel of Astoria, N.Y., in the junior men's singles final, a three of five sets match.

SEEK DOUBLES TITLE

Miss Laframboise and Freishtat are out to win the junior mixed doubles title. They meet Ingerburg Webber of Kitchener, Ont., and Carmelita Soltes of Toronto in their first match, a quarter-final.

Gerald Dubie of Hamtramck, Mich., and John Swanis of Vancouver won the junior men's doubles title Friday in a closely-matched contest against Freishtat and John McLean of Buffalo. The game lasted the full five sets, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Mandel knocked out the only Canadian remaining in the junior men's singles Friday when he defeated Jean of Montreal, 6-3, 6-1 in the quarter-final. He then bested Gerry Schoen of Hamtramck, 6-1, 6-4, while Freishtat won his semi-final match against John McLean 6-3, 6-4.

Ann Barclay of Vancouver moved into the final of the junior singles when she trimmed Georgette Delacretaz of Cornwall, Ont., 6-1, 6-1.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Veteran Pete Cooper of Tampa, Fla., bagged a hole-in-one during his career Thursday, smoothly whittled out a five-under-par 67 Friday and took the second-round lead of the Fort Wayne open golf tourney.

But the rest of the field was hot behind him. A pair of Canadians, Jerry Kesseling of Kitchener, Ont. and Rudy Horvath of Windsor were a stroke back at 136. Kesseling had 67-69 for his total.

Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., who had a one-under-par 71 Thursday, caught fire and shot a 6-under 65 that put him in third place with 137. First-day leader Jack Burke of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., had a 69 to stand but slipped to a 72 Friday and a seven-way tie for fourth place.

Canada's Davis Cup Team Trails Mexico by Two Matches

MEXICO CITY (CP)—Canada's Davis Cup team, trailing Mexico 2-0 as play enters the second day, is confident of winning today's doubles matches and staying in the zone semi-finals.

Lorne Main of Vancouver and Toronto and Brendan Macken of Montreal this afternoon take on Pancho Contreras and Pancho Guerrero Arocesha at Chapultepec Sports Park in the first singles.

A win for Mexico would give them the tournament despite Sunday's two final singles matches. A win for Canada would make the score 2-1 and the decision would rest with Sunday's finals.

"We have every chance of brining," team captain Brebgan Macken said. "The outcome could depend on a few breaks but I think we have the edge."

NEED BEST PLAY

"However, I'll have to play one of the best matches of my life and Lorne will have to do better than he did yesterday."

Main was defeated by Mexico's top-ranking player, flashy Mario Llamas in straight sets in opening play Friday before a near-capacity crowd of 800.

The 22-year-old railway clerk romped over the Canadian ace 6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

Main's difficulty seemed to come largely from the greater speed of a tennis ball on a court some 7,000 feet higher than his accustomed Canadian surroundings. For two sets he hammered the ball into the net and in the third he drove it out of bounds.

Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., noticeably ill from a stomach ailment, bowed to Mexican national champion Gustavo Palafox 8-6, 6-3, 3-6, 6-0 in the fourth set after apparently finding his form in the third, which he won for Canada's only set victory of the day.

Macken said later he would not have permitted Bedard to play if he had known he was ill.

He was all guts and a mile of it, but I would have substituted for him if I had known in advance that he had a badly upset stomach."

Bedard, ranked as Canada's second player, apparently ate some Mexican food which nauseated him.

Bobo On Still King Of Middleweights, Easily Defeating Castellani

Given Unanimecision Over Challengeth Fighters Take Knockdin Contest

By BOB MYERS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson remained the kingpin of the world's 160-pound division today after having turned back the challenge of top challenger, Rocky Castellani of Nevada.

Bobo of San Francisco captured a unanimous decision over the 155-pound Reno fighter in a fifteen-round nationally televised bout that was spirited, if not particularly clear, and highly dramatic in at least six minutes of the scrapping.

Olson is richer by $125,000, guarantee from Castellani's manager, Al Weinman.

The 26-year-old native of Idaho will be given to continue reigning in the middleweight ranks while the trouble he had making the weight limit.

He may box a slight heavyweight, but only if his manager, Sid Hamerberty, sends him against one.

BROKE BONE IN HAND

Castellani, defeated for the first time in 61 fights, had a bone in his right hand fractured in the eighth round when he caught one of Bobo's shots with his elbow. The break was severe on the forearm. The Rocky kept throwing it whether he landed or not.

Bobo's edge in the fight packed in the 11th and 12th rounds as they came out for the Rocky let fly with a right before anyone, including the referee, realized what was happening sitting on the seat of his with a sprained ankle. Rocky tripped over Olson and his glove touched the but he was not floored.

Bobo scrambled as quickly he could to get free, which required a three-count, and heeded to give Rocky all handle the rest of the round.

CLAIMS TRIPPED

Bobo claimed later that Rocky got tangled up and caught and hit off balance.

Came the 12th and Bobo a crushing overhand right, found Rocky's jaw and crashing to the floor.

The game Rocky needed took a nine-count, and to his credit, got up, only to be wounded tiger. But his hope from that point was dim.

The unanimous verdict was matic.

A crowd of 11,873 saw the including 9,719 paying customers, gave the gate to $71,470 ter taxes the gate dwindled $105,360. TV rights were $107,000.

Castellani's share was cent of the net and 30 per cent or slightly under the $125 manager guaranteed Olson.

Top-Ranking U.S. Amateurs Meet in Thrill Classic

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Harvie Ward, Jr., and Bill Campbell, top-ranking United States amateurs who have never met on a golf course before, set out today to battle it out for the Canadian amateur championship.

Each made Friday's semi-finals a drab, dull show by the simple process of adhering strictly to the par line and letting the other fellow make almost spoonfeeding. Ward Ward crushed 21-year-old Lyle Crawford of Toronto, 7 and 6, and Campbell neatly throttled Harry Haverstick, Jr., of Lancaster, Pa., 3 and 2. Each match in the 36-hole semi-final ended on the 29th green.

The sparse gallery of 300 was then treated to a boring four-some with Campbell and Ward each getting a par on every hole. Crawford's jitteriess comeback, too late and by far too little, was a fifth club in the

CREEK BEAT HIM

The Vancouver salt-water salmon fisherman found a bobbing cork hard by the first fairway so much to his liking that he plopped his ball into it for the second time in as many tries—morning and afternoon.

That set young Lyle back eight holes behind Scottsdale, Ward, 1953 winner of the British Amateur and runner-up in 1953. As it didn't give a bobber, then promptly matched par for par- with a Ward who was playing unredoubtable Ward until the end came painlessly at the 29th. There Crawford hooked his tee shot to Ward's par four ended the Ward didn't give up a hole to Crawford. The 23-year-old salesman from San Francisco, native of North Carolina, had a one-hole advantage after the 29 holes. He mowed down the nervous west coast boy in the 30th hole in the morning. Crawford was 11 over. The rest was just window as far as Ward was concerned.

CAN IMPROVE

Afterwards Ward said that Crawford is a prospective "youngster who can improve with tournament experience."

"He was indecisive about some of his shots, but he's a fine putter, fast," said Ward. "All he needs is to keep on in tournament play."

The finalist from Lancaster finalist added no color to the lackluster affair. Campbell said he played with a "catch" in his knee but found the physical handicap disappearing as the match got to accuracy.

Haverstick made it close for the first nine in the morning and was trailing by only one hole at the turn. But Campbell putting he came too hot and Haverstick was three holes at the end of the morning round.

The Pennsylvanian couldn't untrack himself in the afternoon, as Crawford had done, and the Campbell passed a free pitch to nerrily on and Haverstick slipped further behind. Crawford made it with a five-foot putt at the 29th ended it all.

In today's final the shrewd golf handicappers figure Ward has the edge.

Pointers Win Over Northern, 9-3; Enter Intermediate 'A' Playdowns

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Taking a 4-0 lead in the first inning, the Point Anne Cementmen coasted to a 9-3 victory over Northern Electric at the O.A.S.A. Park last night to capture the best-of-seven O.A.S.A. series four games to one with one tied.

Point Anne will advance into the Intermediate "A" O.A.S.A. playdowns with Northern going Senior "B". The winners had the option.

While his mates were building up a good margin to work with last night, the veteran Harold (Red) Maracle, willed a three-hitter. He fanned three and gave up four walks with his mates playing near errorless ball behind him.

Lem Carson took the loss starting for Northern with Boyle pitching the last two innings. Carson gave up six runs off four hits, whiffing none and walking three. Boyle was lagged for another four hits while walking one. Northern committed four costly errors.

The first four batters of the game reached base as Point Anne kept their habit of get-in-line rules intact. Warchaugh was safe on Carson's bobble and Doug Hull got to centrefield with a long single and Green walking to force in a run. Wade, hitting for Maracle, on an infield out and Young dropped a good throw from the outfield for a 3-0 score. Lem Carson singled to score Green before the third out was made.

INCREASE MARGIN

Jackie Wardhaugh increased the margin in the second frame with a bases-empty homer while Maracle set the Northerners down in order. Young drew a base-on-balls with Carr sacrificing him to second and Batchelor singling him home for the losers initial tally.

It was a single by Bob Strahan in the seventh, a solo affair, to give Ken Elliott (drew a 0-2 before Northern scored again. Whiting walked with two down in bottom of the seventh and De Rushie did the same in a pinch-hitting role. Glenn Young smashed a triple off Wade's glove in short centre field to cut the Pointers' lead to 6-3 but Maracle retired the next seven batters without trouble.

THROWING ERROR

Boyle's throwing error, back-to-back singles by Green and Wade, plus another misplay, a wild pitch of Lee Goyer's single greeted the relief pitcher with a trio of markers in the eighth to insure the victory.

Jackie Wardhaugh's homer and single were the keys in the hitting department with Leo Goyer, Boyle's pal at shortstop, Bob Strahan had a four-bagger with singles going to Hull, Wade and Green.

John Batchelor claimed two of the pitching honors for Northern with Glenn Young contributed a triple.

The line-up:

Pointe Anne—J. Wardhaugh, D. Hull, W. Wardhaugh, Green, Wade, P. Gilmour. L. Goyer. Bill Strahan. Bob Strahan, P. Maracle

Northern Electric—G. Young, C. Carr, J. Batchelor, W. Young, E. Cousins, P. Jones, D. Locke, D. Boyle, L. Whiting, L. Carson, H. De Rushie. D. Boyle.

Mother Nature takes pretty good care of her children. Down through the centuries she provides them with the best possible equipment for survival, all of it designed to meet the requirements of the living habits of the animal in question.

For example, look at a woodcock, or a bittern or a rail. Please note how the eyes are set near the top of its head. Much of the woodcock's time is being probing in the earth with its long, prehensile bill in search of worms, its main item of diet.

Probing for earthworms is being done with the bill, requires little use of the eyes. Thus, the eyes are set as high as possible on the head so that the bird can be on the alert for natural enemies at all times.

By the same token, a fish has sensitivities which are far more acute than those of most creatures. Although its eyes are small and comparatively undeveloped, it is keenly aware of vibration. They're even capable of eliminating in the lateral line along the side of its body the sense of vibrations than anything we humans can imagine.

ACUTE SENSE OF SMELL

Now the biologists are learning that a fish has an extremely acute sense of smell. Dr. Oliver Hartley and Wisby of the Canadian Fisheries Research Board have found that eel spawning salmon return to the stream of their childhood largely with the aid of their sense of smell. Evidently a stream has a distinctive odor of its own which guides the fish up the proper river and eventually into "e ancient tributary.

This same Research Board has found that the presence or absence of natural enemies, such as the hair seal and the sea lion, warn migrating fish of the presence of these predators.

Extracts were made from the skins of these two animals; then small quantities of the extract were introduced into the water of a river during salmon migration.

Instantly an alarm reaction was set up, sometimes so severe that migration was stopped temporarily.

I'm wondering whether or not these same men can't come up with extracts of a friendly odor by which I can attract my flies and lures. With the low level to which our fishing has fallen these days, I must confess that I'm grasping at straws.

FLOOR CONTROL

Back in 1941 there was a disastrous flood in Oklahoma. The lower reaches of Sandstone Creek, Skiows Creek and Big Beaver Creek were inundated with much attendant loss of livestock and damage to property.

Accordingly, the folks thereabouts began to investigate the matter of adequate flood protection. After talking to many authorities, including engineers, big-dam advocates, they decided, quite wisely, to go for an over-all program of intelligent watershed management — contour plowing, strip farming, and retaining ponds in upper valleys, replanting of barren areas, etc.

Early last May, after this program was well established, the results of their labors stood the test of trial by Nature. Not once was the rainfall in that area equal of 1934—14 inches in a single evening. Yet a flood that covered about double the area of the one which caused the 1934 flood

FLOOD AVERTED

In other words, measured by past standards, the potential disastrous flood was averted in those valleys where the land was properly equipped to handle what Nature might send them in the way of rain.

This is not an isolated instance. It has been duplicated in other parts of the country. A review of the big-dam program certainly does not support the scientific flood record.

A properly managed watershed, they tell me, has an in-sook potential which is about four times as great as that which is dependent on the protection offered by our expensive big dams. Yet a big share of our financing these structures of dubious value is tremendously greedy. They want to own our own rivers and streams are ruining them for the fishermen, boatmen, and all others who have no purpose.

How long, I wonder, are we the citizens and owners of the nation—going to continue to finance bureaucratic control and power developments?

THE WHOOPING CRANE

Word comes from the United States Fish and Wildlife Department that the number of surviving North American whooping cranes have left their wintering grounds in the Arkansas National Wildlife Refuge in Texas, winging their way northward to their summer home in Canada's Northwest Territories.

These big, spectacular birds which, for many years, have been threatened with extinction for many years. During recent years, however, they have been increasing. Last year it gained by seven members, making the total count 34.

Bird watchers in Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado are cooperating all in their power to insure them from molestation. Here's hoping they have luck on their journey and a good nesting season.

Aussies Leading In Canada Cup Golf Tourney

By MEL MORRIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que. (CP) A youthful Australian team of Kelvin Nagle and Peter Thomson carried a four-stroke lead into the second round of the Canada Cup matches today while better-known golf stars like Sam Snead struggled to keep up to their sub-par pace.

Nagle was an example of consistency Friday as he methodically toured the Laval-sur-le-Lac course in 68, four under par. A surprise choice for the Australian team, he backed his selectors' judgment with four birdie putts and was never over par on any of the holes.

Thomson, the 24-year-old British Open champion, fired a 69 his usual confidence in posting nine-hole scores of 34 and 35 for a 69 to give the Aussies an 18-hole total of 137, seven under par.

LEONARD ALMOST STOLE IT

Stan Leonard almost stole the show from the leaders, however, as he fired a 69 to push Canada into second place with 141. Before a standing ovation he sank an on the lip of the cup he could have had a 66 and a course record.

Nagle, Thomson, Leonard and holder of the course record 65, was three strokes back of the leaders as he soared to a 40 on the first nine. He settled down to finish the round with a 69 but the damage was still wound up at 75, three over par.

Snead and Fred Daly of Ireland, who set an unofficial course record of 64 in practice rounds earlier this day, spent most of the day-perspiring out on the green from the bush and bunkers.

Snead was spraying his usually accurate shots all over the course as he scrambled around in 74. Daly, playing with Snead, was trailing with a 68 for a 143 total and a fourth-place tie.

Defending champion Roberto de Vicenzo and Antonio Cerda of Argentina played a steady game but failed for two eagles on the back nine and a 71 to finish in fifth place. Cerda missed several short putts and came away shaking his head after he had sunk a long putt footer on the 18th. That would have given him a par 70.

The sponsors of the tournament added some bonus money to the proceedings. Vic Ghezzi and Ben Hogan tied for a 144 total and awarded Stan Leonard $200 for his 69 and Ghezzi and Hogan split the bonus a standing offer for the remaining three rounds and put up $100 for a birdie, $50 for an eagle on the 18th hole, and $25 for birdies on the 16th or 17th.

Sell TV Rights On Cup Finals For $45,000

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram says today television rights to the Stanley Cup finals have been sold to the CBC and the NBC for $45,000.

"Negotiations between the Canadian Rugby Union and television, radio, program and movie interests were completed recently," the paper says. "The contract calls for a record gross revenue for the 1954 Grey Cup game of more than $200,000."

The CBC will pay $30,000 for Canadian broadcasting rights and Canada and NBC will pay $15,000 to telecast the game in the United States for the first time.

The paper adds that in addition to the Grey Cup game, the football will receive $7,500 for television, radio, movie and program rights to the annual final between the Ontario Rugby Football Union and the Western conference champions, to be played Nov. 20 in the West.

The TV revenue of $45,000 makes a total of $385,000 Canadian football interests receive for radio and television. Earlier, CBC paid $150,000 and NBC $200,000 for rights to Big Four games.

Cart Ref Away on Stretcher With Pal Trailing Behind; Main Bout Declared No Contest

The main bout of Friday night's wrestling card at Memorial Arena ran out of referees and wound up no contest.

It was no contest for ref Jon Golloh who rode from the ring in a stretcher toted by two of the city's finest with Al "Bunny" Dunlop, the loser, surviving, bringing up a disconsolate rear.

Up to the third fall both referee Golloh and referee Dunlop were doing a creditable job of directing traffic without the aid of a traffic light. The team of Mighty Ursus and George (Zebra) Bollas and the team of Ray Villmer and Paul Baillargeon were even in falls, if not in faults.

Villmer took the first fall for the lighter team when he hoisted Bollas to the ring ropes 200 pounds above his head, spun him like a propeller, slammed his groggy remains to the mat and pinned him after 14 minutes of action.

In the second fall Zebra, nearly eclipsed Dunlop with an elbow smash aimed at Villmer who ducked in the last instant. Baillargeon's lop could recover Golloh had to hustle to the rescue to prevent Dunlop from pilling Villmer along with Bollas.

The fall went to Bollas when he successfully kneed Villmer. The wounded Villmer fell to the canvas like he had been pole axed and Bollas dropped on the prostrate Villmer with an elbow for a most unpopular verdict.

However, pandemonium not only reigned in the third fall, it poured. Ursus and Bollas both agreed that as long as Villmer had eyes to see them he would likely catch them and therefore they were out to blind Villmer.

Therefore, to try to part Villmer from eyes, Paul Baillargeon employed the same treatment when he tried to rescue Villmer.

RAMMED HEAD FIRST

In retaliation Baillargeon weaved the Zebra's arms into the ropes and proceeded to ram him head first. Ursus took this badly and charged Baillargeon. The Zebra recovered and ran head-on into Villmer. Dunlop and Golloh were hard put to the combination but Golloh, flat on the canvas counting against Villmer suddenly found Dunlop's feet in his face and that soon included Bollas, Villmer, Ursus and Baillargeon in that mix-up from the ringside.

Dunlop started hauling bodies from the ring and Golloh counted the unconscious Golloh almost pressed into the pattern on the canvas.

While Dunlop was trying to revive Golloh, Villmer, Baillargeon and Baillargeon waged their own private war in the corner. The referee was out for the count.

Consternation dissolved somewhat when Ursus and Bollas went out of the ring and started for the dressing room, Villmer and Baillargeon gave chase and the four disappeared leaving Dunlop standing in the ring over Golloh's body. Obviously, Jon Dunlop was the only one left standing at the finish. It cannot be proved.

Pat Flanagan weathered a mid-ring collision at top speed a little better than Vern Taft and was declared the winner at 14.13 of the main preliminary.

In the opener Bob Jackson and Jan Gudek elbowed and fought for their way to a draw in thirty minutes.

Voyles Not Happy Over Exhibition Tour in West

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats came home from their exhibition tour with a .500 winning percentage, but as far as coach Carl Voyles is concerned the trip was a dud as far as he's concerned.

"That's the last time we'll make that kind of a trip," Voyles said Friday. "I had a far better team before we left than I have now. Six days is too much football for any team. Voyles said the exhibition jaunt resulted in complete disorganization of the team. Voyles added that although he had declared his three American-Canadian quarterbacks — Vince Scott and Merle Hapes—he hadn't yet decided which of his 19 imports he would release.

Tackle Al Varner was the only player cut from the squad Friday.

"The only good thing about the exhibition games," he said, "was that it gave the team a chance to travel together and we were able to see the players in action."

Panthers Back In Second Place Of Intercounty

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bill Allen, who usually has to work for every victory he picks up for Belleville Panthers, got the easy way Friday night.

Allen pitched only one inning and received credit for his sixth victory of the year as Belleville Panthers edged London Majors 5-4 in Kitchener. The victory, second for the Panthers over the Majors in two nights, put them back into fourth place in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League, one percentage point ahead of St. Thomas Elgins. Fourth place is the last playoff berth.

Fritz Baseman Parise established a two-run homer in the eighth inning to give Galt Terriers an 8-6 decision over Brantford Red Sox in the other Intercounty game of the night at Galt. The victory gave the Terriers a three-game lead over the second-place Red Sox.

TOUGH BREAK

Parise's pitcher got a tough break when he didn't receive the credit for the Kitchener win, Bruce pitched eight innings of four-hit shutout ball before being relieved in the ninth inning by the bottom of the eighth. Frank Wesse singled in the only run in the bottom of the ninth which was Kitchener's only scoring position.

Parise's homer gave the Terriers an even 6-6 split with Brantford at season's end. Each team had taken a lead before the blow.

Haughton Fisher of the Sox was the game's outstanding batter, notching three hits in four trips to the plate. His total included a double and a home run and he batted in two of the Brantford runs.

Jeep Jessup lasted the distance for the Terriers and struck out seven for his 11th victory.

CLOSE TONIGHT

All games are in action tonight for the scheduled closing of the 1954 season. Brantford Red Sox are the league-end hosts at Goslph, Galt is at London and Kitchener plays at Elgin Sky to decide fourth place in St. Thomas.

Two games were played in the Ninety-Seven Baseball League. At Sudbury Frood Tigers climbed into first place by defeating the first-place Sudbury Shamrocks 11-4 and in Copper Cliff the hosts beat Redbury Lumberjacks 4-1 to decide first place by whitewashing Coniston Red Sox 5-0.

Trailermen Take Second Straight In Semi-Finals

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — The Trailermen took their second straight game in the eastern roundrobin senior lacrosse semi-final Friday night by smearing Hamilton Tiger-Cat Panthers, 20-6.

Both Hamilton and St. Catharines have won one and lost two in the series and Saturday night in St. Catharines.

The game Lead 9-3 in the first period and 19-5 to end the second of a clean bout. Bob Hargrave led Trailermen and Hamilton one.

Leading the local attack was Bobby Allan with five markers, as Harry Wipper and Rusty Slater got four each, Lou Hickey two and Denny Peterson. Bob Thorpe, Don Campbell and Bobby Curtis two each.

Scoring for Panthers Rock Bailey scored the other. For Hamilton two each were by Whitewashing Conistan Red Sox Dorney and Bob Dobbie, as Jim McMahon and Jay Hill each hit the hemp once.

New World Record

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Pronto Don, leading money winning trotter from the Harry Harris stable, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Duquoin, Ill., established a world record of 2.01 for a mile and 1-1 miles Friday night at Roosevelt raceway.

Pronto Don driven by Howard Harbrecht over joint holders of the old mark at 2:10 2-3.

Trained by Benny Schue, the nine-year-old gelding won by a half length over Dave Hanover in the $15,000 trot with Katie Key, the even money choice, third in the 10-horse field.

The $7,500 won by Pronto Don boosted his earnings to $216,173, just $4,619 short of Good Time's harness horse record of $216,792. The Harris gelding returned $15.20 for $2.

Bobo Olson Still King Of Middleweights, Easily Defeating Castellani

Given Unanimous Decision Over Challenger, Both Fighters Take Knockdowns in Contest

By BOB MYERS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson remained the kingpin of the world's 160-pound division today after having turned back the threat of the top challenger, Rocky Castellani of Cleveland.

Bobo of San Francisco captured a unanimous decision over the 28-year-old Rocky Friday night in the 15-round nationally televised bout that was spirited, if not overly scholar, and highly dramatic in at least six minutes of the struggle.

Olson [illegible] by $125,000, his guarantee from Castellani's manager, Al Haiman.

The 26-year-old native of Honolulu said he plans to continue fighting in the middleweight ranks despite the trouble he had making the weight limit.

He may box a light heavyweight, but only if his manager, Sid Flaherty, insists against one.

BROKE BONE IN HAND

Castellani, defeated for only the sixth time in 56 fights, had a date with a doctor this morning. Dr. J. Lastrelli, physician for the state athletic commission, said he had fractured a bone in his left hand.

Presumably the mishap occurred in the second round when one caught one of Rocky's swings on his elbow. The break was somewhat evident to the crowd because Rocky kept favoring it leather whether he landed or not.

Highlights of the fight were packed in the first and fourth rounds. As they came out for the 11th Rocky let fly with a left hook that, for anyone, including the principals, realized it, the champion was sitting on a seat of his pants with a surprised look on his face.

Bobo jumped up as quickly as he could to his feet, which required a count of four, and proceeded to give Rocky all he could handle for the rest of the frame.

CLAIMS HAND BROKE

Bobo claimed later that their feet got tangled up and he was caught and left standing.

Came the 12th and Bobo applied a crusher. A long overhand right found Rocky's jaw and sent him crashing to the canvas.

The game Rocky bounded and took a nine-count, and to his credit, fought out the round like a wounded lion. There he bowed out from that point on.

The [illegible] verdict was unanimous.

A crowd of 11,873 saw the scrap, including 9,719 paying customers. The gate came to $121,470 and after taxes the guy dwindled to $105,362. TV rights were worth $107,000.

Castellani's share was 30 per cent of the net gate and TV money, or slightly under the $45,000 his manager guaranteed Olson.

Eskimos Leave For Regina After Playing Kitchener

KITCHENER (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union left here for Regina Friday after a three-day stay in Kitchener. The Eaks had been in town to play an exhibition game with Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen of the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union.

At a meeting of the Kitchener-Waterloo Quarterback Club Thursday night, Ken Mountjoy, president of Rocky Crossan Ltd., said there is no reason why you (Kitchener) shouldn't be a fifth club in the Big Four."

Montgomery said the Edmonton executive was favorably impressed with the football setup in Kitchener, which closely parallels the operational methods used by the Eskimos. The Dutchmen are the farm club of the western team.

May Be Asked To Explain His Statement

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A turf writer's charge that Eddie Arcaro, after a magazine article quoted Andy Crevolin, owner of Kentucky Derby winner Determine, as saying that his stable does not pay to win the Derby, "could or third time with a young horse.

Crevolin's reaction to publication of remarks in the Bloodhorse, national breeders' magazine, ranged from "I never said it and it's not true" to "I don't remember exactly what I said but it is misquoted." Crevolin is known to ing his horses do not try all the time.

Dwight Murphy, chairman of the California horse racing board, said the commission is disturbed over the statement attributed to Crevolin. He said Crevolin may be asked to explain his statements.

Toledo Pitcher Had No-Hitter For Seven Frames

ST. PAUL (AP)—Ray Crone, 23-year-old Toledo hitchhiker, pitched a seven-inning no run, no hit game here Friday night, beating St. Paul 3-0 in the opener of an American Association doubleheader with the visitors also taking the nightcap 8-4.

It was the first no-hitter in the loop since Ewell Blackwell of Kansas City, now with St. Paul, also pitched a seven-inning shutout in 1952. It was the eighth seven-inning no-hitter in league history.

Wings Win Second Game from Leafs In 12 Innings

(By The Associated Press)

The end of the International League season is only three weeks away but the order of finish for the first-division jockeying is far from settled.

The pace-setting Toronto Maple Leafs, the second-place Rochester Red Wings and the third-place Montreal Royals apparently have three of the spots sewed up Syracuse Chiefs, Aggregating hold down fourth place, but their position is far from secure.

The Leafs lead the Wings by three games after splitting a pair Friday night. One was the completion of a July 4 affair which the Leafs won 3-1 on Bill Gilbert's sixth-inning homer. But in the regularly-billed twin bill test, Rochester won 5-3 in 12 innings. Allie Clark slammed out a three and third baseman Jim Rone with the winning run.

Montreal blanked Havana Sugar Kings 8-5 with Al Roebuck pitching hitless ball after relieving Joe Brady in the fifth and allowing a four-run Cuban rally. Bob Skinner's base-stealing single with two out in the last of the ninth gave Syracuse a 2-1 win over Buffalo Bisons. Angel Richmond's Buzz Zieger hurled two-hit ball for the cellar-dwelling Virginians in a 13-1 decision over Ottawa Athletics.

TAKES CITY GOLF

HAMILTON (CP)—Harold Willening, 18, of the Hamilton Chedoke Golf Club, won the city and district junior golf championship Friday, posting a three-over-par 74. He scored one for Ron Leask of Oakville and George Sherer of Burlington two shots behind. Willening one stroke behind Winnering.

Top-Ranking U.S. Amateurs Meet in Final

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Harvie Ward, Jr., and Bill Campbell, top-ranking United States amateurs who have never seen on a golf course before, set out today to battle for the Canadian amateur championship.

Each made Friday's semi-finals a clash, duel even by the simple process of adhering strictly to the par line and letting the other fellow beat himself ignominiously.

Ward crushed Ki-yead-oh Lyle Crawford of Vancouver 8 and 7 and Campbell neatly throttled Harry Hyvarinch, 23, of Lancaster, Pa., 8 and 7. Each match of the 36-hole semi-final ended on the 29th green.

The sparse gallery of 300 wandered over the London Hunt Club's grimly-kept acres hoping for something to happen. It didn't. Even the best the forlorn gallerytes saw was Crawford's litterless comeback. Ward and by far too little in the afternoon.

CREEK BEAT HIM

Crawford, a 125-pound salmon fisherman found a bubbling creek hard by the first fairway so much to his liking that he took to the ball into it for the second time in as many tries—morning and afternoon.

That set young Lyle back eight holes behind Ward, runner-up to the 1952 winner of the British Amateur and runner-up to Ward, 7 and 6. He didn't give a hoot. Lyle then promptly matched par for par with a 34-36—70 to finish with the redoubtable Ward until the end came pathetically at the 29th. There Crawford flubbed a second shot and Ward's par four ended the match.

Ward didn't give up a hole to Campbell. The 23-year-old salesman from San Francisco, natty in golfing togs, posted a par-over-par medal score for the 29 holes. He mowed down the second nine with a 32 for a seven-stroke margin in the morning. Crawford had to do it. That was not just routine so far as Ward was concerned.

CAN IMPROVE

Afterwards Ward said that Crawford is a prospective youngster who can improve with tournament experience.

"He was indecisive about some of his shots. He didn't commit himself," said Ward. "All he needs is a little more tournament play."

The Campbell-Havarstick semi-final added no color to the lackluster. Hyvarinch couldn't get it played with a "catch" in his knee but found Campbell handling and disappearing as he putted with accuracy.

Haverstick made it close for the first nine in the morning and was trailing by only one stroke at the turn. But Campbell's putting became too hot and Haverstick soon was down five holes at the end of the morning round.

The Pennsylvanian couldn't untrack himself in the afternoon, as Campbell found his game. A second-hell parade of pars went 'merrily on and Haverstick slipped further behind. Campbell won it with a five-foot putt at the 29th ended it all.

In today's final the shrewd golf handicappers figure Ward has the edge.

John Gramling To Quarterback Ottawa Team

OTTAWA (CP)—John Gramling, former United States football star, players trying for the job of quarterbacking Ottawa Rough Riders, was picked on the first day of practice.

The passer from South Carolina was chosen over Ron Panciera of Dale Samuels, who were given their releases.

Coach Glenn Crowe said Gramling is "a smart kid, a smooth passer and a fine competitor. He's tall and can play defence as well as offence."

Friday, Crowe had a long talk with another quarterback, Al-Dekken, who arrived Wednesday from Montreal Alouettes on Wednesday. There was no announcement on whether he will stay with the team.

Five Swimmers In 20-Mile Race

CEDAR POINT, Ohio (AP) — Five swimmers jumped into Lake Erie at 12:01 a.m. EST today for a 20-mile race from Pelee Island to this Lake Erie resort. Seeking the $500 first prize offered by the resort for the winner were William Sachs, 20, of Wheatland, N.Y.; Ralph Albanese, 45, Cleveland; Tommy Murray, 19, Toledo, Clarence Burns, 35, Highland Falls, N.Y.; and Jerry Kerschner, 29, Huron, O.

Pointers Win Over Northern, 9-3; Enter Intermediate 'A' Playdowns

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Taking a 4-0 lead in the first inning, the Point Anne Cementmen coasted to a 9-3 victory over Northern Electric-at the C.N.R. Park last night to capture the best-of-seven O.A.S.A. series four games to one with one tied.

Buck Anne will advance into the Intermediate "A" O.A.S.A. playdowns with Northern going Senior "B". The winners had the option.

While his mates were building up a good margin to work with last night, the veteran Bert Marcle, Marcle, willed a three-hitter. He fanned three and gave up four walks with his mates playing near errorless ball behind him.

Lum Carson took the loss starting for Northern with Boyle pitching the last two innings. Carson gave up six runs off four hits, whiffing none and walking three. Boyle was good for another four hits while walking one. Northern committed four errors.

The first four batters of the game reached base as Point Anne kept the habit of scoring runners intact. Wardhaugh was safe on Northern's bobble at short and Hall singled to centrefield with Mallory and Green walking to force in a run. Marcle then drove a double on an infield out and Young dropped a good throw from the outfield to the plate as Hall scored. Lou Green singled to score Green before the third out was made.

INCREASE MARGIN

Jackie Wardhaugh increased the margin in the second frame with a bases-empty homer while Marcle set the Northern batsmen down without a base runner until the two-out fourth. Then a base-on-balls with Carr sacrificing him to second and Batchelor singling him home for the losers initial tally.

It was topped by Bob Strahan in the seventh, a solo effort, to give the Elliott crew a 6-1 lead. Northern's fourth scored again. Whiting walked with two down. A bottom of the seventh and De Rushie did the same in a pinch-hitting role. Glenn Young smashed a triple to the right field fence in short centre field to cut the Pointers' lead to 6-3 but Marcle retired the next seven batters without trouble.

THEY'S ERROR

Boyle's throwing error, back-to-back singles by Green and Wade, plus another misplay, a wild peg, Leo Gorye's single greeted the relief pitcher with a trio of markers in the eighth to insure the victory.

Jackie Wardhaugh's homer and eight runs batted in the hitting department with Leo Goyer following a close behind. Bob Strahan had a four-bagger with singles going to Hull, Wade and Green.

John Batchelor claimed two of the pitching honours with Marcle, Glenn Young contributed a triple.

Sensitivities of Fish

By John Alden Knight
(Noted Sportsman, author and creator of Selunar Tables)

Mother Nature takes pretty good care of her children. Down through the centuries she provides them with the best possible equipment for their way of life, designed to meet the requirements of the habits of the animal in question.

For example, look at a woodcock. It probes in soft earth and note how the eyes are set near the top of the head so much of the woodcock's time is spent probing in the earth with its long, pre-hensile bill. Its sense of touch is played with a "catch" in his knee but found that this handicap disappearing as he putted with accuracy.

Haverstick made it close for the first nine in the morning and was trailing by only one stroke at the turn. But Campbell's putting became too hot and Haverstick soon was down five holes at the end of the morning round.

The Pennsylvanian couldn't untrack himself in the afternoon, as Campbell found his game. A second-hell parade of pars went 'merrily on and Haverstick slipped further behind. Campbell won it with a five-foot putt at the 29th ended it all.

In today's final the shrewd golf handicappers figure Ward has the edge.

Early last May, after this process of sensitivity established, the results of their labors stood the test of trial by Nature. Not only was the bill found to be an equal of 1934—14 inches in a 20-inch bird—but it was also covered about double the area of the one which caused the 1934 flood.

FLOOD AVERTED

In other words, measured by past standards, the potential disastrous flood was averted in those years by the bill which had been equipped to handle what Nature might send them in the way of flood.

This is not an isolated instance. Birds in all parts of the world, in other parts of the country. A review of the big-dam program certainly will bring to light many such factors of record.

Properly managed watershed, they tell me, has an in-soak potential which is about four times the run-off. Essential also is the protection offered by our evergreens, the shrubs, our own rivers and streams are ruining the soil and water conservation, all to little or no purpose.

How long, I wonder, are we to be permitted the luxury of the nation—going to continue to finance unsound flood control and power developments?

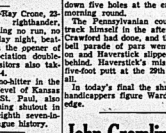
THE WHOOPING CRANE

Word comes from the United States Fish and Wildlife Department that the whooping crane, North American whooping cranes have left their winter quarters on the Arkansas National Wildlife Refuge in Texas, winging their way north to the Wood Buffalo Park-mer home in Canada's Northwest Territories.

These big, spectacular birds with the resonant voices have been increasing. Last year it gained three members, making the total count 34.

Bird watchers in Oklahoma, Texas, Nebraska, Saskatchewan and Canada have been on the lookout for whooping cranes, hoping all in their power to insure them from molestation. Here's hoping they've had a safe journey and a good nesting season and damage to property.

Accordingly, the folks there-about began to investigate the matter of adequate flood protection. After talking to many authorities including the Hall dynasty advocates, they decided, quite wisely, to go in for an over-all program of intelligent watershed management — contour plowing, strip farming, small retaining ponds in upper valleys, replanting of barren areas, etc.



Instantly an alarm reaction was set up, whereupon the severe cold migration was stopped temporarily.

I'm wondering whether or not these same men can't come up with evidence of a friendly interest with which I can anoint my flies and lures. With the low level which, while our fishing has fallen these days, I must confess that I'm grasping at straws.

FLOOR CONTROL

Back in 1936 there was a disastrous flood in Oklahoma. The lower reaches of Sandstone Creek, Kiamichi River, Muddy Boggy Creek were inundated, with much attendant loss of property.

Aussies Leading In Canada Cup Golf Tourney

By MEL MORRIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que. (CP) A youthful Australian team of Kelvin Nagle and Peter Thomson carried a four-stroke lead into the second round of the Canada Cup matches today while better-known golf stars like Sam Snead struggled to keep up to their sub-par pace.

Nagle was an example of consistency Friday as he methodically toured the Laval-sur-le-Lac course in 68, four under par. A surprise setting a creditable job of directing traffic without the aid of a traffic light. The team of Mighty Uruna and George (Zebra) Bollas and the team of Ray Villmer and Paul Runyan, partners were even in fails, is not in faults.

Villmer took the first for the full of the Bollas brothers, Jim and Ursus, who weighs just 300 pounds above his head. Jim was like a propeller, slammed his groggy remains to the mat and pinned him after 3 minutes and 4 seconds.

In the second fall Zebra nearly pulled Dunlop with an elbow smash aimed at Villmer who ducked at the last instant. Before Dunlop could recover Villmer had a hustle to the rescue to prevent Ursus from piling on Villmer along with Bollas.

The fall went to Bollas when he successfully applied Wonderful Wonder Villmer fell to the canvas like he had been pole axed and Bollas dropped on him with a tractic psychorm at 27.20 for a count unpopular with Villmer.

However, pandemonium not only reigned in the third fall, it reached a new high. Ursus was decided that as long as Villmer was down and out he would have a clear man in scoring position.

Parise's fans gave the Terriers an even 5-5 split with the Brantford seasonal play. Each team had chalked up four falls in the series.

Rightfielder Harry Fisher of the Sox was the game's outstanding batter, notching three hits in three times at bat. His total included a double and a home run and he batted in two of the Brantford runs.

Jeep Jessup lasted the distance for the Terriers and struck out seven for his fifth victory.

CLOSES TONIGHT

All teams are in action tonight for the scheduled closing of the 1954 season. Brantford will play the last-place Royals at Guelph. Galt is at Stratford and Kitchener and the Eagles play to Guelph. Both places in St. Thomas.

Two games were played in the Nickel Belt Senior League. At Sudbury Frood Stobie clubbed into fourth place by drubbing the third-place Sudbury Cubs 9-4. 1-14 and the Copper Cliff the home-town Redmen virtually clinched first place by whitewashing Coniston Red Sox 5-0.

Cart Ref Away on Stretcher With Pal Trailing Behind; Main Bout Declared No Contest

The main bout of Friday night's wrestling card at Memorial Arena ran out of referees and wound up no contest.

It was no contest for ref Joe Golloh who rode from the ring in a stretcher toted by two of the city's finest with Al "Bunny" Dunlop, the lone survivor, bringing up a disconsolate rear.

Up to the third fall both referee Golloh and referee Dunlop were doing a creditable job of directing traffic without the aid of a traffic light. The team of Mighty Uruna and George (Zebra) Bollas and the team of Ray Villmer and Paul Runyan partners were even in falls, it not in faults.

Sell TV Rights On Cup Finals For $45,000

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram says today television rights to the Canada Cup golf finals have been sold to the CBC and the NBC for $45,000.

Negotiations between the Canadian Rugby Union and television, radio, program and movie interests were reported underway by the newspaper says. "The result ensures a record gross income for the 1954 Canada Cup Grey Cup game of more than $200,000."

The CBC will pay $30,000 for Canadian television rights to the classic and NBC will put $15,000 to telecast the game in the United States, the story says.

The paper adds that in addition to the $45,000 for the cup final, football will account for $40,000 for television, radio, movie and program rights. The Telegram says it understands the Ontario Rugby Football Union and the Western conference will have to be played Nov. 20 in the West.

The TV revenue of $45,000 makes a total of $395,000 Canadian football will receive this year from television, Vince Macaluso, CBC sports director, said. The CBC and NBC $200,000 for rights to Big Four games.

Panthers Back In Second Place Of Intercounty

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bill Allen, who usually has to work for every victory he picks up for Kitchener Panthers, got one easy one Friday night.

Allen pitched only one inning and received credit for his 4th win of the season as Panthers defeated Kitchener Panthers edged London Majors 1-0 in Kitchener, Friday, second game for the Panthers over the Majors in two nights, put them back into fourth place in the senior Intercounty Baseball League—one percentage point ahead of St. Thomas Elgins. Fourth place is the last playoff berth.

First baseman Joe Parise smashed a two-run homer in the fourth inning to give Galt Terriers a 5-4 decision over Brantford Red Sox in their only Intercounty game of the night at Galt. The victory gave the Terriers a 1½-game lead over the second-place Red Sox.

TOUGH BREAK

Pitcher Cy Bricker got a tough break when he didn't receive the credit for the Kitchener win. Bricker pitched eight innings of relief and was the pitcher being taken out for a pinchhitter in the bottom of the eighth. Frank Wessinger in the ninth run in the bottom of the ninth after a London error and a single by pinchhitter Homer man in scoring position.

Parise's home run gave the Terriers a even 5-5 split with Brantford on seasonal play. Each team had chalked up four falls in the series.

Trailermen Take Second Straight In Semi-Finals

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — The Trailermen took their second straight win in the eastern round-robin senior lacrosse semi-final Friday night by trouncing Hamilton Tigers 25-8 before 2,400 fans. Bob Winton and Ed Cathcart-Jones have won one and lost two so far. Petes play Saturday night in St. Catharines.

The home squad led 9-3 in the first period and 15-5 at the end of the second of a clean bout, the Petes drawing three penalties and Hamilton one.

Leading the local attack was Bobby Allan with five markers, at Harry Winton and Rusty Hall got four each, Lou Nickle three and Denny Peterson, Bob Thorpe, Don Campbell and Bobby Curtis two apiece. Rock Bailly scored the other. For Hamilton, eight men were counted by Norm Shortridge, Jack Bertero and Don Dobbin, as Jim McMahon and Jay Hill each hit the hemp once.

Voyles Not Happy Over Exhibition Tour in West

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats came home from their western exhibition tour with a winning record but Coach Carl Voyles is concerned the Ti-Cats ended up as losers.

"That's the last time we'll make that kind of a trip," Voyles said Friday. "I had a far better team before we left than I have now". Getting out into the open only six days is too much football for any team, Voyles said that the six games were played on indifferent playing surfaces and in indifferent dressing rooms.

Voyles said that Jackie Parker had declined his three American-Canadian imports—Vince Mazza, Dick Shiner and Ken Ploen—and hadn't yet decided which of his 18 players he would release.

Tackle Al Varner was the only player cut from the Ti-Cats Friday.

"The only good thing about the exhibition games," he said, "was that it gave the team a little more confidence and we were able to see the players in action."

AT THE McCARTHY THEATRE

"Witness to Murder," powerful suspense melodrama starring Barbara Stanwyck, George Sanders and Gary Merrill, will have its local premiere at the McCarthy Theatre on Monday. The Chester Erskine presentation is being released by United Artists.

With Miss Stanwyck starring in a role reminiscent of her "Double Indemnity" and, "Sorry, Wrong Number" appearances, "Witness to Murder" is the hair-raising story of a woman who sees a murder committed but can find nobody who believes her.

Chester Erskine who produced the story and screenplay. The veteran Hollywood ace, Roy Rowland, directed, and John Alton was chief cinematographer. The musical score for the film was composed and conducted by Herschel Burke Gilbert who also penned a song, "Nowhere Blues" (lyrics by Sylvia Fine), which is played and sung in the picture.

Roland wheeled his camera out of the studio and down the main streets and byways of Hollywood and Los Angeles for location shooting on key sequences in "Witness to Murder". Among the more prominent landmarks which served as backdrops for the exciting action in the film were the Brown Derby, Frascati's, W & J Sloane's, City Hall, the Beverly Hills Hotel and the downtown headquarters of the Los Angeles Police Department.

SCALE MOUNTAIN

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union said Wednesday a team of its climbers has scaled hitherto unconquered "Mt. Revolution" in the Pamin range near the Soviet-Pakistan-Afghanistan border. The mountain is listed in Soviet records at 22,916 feet—fourth highest in the Soviet Union, topped only by Mts. Stalin, Pobeda and Lenin.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, AUGUST 22, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Fine configurations promise a happy day if you do your share to help make and keep it so. Be agreeable, attend your soul's needs and don't neglect family or civic duties.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Your family's interests, and good causes generally can benefit this fine Sunday. Lend a hand to make others happier, their burdens less onerous. Prayer will help you.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — You bright, on-the-go folks should find today's vibrations greatly to your liking. But do not injure your health or family's happiness by dashing hither and yon. Quiet doings best.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — It's a day for religious, intellectual and moral advancement and you are to decide the proper allocation of your tasks to make time for these: also some healthy recreation, a hobby.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Your Sun and other planets are well aspected this Sunday and we hope all goes well with you and yours. Be mindful of your duty to God, be thankful for His blessings. Good fun okayed.

August 22 to September 23 (Virgo)—This should be an ideal time for music, all the arts, wholesome entertainment and healthy sports, after you have attended to your spiritual duties. Enjoy fun with family, friends.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Heed notations to Taurus and Cancer. Day holds favors for all good deeds, happiness for you who think of God and your fellowmen. Necessary work sponsored for all who must labor.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—You can be confident now. Your best efforts will be well repaid by worth-while accomplishment, fresh advantages, more solid security. Pray.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Your Jupiter and other planets are favorably situated now. Essential laborious work among sponsored activities. Inner contentment comes from peace with God; pray for it.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—A happy outlook now so keep a smile in your heart and you will not only enjoy this day but do much good. Domestic interests, difficult and essential tasks under fine aspects. Smile.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Fresh opportunity here to renew your acquaintance with God, to think well on His teachings, the pleasure obtained by prayer, charity, all good deeds. Household duties, recreation okayed.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—To be of use in the world is the only way to be really happy. Today's planetary offerings are generous, beneficent. Attend first to your soul's and family's needs. Make time for rest.

YOU BORN TODAY are energetic, like to be usefully employed and of help to others. Splendid characteristics in this Zodiacal sector; also talent and capability galore. Develop and rightly use your God-given assets. You can succeed in a profession, selling, the advertising field; or you may be a skilled mechanic. Be more tolerant of others' shortcomings, do not be too exacting nor permit yourself to fall into indolence. You can be a leader in your business, community, in your home—it's up to you and how you live. Birthdate, Claude Debussy, famed Fr. music composer; Sam'l. P. Langley, pioneer in airplane invention, telescope builder.

STIRLING

Public Meeting Will Discuss Sewage System

STIRLING, Aug. 21. At the August meeting of Stirling Village Council the local Chamber of Commerce was granted the use of the Community hall on dates to be for a public meeting to discuss the installation of a sewage system. The Chamber of Commerce will make all necessary arrangements and pay the expense account in connection with this meeting.

A grant of $125 was made to the Agricultural Society for the annual fall fair.

The street committee was authorized to do special work on Charlotte, Annis and Church streets.

BOILER CONDEMNED

The boiler at the Community Hall, has been condemned so it was suggested to have expert advice after it was dismantled and they decide what to do.

Constable Sam Eggleton was granted a request for a new uniform, which was to be purchased at the local men's wear store.

The Stirling Citizens' Band asked to have their stand left at Victoria Park. Council had sold the stand but if the band committee can purchase it and keep it repaired the council will agree for it to be left in its present location

ACCOUNTS PAYABLE

The following accounts were authorized to be paid: Rosco Metal, $244; Public Utilities, $290.87 and $1.57 and $287.23, (three bills); Stirling Lumber, $12.85; Harry Jones $6; Blake Faulkner, $39.45; K P Mayhew, $14; New Argus $22; Bell Telephone $9.90; Paul Stewart $48; Fred McCutcheon $39; Sam Eggleton $15; Will Bowen $3.15; Earl Fox $10; J J. BAD NEWS FOR NEEDY

LONDON — (Reuters)—Britain Friday had bad news for people who need a good two-shilling meal in a pinch. London's 29 "kidney pudding" restaurants will be shut down because they're going in the red. Food Minister Maj. Gwilym Lloyd-George announced.

UNBOTHERED BY QUADS

JOHANNESBURG — (AP) — Quadruplets were born to a young African woman at a mining compound Friday. All were taken to a mine hospital, where they were reported doing well. The mother was walking about only three hours after the birth.

Three Trumpeter Swans May Form Basis for New Flocks in Manitoba

DELTA, Man. (CP) — North America's largest bird, the trumpeter swan—once abundant in Manitoba until people got too fond of hunting it—is making a comeback.

For some 70 years the big white birds have forsaken this part of the country, but the sonorous call of the big trumpeters soon may echo again over the Manitoba prairie.

The reason for such hopefulness is the recent acquisition of three trumpeters, a mature female and two cygnets, by the waterfowl station here.

FARMER'S PETS

The swans came via Sexsmith in the Peace river district of Alberta. When the slough where they were living dried up, farmer A. Tomshak captured two young birds and took them home as pets. One died, but two new ones joined the surviving female.

The Canadian wildlife service heard of the birds, acquired them, and brought them here. H. A. Hochbaum, director of the station, hopes to get a mate for the mature female—named Tommy, after her Alberta benefactor. Swans mate for life, and so make their choice with care.

Tommy has two peculiarities. She gets immensely excited at the sound of an auto motor, probably, says Mr. Hochbaum, because back in Alberta she used to fly beside farmer Tomshak's car when he drove into town.

Tommy does not like women, either. Men are tolerated around the marsh pools, but women infuriate her. And angry swimpeters are to be avoided. They weigh about 40 pounds, and have been known to break a man's arm with a single blow of the wing.

ONCE FEARED EXTINCT

At one time the great birds, which gave their name to such Manitoba towns as Swan River and Swan Lake, were thought to be extinct. In 1931, an official of the United States national parks service claimed that only a handful of trumpeter swans were breeding in the United States.

The Canadian wildlife service knew there were trumpeters in central British Columbia and in the Peace river district of Alberta, but this was a closely guarded secret. Sanctuaries were set up, and as the flocks grew, special wardens guarded feeding and breeding grounds. When food was scarce, grain was transported to remote mountain lakes. Canada now has more than 1,000 trumpeter swans.

The danger of extinction is no longer pressing, but if the great white birds are again to be seen winging over Manitoba, the present generation of hunters will have to leave them alone.

In Manitoba, it's up to Tommy and her two young companions. If they find suitable mates, a clutch of baby trumpeters could soon make a sizeable start in rebuilding the great flocks that once dominated the lakes and marshes.

Dairy Sells Truck To Driver Employees

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto dairy has sold its truck to former driver employees in an effort to cut its operating costs.

A dairy spokesman said it took the step because of the slim margin between the fixed price of milk and operating costs. Other dairies are expected to follow suit. Some observers say a price war may develop if the milkmen owners allow reductions for volume buying from their trucks.

No Reason for Prison Riot Says Chaplain

TORONTO (CP) — Between 50 and 75 out of the approximately 900 prisoners in Kingston Penitentiary took part in the riots there last Sunday, Maj. William Mercer, Salvation Army chaplain at the prison, said here today.

Maj. Mercer, who visits the prison daily, said that in his opinion there was no reason for the rioting which caused so much damage.

"Those who caused it were men of very low mentality, and these things cause hysteria, which brings others into the affair. As for the psychopaths, who can tell when they are going to kick over the traces or for what reason?"

Maj. Mercer said the riot was not the result of brutality by the guards. He said he didn't know of any guard who would take advantage of a prisoner, and had found them most co-operative.

Airliner Crashes Into North Sea Off Dutch Coast

23 Persons Aboard Plane In Flight from Ireland

AMSTERDAM, (AP) — A Royal Dutch KLM airliner from New York crashed into the North Sea off the Dutch coast today and all 21 or more persons aboard are feared to have perished, the KLM air line announced.

AMSTERDAM (AP)—A Royal Dutch KLM airliner vanished today on a flight from New York and Shcheveningen radio reported a fishing vessel had sighted smoke and lifebelts in the North Sea off the Dutch coast.

The fishing vessel was reported to have made the find about 16 miles northwest of Vlaadiren, Amsterdam's seaport. Unofficial sources said Dutch trawlers traced floatsam in the same area.

KLM spokesmen said the flight captain was Capt. Charles Erman, a Canadian.

The 23 persons were aboard the plane on its final leg from Shannon, Ireland.

The air line office in New York said 12 passengers boarded the plane in New York and two, a Mr. and Mrs. Oriordon, boarded in Ireland.

NEAR DESTINATION

The plane was only about 10 minutes from its goal, flying more than two miles up through heavy weather, when it dropped out of sight.

Land forces, planes and ships of the Netherlands and Britain joined in a hunt for the missing DC 6B Willem Bonfekoe, which had radioed it was 25 miles north-west of Amsterdam, flying in cloud at 11,500 feet.

Silence followed that report.

Carman Clapp's Body Found In Woods Near Home

The body of Carman A. Clapp, who had been missing from his home on the 2nd concession of Thurlow township since Monday, August 16th, was found in a wood near his home about 4.00 p.m. Sunday by members of a 60-man search party organized by OPP constable J. S. McBride, of Belleville.

Clapp died of a shotgun wound The gun was recovered by police near his body.

Clapp left his home about 2.00 p.m., Monday, August 16th, with the expressed intention of going rabbit hunting. When he failed to return neighbors became worried. They organized a search party Thursday which failed to find him.

The search party organized Sunday consisted of some 60 friends and neighbors. They body was found in a wood, which straddles an intermittently travelled lane, separating the second and third concessions of Thurlow township a few miles northeast of the city.

Clapp was awaiting a hearing in magistrate's court in Madoc on a charge of careless driving in connection with a accident in which his wife and daughter, Frances Virginia, were killed about three months ago. The case had been laid over several times by the latter's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Clapp, four sons and four daughters: Charles Frederick, 18; Norman Wayne, 16; Robert James, 11; William Albert, 8; Mary Ethel, Linda Jean, 6, and twins Carol Irene and Carolyn Eileen, 3.

The children have been staying with their maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Grilik, for the past three months.

Dr. Russell Scott, coroner, said that there would be no inquest.

Eleven Killed As Plane Crashes In Iowa Storm

MASON CITY, Iowa (AP)—A Braniff International Airways plane, 3, warned not to land here because of a storm, crashed into a pasture Sunday killing 11 of the 19 persons aboard. Eight were injured, two severely.

The violent mixture of heavy wind, rain and hail reported "in" the Mason City field, and the leaden skies made a landing impossible.

An earlier report had given a feeder airport as the airport of destination for the crash, but airport officials said that report was erroneous. A power failure an hour later had disrupted some air traffic temporarily, but had nothing to do with the crash, they explained.

TOLD NOT TO LAND

The plane, northbound from Memphis, Tenn., to Minneapolis, was only about 10 minutes from the field, Braniff officials said, when they radioed it to hold off landing because of the storm.

The field clever received an answer, airline officials reported, that they added that even had acknowledgement been received it might not have been heard because of the heavy static.

Debris from the crash was spread along a mile of more than 200 feet. Highway patrolmen said the plane apparently struck the ground, then bounced for some distance. Flames, which soon enveloped, only the tail section remaining relatively intact.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A few scattered showers spread across Northern Ontario during the night in advance of warm, humid air that has reached the southern end of Lake Michigan this morning. This warm air will cover most of the Great Lakes area Tuesday.

DUCHESS LOOKS FORWARD TO VISIT WITH QUE. FRENCH

Arrives With Daughter For Canadian Tour

By TOM McCUSKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—The Duchess of Kent, who spent many years in Paris with her exiled parents, Grand Princess Nicholas of Greece, and studied languages there, is looking forward to a round of engagements with French-speaking Quebecers.

She is especially looking forward to one speech at city hall tomorrow," an official with the party said as the duchess and her daughter, Princess Alexandria, arrived Sunday to begin a three-week Canadian tour.

The royal visitors, guests for four days of Governor-General Vincent Massey at Quebec Citadel will call on Premier Duplessis at their legislature before going to city hall where the duchess will officers a short address in French to city councillors.

VISIT NEW HOSPITAL

In the afternoon they will spend an hour and 15 minutes at the new 400-bed Enfant-Jesus hospital at nearby St. Foy, Que.

Both the 47-year-old duchess and her daughter, 23, have always taken particular interest in hospitals and nursing.

During the Second World War the duchess trained as a nurse at Westminster hospital in London and worked there during the devastating air raids of 1940. She was also the first to volunteer at the outbreak of the war for service at the liver aid station in Canada's hospitals at Coppins, their home outside London.

WANTED TO BE NURSE

Princess Alexandra, nicknamed "Sandra" by her mother and friends, has wanted to be a nurse since her early days.

The duchess, one of the world's best-dressed women, carries a tremendous wardrobe of 22 dresses, four of them evening dresses, and 13 hats. The hat she wore today, a cluster of velvet maple leaves, designed for her personally by Mitchel, matching glances from clothes - conscious Quebec ladies at the airport.

The princess has a wardrobe of 18 dresses and 19 hats.

The royal visitors remain here until Wednesday when they leave for Ottawa. The duchess and the duchess will open the Canadian National Exhibition Aug. 27, and then tour Ontario and the Maritimes.

Knights Templar Tour Fort Henry

KINGSTON (CP) —The official civic welcoming session of the Sovereign Great Priory Knights Templar began today at the Masonic Temple with a reception for distinguished guests. Mayor George Clarke of Kingston welcomed the visitors to Kingston.

This afternoon the knights will assemble at the temple and from there with their families will be taken by car and bus to Fort Henry where they will be received by the guard at the fort.

It will be a repeat in history when the Earl of Elgin and Kincardine, grand master of Scotland, visits the fort, accompanied by Knights Templar from four countries.

The scene he will view is virtually the same as when his ancestor, James Bruce, Earl of Elgin and Kincardine, first came to visit the garrison at the fort during his sojourn in Upper Canada as governor-general of the province ago.

Tonight a grand master's banquet followed by a ball will be held at Grant Hall at Queen's University.

Labor Congress Advised Against Becoming Tail of Political Kite

Regina (CP)—Percy R. Bengough, in his 12th and last presidential address to the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, advised Canada's largest labor body today against tie-ups with political parties.

Opening the TLC's 69th annual convention at which he will be resigning, the 71-year-old labor chief said:

"My advice to this Congress is to stay with the purpose of the trade union movement and avoid becoming the tail on any political kite, recognizing the fact that if our affiliated membership desire representation in any party they have enough to vote for it on election day.

"A commitment to anyone has so far demonstrated more weakness than strength.

"As for general strikes against government, "such suggestions are stupid.

"If it is not possible to defeat the government by means of the ballot on election day, the best procedure for trade unionists is to recognize their weakness and to organize through the proper means.

Mr. Bengough said the biggest issue before the convention, starting a five-day session, is unemployment.

"It is a horrible state of affairs when we can have full employment, or reasonably full employment, only when we are at war or getting ready for another," he said.

In his address prepared for delivery to about 650 delegates, Mr. Bengough reiterated early suggestions that immigration should be stopped in unemployment periods and that there should be curbs on imports competing with Canadian goods.

"Is it sensible," he asked, "to import 50,000 people in a year when that hasn't sufficient employment for the relatively few who are already here?

"Many thousands were put out of work in the winter just as a result of the importation of manufactured goods landed, but not assembled, at far lower prices than they could be manufactured in this country unless . . . we lower our standards of living.

"There are three choices: to become unemployed, to reduce wages and costs drastically or prevent such goods being brought into Canada.

"I prefer the last one."

VARGAS REJECTS AIR FORCE DEMAND HE RESIGN POST

President of Brazil Receives Army Backing

By STANDORD BRADSHAW

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) Army leaders rallied to the defense of embattled Brazilian president Getulio Vargas today as the air force pressed for his resignation.

The tanks rumbled into position around the presidential palace after Radio Nacional reported Sunday night that Vargas had rejected air force demands that he step down.

Troops and police throughout the Rio area already had been placed on the alert.

One newspaper quoted the battle-seasoned ex-dictator as saying he would die rather than resign. "I'm dead."

As rumors spread through the tense capital, the government radio periodically broadcast assurances by Vargas' military chief of staff, Caiado de Castro, that all was calm at the palace and pledged that the armed forces would uphold the presidency.

One report said War Minister Zenobio da Costa had ordered army units to prepare to take over the Galeao air base.

BROADCASTS CENSORED

Other reports said opposition radio stations were operating under a lid of censorship and that international telephone lines to New York were "out of order."

The crisis broke earlier that Vargas was holding a midnight parley with military and civil leaders.

The sudden turn of events came after a day of meetings between army and air force chiefs. The airmen said later a "worthy solution" had been found for the crisis resulting from charges that members of the presidential guard were involved in an assassination plot against anti-Vargas editor Carlos Lacerda.

The attempt resulted in the slaying of popular air force Maj. Rueben Vaz and brought rumbles of resentment from air force leaders who demonstrated in the resignation demands.

2,000 Persian Peasants Die As 90-Foot Flood Hits Gorge

By VINCENT BUIST

FARAHZAD, Iran (Reuters) — Scores of grief-stricken peasants picked silently with sticks in heaps of flood debris here today under the hot Persian sun.

They were looking for some trace of loved ones—often whole families—who perished in a sudden fury of water five days ago which drained 2,000 lives in a matter of minutes.

The scene of the disaster is a Moslem shrine. In and its surrounding cluster of pilgrim rest houses cling to steep rock at the bottom of a steep gorge.

Last Tuesday was a festive day and an estimated 5,000 pilgrims had trekked by donkey into Farahzad to make their peace with Allah.

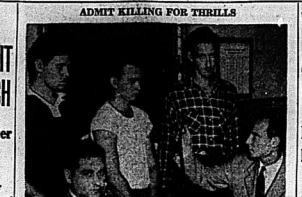
Monday night was hot and close. There was thunder in the air. At midnight the storm broke.

Within minutes the incredible downpour struck the gorge. Sleeping pilgrims were roused from the rest houses and many flocked into the shrine to chant.

Then a wall of water snaked rapidly down the steep slopes. Puddles grew, linked one another's edges and mounted higher under the hissing rain.

Hundreds knelt and prayed to Allah, their wailing rising over the roar of the storm. Crowds—about 2,000 men, women and children—rushed into the shrine to a shout of "The imam will save us."

Another thousand scrambled for high ground up the sides of the gorge.



Topping recent instances of teen-age crime are the "kill-for-thrills" charges brought against four Brooklyn, N.Y. youths. Police say that two slayings, and the horsewhipping of two girls in public parks, have been admitted by members of a gang which chose its victims from park bench wigrams. Shown are (left to right, standing): Melvin Mittman, 17; Jerome Lieberman, 17; and Jack Kaslo, 16. In foreground, Assistant District Attorney Lewis Cohen examines a whip used on the girls, while stenographer Arthur Mondschein takes notes. They cringed as they were taken to view the body of a man they had beaten and thrown in a river.—Central Press Canadian.

Twenty Eight Persons Die In Eastern Canada Accidents

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The week-end toll of violent deaths reached 28 in eastern Canada, including 13 drownings and 11 highway fatalities.

A Canadian Press survey showed 15 violent deaths in Ontario, seven in Quebec, four in Nova Scotia and one each in Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick.

Eight of the drownings were in Ontario as were five of the highway fatalities and two persons died from other causes. Of the two persons drowned, four died in traffic accidents and one was found dead in a truck, the motor running.

Police reported four persons—two fathers and their children—were drowned in a lake near Port Arthur where their overturned boat was found Sunday. The victims were identified as Sviolo Jodoin, 56, his daughter, Claudette, 8; Robert Hall, 36, and his son Terence, 7, all of Port Arthur.

Mrs. Margaret McCarthy, 40, and Mrs. Norman West, 25, both of Oromocto, a few miles east of Fredericton, were drowned early Saturday when an automobile left the highway and plunged into Yarrow Point canal, 12 miles west of Cornwall.

Driver Walter Comica, 21, of Toronto, rescued a third passenger, Mary McCarthy of Pickering, and the car sank out of sight in 20 feet of water when he returned to attempt rescue of the other two women.

Police blamed the death of Roy Glasier, 44, of Thessalon, 30 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie, on a soft shoulder of the highway near the youth's home. Glasson's car failed to hold to the road on the highway and plunged into the soft shoulder early Sunday.

Ernest E. Doan, 38, of St. George, near Brantford, was killed Saturday when his car crashed head-on into another car a few miles from his home.

Clyde Hardie, 36, father of two children, was killed early Sunday when his car left the road some four a stag party. The car sped from the scene.

Earlier at Guelph, Jack Steedman, 45-year-old itinerant laborer, was killed instantly when two other men were injured when a metal lodger they were moving touched a high tension wire.

Milton Scott, 68, of Stratford, who was visiting his son's farm near that city, was killed when he tried to stop a runaway tractor from which he removed a drive belt.

Two men were drowned in the Wahapatise river near Sudbury, Sunday. The victims were Joseph Murray of Sudbury and Antonio Paterno, 23, a recent immigrant from Italy.

Aircraftsman d'Arcy Cummings, 20, of Seymours, and Dean Gallagher, 24, of Eganville, were drowned Saturday when a boat they were in capsized on Clear, 30 miles south of Pembroke.

'Will Do All I Can' Churchill Tells Mendes-France

French Premier Flies From Brussels to Britain

LONDON (AP)—French Premier Pierre Mendes - France conferred more than three hours today with Prime Minister Churchill on ways to salvage the European Defence Community and left with the British's pledge: "I will do all I can to help you."

Churchill gave his pledge as the dynamic little French leader, fresh-ing over the fate of the EDC treaty which it seems up for debate in the French National Assembly Saturday, left to catch a plane for Paris.

A statement issued after today's meeting said they agreed on "the necessity of early practical steps" to maintain the unity of the Western nations.

The statement said:

"A general discussion took place on the situation arising from the outcome of the Brussels conference.

"The ministers were agreed on the importance of maintaining the unity of the free nations of the West and on the necessity of early practical steps to give effect to this."

The French leader flew to Britain from Brussels after his failure there to sell France's five continental allies on proposals for a watered-down version of the European Defence Community treaty that would put 500,000 West German into military uniforms.

Mendes-France pressed immediately into talks with Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden at Chartwell, Churchill's private residence in Kent, 25 miles from London.

Mendes-France gave Churchill, father of the idea of a united European defence, a rundown on the abortive Brussels conference.

Britain, like the United States, is associated with but not a member of the proposed EDC, which would include France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Italy and West Germany.

FUSHED HARD

Both London and Washington have been pushing hard for EDC, arguing that the plan which provides for West German rearmament is vital for the defence of Europe against Communist aggression.

Mendes-France believes there is little chance of the plan getting Parliament will accept EDC in its present form when it comes up during August.

Mendes-France and Churchill were expected to discuss alternative ways of rearming West Germany and restoring full sovereignty to West Germany if EDC is through.

EDC provides for the creation of German divisions but under a strict multi-nation command. Failure to ratify ratification of EDC are the Bonn conventions which call for the restoration of full sovereignty to West Germany.

PLAN WITHOUT FRANCE

The United States and Britain have worked out a still unpublished way of putting the Bonn conventions into effect without France refuse to go along with EDC.

Drew Knife

NEWMARKET (CP) — Police in Sunday said Fred Fogle, 34, of Newmarket drew a knife after he had been ordered to hand over the keys to his car.

He was arrested Sunday and charged with driving while disqualified resisting arrest and having an offensive weapon.

Four Are Killed And 53 Injured In Train Wreck

LOMAX, Ill. (AP) — Santa Fe railroad officials sought the cause today of the derailment Sunday of the 13-car Chief east of Lomax.

Of approximately 200 passengers, four were killed and 53 were injured. Of the 13-car train only the locomotive and a mail car held the rails.

The rest zigzagged along the track, some crashing into a parallel string of refrigerator cars on another track. All remained upright except No. 9 which rolled onto its side.

It was No. 9 which contained most of the injured.

Two of the dead were identified by Henderson county coroner Dean F. Beals. They were Edward Dimmitt, Phelps, Wis., and Mrs. Gina Guidi, Albuquerque, N.M. Another woman and a man, both unidentified, were killed.

Of the 53 listed as injured, at least 13 were in critical condition at Galesburg and Burlington and Madison, Iowa, across the Mississippi river.

The Chief had left Chicago at 11 a.m. EDT and cracked up about 2.30 p.m. The cause of the derailment was not known.

Chinese Return British Launch And 8 Policemen

HONG KONG (AP) — Chinese Communists Sunday returned to British colonial authorities a police launch which disappeared from its moorings July 25. Eight of the 10 policemen aboard were returned with the launch on the open sea off the Portuguese colony.

One police constable still is missing. The body of the 10th man, police Sgt. Chang Tinchueng, was found with three bullet wounds in the back of the head by a party of yachtsmen off Mirs bay, eight miles northeast of Hong Kong Aug. 1.

Government officials said the launch and its remaining crew members were turned over to local authorities in a previously agreed rendezvous.

Former Intimate Of Al Capone Slain in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Frank Diamond, 61-year-old intimate of the late Al Capone, was cut down by gunfire Sunday night, stirring apprehension of a new gang war.

Diamond had been released only only two days earlier by police about the ambush slaying of his brother-in-law Joe Lauterer and Charles (Cherry Nose) Gioe, 53, gangster.

Diamond and Gioe were members of a group of seven racketeers sent to the penitentiary in 1943 for a $1,000,000 shakedown of Hollywood movie industry leaders.

The killings marked a flare-up of gang violence which had remained relatively low until recent months. But police investigators admitted they had no clue to who was the motive behind the shootings.

Both of Sunday's murders were accomplished with generous use of ammunition.

Diamond was knocked down by two charges of buckshot and two slugs from a .38 calibre pistol shortly just after he had opened the doors of his private garage in a dark alley behind his home to put his car away.

Gioe was killed four nights earlier by gunmen who left 12 spent shells behind.

Diamond was one of scores of hoodlums known as one-time bodyguards of Al Capone.

32 Persons Arrested in Stockholm As 3,000 Swedes Stage 'Thrill Riots'

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Thirty-two persons were arrested in a flare-up of "thrill riots" in Stockholm early Sunday.

Several were injured, including three policemen who were struck by stones thrown headlong into an art gallery. Windows were smashed and one was taken to hospital with a slashed artery. One policeman, who tried to help the injured man, had his jawbone split by a kick as 200 hoodlums attacked him.

The riots broke out in the midst of a milling crowd of about 3,000. Police said the crowds, mostly youthful, erupted as thousands of weekend merrymakers were flowing back from amusement parks, bent on some "real excitement."

Prostitutes, according to court testimony in previous years, used the riots Sunday, as they do in previous occasions, police arrested two women who ran through the streets and stripped off her clothes before officers could drag them to safety.

Summer night riots in this otherwise calm and well-ordered capital sometimes develop into violent large-scale affairs with sabre-swinging mounted police out to force chasing thousands of fun-makers around for hours.

Everybody here seems to agree the riots occur merely for the thrill they afford participants.

Trenton Airman Dies in Accident In Indiana

GARY, Ind. (AP)—A member of the RCAF and a Chicago woman were fatally injured Saturday night in a head-on collision near the east of here.

The victims were Charles P. Beveridge, 22, stationed at Trenton, Ont., and Mrs. Lola M. Johnson, 48, of Chicago.

Mrs. Johnson died as she was being taken to a Gary hospital while Beveridge died several hours later.

The woman's husband, Arthur H. Johnson, 53, suffered a fractured leg and possible internal concussion. Donald J. Lahey, 21, also from Trenton RCAF base, was taken to hospital.

TWEED NEWS

TWEED—Lloyd Percival, well-known Canadian track and field coach, recently returned to his summer cottage on Stoco Lake after attending the British Empire games in Vancouver. While there, he received the radio and television award for best commentator during the games.

While in Vancouver, he spent his free moments fishing for salmon. He declared, "I much prefer muskie fishing to catching salmon."

During his vacation, stays in Tweed, Percival has gained a reputation as a leading angler.

Besides coaching Canada's sports stars, he is also an author. He recently completed a book, "Relaxation is Easy," which advises athletes how to handle pre-game tension, as well as containing chapters for those business men, among others.

Commencing in the fall, Percival will have a weekly TV show. He is also director of the CBC Sports College, a weekly radio broadcast.

Spending a month with him at the cottage are his wife and track star, Pat Galaso.

Busy Week-End For Firemen

Calls for one grass fire, two auto blazes, and an investigation of a smoky furnace constituted the week-end activity for city firemen.

Saturday noon firemen were called to 15 Hendrick Road where a grass fire was in progress near McFarland's Quarry. Early the same afternoon the reels were called to East Moira street where the fire of a parked car had short-circuited causing a small blaze.

Firemen had a quiet day Sunday but this morning they were called to the Belleville Motor Car company for another car fire. A mechanic was working on the carburetor when a spark from one of the spark plugs ignited gasoline.

The final week-end run was to Fourth street, residence where smoke backed up in the furnace.

Rev. G. Dorey to Preach at Annual Pilgrimage to Hay Bay Church

On the shore of Hay Bay, Ont., there is a monument to Rev. John C. Macdonald and alongside of it stands the old Hay Bay Church. It was built in 1792. Formerly a Methodist Church, and now in the United Church of Canada, it has great historic significance. It is the oldest of the former Methodist churches in Canada. The original building stands just as it was built. The United Church of Canada is taking pains to preserve it and maintain it. A few years ago, a cottage was built nearby and every year a minister occupies the cottage for July and August and meets the visitors of which there is an increasing number.

In 1862 when the population in the area moved back from the shore a bit a new church was built a mile or so south and the services were transferred to the new building.

Today no longer used for regular church services, a pilgrimage to this old shrine is held every year and folks from all parts of Eastern Ontario make their way to the old church for the annual commemoration. This year, the pilgrimage will be held on Sunday afternoon, August 29th at 3 p.m. The acting secretary of the General Council of the United Church of Canada, Rev. George Dorey, D.D., Toronto, is the guest preacher.

The church lies on the south side of Hay Bay and can be reached by car either from Napanee in the east or by Glenora and free ferry to Adolphustown.

Centre Hastings Orange Lodges Hold Service

MARMORA—No. 1 District Centre Hastings Loyal Orange Association held its annual thanksgiving service on Sunday afternoon under ideal weather conditions, meeting at the hall of Tanner L.O.L. 509, on the 8th concession of Rawdon township. Headed by the Sentinel Rifle Band, representatives of the four lodges of the district paraded to St. Thomas' Anglican Church, where service was conducted by Canon J. F. Brownlie, who gave an impressive discourse on "Sacrificial Giving".

W. J. Cottrell, Diocesan Lay Reader read the lesson. Wor. Brother Johnston, District Master, presided at the ceremonies at the cemetery, assisted by Past County Master W. J. Cottrell, Gordon Jones, Past Master of Marmora LOL. 319, and Wor. Bro. Francis Hagerman, Director of Ceremonies.

Right Wor. Bro. Fred Bateman, Past Grand Master of Ontario East, gave a brief address.

There were 48 members of L.O.I. 509 who were remembered at this service.

L.O.L. 509 observes its centenary this year.

Returning to the hall, short addresses were heard from Canon Brownlie, County Master Milton Brownlie, Grand Lecturer Lorne Hagerman and Wor. Bro. Harold Spencer, of Sentinel Lodge.

Minor Accidents Cause Heavy Property Damage

Minor motor accidents were a dime a dozen in the city over the week-end, the majority resulting in only fender damage, although one person received facial bruises when the car in which he was riding ran into a hydro pole.

Ottorino Cosma, 90½ Cannilton Road, with but two days' driving experience was in a eastbound on Emily street and made a right turn onto Bleecker. He failed to straighten out in time and his car ran into a hydro pole. The car was damaged to the extent of about $200, while Enzo Fazzi, 24, of 41 Gordon street, was taken to hospital with a bruised face and bump on the head.

Lyle C. Herbert, 57 Church street, did $200 damage to his car and broke a hydro pole on Dundas street when his vehicle was cut off by another vehicle and he was forced to go to the curb to avoid a collision.

In still another motor mishap Allan Noren, Frankford, did about $150 damage to his car when in collision with another vehicle on Pinnacle street. Alfred McCarthy, Halloway was pulling away from the curb just as the Noren car passed.

Robert Wright, Johnston Street, told police that he was turning from Canniff road onto Hoard street, when his car struck some loose gravel, sending it into a sign post, breaking it off at the base.

Decoration Day Observed By ANAF Veterans

Remembering the friends and strangers who were comrades on the world's battle fields, the Belleville unit of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans of Canada yesterday observed its 36th annual decoration day at the graves of dead veterans.

The ceremonial service was held in Belleville cemetery, where, following the service flowers were laid on the graves of the veterans.

Close to 100 members of the association took part in the ceremonies at the graveside.

The parade moved off at 2 p.m. from the Market Square, led by parade marshal A. Hobbs. Behind came the color party bearing the army Union Jack, the blue Air Force ensign and the Maple Leaf ensign of the navy.

With the column of marchers were the Salvation Army band, under Capt. C. G. Fisher, and the pipe band of the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment, under pipe-major Tommy Robertson.

At Cedar street the paraders boarded buses for the journey to the cemetery where the service was conducted by Rev. Capt. W. J. Robinson, pastor of St. Thomas' Anglican Church.

Speaking from the steps of the mausoleum, Mr. Robinson, basing his address on Jesus Christ according to John ("No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down myself), told the veterans: "Jesus Christ fought in the battle which was the same battle, which men and women fought against in two World Wars, and that was the battle against sin."

The greatest victim of all was Jesus Christ, for "... on the cross Jesus Christ fought against evil and sin, and the battlefield men and women fought against these same things."

"That war still goes, for we are always in the war against evil," he told them.

"Laying the flowers on the veterans' graves was another soldiering," he said. It means "you are still in the conflict and you are still carrying the torch, which they have handed to you." You are still . . . in the battle against evil."

Also in laying the flowers he said they were saluting the uniform of goodness, which is wanted in the world.

"When we salute the uniform of goodness, after a while we salute the wearer, finally of goodness itself. And that is Jesus Christ."

The opening prayer was read by Salvation Army Captain Fisher, and, after the last post was sounded, Rev. W. J. Robinson intoned the benediction.

Among those attending the ceremony were Henry Drury, president of the Belleville ANAF unit, and J. Lundberg, provincial commander.

IN MEMORIAM

McFARLAND — In loving memory of my dear sister, Margaret Rose McFarland, who passed away August 23, 1944.

"Let my thoughts do wander"
Where they will
They always find my dear sister
Just as lovely still.
—Ever remembered by sister, Ethel.

MITCHELL — In loving memory of our dear father, Jack John, who passed away August 23, 1944.
Thousands of children stand,
Flowers in each little hand,
To bring to the grave of fathers
A holy, happy band.
Waiting for the time to bring
Flowers for their father's grave,
Such holy, happy band.
—Ever remembered by Mother and Dad, and sister and brother-in-law.

McFARLAND — In loving memory of my dear mother, Dora McFarland, who passed away August 23, 1950.
There's a sad but sweet remembrance,
There is a mourning and an ache,
There is a token of affection, mother,
In heartbreak for you we make.
Lovingly remembered by daughter Vera, son-in-law Jerry, and grandchildren Bob and Jeanette.

CONNER — In loving memory of Mrs. Ruth Conner, who passed away August 23, 1953.
Hello from the Stars, sweet and sleepy,
Your loving memory will always keep.

Good to choice steers were 25-30 cents higher. Fed yearlings and heifers were firm, cows and bulls steady.

Choice and weighty steers 21-22; good steers 20-21; mediums down to 18; good heifers 18-18.50; a few choice to 19; medium heavy heifers down to 16; common to light boner steers and heifers down to 8; good cows 13-13 with a few heifery cows to 14; canner and cutter cows down to 7; good heavy bologna bulls were strong at 13-13; common light bulls down to 9; choice fed vealers 23-25; mediums down to 20; good stockers 18-19; mediums down to 16; calves steady at 21-23 for good to choice vealers; mediums 14-20; common light dairy-type grass calves down to 8.

No price rates were established on hogs.

Lambs were firm at 22.50 a hundredweight delivered by truck for good ewes and wethers; bucks were discounted $1 a hundredweight; heavies were discounted $2; common to medium lambs were 15-20; good light sheep 8-10; common downward to 4.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was steady with receipts adequate for a steady demand.

Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture:

Eggs, in cases, graded: Large 49; A medium 36-37; A small 29; B 31; C 24. Wholesale to retail: A large 54; A medium 41-42; A small 32; B 28; C 26.

Butter solids: Ontario, 1st grade, tenderable 58; non-tenderable 55¾-57, (nominal)

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Heavy forenoon trading today left the stock market mixed, with base metals and western oils making good gains.

Trading after the first hour totalled 706,000 shares.

While the base metal advance was not outstanding in any issue, western oils continued their Friday spurt. Brokers attributed the continued climb to "strong rumors" that a way will eventually be found to pipe Canadian natural gas to the United States Pacific northwest.

Industrials were mixed with strong papers and financial institutions balanced by weak liquors and refining oils.

Golds climbed narrowly but uraniums and Manitouwadge stocks eased. Price changes were small.

TIN-MAN SNUBS WIFE

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—Jaime Ortiz Patino, of the Bolivian tin-mining family, Thursday boycotted a reconciliation meeting with his American wife, former fashion model Joanne Connelly of New York. This cost him six Swiss francs ($1.40) fine and left her free to sue for divorce. Mrs. Patino was right on time but he stayed away the full hour prescribed by Swiss law.

Newest Traitor Knows Many German Secrets

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's newest traitor, once trusted deputy of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party—is in a position to betray many government secrets to the Communists in the Soviet zone.

Karl Franz Schmidt-Wittmack, 40, has at his disposal all the confidential information he gathered in closed-door meetings of Parliament's committees on the European Army and all-German affairs. East and West German sources alike agreed he will place all this at the disposal of the Communists.

ASKA ASYLUM

The Parliament member, deputy chairman of the Christian Democrat party in Haburg, drove casually into the Soviet zone last Thursday with his wife and 11-year-old daughter, ostensibly on a business trip to West Berlin. He never arrived at his destination.

Instead, the Communist East German interior ministry announced Saturday night he had requested and received asylum. It stressed significantly that he would continue his "political-activity" in the East.

In Bonn, Adenauer's party lieutenants were still virtually speechless today at the Haburg deputy's switch. They had named him to the two most important Bundestag (lower house) committees after he was elected last September.

One committee has access to the most secret plans of the national defence commission for raising an armed foce of 500,000 men, either in a European Army or separately under NATO.

FRIENDS SHOCKED

The other committee, in dealing with all-German affairs, has been automatically briefed on anti-Communist subversion organized by West-German agents in the Soviet zone.

Both in Bonn and Hamburg, West Germany's largest city, political intimates of Schmidt-Wittmack hastened to disown him. All said they had been completely deceived by his professed conservative views.

Windsor Youth Killed Instantly In Head-On Crash

WINDSOR (CP)—Edward Hrycyk, 19, was killed instantly in a head-on collision that demolished two cars on No. 3 highway early today. Three other men were seriously injured.

Police said they believed Hrycyk was the driver of one of the cars.

The three others, in "fair" condition in hospital, are:

Cecil Mackenzie, 23, Chatham, shock, possible concussion, possible broken hip and numerous serious head injuries.

Ray Williams, 31, Chatham, severe head injuries, severe shock, two broken thighs, fractured femur of the arm.

Ray Labadie, 19, Riverside, shock, multiple lacerations about the face and body, internal injuries.

Ontario provincial police constable George Williams, of the Essex detachment, said Hrycyk and Labadie were in a westbound car and the two Chatham men were driving east.

Savings Bonds Interest Cut

OTTAWA (CP)—The ninth series of Canada Savings Bonds will go on sale Oct. 18, but will bear a lower interest rate than the one a year ago.

Finance Minister Harris announced today the bonds will pay 3¼ per cent interest annually. The eighth series floated last year had an interest rate of 3¾ per cent.

Bank of Canada officials explained the drop in rate is in line with current bond market trends. Bond buyers have been bidding up prices and yields have been declining.

The government raised about $200,000,000 in the savings bonds drive last year and officials expect to raise a like amount this year.

World Council Of Churches Holds Busy Session

By ERNEST A. AGNEW

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Churchmen from throughout the world began hammering out in cold prose today the principles which they hope will guide 170,000,000 Christians.

Meeting in discussion groups, the church delegates to the second general assembly of the World Council of Churches sought answer to such questions as the church's attitude toward communism; the atom bomb, free enterprise system and racial and social problems.

On international affairs, the churchmen sought to determine what are the main obstacles to an understanding between Soviet and non-Soviet leaders. They noted, too, to find a solution to what they called the "misunderstandings, hostility and suspicion" between the East and the West.

The council's department of inter-church aid and service to refugees dramatized its statistics Sunday night with the cases of 30 told the story of the world's millions of refugees and what the church is doing to help them.

The actors talked about their sufferings, showed their bewilderment about the problem of peace and war, and their fear of the hydrogen bomb.

The pageant ended on a triumphant note with the churches acting in union, giving a hope of freedom to the exiles.

Shellers Capture Lindsay Tourney With Three Wins

Bobby Green's Goldies Shellers trekked to Lindsay on Saturday afternoon where they captured the fourth annual East-Central Ontario Pee Wee championship. It was Belleville's second title in four years of competition with Lindsay taking it the other two years.

Shellers handed Barrie an 8-7 setback in their first game with Latchford twirling a four-hitter. Dainard followed up with a two-hit 2-1 victory over Leaside and then won a best 3-2 decision over Oshawa allowing only four hits.

On Sunday afternoon, the Belleville midget entry in O.B.A. playdowns, Houston Lumber, visited Ottawa where they took a 16-11 defeat. This was the first game in the best-of-three series with no date announced for the return game as yet.

Duke Arrives At Aberdeen

ABERDEEN, Scotland (Reuters) The Duke of Edinburgh arrived back in Britain today from a three-week tour of Canada and headed for Balmoral Castle to rejoin Queen Elizabeth.

Several thousand persons gathered around the harbor as the royal yacht Britannia steamed in at the end of its voyage from Goose Bay, Labrador. The duke stood on the bridge of the trim vessel and waved a response to shouts of greeting from nearby fishing boats and from the shore.

At an official reception he declared the first few days of his voyage had been "pretty rough" but that the crossing was on the whole very enjoyable.

The duke covered 10,000 miles, mostly by air, while he was in Canada. He saw some of the outstanding events of the British Empire Games at Vancouver, and then spent a week touring the remote Canadian northwest.

He was the first member of the Royal Family to visit outposts north of the Arctic Circle.

The duke now has no immediate public engagements and will be able to join exotic guests in grouse shooting, now in the height of its season.

Two Dirty-Minded Little Girls Says Prosecutor

CHRISTCHURCH, N. Z. (Reuters)—Two teen-age girls, standing in the prisoner's box accused of killing the mother of one of them, heard the prosecutor tell a court here today it was murder "premeditated by two dirty-minded little girls."

Pauline Parker, 16, pleaded not guilty with Juliet Hulme, 15, to killing Mrs. Honora Mary Parker June 22 with a brick wrapped in a stocking.

Prosecutor A. W. Brown told the court the two accused girls developed an intense friendship for each other while at school.

FEARED SEPARATION

He read a statement alleged to have been made by Juliet which said she was due to go to South Africa with her father in July 3 and Pauline wanted to go with her.

Their mother, Mrs. Parker would object, so they decided to discuss the matter on a farewell visit to Victoria Park, here.

They planned to take a brick wrapped in a stocking with them, the alleged statement said.

Brown also read extracts from a diary alleged to have been found in Pauline's room, which mentioned "a plan to "murder mother."

RUNAWAY PLANNED

Mrs. Hilda Hulme, mother of Juliet, said Juliet and her husband tried in vain to break up the friendship of Juliet and Pauline. She said her husband decided to take Juliet to South Africa after it was discovered two girls planned to run away to the United States. The teen-agers had been doing a lot of writing in recent months and wanted to go to America "to have their book published," she said.

The trial was adjourned until Tuesday.

"I don't like the deep pockets!"

A SIGNIFICANT LETTER

Last Friday's issue of the Toronto Globe and Mail carried a letter on the editorial page) a letter significant not only because of the views expressed but because of the identity of the writer, Roland, Q.C., of Toronto.

On August 14, at Geneva Park, Professor D. G. Creighton, of the Department of History, University of Toronto, addressed the United States foreign policy conference as "a policy". He described the Geneva Conference as "a triumph of Mr. Eden and M. Mendes-France against Mr. Dulles, a triumph of sober realization of Europe against the aggressive vehemence of North America."

Mr. Roland approves of the U.S. foreign policy. He was therefore enraged by Prof. Creighton's comment. He voiced his ire in a letter to the Globe and Mail, as he had every right to do. He declared that "all the statements made by Professor Creighton are false, inaccurate and made in the worst possible taste" and then went on to make to promote the aggression of Red China against Formosa and its retention in the United Nations." He is entitled to hold that opinion and to express it.

Some of his other statements are open to more serious question.

"Professor Creighton," he wrote, "holds an appointment from the state university and, as such, is completely to refrain from criticism of the foreign policy of a friendly country."

Mr. Boland further advanced the opinion that Professor Creighton, by his statements, had shown that he "may be qualified as a professor of propaganda, but that he is not qualified as a professor of history to teach his son or anyone else in this country." He declared that the youth of this country have a right to expect that "it is the duty of the president and the senate of the university of Toronto to demand the immediate resignation of Professor Creighton."

This led the editor of the Globe and Mail to append the following note:

"The function of the university has no right to take any action on Professor Creighton's speech. He was speaking his own mind, as he has a perfect right to do. This is what academic freedom is. Beyond that, he has the freedom of citizens to comment on public affairs, just as does Mr. Boland himself has. This country greatly needs outspoken opinion from informed people. We are not going to get much comment if we discourage the men who teach in the universities."

Those few sentences state the case for academic freedom with admirable clarity and brevity. Unfortunately such statements do not appear to impress men and women of Mr. Boland's school of thought — and it is a large and, alas, a growing school. Professor Creighton may be pardoned for having one of his contentions and discovering just what would happen if Mr. Boland's views prevailed.

Mr. Boland maintains that Professor Creighton, and all others holding appointments from "state universities" are "compiled to refrain from criticism of the foreign policy of a friendly country." Does this duty of silence apply only to utterances at public gatherings? Surely class-room observations are almost as important? Therefore Prof. Creighton cannot criticize the foreign policy of a friendly country in the course of his lectures. What is a "friendly country"? Generally this is considered to be a nation with which one's own country is not at war—and Russia would include Russia, even if it is not at war, was applied would include Russia, even if it is not at war, was applied only to countries which are truly friendly there would be a number involved. If it were not permissible for Professor Creighton to criticize the policy of Foster Dulles or Sir Creighton to criticize the policy of Foster Dulles or Sir Anthony Eden, it would be equally impermissible for him to criticize the policies of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Premier Mendes-France, for both Britain and France, as well as the United States, are true friends of Canada.

One great question whether, if university professors were forbidden to criticize the policies of foreign powers, it would be logical to permit them to criticize the full weight of their opinion on the policies followed by the government of their homeland. And, if they were prevented from attacking the policies of the government, opposition parties might reasonably expect that their platforms be treated with equal restraint. Even if professors were permitted a free voice on domestic affairs, they could hardly comment with safety on those of foreign policy. To praise comment with safety on those of foreign policy. To praise it when differed from the foreign policy of the United States, of Britain, or France or any other friendly power, or to condemn it when it coincided with the policy of any friendly power, would be the tantamount to criticizing the foreign policy of a friendly nation, which Mr. Boland says university professors must not do.

Moreover, it is very difficult to separate past from present. Today's policies have analogies in yesterday's policies.

Restraints such as these hardly appear conducive to the teaching of history at the university level.

What is this is what the advice of a trained lawyer would lead us to.

It may be protested that this is carrying Mr. Boland's argument too far. But it is a logical extension. Once grant the basic premise that university professors lack the right to enjoy full freedom of speech and there is no logical place to stop.

It would be easy to shrug off the whole argument for the limitation of criticism of the foreign policies of friendly powers if it had been advanced by some "working man" with only a public school education.

But Mr. Boland has a trained mind, a mind learned in the law, a mind that has won him the title of Queen's Counsel.

One can only voice relief that the Queen—and her ministers—do not actually have to listen to the advice of her Counsel.

GANG LEADERSHIP

Playing baseball or football or rolling a hoop
Every boy has the wish to be one of a group.
So, this by us all should be well understood:
Nothing will be bad under leadership good.

I've said it before and I say it again:
What all boys desire is the friendship of men.

A leader to follow they constantly need,
Under one they respect they will try to succeed.

If we who are older neglect or forget,
Boys will turn to the streets where temptations are met,
But with patience and care,
which provide them we should,
The gang or the group will turn out to be good.

Giving U.S. Its Just Due

(Manchester Guardian)

Before barking at the Americans for their belligerence we should recall a few unpleasant facts. First, no sooner had the British airliner shot down by the Chinese would have been saved if American aircraft had got control in the rescue.

We should be thankful that United States aircraft were able to reach the scene, thankful for the courage of the American pilots who landed in a stormy sea, and thankful that he was able to help in the rescue and giving survivors.

Secondly, after an incident in which the Chinese Air Force had shown itself to be criminally careless, to say the least, the United States authorities were right to provide fighter escorts for their slow rescue aircraft.

To do otherwise would have been folly.

Thirdly, the two Chinese aircraft which were later shot down probably did attack the American planes first. We are unlikely ever to know for certain what happened in an encounter personally observed by several and lasting only a few moments, but the American account is plausible.

So much must be said plainly on the side of the United States.

Little Venice 20 Years Late

(Montreal Herald)

Some of us may feel that development of our inland playground in the harbors, principally the Toronto quarter century, drags a bit. There is that matter of the Venetian chateau style casino restaurant, which was started as a relief job back in the depression days, and which will not be completed in time for dining patronage this year. But we should be heartened by Toronto's envious reaction to the charms of St. Helen's. The Queen City has an island in its harbor, too, and has decided to exploit it as a recreation center.

As is perhaps inevitable, Toronto's island advocates lack the cold world dignity which still prevails at St. Helen's. Despite talk of a "little Venice," complete with gondolas, the atmosphere will be that of Coney Island, we gather, with hot-dog stands, beach robes and ballyhoo moved wholesale from Sunnyside Park.

All in all, we do not think St. Helen's need worry unduly concerning Toronto island rivalry — even if the grand opening of that resort is deferred for another quarter-century.

The island project looks to us like just one more futile attempt to emulate Montreal, an effort toward which Toronto inclines—in all matters save local transport.

Profitable Investment

(Ottawa Journal)

If among our readers it happens that there is anyone who has not yet realized the first million—which one hears, always is the hardest to get—he will be encouraged from the case related in all its statistical glory by a Toronto financial firm in its research and management.

It appears that back in 1912, in those simple pre-war days when people were saying that "prosperity is just around the corner" was here to stay, common stock of General Motors could be taken for $33 a share. For $9.900 one could have acquired 300 shares. And, says this report, the purchaser of those 300 shares had he kept them until the end of 1953 — forty-two years—would have made a grand total of $7,131,595 on his investment. Dividends would have been made up of $3,611,486 as the market value last December 31 of the stock represented by the original 300 shares and by $3,520,109 received over the years in dividends paid and rights sold. And this works out to be sold. And this works out to be sold. And this works out to be a gain of 71,938.4 per cent on that $9,900.

Put in another way, the purchaser of those 300 shares would have enjoyed from his stock over the 40 years an average annual income of about $90,000 (less certain deductions) or over five years in dividends paid and rights

Pope Expected to Remain Long Time at Summer Palace

By PATRICK CROSS

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (Reuters)—Pope Pius is expected to remain until late autumn at his summer palace in this hilltop village which looks down on the city of Rome.

The normal simplicity of life in the summer palace is accentuated this year by the rarity of public audiences.

Since he was stricken in January by a gastric illness, the 78-year-old pontiff has been ordered to give up his crowds of the last 15 years of granting thousands of audiences every year.

Now he gives private or special audiences only to high prelates and to outstanding visitors to Rome, although he continues to receive groups of pilgrims in the courtyard of the palace, blessing them from a second-floor balcony.

LEFT BEHIND

All the splendid ceremonial of the papal court has been left behind in the apostolic palace in the Vatican. Here the pontifical family consists only of three prelates, two men servants, one of whom also acts as chauffeur, six palace bearers, a company of Swiss guards and three nuns who look after the Pope's clothes, his bedroom and his food.

The solitude in which the Pope normally lives is a little relaxed at the summer palace. In the evening, afte, his daily walk in the lovely grounds, he sometimes sometimes chats informally with the prelates in attendance or with the Jesuit astronomers who live on the third floor of the palace.

But the tradition of solitary meals is still maintained. Equally strict is the Pope's solitude during his walk.

A man of rigid habit, Pope Pius always takes his walk along the same 500-yard stretch of the 10 miles of paths in the palace garden.

In his white robe, with a white shoulder cape and a white skull cap or sometimes a scarlet felt hat, he strides briskly back and forth three times, walking about two miles.

WORKS IN PAVILION

During most of the morning after his devotions and after examining the mail, the pontiff works in a little pavilion in the gardens.

This year the pavilion, originally designed by the great renaissance architect, Carlo Maderno, initiator of the baroque style in Rome, has been embellished. A washroom and a small kitchen have been added to enable the Pope to remain there all day if he wishes.

The Pope sleeps in a big brass bed in a magnificent baroque room, whose four windows look down over the rolling Roman countryside with the Apennines in the background. Also down to the dark blue depths of the volcanic lake, Nemi, which he can immediately below the palace.

His presence here means work for the municipality for the citizens. Thousands of tourists flock into the village every week-end, hoping to be admitted to the palace courtyard for the mass audiences.

Local Pee Wees Win Eastern Ont. Title With Two Victories

Oddfellows' Pee Wees of Belleville won the Eastern Ontario pee wee baseball championship Saturday in Peterborough with an 11-4 victory over Peterborough and a 5-2 win over Hamilton.

Larry Soden fired a five hitter at the latter in the first game as his mates hammered Peterborough pitching for 11 runs. Doug Scrimshaw homered and singled, "Duffy" Follwell had a double and single and Bill McGuire and Murray Hunter each had two singles in the winning effort.

"Duffy" Follwell two-hitted Hamilton in the second game and broke up a 2-2 tie with a triple that drove in two runs. McGuire singled to score Follwell with the fifth run. McKeen, Scrimshaw and Locke had singles for Oddfellows. Everett Keller did the catching in both games for the locals.

Soccer Results

Two games were played in the E.O.F.L. on Saturday with Batawa downing the Belleville Normals, 6-2 and Belleville Parkview United edged the Peterborough H.E.W. squad by a close 2-1 score.

Smith booted two of the Batawa goals over the line with the others going to Eston and Curnew. E. Jones and Lever were the losers' goal scorers.

The Belleville Minor Soccer teams, Canadian Legion juveniles and Foley Foundry bantams will play their first out-of-town games on September 4th when they meet Hamilton teams in the first round of the Ontario Minor Soccer championships. This will be a home and away series with the count series with the second games in Belleville on September 11th.

All members of both Belleville teams are asked to turn out for practice at the Cricket Field on Thursday night—6 p.m. for juveniles and 7 p.m. for bantams.

Ford Clearly Gaining Ground On Chrysler, Independent Dealers in New Car Sales

By SAUL PETT

DETROIT (AP)—During a recent interlude in Detroit's spectacular battle of the big wheels, the phone rang in the office of Ernest R. Breech, executive vice-president of Ford Motor Company.

"Hello, Ernie," Breech answered. "What? That's fine, Ben. Fine."

Breech turned back to the reporter.

"That one Benson Ford. He said we delivered over 10,000 Mercurys in the first 10 days of the month—30 per cent more than you'd ordinarily expect this time of the year."

The figures assumed a new importance as seen against the background of the battle the Big Three are now shaking one of the biggest, richest, most powerful American industries—the manufacture of automobiles.

Who's winning so far this fight for the auto market?

INDEPENDENTS LOSING

Ford clearly has gained the most ground. Then, General Motors. Chrysler and the independent Nash, Packard, Hudson, Nash and Kaiser-Willys.

For most of 14 years—from 1936 through 1949—General Motors, Chrysler and Ford divided the gold at three in their share of the car market. Towards the end of that period Ford was staggering. In 1946, when Breech was hired away from the GM affiliate by Henry Ford II, Ford was reported losing as much as $9,000,000 a month.

By 1951-52 Ford had elbowed Chrysler out of third place and has been widening the gap ever since.

Last year sales in its three divisions gave Ford more than 25 per cent of the auto market. Chrysler almost 21. This year, as indicated by five-month sales figures, Ford has 30 per cent, Chrysler 18. GM climbed from 45 to more than 49 per cent.

BOOM SORT OF MARKET

The Big Three are now slicing up about 95 per cent of all new-car sales. The independents can't live long on the remaining five per cent, and they know it. They're trying to fight back with various tactics: mergers (Kaiser-Willys, Hudson-Nash and Studebaker-Packard), reduced production costs, increased advertising budgets and—most important of all—they hope will be better, more distinctive products.

When the Second World War ended, the auto companies couldn't produce enough to meet the huge up-demand. The independents produced on the same plants that made Big Three. By 1948 their share of the market had climbed to almost 20 per cent.

By 1950, the industry as a whole was able to meet the demand and in that all-time record year turned out more than 6,658,000 cars. Then came the Korean war and production controls. Last year the controls were limited, the industry was ready to go all out again. But now there was a difference—the customer had to be sold.

THE FORD BLITZ

Ford set out to sell in roaring campaign which became as the "Ford blitz." Its announced goal was to make Ford the best seller on wheels, at the expense of GM's Chevrolet. It has come close but the battle still is in doubt; the leadership wavers from month to month by a few thousand.

In the U.S. market as a whole, retailers still are granting big price discounts to achieve sales volume. Promotion stunts still are flourishing. Many new-car retailers are doing business at little or no profit.

Dealer stocks now are estimated at 455,000 units, compared with 506,000 June 30. The dealer inventory is at its lowest level in about 18 months.

THE LINEUP

In sales Chevrolet is ahead, Ford slightly behind. Buick has moved up to third place and Plymouth has dropped to fourth. Then, in this order, come Oldsmobile, Pontiac, Mercury, Dodge, Chrysler, Cadillac, Studebaker, Nash, Desoto, Packard, Lincoln, Hudson, Willys, Kaiser and Henry J.

The auto industry's intensified competition mean to the man who works in the auto factory? Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the United Auto Workers (CIO), says that since April, 1953, about 70,000 workers have been laid off in U. S. auto factories and supplier plants.

"The answer," says Mazey, "does not lie in the problem of competition but in the ability of Americans to buy more. After all, there are still many families in this country who have no car of any kind. There is a great market there which, with the purchasing power could be increased."

Bowling News

Women bowlers from the Belleville Bowling club took part in the tourney arranged by the Trenton club on Friday afternoon but failed to secure any of the top honors. The tournament was won by Mrs. Bert Hawkins of Brighton with Mrs. M. DeFosse, also of the same club, taking second prize. The high score for two wins was captured by Mrs. W. Bard, Belleville, while Mrs. Marion Reid, also of Kingston, won the one-game high total with Mrs. Horace Ormshaw, of Trenton, won the no-game win high score. Rinks from Stirling, Belleville, Kingston and Trenton were in attendance.

Congratulations are being extended to the men bowlers of the local club in their win at Oshawa on Wednesday in the Gold Cup competition. A rink of Bruce Miller, Gordon and Austin Watkins with Jerry Hyde skip won eighth place with three wins. The winning rink was bowled by a high score the rink just squeaked through with two other wins while the rest dropped behind. They bowled all their games in Oshawa with Hanna bowling with a Hamilton trio won the trophy and first prize. Mr. Hanna's rink defeated the Hyde rink at quick notice and called three of this latter bowlers who were consented to take part and the result was the trophy.

A. E. Wonnacott and Garn Bird of Belleville surveyed in Brighton and came home with the doubles title of the tourney men. They had three good games, the last one being won on the last end. The men's section of the club is holding their Thursday afternoon games but they were curtailed last week due to the fair, but this week they hope to use the room usually provided.

Diamond Industry Fights World-Wide Smuggling Ring

By FRED ZUBY

CULLINAN, South Africa (AP)—The diamond industry is matching wits with leaders of a world-wide smuggling racket.

Millions of dollars in gems are involved. Some investors publish estimates in this diamond-producing country run as high as $150,000,000 yearly.

Spokesman for the industry say nobody knows. But they guard so closely their secrets in the battle against the illicit diamond traffic that they admit only to a "suspicion" there is some smuggling going on.

BRITON LEADS DRIVE

The new campaign against the smugglers is headed by Sir Percy Sillitoe, until recently head of the British counter-intelligence service.

Sir Percy arrived in Johannesburg on July 1 to report on the preliminary detective work for Sir Ernest Oppenheimer, head of the diamond mining industry and chairman of De Beers Consolidated Mines, Ltd.

The industry is keeping his activities under wraps, so as not to tip its hand to the smugglers—shrewd, daring criminals operating on big stakes.

The Sunday Times of Johannesburg, one of South Africa's largest newspapers, said that Sir Percy has suggested formation of an international private, detective corps to fight the smugglers and also proposes sealing off the illicit diamond traffic.

Tough Fight Is Shaping Up For Labor Congress Presidency

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP)—A tough fight was shaping up today for the presidency of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, top post in Canadian labor.

As the TLC opened its annual convention in a downhill turn, the leadership race appeared to be between a Montreal garment worker politician and an Ontario man who started up the ladder of labor politics as a milkman.

Favored was burly Claude Jodoin of Montreal, executive member and an organizer for the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union. Jodoin, 41, would be the first French-Canadian head of the TLC in 65 years.

TORONTO CHALLENGER

His closest competition was expected to come from A. R. "Mac" Arthur of Toronto, president of the TLC's Ontario Provincial Federation of Labor. The dapper Mac Arthur, former Canadian chief of the carpenters' union, was banned from that organization about a year ago after, an internal squabble, set up an office for workers' group in Canada.

While other delegates to this 69th convention were expected to be nominated for the presidency, the only two expected to produce serious competition for Jodoin and MacArthur were W. K. (Roly) Gunn via of Vancouver.

Like Jodoin, Gervin is a TLC vice-president. He is secretary of the British Columbia Federation of Labor. His home town of Vancouver is also that of Percy R. Bengough, TL retiring president.

Supporters of Jodoin and MacArthur have been staging heavy campaigning in advance of the vote, expected Thursday.

BADGES, GLAD-HANDING

Badges proclaiming "I Like MacArthur" are being worn by backers of the Ontario labor leader. Jodoin gladhands in the lobby of the Saskatchewan Hotel until the early-morning hours.

The Montrealer has the quiet support of the leaders of a big group of AFL unions headed by Frank H. Hall of Montreal, one of the country's most powerful labor chiefs. Hall, fresh from a multi-million-dollar wrestle with the railways in Ottawa last week, arrived Sunday night.

A possibility that the Jodoin-MacArthur-Gervin vote would be split arose Sunday when Leslie E. Wismer, political relations man for the TLC, emerged as a possible fourth candidate.

Wismer, former CCF member of the Ontario legislature, would neither confirm nor deny his candidacy. While he was given no chance of winning, he could pick up enough votes to influence a close contest between Jodoin and MacArthur.

TO DISCUSS RAIDING

Meanwhile, the convention was preparing to deal with the question of getting together with the rival Canadian Congress of Labor, which has 375,000 members, on a treaty barring membership raids. The treaty is expected to be endorsed by the convention, though it will not be binding on member unions, which would have to negotiate individual agreements with rival unions to make its effects stick.

As endorsation of the TLC-CCL pact loomed, convention headquarters got an indication Sunday that it might be a stormy session for some unions.

From Detroit arrived Jimmy Hoffa, eastern boss of the AFL teamsters' union, largest in the United States, who announced that the teamsters are going to throw big money into an organized drive in Canada.

Lake in Alberta Is Teeming With Prized Goldeyes

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Winnipeg goldeye industry, affected by diminishing supplies, has been given new life with the discovery of a northern lake teeming with the little fish with the prominent gold ring around the eyes.

Officials of Canadian Fish Producers Ltd., announced the discovery which should provide for the industry of years. But the lake is nowhere near Winnipeg—it's in Lake Winnipeg—it's not even in Manitoba. It is Lake Claire in Wood Buffalo Park near the southern extremity of Lake Athabaska in northern Alberta.

Company officials said the lake, in less than six weeks this year, produced a catch that rivals the best production records of Lake Winnipeg in the days when it was well stocked with the delicacy.

EXCELLENT SMOKING

Winnipeg goldeyes have been a table favorite since around 1890 when an experimental chef accidentally discovered a curing process which made the fish a succulent dish. Goldeyes now are featured by many big American and Canadian hotels and railway dining cars. In Winnipeg, they retail at 25 cents for a 10-ounce fish.

The flesh of a freshly-caught goldeye is soft and unattractive. But smoked and dried it becomes a delicacy.

Lake Winnipeg eventually ran out of goldeye and today commercial fishermen-must go into northern Manitoba and Saskatchewan to get a decent catch. Even there, the supply seems to be decreasing.

INDIANS ORGANIZED

The federal government organized the Indians of the Lake Claire, and accepted a tender from the northern fish producers to buy the catch.

Equipment was moved in from Manitoba sites and fishermen once could pull in as much as 1,000,000 pounds a year. Four fishermen using two canoeists went to work at Lake Claire on June 18. By July 31, the quota of 250,000 pounds, highest set by for any area this year, was achieved. Permanent buildings have been erected on the lakeshore, and Alberta is taking up where Manitoba is reluctantly leaving off.

Four Are Missing As Boat Upsets At Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—What is believed to be a quintuple drowning occurred on a district lake 30 miles northeast of here Sunday afternoon. Provincial police report four persons—two men and two children—are missing on the lake where their overturned boat was found.

The four were identified as Sylvio Jodoin, 36; his daughter, Jocelyne, 10; Robert Hall, 30, and his son, Lawrence, 7. All are from Port Arthur.

Police said the four left the Jodoin summer cottage to find a missing beach. The overturned boat was discovered later by a Port Arthur man, Jim Dingwell who gave the alarm.

The two families had been close friends for several years and had built a summer camp together last spring.

Both men were fairly good swimmers.

CRAWLS TO FREEDOM

FURTH IN WALD, Germany (AP)—Mrs. Maria Dopert, 38-year-old Czech, was reunited with her refugee husband in West Germany Wednesday after crawling on her hands and knees through the Iron Curtain's barbed wire barriers. She was found just inside the zone on Tuesday night, exhausted and in a state of shock. Her hands were cut and bleeding.

Canadian Authorities Flayed By Mirror Over Duchess' Visit

LONDON (Reuters) — The outspoken Daily Mirror today flayed Canadian authorities for "making a hash" of the visit of the Duchess of Kent to Montreal and Alexandra by imposing strict, "Victorian" security regulations.

In a front-page editorial topped by a picture of the Duchess with the Gay Princess in Cotton Wool?") the particularist with how the regulations will spoil 17-year-old Alexandra's fun.

It said that the Princess should be walking straight into the hearts of Canadians—instead she is being "ready with a smile and a handshake." Instead, "she will find that she has visited Belgium, second clammy, official humbug."

"For the Canadian authorities presumably consulting with the royal advisers—have got together with their heads under a wet blanket and made a hash of things with three silly rules," the Mirror informed its 4,500,000 readers.

NO SURPRISES

It then cited the rules stipulating that the photographers may approach within 15 feet of the royal tourists, but no "surprise pictures" will be allowed, and that the Duchess and her daughter will hold no press conferences.

What are the ordinary Canadian folk going to see? Answers the "no-surprise - pictures" rule means that they probably cannot be posed and formal, and that no one will hear what the princess has to say about the things she sees."

"They will think they are being visited by a princess from the land of Nod. And that the British are as stuffy and as reserved as they are made out to be. . . ."

The Mirror then took scrap its silly Victorian rules in time for the Princess to see Princess Alexandra as a gay, natural teenager."

SET HEARING DATE

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Preliminary hearing into a charge of murder against Nunziato Tripodi, 32, in connection with the death of his wife, will be held Aug. 27, it was announced Friday. Tripodi's wife Domenica was found strangled July 27-in the couple's home on the Niagara River bed in a rival from Italy. Tripodi told a neighbor his wife had "double-crossed" him in the old country.

OUT-OF-TOWN PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carter, of Hallowayy, have returned home from Brooklyn, N.Y., due to Mr. Carter having a relapse of jaundice. They had intended spending the summer with their daughter and son-in-law, who operate a meat market and service station there.

Bay of Quinte W.I. Hears Talk On 'First Aid'

The Bay of Quinte Women's Institute held its regular August meeting at the home of Mrs. Clayton Curtis Johnstown.

The ladies answered the roll call by donating a gift to the Trenton Memorial Hospital, after a sale of favorite recipes and household hints, the minutes were read and approved, and a business session got underway.

Mrs. Alva Meyers, convener of the evening, introduced the guest speaker Miss Droppo, superintendent of the Trenton Memorial Hospital, who gave a most inspiring and educational talk on the topic "First Aid." She described the essentials of first aid administration, and went on to explain in detail the prescribed treatment for such common accidents as fainting, shock, sprains, dislocation of joints, broken bones and scalds or burns.

Miss Droppo stressed the importance of care in rendering first aid and emphasized that no amateur should ever attempt to take on the responsibilities of a doctor. She demonstrated the correct method of applying a tourniquet and a sling. To make her description clear, she employed Miss Sheppard of Trenton Memorial Hospital as the model for various wound dressings.

Mrs. Harmon Meyers thanked Miss Droppo for her interesting talk and presented her with a large box of gifts to take to the hospital. Mrs. Meyers gave Miss Droppo and Miss Sheppard each a small gift as a token of the appreciation felt by all the W.I. members.

Mrs. Benson Bonisteel rendered a humorous account of "The Complaint of a Career Woman's Husband."

Mrs. Clarence Holmes thanked Clayton Stickle, who won prizes in a weed-guessing contest, donated their awards to the hospital. During the social evening, refreshments were served by the committee.

On behalf of all the ladies, Mrs. A. Ketcheson thanked Mrs. Curtis for her hospitality.

Canadians Perfume-Shy, Frenchman Wonders Why

REGINA (CP) — Canadian women may be perfume-shy, and Roland Haumont, Canadian representative of a famous French manufacturer, would like to find out why.

Mr. Haumont is touring Canadian cities to find an answer to the situation. But he has a few ideas of his own. For one thing, he admits high prices may be a factor.

High prices cannot be remedied easily, he says. Manufacture of perfume is a costly process, involving skilled laboratory technicians, purchases of costly formulas and high tariffs and government taxes.

Another factor is the elaborate packaging. Experience has shown that purchasers insist on the trimmings, he said.

TOO MUCH EMPHASIS

It's possible Canadian women may be chary of buying perfume because advertising campaigns put too much emphasis on scent, Mr. Haumont says.

"Many women have reached the stage where they feel that to use perfume is a little, shall we say, too obvious and not quite in good taste.

"This is what comes of having blatant promotion that tells the woman to use this fragrance at her own peril."

In an effort to woo the women away from their apparent aversion, perfume manufacturers have resorted to a variety of disguises. Perfume now is sold as an essence, a cologne—really a diluted perfume—sachet, a liquid and powder form, perfumed creams, dusting powders, lotions, bath salts and even talcums.

Mr. Haumont says the use, of dusting powder and talcum is a strictly Anglo-Saxon. French women never use them or any of the byproducts of the real thing, with the exception of cologne. French women have a "dainty habit" of putting a liberal dash of cologne in water when rinsing lingerie.

Perfumes come from one of three basic essences, orris root, ambergris and musk. To these are added the proper proportion of alcohol and a little water. Some perfumes are applied better to fabrics than to the skin which may turn them rancid. But some perfumes reject the other way. Russian aristocracy introduced the use of perfumes with furs before the First World War, each odor complementing the other.

Disadvantages Being Wife Of Diplomat

By PEGGY THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—It's nice to be the wife of a diplomat, but there are some disadvantages.

One of them, says Mrs. Wentzel C. du Plessis, wife of the South African high commissioner, is the matter of furniture—provided by the government.

"This is very nice," she says of the furniture, "but you have the feeling of living in someone else's house—a most peculiar sensation."

Since arrival last March she has tried to make herself at home in her century-old residence by rearranging the "ready-made" furniture and hanging some of her own pictures. One oil painting of a typical scene in northern Transvaal was done by a well-known South African artist.

HOMEY SPOT

"Of course," she said in an interview, "we always feel at home in the study upstairs. That's where the newspapers can lie around the floor and where the whole family can put up their feet and relax."

Mr. and Mrs. du Plessis have two children, a son 18 and a daughter 15.

The only other diplomatic post to which she has accompanied her husband was Holland. That was from 1934 to 1938. Mr. du Plessis then served for a number of years in the South African Parliament until appointed to Ottawa.

"When my husband left politics to return to External Affairs I looked forward to seeing him occasionally, but now I find he has been made permanent delegate to the United Nations."

This involves spending several months each year in New York, but Mrs. du Plessis does not plan to stay with her husband all the time he is there.

She prefers smaller, quieter places such as Ottawa.

Madoc 'Folk School' Discussed at W.I.

Mrs. Clarence Marshall was hostess for the August meeting of the Plainfield Women's Institute which had an attendance of 21.

The president, Mrs. J. Salmon, presided for the opening of the meeting.

Cards of thanks were read from members, and after the business period the following program was given, prepared by Mrs. Charles Treverton, Agriculture, and Canadian industry convener: readings on "Conservation" by Mrs. G. Denyes, Mrs. Thomas Reid, Mrs. F. Hodgen and Mrs. Fred Hall.

The topic "Cultural Activities and Recreation in Rural Communities" prepared and given by Mrs. Clarence Hall.

A reading, "The Peach Tree Story" was given by Mrs. G. Kerr.

GUEST SPEAKER

Miss Kay Homan, Junior Institute representative, was guest speaker. She spoke on "The Folk School", held at Madoc, and also brought the W.I. up to date on the activities of the Junior Institute.

A vote of thanks was tendered the guest speaker, also the hostess.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, and committee and a social half-hour spent.

Several members displayed quilt tops and quilt patterns.

Duchess, Daughter Choose Streamlined Wardrobe

By MURRIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON, (CP) — The Duchess of Kent and Princess Alexandra have chosen a streamlined wardrobe to meet the demands of their three-week Canadian tour.

Fashions which combine space-saving qualities, hot weather protection and quick-hanging convenience predominate in the royal luggage. Light summer wear far out-numbers the bulkier glamor gowns.

And both the royal travellers have packed what the designer terms their "square-dancing" outfits.

The Duchess, one of the world's best-dressed women, has chosen at least a dozen short bouffant evening gowns and most of her long dresses, devoid of embroidery, depend on their uncrushable skirts and pack into small space.

Even a ball gown from John Cavanagh was chosen with an eye to saving space. It is of white lace, heavily embroidered in white coral and rhinestones with simple princess lines. The embroidery is thick on the bodice but thins to a scattered motif on the skirt. A sweetheart neckline is softly swathed in a fichu of white organza.

DREAM DRESS

A dream dress for 17-year-old Princess Alexandra is on white organdie with white thread-work ivy leaves. The long skirt, with four gathered panels spouting from high on the hipline, will tuck into a small space. A ball dress made from 100 yards of white tulle is also built for streamlined packing.

The outfit most Canadian women probably will envy is a white wool lace dress for late-afternoon wear designed by Norman Hartnell for the Duchess. With huge-me skirt, narrowing toward the knees and cut, cap it has a simplicity emphasized by sleeves and a low round neckline, a straight, loose topcoat with wide, wrist-length sleeves and big cape collar of white mink.

Severe simplicity and elegance of line are the keynote of all the tour styles.

Most of the Duchess' cotton gowns are big-skirted and nat-waisted. Typical is a white and navy spot poplin with four unpressed pleats in front and a half-tie belt. The neck is a shallow round with cap sleeves and navy piping.

A black cotton, trellis-checked in white hemstitching, was chosen by the Duchess for "square dancing." The wide gathered skirt has matching cummerbund topped by a white bodice with wide V-neck picked out in black. Princess Alexandra chose a multi-colored cotton with green and red harlequin check, unpressed pleats, cummerbund and gauntlet top with similar necklines.

Other royal styles include a princess-line coat for Alexandra in slate-blue silk georgette. Balloon sleeves emerge from a low shoulder and narrow to three-quarter length. The same sleeve was used by the Duchess for the bolero of a pencil-slim black wool day dress with green shantung cummerbund.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WHY DO HE BRUSH HER OFF?

"I'm 31 and unmarried. I have dated me like any other normal girl, and nally found what I was looking fr. The man, who is my own age nd comes from a very fine famil has already been married and ivorced. The divorce is now two years old. He has no children.

"After lating him for about eight moths, he asked me to marry hi and everything was going alog smoothly. Then, all of a sudden,he stopped seeing each other. Sonhow, I believe it came about because his experience with his former marriage kept him from qui trusting me. The failure of hi marriage was not due to any fait of his. Even the minister agred that the young man was blaeless. Can a bad experience suh as he had, put such mistrust if a man that he can't forget, ndnatter how hard he tries?

"No! I don't know what to do. I have o family, and some of my close friends advise me to go out and die other men. They seem to believ that if I did this, it would bringhis other man back quickr. Hon't agree, and besides I haveso desire to date others.

"I' a fairly intelligent young woan, but now am completely lost.Please help me."

Th is a very touching letter, and my heart goes out to this youg woman, who makes me feel thatshe is not only intelligent, butnature and understanding as wel

MGE INFORMATION NEEDED

Irish she had told me more abot this young man, and the circmstances which precipitated the sudden breaking off. If she hadalso told me something of his marriage, and the reasons for his divorc, I would feel better equipped to form an opinion of the whle situation. Perhaps she wold like to write me again and giv me this information.

Yth 18 months than the little she hatold me to go on, I can say on) that her surmise about the youg man's state of mind must be quie correct. It is a very common hbg for anyone who has been fallinstoned in marriage, whether rin or woman, to be fearful and hesitant for a long time ahead any scond marriage. If her guess is rht and, knowing him, perhe it is even more than a guess —hen she can only wait patient-ly see if time will do its work and bring him back to her.

Perhaps she has already discussed her theory as to the cause of their break-up with the young man himself. If not, then I suggest that she write him an affectionate little letter, telling him that, if he is still haunted by the failure of his former marriage, she can understand, but that she wants him to know she does love him, and hopes he will not put her out of his life entirely, but get in touch with her and come to see her whenever he feels like it. She should say she will make no demands on him, nor expect anything from him, unless and until he feels ready to resume their engagement. All she wants right now, she might say, is to be the kind of friend he needs at the moment.

Having written such a letter, the next move would obviously be up to the young man. If he is truly the fine person she believes him to be, he will respond. If he does not, then, after a reasonable period of waiting, I believe she might go out and date others whether she feels like it at first or not. She cannot, and must not, go on forever mourning a dead romance.

One more thought: What about the minister she mentions who believes the marital failure was in no way the young man's fault? Has she talked with him, and got his slant on the reasons that might lie behind his behavior? If not, then I suggest she do this.

And, as I say, if she would care to write me again, I might be able to advise her further.

PRETTY LITTLE dresses can be spoiled by a faded streak when you have to let the hem down. Rick-rack in a matching or contrasting color sewn over the worn line will cover it and add a touch of "newness."

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

KEEPING COOL, CALM

Each season brings its own beauty problems. When the "north wind doth blow and we shall have snow," hands are likely to chap, the complexion becomes weather-beaten and the nose red. In the good old summer time we are bothered with aching feet, have to battle freckles, and wave sets go stringy in no time. The child and, of the summer girl is to appear cool, calm, and collected.

When it is high noon and 100 degrees in the shade it may not be easy to look as fresh as a lettuce leaf. Nor can the busy home-maker, after preparing dinner, sit down to the table looking as if she had been hovering over the deep freeze all afternoon. To avoid fatigue and exhaustion, she must plan her day carefully. She should not do anything around the house that she doesn't have to do. She should leave those extra tasks for some cool morning.

She should do her marketing early, try to make two or three trips a week do instead of daily pilgrimage.

How she dresses will have a lot to do with the way she feels. That heavy foundation garment should be discarded for a lightweight affair designed especially for the time when the thermometer is blowing its top. While working the domestic treadmill she should be a bobby-soxer; her legs will be cooler than if they are encased in nylons. House dresses should be selected with care, some fabrics being cooler than others.

The summer is no time to wear bangs which pick up moisture on the forehead. To look cool and trim a woman should keep her hair out of her eyes, up and away from the temples and the nape line. The short cut is ideal.

The outdoor girl, going hatless, going swimming, motoring along the highway will find that shampoos must be spaced close together. It's all right to wait a fortnight between shampoos and wave sets during the winter but that seven to 10 months when the hair is constantly subjected to atmospheric dust.

As hair can be sunburned the same as skin, it is advisable to apply an oil to the hair now and then. Smooth a little over the crown of your head after you have dressed and you'll be the shiniest-haired member of the family.

Cheese It!

By Mary Moore

Just when I was feeling a little bored with the whole business of meal getting sister Doris piped up "Couldn't you jazz up those meat cakes with a little cheese? Is there any law against using cheese with meat?"

My legal knowledge on such topics was hazy, but I was inclined to doubt it.

So she pursued the subject: "Look what cheese can do for a dish of macaroni! Wouldn't be anything without it. Then there's cheese in celery — a great improvement. Welsh Rabbit wouldn't have a leg to stand on without it. . . not to mention the Arabian merchant who lived in 2000 B.C. and became immortal by inventing it."

I bit. "How did he do that?" She launched into her theme. "Well it seems in a canteen made of a dried sheep's stomach he carried milk across the desert. After an all-day jog on his camel he opened up the pouch to take a swig, but tasted not sweet goat's milk but sourish whey. This was too much even for a thirsty Arab. He turned the canteen inside out and found an unfamiliar mass of white curd.

"He tasted it and smacked his lips. 'Flavorful, curtgol, zay, umh!' Which, when translated from the Arabic means "Allah be praised—it's a cheese!" Because that was what it was And the mother of a long line of noble cheeses."

I was getting cheesed off with that phoney Arabic so we came back to meat cakes. And here is what they turned out to be.

CHEESE-BREADED MEAT CAKES

One lb. hamburg or inexpensive ground beef, 2 eggs, 1-2 cup soft breadcrumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1-2 cup each grated old cheese and fine dry bread or cracker crumbs. Beat the eggs and mix with the meat, soft breadcrumbs, salt, pepper, milk, onion and Worcestershire sauce. Shape into flat patties. Mix together the grated cheese and dry crumbs and coat all sides of the meat cakes with them. Pan fry in melted butter on both sides until lightly cooked through or bake on buttered pan in hot oven, or fry in deep fat at 375 deg. Fahr. If meat cakes are pan-fried gravy may be made by adding flour to fat in pan after meat cakes are finished and stirring in 1 cup water or tomato juice until thick.

As you know we are on vacation and so far away from my shopping centre. The staples on our cupboard shelves come in for much scrutiny. We had been hoarding a can of salmon and a box of spaghetti against a rainy day, which sure enough arrived, so I had to improvise seriously, since the fishermen arrived at the dock—minus any fish. This was the one hot dish we had for supper on that rainy night.

SALMON CHEESE SPAGHETTI CASSKROLE

Four ounces uncooked spaghetti, 6-8-lices diced arde brains, 1-4 cup diced onion, 1-3 oz. can salmon, flaked, 1 cup grated cheddar cheese, 1-4 cup pan, but do not cook Stir in spaghetti and mix gently. Pour into buttered 1 1-2 quart casserole, sprinkle top with buttered crumbs and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 30 to 40 minutes. We baked it in the wood stove oven and it was wonderful.

ITCH RELIEVED IN A JIFFY

Very first use of soothing, cooling, liquid D.D.D. Prescription positively relieves torturing itch—caused by eczema, rashes, scaly skin, athlete's foot, pimples, hives, insect bites, sunburn. Or, your druggist has D.D.D. PRESCRIPTION.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

DOESN'T WANT TO BE "SUSPECTED" OF GIVING SHOWER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have always agreed with your point of view that a member of the family of the bride-to-be (mother, sister) should not give a shower for her. But now I have a special problem about this. My only sister is to be married soon, and three of her and my closest friends want to give a large shower for her, inviting all her friends, members of the Club to which we all belong, and my sister's co-workers in her office. But these three girls all live in apartments, quite small apartments. We are fortunate enough to have a quite large house. Mother has suggested that I might make the offer that they may give the shower in our house if they wish. But if our address appears on the shower invitations do you think it might be assumed that I (and perhaps my mother, too) are "accomplices" in the giving of the shower? We are not having the slightest thing to do with it, except possibly offering the use of our house, nothing more.

Your suggestion is entirely proper, very thoughtful, practical. Using your house would mean that they can give the large party which they want to give and which would be such a joy, I'm sure. The fact that the invitations are sent in their names and means that they definitely are the hostesses, and there is no reason for misinterpretation. During the shower, you and your mother should be sure not to take over any arrangements, so that neither will appear in the role of hostess.

A THANK-YOU ON A VACATION POSTCARD

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

These brides and their weird thank-you for wedding presents! Either they don't thank you at all after, as you said the other day in your column, one has given so much thought and effort and budgeting to buy a "right present" — they are so casual about their thanks that it's disappointing. Today's thank-you note is the per-fect I spent more than I should on a wedding present for a friend of mine. I sent it to her two weeks before her wedding, which was over six weeks ago, and heard about it. Now she and her husband are on their honeymoon, and she sent me a picture postcard of the place, and on it wrote two sentences about the place, what a good time they were having, and then wrote two like sentences of thanks for my present. Is this in any sense proper? — Patricia M.

This way of doing certainly had no grace or gratitude about it, and I very well understand how disappointed you were at her curt words and casual procedure. She should, of course, have written you a gracious and adequate note of thanks for your present. The only thing that can be said about what she did is that at least she did atlong-last write a thank-you, even in such an awkward way.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A bride and groom are coming to visit us, as they pass through our city on their way home from an extended wedding trip. The groom is my cousin, and we have never met the bride. On Saturday while they are here, we are to give quite a buffet supper party for them at our Country Club. I would like to have a receiving-line so that I can introduce everyone to our guests. How should we stand? Should my husband stand in the line (which he doesn't like to do) or should he circle with the guests?—Marion K.

You stand first, as hostess, of course, with the bride next to you, and the bridegroom next to the bride. Your husband should not stand in the line, since he prefers not to, and he should stand last nearby, so that he may, if necessary, help with the introductions and other hospitality-details.

Fashion Flashes

A REAL TREAT for now and many months to come is a slim sheath of pin-striped gray, black and white cashmere cotton. Collar and cuffs are inlaid with black velvet embellished with scallops of Irish lace, and there is a streamered tie of the velvet.

COMING UP for the season ahead are handsome fashions with smashing name tags. One such is an outfit made up of separates — a flared skirt and a looped stitch knit, a jersey top trimmed at the round, scooped neck and elbow-length sleeves with rows of the eyelash knit.

TAILORED BUT DRESSY is the paradoxical description of many of the new fashions, such as a wonderful Matador shirt of white silk satin, with matched front, elaborately beveled buttons and bracelet-cuffed sleeves. Wonderful with an evening skirt or with velvet slacks.

HOW to get a Friendly Loans at NIAGARA FINANCE

Drop in to see your friendly Niagara Loan adviser. He'll make it easy for you to get the Friendly Loan that suits you best. Here are important facts for you about Niagara Finance.

Who can get a Niagara Friendly Loan?—Anyone with a reputation for honesty and the ability to repay.

How much can be borrowed from Niagara?—Up to $1500; sometimes more.

How quickly can I get money?—Sometimes in 30 minutes; within 24 hours for most loans.

How long can I take to repay?—In the table below, there are just a few of many plans. They will give you some idea of five periods allowed for different amounts : : : from 4 to 24 months. And for all people who have uneven income during the year, such as farmers and schoolteachers, special repayment schedules may be arranged on loans above $500.

Are all loan charges the same?—Up to $500 generally, yes. But remember, at Niagara, you get life insurance at no extra cost.

Above $500, the larger the amount and the longer the time—the lower the rate. Compare : : : often : you'll find Niagara money out of all proportion low.

Is Life Insurance on loans worthwhile?—Yes, here is a real family peace-of-mind feature. At no extra cost to you, loans of $1500 or less may be re-insured. Be sure you get this protection when you borrow.

Does a friend have to "back" my loan?—No, seldom do borrowers prefer an endorsed loan. And husband or wife, of course is not needed.

How many ways of borrowing are there?—You can use any of these four Niagara Loan plans. 1. On cars, trucks, etc., only owner signs. 2. Husband-and-wife, on furnishings. 3. On business equipment. 4. On farm stock and equipment.

Can I have a private interview?—Yes, your interview at Niagara will be private, courteous, and friendly.

Why do people borrow money?—A few reasons are to consolidate a group of small debts; to reduce large payments for car and truck repairs; to meet emergencies; to repair or modernize homes; to enlarge a business; for seed, stock, fertilizer for farms; and to take advantage of low prices, when cash is paid.

Do many people borrow?—Yes, in Canada, 1 family in 4 borrow each year.

Soviet Psychiatrist Makes Bold Claim for Soviet Children

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer..

TORONTO (CP)—Russian children are the most mentally healthy in the world, a Soviet psychiatrist says.

Professor N. I. Ozeretsky, chief of the psychiatric division of the First Medical Institute at Leningrad, made the claim Friday in a paper presented to the International Congress on Mental Health. His paper was one of three presented by Russian scientists to the congress.

Professor Ozeretsky said many foreign scientists complain that mental picture tests were too difficult for children of a certain age.

NO EFFORT

"Soviet children fulfil such tests with no great effort. The reason, to our mind, is the tests are partly dependent on exercise. And as for the physical development of Soviet children is an object of close attention from their very birth, some motor (body co-ordination) capacities in Soviet children are decidedly greater than in their counterparts abroad."

Drug addiction and alcoholism among USSR adolescents is non-existent, as is mental deficiency from congenital causes, he said. The incidence of schizophrenia among children is practically falling. However, the problem of epilepsy has not been solved.

Professor Oleg V. Kerbikov, director of the mental clinic of the Second Moscow Medical Institute named after Joseph Stalin, said the Soviet educational system, based on the theories of teacher-innovator A. S. Makarenko, resulted in the full personality development of the pupil.

LOVE THAT COLLECTIVE

"The aim of education is upbringing staunch, manly, versatile young men and women who are loyal to their people and love their work and their collective . . . the backbone of Makarenko's method is the idea that the individual must be brought up in the collective, by the collective and for the collective.

"The child collective in the Soviet system of education is not only the object but also the subject of education as well. It is only the collective that ensures the full development of healthy and brilliant personalities."

Christian Leaders Told Racial Segregation Scandal in Churches

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Christian leaders from many lands have been told that racial segregation is "the great scandal in the church, especially in the United States and South Africa."

The problem was laid before delegates to the assembly of the World Council of Churches with a suggestion that they search for its solution by "a truly Christian spirit."

Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia, termed racial separation "the great scandal in the church," and added:

"The local churches permit secular bodies such as the state and federal courts, the United National Indian League baseball, professional boxing, colleges, the public schools and theatres to initiate changes in the area of race.

"But even when secular bodies initiate the change, local churches, Negro and white, follow slowly or not at all.

"It will be a sad commentary on our life and time if remembrance centers can write that the last bulwark of segregation based on color in the United States and South Africa was God's church."

LOOK TO CHURCH

Dr. Ben Marais of the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa told the conferees:

"Christian men and women in many lands look towards the church for guidance."

He pointed out that tensions often develop between racial groups, and added:

"Therefore it is becoming that we face this problem in a calm Christian spirit."

The addresses of Dr. Mays, a delegate and a Baptist, and Dr. Marais, an assembly consultant, were prepared for delivery before representatives of 163 denominations in 48 countries.

Inner Tubes Are on Way Out

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (AP) — The inner tube may be on its way out as the air container for vehicle tires.

Just about every tire manufacturer now is miking or planning to make tubeless tires for passenger automobiles. Some major companies are going even farther; they plan tubeless casing for all forms of vehicles using tires. This includes aircraft and off-the-road vehicles.

Most manufacturers are expected to offer the tubeless casings as standard equipment on 1955 model cars. Packard already has announced that tubeless tires will be available at no extra cost on its forthcoming new models.

Voters Advised to Study Mental Health of Candidates

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Voters were advised Friday to investigate the mental state of election candidates before they cast their ballots.

Dr. G. Brock Chisholm, former director - general of the World Health Organization, said the mental health of legislators and high government officials, "the people who are going to find ways of living peacefully or are going to get us all killed," was not an easy subject to approach.

"But it is indeed time it was recognized as of paramount importance to the electors of every country," he told the fifth International Congress on Mental Health.

"Is there any behavior more effectively suicidal than to elect leaders who are profoundly anxious, violent, egocentric or prejudiced people to legislative bodies? Here is a very important area for public education in mental health."

OUTLINES PARADOX

Dr. Chisholm said it was strange that while within countries, on the whole, people are living more peacefully together than in any previous generation, and while there is universal antagonism to technical people in large numbers are co-operating peacefully and effectively, as a result of which their politicians will allow—the nations are unable to get along peacefully.

He said it was significant that in meetings such as the congress there is an "openmindedness not followed amongst representatives of nations."

"No one is here to attack or defend, to enhance his own prestige or to acquire power, or to fight for a faith or an orthodoxy. All beliefs expressed here are . . . changeable in light of new evidence. Technical meetings rarely have to suffer from 'hundred-per-cent-ism' which we believe they have found absolute or final truth and who consequently cannot develop further."

STEAL ARMOURY WEAPONS

SUDBURY (CP) — Police were on the hunt today for thieves who broke into the armouries Thursday night and stole a sten gun, two automatic pistols and ammunition. A gun cabinet containing rifles, revolvers and automatic weapons was jimmied.

Rawdon

RAWDON. — Mrs. Arthur Pyear, president Hastings and Prince Edward W.A.'s was guest speaker at Victoria United Church on Wednesday. Victoria W.A. entertained ten local groups that afternoon.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Fletcher, Allan and Janet Marie arrived at Rawdon parsonage on Wednesday following a month's holiday.

Carol and Jean Sharpe spent a few days with relatives at Madoc Junction.

Mrs. Elva Main (formerly Bell), Syracuse, New York, is holidaying with Mrs. Russel Hubel and family.

Mr Robert Merrick is conducting a butcher business in town.

Lois, Carol and Douglas Danford are holidayig with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Richardson Frankford Road.

Mrs. Fred Hubbell, Windsor, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Burton Bateman.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pyear spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Robert McFarlane and Mrs. E. Trousdale, Melrose.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Sharpe entertained twenty-seven guests at the home of her father, Mr. George McMullen, Oak Hills.

A large number of motor vehicles made hurried trip through part of Rawdon township to Anderson's Island, on Tuesday forenoon as it had been reported a police accident was in that vicinity.

After a hurried investigation most of the vehicles traveled back over the country roads. Later it was known that the crash occurred near Meyersburg, a few miles south of Campbellford. A heady stream of cars travelled in the afternoon via Stirling and Campbellford to the scene of the accident. Meyersburg is about 15 miles west of Stirling.

Indians Rolling Along All But Knock Yankees Out Of League Race

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

All the Oaks in Oakville were poison Saturday night, as they hammered out a 12-4 win over Belleville Batas in the first game of their best-of-five Viadue-Ontario Senior Baseball semi-final series. The Batas got off to a flying start in the first frame with Art Wright striking out the side. However, with two out and two strikes on the third man, the man in blue missed a third one and the parade started. A walk, a passed ball, an error at first and a wrong field triple resulted in four second inning runs. The Oaks chased Wright with a five run outburst in the third stanza and Bunton came on to douse the blaze. Over the rest of the route Blasting Bob held the Oaks to three runs while the Batas picked up four-in a sixth inning outburst.

* * *

Batas scored all their runs before the seventh inning stretch with Vern Goyer safe on a dropped fly to right, a walk to MacDenald, a double by Fitzpatrick and a home run by Tony Petilli.

Oakville's stylish lefthander, Ross Paton, was the chief stumbling block for the Ian Batas. He set them down with five hits. Coach Gordon says he is coming right back at Oakville with Wright Tuesday night at the Fair Grounds, but amended, "I'll use them all if I have to." Third game of the series is here Saturday night under the lights at 8.30.

BOSTON BEANS YANKEES

Boston Red Sox's three game series sweep over the New York Yankees is the most pleasant surprise — Ted Williams has given had since the Little Big Horn. The Indians, Cleveland variety, are not out of the woods yet, but having the hated Yankees off their necks for the first time in more than 70 games must come as a pleasant relief.

* * *

The Red Sox, hereafter to be known as the Rattling Boston, also turned up a bonafide superstar — Ted Williams by name. Manager Theodore moved the spotlight back to himself where it belongs during the week-end as he played a major role in defeating the Yankees. Williams, somehow called the "splendid Splinter", was a thorn in the Yankee flesh all week-end. Saturday the Yanks decided discretion was the better part of valor and walked him in the ninth. Ageain tripled and Pierall, running for Williams, scored with the tying run as Boston went on a Boston victory in 12. Sunday the Yanks pitched to Williams. He only homered with a man on the first time up and doubled with men on the second time round. The only thing that will prevent Williams from walking away with the A.L. batting crown this season is the fact he will not bat 400 times. Rival pitchers walk him so often he won't get credit for enough official trips to qualify for the honor. But broken shoulder, infections and all, Williams is still the most dangerous hitter in the American League and one of baseball's greatest players. Don't believe it? Ask the Yanks.

STRAIGHT FROM THE TEE

"Ontario's richest 18 hole golf tournament," the descriptive blurb according to the 9th annual Bay of Quinte Golf and Country Club's invitation tourney, left much of the loot at home. T. A. Carruthers, Quinte champion, topped a field of 108 swingers Saturday with a 75 to pick up a movie camera, chief prize ers Saturday with a 75 to pick up a movie camera, chief prize in a $700 merchandise jackpot. He was trailed by Gord Ball, Weston, 76, and C. Charlton, Trenton, with a 77. The foursome of Carruthers, Bruce Castator, Ernie Bentley, Weston and Fred Bentley, Napanee, had a gallery all afternoon with an added attraction on the 18th green to greet the happy wanderers about 7.15.

* * *

Tee off time was 7.15 a.m. and the last foursome holed out a full five minutes before dark. No search parties or St. Bernards had to be dispatched to the outer reaches of the fourth green. Everybody agreed the tournament was a huge success and a credit to all concerned in the organizational ranks. From 35 golfers nine years ago to 180 Saturday is quite a healthy growth for this increasingly popular tournament. The 19th hole was conceded by all to be up to its usual standard, and despite the traps, few players were bunkered.

A dance Saturday evening concluded out the day's activities.

Murray McIntosh and T. A. Carruthers, scheduled to play a 36 hole final Sunday for the club championship, postponed the duel for another week.

Tribe Blithely Ignores Somber Warnings It Will Collapse; Giants Widen Edge Over Bums

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

While the American League in general and New York Yankees in particular wait breathlessly for the Cleveland Indians' teepee to collapse, the Tribe blithely ignores the somber warnings from their enemies.'

Al Lopez' remarkable Redskins were five and a half games in front of the Yanks today and showing no signs of tapering off. The race has reached a point, in fact, where almost the only chance the Yanks have of winning their sixth straight pennant is a collapse by the Indians.

The Tribe whipped Baltimore 12-1 Sunday, while the Second Red Sox were putting the crusher on Casey Stengel's Yankees, 7-3, that action enabled the Indians to gain another full game.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit halted Chicago (the White Sox are just about out of it), 7-4 and the Philadelphia A's defeated Washington, 3-2 in the first game of a scheduled twin bill. Cleveland 57 over the score tied 4-4.

TWO-GAME GAIN

In the National League, the New York Giants widened their claim to the pennant by gaining two games on the Brooklyn Dodgers. They swept a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 and 5-3 while the Philadelphia Phillies were crushing the Brooks twice, 6-2 and 8-1.

The Milwaukee Braves, seven and a half games off the pace, blasted Cincinnati 12-4 and Ted Lou Cardinals outlasted the Cincinnati Redlegs 7-6 in other National League action.

The Tribe slapped out 20 hits while Early Wynn held the Baltimore club to three in his seven innings on the mound.

Ted Williams knocked in the first four Sox runs with a homer and a double. Then Mickey Mark Sullivan needed to hang up his 11th victory. Harry Byrd was the victim.

Detroit jumped on Billy Pierce for four runs in the first two innings and the White Sox never did get back in the ball game. Frank Bolling drove in three of the Tigers' runs. Billy Hoeft was the winner.

Joe Demaestri drove home the winning run for the A's in the 12th inning of the opener against the Senators to give Charlie Bishop his first win. Then A's almost had the afterpiece before the curfew, too, but Jim Pisoni struck twice in the ninth to tie it.

The pesky Pirates knocked both the Giants' ace pitchers, Johnny Antonelli and Sal Maglie, out of the box before they were 4th when the Giants had to scare twice in the ninth to pull the first one out. A pinch single by Bill Taylor drove in the winning run after three straight passes and an error forced in the tying marker.

GOOD RELIEF JOB

In the nightcap, the Pirates chased Maglie in the fifth, and then there on in, a brilliant relief job by Hoyt Wilhelm held them in check.

A couple of pitchers, who have had indifferent success to put it in a fairly b1z, mowed down the Brooks. Herman Wehmeier, whose record shows six victories and nine defeats, whipped them in the opener, and, in fact, had a shutout until the eighth. Murry Dickson was nursing a 10-game losing streak until he whitewashed them in the second game.

Del Ennis was the chief thorn in the side of the Brook pitchers, hitting a three-run homer in each game and driving in seven runs for the day. Carl Erskine was the first-game victim and Russ Meyer the second, although neither was around at the end. Brook batters produced only three extra base hits in the two games—all doubles.

Bobby Thomson returned to full-time duty with Milwaukee and promptly belted a two-run homer for the cause. Gene Conley, third of three Braves pitchers, was the winner.

St. Louis' victory over Cincinnati dropped the Redlegs to fifth place, Solly Hemtal had a pair of doubles in the 13-hit Card attack on five Red pitchers. Al Brazle was the winner.

Tommy Carruthers Tops Field In Amateur Invitation Tourney

T. A. "Tommy" Carruthers, the Bay of Quinte Golf and Country Club's current champion, flashed championship form Saturday to top a field of 180 Ontario golfers in the local club's 9th annual amateur invitation tournament.

Carruthers carded a 75 to beat Gord Ball of Weston by one stroke. Third prize went to C. Charlton of Trenton with a 77. Weston's Ernie Bentley, runner up in the Ontario Amateur Open this year posted a 78 playing in a foursome with Carruthers, Bruce Castator of Toronto Summeries and Fred Bentley of Napanee. Castator had a 79 and Fred Bentley an 84.

Team honors went to the Bay of Quinte's foursome of M. Aquafredda, J. Pidulli, Pete Jones and Carruthers.

Perfect weather prevailed throughout the day from tee off time at 7.15 a.m. until the last man holed out shortly before dark. The fairways were hard-packed and the greens, which bore up well under the heavy traffic were fast.

Three winners were declared for low gross and low net in each of three flights. Winners were:

A flight — Handicap 1-9: Low Gross: T. A. Carruthers, Quinte, 75; G. Ball, Weston, 76; C. Charlton, Trenton, 77.

Low Net: D. Grieg, Toronto; M. Acres, Kawartha; W. Patterson, Scarboro.

B Flight: Handicap 10-20. Low Gross: P. Jones, Quinte; F. Allen, Toronto; T. Sanders, Kawartha

Low Net: C. Morris, Kawartha; E. Littlejohn, Quinte; B. Newell, Kawartha.

C Flight: Handicap 21-28: Low Gross: G. McGien, Kingston; G. Noble, Quinte; W. Rolway, Quinte.

Low Net: L. Foster, Kawartha; M. Mayhew, Quinte; Dr. R. Vandervoort, Quinte

Watkin Rink Of This City Wins Tourney

Although the weather was hot and humid, it was ideal for bowling, the greens were in excellent condition and the 3rdden tournament staged by the local bowling club on Saturday afternoon was a grand success. Nineteen men's rinks entered the tourney but this made an uneven draw with the rink drawing a bye each game but this was overcome, when Mrs Gordon Vince, Mrs C H McBride and Mrs. George Watkin volunteered a rink to make an even draw, and what they did to the men in the three draws excited the admiration and applause of a large gallery.

In their first game they took a Trenton rink into camp by 's big score and did the same thing to a Kingston rink in the second draw. In the third game they met a Belleville rink, which eventually finished second in the tourney and were defeated but not until they threw several scares into the winning rink.

The Belleville rinks won the majority of prizes at the tourney the only outside rink to win being one from Peterborough. In first place and winner of the cup was Bill Wright, Gordon Watkin and Austin Watkin as skip. Another rink of Claude D. Tice, Ernie Jones and Jerry Hyde finished with the same score as the winners but the overplus decided the issue. The Hyde rink had to have two counters on the last end to win but ended up only with shot Inl. In third place was a rink of Gus Dobbs, Fred Harper and Jim Hanna.

Charlie McGuire with Tom McMullen and George Pauley won the two-game fight-score, third of three Braves pitchers, was the winner.

St. Louis' victory over Cincinnati dropped the Redlegs to fifth place, Solly Hemtal had a pair of doubles in the 13-hit Card attack on five Red pitchers. Al Brazle was the winner.

Nearly 30,000 Rain-Soaked Fans Watch Western Conference Openers

Old Pros Spark Victories As Winnipeg Beats Calgary And Regina Takes Edmonton

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The 1954 Western Interprovincial Football Union season officially opened Saturday night and the 30,000 fans who sat in on the activities went home happy, although rain-soaked. Home clubs won and a couple of old pros lit the victory fuses.

At Winnipeg, 35-year-old Indian Jack Jacobs sent Blue Bombers winging with a 17-5 victory over Calgary Stampeders. Big Jake threw one touchdown pass and added three singles.

At Regina, quarter Frank Tripucka completed nine of 10 forward passes including one 35-yard effort, as Saskatchewan Roughriders upset the pre-season favorite Eskimos 21-13. Tripucka, formerly of Notre Dame, Detroit Lions, Chicago Cardinals and Dallas Texans, couldn't make the Roughriders last season but his efforts this year practically assured him a berth this year.

LOSERS HAD EDGE

It rained at Winnipeg and Regina but that didn't hamper the passing wizardry of the two quarterbacks.

In both games, the losers had an edge in statistical department but Jacobs and Tripucka over-balanced these with their passing.

Edmonton gained 226 yards in the air to Saskatchewan's 84-yard total and made 18 first downs to 10 for Roughriders. But Saskatchewan, losing Stampeders had a 15-yard edge in first downs and 168-59 in yards gained rushing.

Second games of the WIFU regular season schedule are set for next week with Calgary at Regina and Edmonton at Winnipeg. The union's fifth team, Saskatoon Hilltops, don't make their league bow Saturday.

LIPPMAN GOT TWO

Three players scored the Roughriders' points. Ken Carpenter, former Cleveland Browns halfback, scored touchdowns and added one point.

In Winnipeg, end Bud Grant and fullback Floyd Huggins scored touchdowns for the Bombers. Flying wing Bud Korchak, the WIFU's leading scorer last season with 68 points, added one major and kicked a field. Single points from rouges added three more points to the Winnipeg total.

Calgary got its five points on a field goal by end Don Miner from Tulsa and two rouges, one after a kick by Miner, the other after a kick by Eddie LeBaron, sixth quarter from Washington Redskins.

Elgins Ahead Of Panthers For Playoff Spot

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rain that fell long ago may have put St. Thomas Elgins on the spot in their run for a playoff berth in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League.

The league schedule was supposed to have ended Saturday night but there still are eight postponed games to be played. The Elgins, in fourth place a few percentage points behind Chatham Panthers, have four of those games.

Elgins pulled ahead of Panthers with the fourth and last playoff berth during the week-end when they scored two runs in the 11th inning to edge Kitchener 7-6.

DOUBLE WIN

It was one of four Saturday games. In the others the league-leading Galt Terriers swept London Majors 14-5 and Brantford Red Sox 4-3 and 7-2. Terriers' pitching trailing Guelph-Waterloo Royals twice, 7-4 and 11-0.

At St. Thomas, Elgins were trailing 6-5 going into the bottom of the 9th. Then Jim Gordon, a left-hander, made it first downs to 10 for Roughriders. Ken Ploen, leading Stampeders had a 15-yard edge in first downs and 168-59 in yards gained rushing.

Second games of the WIFU regular season schedule are set for next week with Calgary at Regina and Edmonton at Winnipeg. The union's fifth team, Saskatoon Hilltops, don't make their league bow Saturday.

Landy's Mile Approved As World Record

BERN (AP)—John Landy's magnificent 3:58 mile was approved officially as a world record Sunday by the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

The Australian runner established that mark at Turku, Finland last June, clipping 1.4 seconds off Roger Bannister's record which had been approved only a few days before.

Also approved by the federation was American Bud Held's 383-foot, 10-inch javelin throw of Aug. 8, 1953, at Pasadena, California.

The federation also recognized Landy's 1,500-metre record of 3:41.2 recorded in the same race in which he hung up the new mile mark.

Australia's Hec Hogan got his 100 yards time of 9.3 seconds approved. It was made last March 3 and ties Mel Patton's world standard.

Other records approved included:

5,000 metres—13:57.2 by Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia May 30 of this year.

10,000 metres—28:54.2 by Zatopek June 1 at Brussels.

Six miles—27:54.2 by Zatopek June 1 at Brussels.

Three miles—13:32.2 by Fred Green of Great Britain July 10 at London.

2,400-metre relay—7:26.8 by Soviet army team July 27 at Kiev.

Junior Tennis Tourney Will Be Bigger Next Year

By JOHN VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian junior tennis tournament, which lengthened into 18 events and went three days this year, may be even bigger and longer next year.

Eddie Cowley, tournament chairman and head of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association's junior development committee, said at the close of the tournament this week-end that next year's championships may be increased.

If there are many prominent juvenile stars in the girls' events next season, the all - Canadian closed events will increase.

They were started last year to give Canadians a chance to compete for titles without opposition from United States players, usually superior in the tournament experience.

AND THEY WERE

Two closed events—the junior championship for girls' events were dropped because officials felt the Canadians at the top were good enough to win against all comers. They were right.

Winner of Laframboise of Montreal won the junior women's open singles and the junior women's doubles. Laframboise, of Sherbrooke, Que., became the all-Canadian singles titlist.

Miss Laframboise, playing her last year in junior tennis, teamed for two titles with Miss Barclay in women's doubles. They defeated Miss Barclay and Joan Hall of Toronto 6-2, 6-2.

Miss Barclay and John Swann, Vancouver, won the junior mixed doubles.

Miss Barclay, a versatile little blonde, also won the girls' and boys' mixed doubles championship with John Barnett, Toronto.

Ontario and Quebec won the interprovincial team championship, decided by best-of-three singles and two doubles matches. Ontario's team defeated Quebec 3-2 and Quebec men ousted Nova Scotia 3-0.

Toronto Leafs Lead League By Six Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When the going gets rough, Toronto Maple Leafs get rougher and that's why they lead the International League by six games today.

The second place Rochester Red Wings headed for Toronto determined to whittle down the Leafs' lead over the weekend. If they had won the twin bill Sunday, they would have trailed Toronto by only two games.

But the Leafs came through with 1-0 and 3-1 decisions and now they appear to have the pennant in the bag. Jim Wheeler won his first game as a Leaf in the opener when Lew Morton's double, Archie Wilson's single and Mike Gollatz's fielder's choice scored the game's one run.

In the nightcap, the Leafs took a two-run lead on starter Mike Jordan in the first inning and that was all they needed.

Montreal defeated the Havana sugar Kings 2-0 behind Rocky Nelson's home run with one aid and Glenn Cox' three-hit pitching the second game was called because of rain after five innings with Montreal ahead 2-0.

Buffalo Bisons and Buffalo Bisons to a 7-3 victory over Syracuse Chiefs and also pitched in with a single and a homer with one on. Jack Sanford was the loser.

Toronto Maple Leafs pulled within two games of seventh place Rochester Red Wings Monday as Tommy Fine was tapped for 11 hits, but he kept them well scattered for his ninth triumph.

Canadians Play Smart Golf In Fort Wayne Open

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (CP)—Doug Ford shot a 65 Sunday to win the $15,000 Fort Wayne Open with a 72-hole score of 270 as a wave of sub-par golf ended the hopes of two Canadian contenders for the top prize money.

Jerry Kesserling of Kitchener was one stroke out of first place at the 54-hole mark Saturday and Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., was only one stroke behind him.

Ford won though Kesserling finished with a two-under-par 70, he had to settle for a four-way tie for seventh place at 276, good for $435.

Horvath also bettered regulation figures at 71 but his 278 gave him a five-way tie for 15th place and a $200 share of the money.

Both Kesserling and Horvath were unable to par in every one of their four rounds.

Argos Trounce Beaches 42-6

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts, in their best offensive show. in three exhibition games, Saturday scored seven converted touchdowns to trounce Toronto Balmy Beach farm club 42-6 in a dull game before a crowd of 3,500 at Varsity Stadium.

The Big Four football club was too powerful for the Beaches, 1933 Ontario Rugby Football Union champions. Beaches managed to hold the Smiling Irishmen scoreless in the first half but from then on the parent club took command, rounding into more form in the third quarter and two more in the fourth.

Petes Defeat Belleville, Oshawa To Take OBA Bantam 'A' Crown

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Peterborough captured the Eastern Ontario O.B.A. Bantam "A" championship on Saturday by defeating Belleville and Oshawa in the series played at the C.N.E. Park.

In the morning fixture they were hard pressed before scoring a 9-7 decision over Schwab's Little Giants, the Belleville entry, and then edged Oshawa by a 3-1 score in the final game of the series played at 5 p.m. Oshawa were the victors over Ottawa in the early afternoon game taking the Capital City lads by a 6-3 count.

FIRST GAME

Belleville jumped to an early 3-0 lead in this game, getting one in the initial frame on Fred Gore's triple and two more in the second with a pair of walks, two passed balls and an error.

The Petes drove starter Jack Elliott from the hill in the third as they rallied to go one run ahead. Rowe's single, two walks and triples by Hale and Wade did the damage this time.

Gord Vaughan took the mound at this point and held the Peterborough squad scoreless until the last inning. In the meantime, Schwab's netted single tallies in the fifth, sixth and seventh to go back in front by a 6-5 score. Walk, O'Neil's single and Asselstine's sacrifice got the tying marker with Jack Elliott slamming a bases-empty homer for one in the seventh.

A walk, two singles by Rowe and Hale plus an error drove Vaughan in the eighth and made the score all even at 6-6. Pat Asselstine took the year as he greeted with Hale's second triple to give them a 9-6 lead. Three walks and an error gave Schwab's a single marker in the ninth but it was too little.

Hale pitched 8 2-3 innings for the victory, allowing four hits, striking out seventeen and walking eight. Haig fanned the last Belleville batter, Vaughan was the loser in five frames, given up six hits for four runs, fanning six and walking two.

Haig paced Peterborough at bat with two triples and a single, while Rowe and Tedlocke collected a trio of singles each. Elliott with a homer and Coe's double were best for Belleville, while singles went to O'Neil and Downes.

Line scores:

	R	H	E
Belleville	120 011 121—7	4	2
Peterborough	004 000 02x—9	11	5

Elliott, Vaughan (5), Asselstine (8) and Coe. Wade and McArthur.

SECOND GAME

Oshawa did all their scoring in the first inning to eliminate Ottawa St. Anthony's 6-3, while their right-handed hurler, Barrage struck out no less than 21. He gave up six singles and walked 11. while his mates played errorless ball behind him.

Nine players batted in the first inning with Wills leading off with a double, singles going to Dick and Barrage, while Ottawa's miscued twice and issued two walks for the six runs.

Ottawa netted one in the first with a walk and a passed ball, got another in the seventh with a walk and singles by Budzik and Post, while completing the scoring in the eighth off two more singles by Post and Donnigan.

Lachapelle went the distance in defeat, allowing 11 hits, fanning three and walking the same number.

Barrage also led his club in batting with four singles, while Wills contributed a double and a single. Dunnigan and Post hit safely twice.

Line score

Oshawa	600 000 00x—6	11	0	1

Lachapelle and Moore, Ackerman (8); Barrage and Billen-duke, Westfall (8).

FINAL GAME

This was a pitcher's duel from start to finish with Bob Stone a three hitter for Peterborough while Brewster issued but four safe blows in defeat.

Haig singled home the first tally in the third frame after a walk and fielders choice with Oshawa knotting the score in the seventh on a passed ball plus two errors on the same batter sent the runners home.

Mooney singled to open the bottom of the ninth and Haig was safe on an error. Tedlocke sacrificed him to third and he raced home with the winning run after drawing a throw to the base.

Haig whiffed eight in chalking up his victory while issuing free passes to five. A pair of double plays helped him no end. Brewster fanned 11 and walked three.

The winner's hitters were Gill with a double and Schroeder with a single. Mooney and Mike Binaz had a double in defeat and Simpson went to Love and Dick.

Line score;

Kingston Edges Elliott Motors In First Game

By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Scoring one run in the top of the ninth, Kingston edged the Elliott Motors team of Belleville by a 3-2 score Saturday evening in the first game of a best-of-three O.B.A. Juvenile "A" series played at the C.N.E.

Pester a towering giant of this age division was well on his way to a no-hit game until the eighth inning, when Elliott's mates got two hits for one run and tied the score at 2-2.

The Limestone City lads jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first inning when they drove Sinfield from the mound after pitching to only two batters. Walk, singles with Hewson reaching second on a balk and Burnside singling him home. Pitcher Dave Drive was relieved by Bob Batchelor drawing a walk.

The Kingston pitcher tried a pick-off throw to second but the second-sacker missed the ball and Batchelor trotted home for a 2-2 score. Adamson singled but to no avail.

Walker ran into trouble to open the ninth by walking two and hitting one with only single down. Gazely went out at second but Hewson walked to load the sacks and Batchelor came up to bat for Elliott's squad. He responded by getting the batter a 2-2 score but Pester made the third out trying to steal home. Lillie reached on an error in the bottom of the ninth but Pester fanned three batters to end the ballgame.

The winner set 13 down on strikes while walking four and issuing two. Walker took the loss in 8 2-3 innings while giving up five hits, fanning two and walking four.

Senior was the only batter with more than one hit as he clouted a brace of singles. Pester, Hewson, Burnside, Dunlop and Pehola also hit safely. McClean and Adamson were the Belleville stars.

Aussies Win Canada Cup Golf Contest

By MEL MORRIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LAVAL SUR LE LAC, Que. (CP) Australia, already the champion in world tennis, proved its stature in professional golf Sunday with a four-stroke victory in the international Canada Cup matches.

The Aussies had to battle from behind to edge Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo and Antonio Cerda by a two-stroke lead going into the final round of the 72-hole tournament.

The favored United States entry of Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret finished third and Canada's Stan Leonard and Jules Huot fourth. Leonard, the fun-fighting Vancouver veteran, took low-medal honors with a total of 275, 13 under par, for 72 holes.

Australia wound up the medal play standings with 550, 10 under par. Argentina had 560, the U.S. 565, and Canada 570.

LEONARD SHOT WELL

Of the 20 strokes Australia knocked off regulation figures, Peter Thomson accounted for 11. And he was at his hottest in the final round as he and partner Kelvin Nagle formed a chips-and-putts machine with Argentina.

Thomson completed the first nine in 31 and dropped a 20-foot putt for an eagle three on the 10th. He birdied the 12th and had a new course record in sight until the par-three 17th, where he landed in a sand trap and took five.

That shaved the Australian lead to three strokes but Nagle took over with a birdie on the final hole to boost the margin to four. Thomson missed his shortest putt of the day on the 18th—a two-footer that would have given him 68 and 73 to go with a pair of 75's he carded earlier.

Leonard played sparkling golf in posting four sub-par rounds of 66, 71 and 70. He had his iron shots dropping all around the pin and rarely missed a short putt.

The Scottish team of Eric Brown and Tom Haliburton wound up fifth in the back of Canada.

France was sixth with 573, three under par, followed by England at 574 and Brazil at 575.

'WITNESS TO MURDER' THRILLS

(Prepared Review)

Barbara Stanwyck makes it three in a row after her memorable performances in "Double Indemnity" and "Sorry, Wrong Number" with another chilling execution into suspense drama in Chester Erskine's "Witness to Murder" which opened today at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. And seldom has a maid (in peril from a more suave and lethal adversary than George Sanders ,the personification of evil egomania. But Barbara's debonaire vla strangulation as cunningly and blithely as a playwright pencilling in a scene.

In this interplay of violence and passion the hunter becomes the hunted. Miss Stanwyck, the "witness" of the title, is herself victimized by the accused. Failing to convince the police in the person of Gary Merrill, a hard-boiled homicide lieutenant, that murder has been done, Miss Stanwyck is relentlessly hurled into a defence of her own sanity. A beguiled police captain even has her committed for psychiatric observation providing us with an insight into a mental hospital that is terrifying in its impact.

Chester Erskine's tightly-drawn script explodes in a surprise ending as exciting as anything Hollywood has ever visited upon us. It is a fitting climax to an offbeat suspense tale.

Needless to say, much of the film's shock effect is as much due to the magnificent play-acting of Barbara Stanwyck, George Sanders and Gary Merrill as to the Erskine story and the thrill-paced direction of Roy Rowland, a really superb blending of talents.

Supporting roles are extremely well handled by such screen veterans as Jesse White, Harry Shannon, Lyn Thomas and Claire Carleton.

are fitting and serviceable but there is a real show-stopper in the score nor any song that hints hit possibilities.

There are a few dull stretches, especially in the second act, the main slowdown coming in too much plot.

No doubt the pace will be quickened and much verbiage thrown out before the show reaches Broadway this fall. If so, New York may have its first musical hit of the season.

The Kibitzer

An oxpert is a monster who can quickly spoil your day. He criticizes what you do and promptly walks away. You get no chance to pierce his hide. He shoots off his guns and never hears the other side. He simply hits and runs.

Up jumped the rubber bridge deal shown here:

SOUTH

♣ A 5

The players bid it correctly like this:

South	North
1 Heart	3 Diamonds
3 Diamonds	4 Hearts
4 No-Trump	5 Hearts
6 Hearts	Pass

Standing behind north at the time was one of those hit and run critics. Said he: "There was no excuse for mentioning that diamond suit. I would have jumped in hearts right away."

Without awaiting a reply he stomped out of the room with a snort of disgust. It never occurs to such an ox that he could be wrong. Nor does he ever give his victims a chance to defend themselves.

The mug could have learned something. North could also told him why it is best to jump in diamonds first. There is a very good reason for the diamond jump instead of the jump in hearts.

South has six tricks. An immediate jump aside in a major suit promises five. From this south would not have learned they had tricks enough to warrant probing for a slam.

An immediate jump takeout promises six tricks. From this south finds out they have 12 tricks in the pair. So, the jump in diamonds gave information that a jump in hearts would not have done.

West led the club king and to make six hearts you dare not play it wrong. But the bidding was right. That much is certain.

Mary Martin Gives Magic Touch To New Musical 'Peter Pan'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mary Martin flew into town as "Peter Pan" this week, and it looks as though she could sail to another Broadway hit.

The show opened at the Philharmonic auditorium to a glittering audience that included Rosalind Russell, Leslie Caron, Lauren Bacall, Clifton Webb, Walter Pidgeon and Irene Dunne. The first-nighters gave Miss Martin a warm reception.

Now that the sentiment of the evening is past, one can appraise the show for what it offers and lacks. The great assets are its magic—in Miss Martin's playing and the technical effects.

There can be no doubt that Mary Martin is a perfect Peter Pan. She has all the bounce and youth that the role requires. She also has the authority needed for the leader of the lost boys. She vies with Ethel Merman as the stage performer with the greatest vocal carrying power.

CRAFTSMAN'S DREAM

The show is a stage craftsman's dream. The trees of Never-Never land leat out before your eyes, thanks to the scenic designs of Peter Larkin. The aerial feats are amazing. At the first-act curtain, Peter, Wendy, Michael and John take to the air in an electrifying flight from the realm of reality.

There is a fine English performer, Cyril Ritchard, who as Captain Hook is part Barrie, part Gilbert and Sullivan but all good. Wendy is perfectly played by a young TV actress named Kathy Nolan.

Liza the servant girl is played with dignity and charm by Heller Halliday, daughter of Mary Martin. Mother and daughter have a duet before the curtain that will be long remembered as one of the sentimental moments of the theatre.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, AUGUST 24, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Sensible restraint urged now. Be careful in important matters. Make changes where needed to increase assets. Don't go beyond your means or ability in planning or assuming new duties.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — You have fine insight, are clever and sense right from wrong quickly. Use these God-given gifts properly and you can make headway regardless of minor obstacles that are likely today.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — This can be an invigorating, profitable day if you will be extra careful about details; signing agreements, etc. You may find some tricky situations; bypass them if possible. Relax, rest in free time.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — If keen in observation before you act there are opportunities for good gains, pleasant hours. Be faithful to urgent tasks, you can show good results today.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — First thing: take stock of what's ahead. Control desires, don't go haywire seeking more than is reasonable and you won't be disappointed. Watch outside interests closely now.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Mercury, in friendly position, augurs for appreciable benefits from well-executed efforts. A productive day for business, investments, outdoor activities, real estate, personal matters.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Sensible economy especially stressed now. Allocate activities so you can complete what you start and have ample time to relax, to devote to family. News can be helpful; check.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—How much you accomplish depends greatly on how you view responsibilities. Don't become easily irritated; you'll thwart your own purpose; make progress harder. All can gain by pulling together.

November 22 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Willingness to cooperate, to accept trials along with privileges are virtues we all should practise. And you will better enjoy what you gain by being philosophical, genial.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Show your sunny side and you can make fine headway in your field of endeavor. Few obstacles this stimulating day, so pitch in; get benefits you deserve while you can.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—You may have to double effort to advance as you would today. Be on the up-and-up; also be willing to help as well as receive. Don't look for undeserved credits.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Some tedious tasks may mar an otherwise cheerful, gainful day. But have patience, tact and initiative; it should not be too hard to gain reasonable success.

YOU BORN TODAY are generally fond of science, the arts, music, law, teaching, decorating. You are innately honest, conscientious and painstaking; are orderly, personable; have many talents. Concentrate on one best suited to you and your specific surroundings. You are kindly, charitable; can be highly successful in journalism, almost any profession you really like and work at. Change from everyday routine is good for health and mind; your general outlook. Don't be overly serious. Birthdate of: Aubrey Beardsley, Eng. artist and author.

Salesman or Saleslady
WANTED
for Progressive Real Estate firm serving Belleville and area. Interesting work with congenial and co-operative staff. Applicants should be of unquestionable integrity, willing and able to render a service to the community who place remuneration (which is above average) secondary to service and results.
Experience is an asset, but not a deciding factor. The person with whom we wish to be associated must have sales experience and a good sales background. He must be active, of neat appearance with a pleasing and patient personality. Late model car and a knowledge of Belleville and area most essential.
All replies treated confidence. Send full particulars in the first instance to:

NOTICE
PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The following information is supplied in response to numerous queries from worried parents. For a temporary period of the fire, emergency arrangements must be made to accommodate the extra classrooms of pupils later to attend the Public Schools in September, 1954. Children from one family will probably attend more than one school in these periods:

1. Youngest children will attend schools closest to home.
(1) Part of the Kindergarten and Grades 1, 2 and 3 will attend Victoria School.
(2) Part of the Kindergarten and Grade 3 will attend Queen Alexandra School.
(3) Grades 4, 5 and 6 will attend Queen Alexandra School.
To make these arrangements possible, three classrooms at Victoria School, Queen Alexandra School will attend Queen Mary School on a double session basis. Prince Charles Kindergarten will "double up"; and basement rooms will be prepared at the Central Queen Mary School.
3. Grade 8 will remain with the Grade 7 classes in their present schools. Principals have worked together to provide a realistic result of confusion so that when the new Churchill school opens, entire classes with their teachers will move, and there will continue undisturbed.
Your co-operation for the sometimes inconvenience and confusion which will be caused by these arrangements and delays experienced many months ago are appreciated. There is trouble, and it is necessary that we have your help.

COMIC'S NOOSE FATAL

BOSTON (AP) — An 11-year-old boy accidentally hanged himself Thursday in his home while following directions in a comic book. Police physician Dr. Frederick Beering said Joseph P. Petrunelli made a hangman's noose from directions in the book and then tried it on himself. He apparently slipped from a table while the noose was around his neck on a rod looped over a kitchen clothesline.

Mexico Defeats Canada in Zone Tennis Battle

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Long-legged Gustavo Palafox, Mexico's 21-year-old national tennis champion, outlasted Stone Main of Vancouver and Toronto in a rousing five-set match Sunday and won his country a final berth in the Davis Cup North American zone eliminations.

Palafox, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4 defeated Eric Sturdy Llamas' easy straight-set conquest of Canadian substitute Paul Willey of Vancouver, gave Mexico the round by four matches to one. Main and Brendan Macken of Montreal salvaged a doubles victory over Francisco (Pancho) Contreras and Francisco Guerrero Sunday Saturday 7-5, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2.

The burden was on Main's shoulders in yesterday's second singles match against little No. 1 player fought gamely, but entered the match plagued with Macken, originally scheduled to be a non-playing captain, when Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que. suffered an upset stomach and was unable to play.

LOST IN SINGLES

Both Main and Bedard had dropped their opening singles assignments Friday to Llamas and Palafox respectively.

—With the series no longer at stake, Pancho Contreras announced substituted for the ailing Bedard in the last match and Ed Llanos downed him easily 6-1, 6-1, 6-4.

They gave Mexico her third victory over Canada in the five Davis Cup meetings and sent the winners into the semi-finals against the winners of a United States-Cuba round in which the Americans rank as prohibitive favorites.

The zone final will be played here in mid-September.

St. Catharines Ties Trailermen In Playoff Series

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — St. Catharines Athletics dumped Peterborough Trailermen 12-8 Saturday night to tie with the Trailermen for the lead in the Eastern Ontario Lacrosse Association senior playoff series, Hamilton is out.

The Athletics jumped to a 5-2 lead at the end of the first period, boosted it to 8-4 in the 2nd round and coasted the rest of the way.

Ted Howe tallied four goals and Jim Bradshaw three to pace the winners. Al Frick and Ross Powless got two apiece for Norm Corcoran one.

Dave Peterborough, Russ Slater scored two goals each and Lou Nickle once.

Seixas, Trabert Team to Beat In Tennis Doubles

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert are preparing for the golden doubles championships at Forest Hills secure in the knowledge they're still the doubles team to beat in the United States.

Seixas, the scrappy, court-wise Philadelphian, and Trabert, the "big game" specialist from Cincinnati, played together for the first time since Wimbledon, defeated Australia's Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall 3-6, 6-4, 8-6 in the finals of the U.S. national doubles tournament.

In the women's final defending champions Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., and Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, won their fourth straight title over Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Osborne Dupont of Wilmington, Del.

Seixas and Trabert won the Davis Cup challenge round doubles match at Melbourne last December from Hoad and Rex Hartwig in straight sets. Since then Seixas has beaten Hoad and Rosewall in two major tournaments, Sunday—finals in France and the semi-finals at Wimbledon.

Social Outcast Wins Whitney

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—Little Fisherman couldn't quite make it Saturday as Aldred Vanderbilt's 3-year-old outcast sped away from him in the stretch at Saratoga to capture the $58,300 Whitney Handicap.

Earlier, the Hasty Road stud's Nashua had established himself as just about the top two-year-old in the country winning the $27,900 Grand Union Hotel stakes with highly regarded Fyrestone second.

Fisherman, one of the year's best three-year-olds, is owned by C. V. Whitney, as is Fyrenees, and both were odds-on favorites in their races.

Big Four Pres. Declines to Give Meeting Result

MONTREAL (CP) — President Roy Robertson of the Big Four Sunday night declined to make public the result of a meeting of the football union's "executive council and act" on a Canadian Rugby Football Union ruling limiting the use of imports in league games.

Robertson said the findings of the council, called by representatives of all Big Four teams, will be turned in to Dr. W. A. Campbell of Kingston president of the CRFU.

Robertson said the meeting Sunday afternoon which lasted five hours dealt with "roughly one matter."

He called the meeting Friday following protests from the Montreal Alouettes and Ottawa Rough Riders against a statement by coach Harry McBrien, CRU secretary, that Big Four football clubs must play in not more than only eight of the 10 imports they are permitted to carry.

DISCUSS CRU RIGHTS

The CRU ruling was unanimously approved at its annual meeting, but the Big Four subsequently decided that playing nine imports in a game would be permissible in league competition.

"Under the present constitution they (the CRU) have the right to say what they will," Robertson said Friday night. "We have to find out if our member clubs believe this should be so..in the future."

He said the meeting would "discuss whether the CRU should have the right to interfere in the operation of any league."

The Big Four insisted to play one extra import "because they (the teams) thought both Ottawa and Hamilton should have an American to make up for lack of Canadian talent in the west."

Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats are the other members of the league.

Teams to Play Knockout Draw For Cage Title

VANCOUVER (CP) — Teams from four zones will meet in a draw for championship of the Canadian senior men's basketball championship, it was announced Sunday by the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association.

The knockout tournament was approved by delegates attending the CABA's annual meeting here.

The four zones are British Columbia - Alberta; Saskatchewan-Manitoba; Ontario; and Quebec-Maritimes.

Under the plan sponsored by B.C. delegates, zone playoffs will be held to determine regional winners with the winning teams advancing to the knockout tournament.

Delegates said the finals will alternate from east to west by rotation with Winnipeg expected to be the centre.

Swimmer Pulled From Water After Going 10 Miles

PORT WELLER (CP)—Winnie Roach Leuzier of St. Thomas was pulled from the water of Lake Ontario early Sunday after swimming some 10 miles of the 34-mile trip from Toronto to the Niagara.

The veteran long distance swimmer splashed into the lake at 9:06 Saturday night and was pulled out at 3:30 Sunday morning. Officials aboard Hamilton powerboat aquaduct No. 1 who accompanied her during the lake-crossing try said her legs were partially paralyzed by cramps. She suffered from stomach cramps when she was pulled out.

Mrs. Leuzier said shortly after that she intends to try the cross-lake swim again.

Steadiness Wins Amateur Golf Title for Bob Watson

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Harvie Ward, 24-year-old veteran golf wizard and his steadiness won him the Canadian amateur golf championship Saturday.

In the all-United States final over the Delaware Country Club course, the 28-year-old car salesman from San Francisco only once let Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., get a hole away from him. Then Harvie poured on par golf and Big Bill, unexpectedly floundering, was subdued 4 and 4.

The match was won and lost on the third nine. The 23-year-old Huntington insurance man had courageously overcome Ward's two hole lead going out briefly in the morning round and went to lunch with a comforting one hole margin.

After that it was all Ward. The native North Carolinian let the 10th hole slip out of his hand when he missed a four-foot putt, and the third was halved. Ward then immediately threw three pars and a birdie at Campbell and the tall West Virginian couldn't match them.

WARD TOOK SIX

Campbell's short game had suddenly curdled. He was missing the greens and taking six at the disastrous nine he virtually made a present of six holes to Ward. On the 12th hole, which par Campbell salvaged only one, and that with a par putt when Ward's second shot carried over the 241b green.

They rounded the final turn for home with Ward in front by four holes up.

At the 16th Ward caught a trap with his second shot and Campbell's par putt put him in front for the only time in the match. The 17th hole was halved, then Ward had a fondness for the front nine, clouting a medal par there in both morning and afternoon rounds. Over the full morning round Campbell had a one-over-par 71 to Ward's 72 but the outcome was in the bag. Ward's eight-under-par for Campbell and he took a medal 69. Campbell was eight over par for the 36 holes played and Ward only three over.

Native Dancer Will Be Retired To Maryland Farm

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—Native Dancer, the great grey champion known as "the Gray Ghost" during his career as a millionaire, is going home to Cincinnati to spend the winter.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt retired Native Dancer Sunday to retire the powerful four-year-old colt stud after the recurrence of an injury to his right forefoot.

The idol of millions was to have started in the mile and one quarters Saratoga Cup Friday. Then a decision was to have been made whether to race at Belmont Park.

Vanderbilt made his decision suddenly after consulting with trainer Bill Winfrey. The Dancer, winner of 21 of his 22 races, worked out this morning, going 6 a mile and three furlongs in 1:24 3-5.

Vanderbilt said the Dancer will retire to his Sagamore farm in Maryland and his racing.

It was only one week ago today that the Dancer made his last race, passing the 20-out-of-21 record of the great Man O'War. He was retired after his three-year-old season in 1930.

The Dancer, beaten only when Dark Star won by a head in the Kentucky Derby, was the only horse feated during his two-year-old career of nine races.

Curly Lambeau Fired as Coach Of Red Skins

DETROIT (AP)—Joe Kuharich, a man who has worked with Washington Redskins football team for only 23 days, today took over as head coach under a "get tough" policy which resulted in coach Curly Lambeau's dismissal Sunday.

After the club arrived in Detroit Sunday night for an exhibition game with Detroit Lions Friday night, Washington general manager Dick McCanna said flatly:

"Joe Kuharich is the new coach of the Redskins. That is definite."

McCann said the move was made shortly after Lambeau and Gerry Preston Marshall, Redskin owner, had a heated argument in the lobby of a Sacramento, Calif., hotel early Sunday morning.

Kuharich, 37, is the sixth Redskin coach in 23 years.

Lambeau did not make the trip to Detroit.

Kuharich said, "I only know that I was told that I am in charge of the Redskins."

Sources close to the team said they believed Marshall was displeased with the "easy going" approach Lambeau had taken with the club.

Sources also said Marshall apparently had been building up steam since the Redskins were beaten 27-7 by Los Angeles Rams last Wednesday night and again by the San Francisco 49ers, 30-7 last Saturday night. Both were exhibition games.

KONSTANTY TO YANKEES

BOSTON (AP)—New York Yankees today announced Jim Konstanty, 37-year-old righthander, from Philadelphia Phillies.

It was a straight cash deal with Konstanty being waived on by Steve Ellenstock League clubs and the six below New York in the American League standings. He reports to the champions Tuesday night in New York.

Konstanty has a 3-3 record this year. Last season he won 14 and lost 10. In 1950 he set a National League record for appearances, working in 74 games, and was voted the most valuable player in the league.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The thought of sitting through a documentary film based on the life and times of PeeWee Reese, Brooklyn Dodger shortstop and captain, was not an inviting prospect. Inevitable, if the truth must be told. Having known him for some 14 years and admired him as I did that limited there was no crying need of a refresher course.

But we went along to a private showing, with PeeWee's wife and baby daughter present, and we are glad that we did. The idea of putting the intimate lives of our diamond heroes on film, with authentic background material except movies in, is surprisingly effective, as millions of sports fans are due to discover for themselves next spring.

"And this is PeeWee Reese," is the first to be completed of 39 similar short subjects which have been in the process of production for 1½ years. They will be seen on television as part of a sponsor program starting with the 1955 baseball season.

QUANTITY WITH QUANTITY

The producer, Emerson Yorke, obviously has sunk a great deal of money into the film project. More than 40,000 feet of film already is in the can. But if what we saw is a fair sample (and Yorke claims they get better as they go along) he doesn't need to worry about getting his money back. Would-be sponsors are already bidding up steam since the Redskins were beaten 27-7 by Los Angeles Rams last Wednesday night again by the San Francisco 49ers, 30-7 last Saturday night. Both were exhibition games.

The producer's chief problem, obviously has sunk a great deal of money into the film project. More than 40,000 feet of film already is in the can. But if what we saw is a fair sample (and Yorke claims they get better as they go along) he doesn't need to worry about getting his money back. Would-be sponsors are already bidding up steam since the Redskins were beaten 27-7 by Los Angeles Rams last Wednesday night again by the San Francisco 49ers, 30-7 last Saturday night. Both were exhibition games.

"This is the first time," Yorke said, "that the film producers have been made to bring the ball player into the picture home, to show him as the human being he is, how he came to be what he is. It is the direct result of the study officially sanctioned by Commissioner Ford Frick, which permitted a club publicity man to be present at every interview I've had with the players.

"My agreement with them is that I will not photograph any of their wives or children or any part of it, I wish to, within reason."

As it happens, the first subject, PeeWee Reese, is a perfect one for that nature. He was just born on a farm near Louisville, slowly grew up to be a marble champion in the bourbon capital and at a still tender age was playing baseball shortstop for the Dodgers. There was no childhood.

The audience gets to know Louisville with the film, the monuments and its bat factory, to see Reese's modest home and his bird dog and to be introduced to his lawn thumbing through the family album. It is clear that PeeWee has a good boy and that she is proud of him.

Then visit the school where PeeWee first played baseball and meet first coach. There are scenes shot at a factory where as a kid he had a sidewalk food concession. There are shots of the Louisville Slugger where he broke in as a professional.

There is much more, including later pictures of Jackie Robinson of how to start the double play and hit curve balls. Pretty Mrs. Reese pitches and PeeWee bats in a ball player, and all the way through there's a mellow voice of Ted Husing, still the finest of the sports commentators.

BRAZIL'S PRESIDENT TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Two Soldiers, Girl Die in Shooting At Camp Shilo

Jealousy Seen by Police As Motive for Slayings

More Than Five Inches of Rain At Owen Sound

OWEN SOUND (CP)—More than five inches of rain fell in torrents in Owen Sound and district during a severe electrical storm that lasted from 7 p.m. Monday until 6 a.m. today.

Lightning knocked the chimney off the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Graham but fire was prevented and damage amounted to only $300.

Streets and basements were flooded during the storm, and one grocer, Bud Doran, suffered a $1,500 loss when water rose five inches in his stock-filled cellar.

Firemen were called out several times.

Radio Station CFOS was almost inundated from 9 p.m. after fuses were blown out in the transmitter.

Official weather observer Percy Gardiner said the overnight rain fall was 5.09 inches. Continual flashes of lightning illuminated the sky to the accompaniment of steady rolls of thunder.

BRANDON, Man. (CP)—A soldier's jealousy on seeing his girl friend with another soldier is blamed for what police described as a double murder and suicide Monday night at nearby Camp Shilo.

The victims were Yvonne Hamer 16, of Camp Shilo and two soldiers whose names were withheld by army authorities until next-of-kin are notified.

The girl lived at the camp with her parents, Cpl. and Mrs. Edgar W. Hamer.

Cpl. Hamer, a member of the Royal Canadian Engineers, blamed the soldier's jealousy for the shooting.

Assoc. Suggests Permanent Licence Plates

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Retail Gasoline and Automotive Service Association Monday suggested adoption of permanent licence plates for vehicles in the province.

In a brief presented to the legislature's select committee on liens the association said this system would provide an easily-obtained record of a vehicle's ownership for police, government registration offices or anyone needing the information.

The association also endorsed establishment of a central registration office which would protect persons buying used cars if at the time of purchase they were able to determine whether there were any liens against the car.

A central registry scheme, the brief suggested, would require that all owners have a certificate of title which would have written on it the amount of the chattel mortgage every time money was borrowed on the car.

Besides this, any original financier of the car would have to be shown.

Each time any firm either financed, leased or loaned money with a car as security, they would only do so if certificate of title was produced and the amount entered on it at the time of financing.

COUPLE TRAPPED

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—A husband and his young wife, on their way to a hospital where she was to give birth to a child, were trapped in the wreckage of their car through Monday morning's rush to death. Police said the truck collided with a motor pickup, turned over and caught fire. The dead were Harold Legg, 25, and his 25-year-old wife, Jessie. The driver of the other truck was charged with negligent homicide.

Wing Commander Takes Exchange Post With U.S.

OTTAWA (CP) — Wing Cmdr. Keith Greenaway, RCAF's top polar navigator, will leave here late this month for a two-year exchange posting as U.S. strategic bomber command, the air force announced Monday.

Though the 38-year-old native of Woodville, Ont., is too modest to say so, he will help to train American bomber navigators how to fly across the roof of the world and cover vast distances exactly on schedule and on target.

Greenaway, who will be stationed at MacDill air force base at Tampa, Fla., has been described by former defence minister Claxton as the greatest polar aerial navigator in the world today.

He won the McKee Trophy in 1952 for outstanding service in the advancement of Canadian aviation. In the same year he also won the Thurlow Award, given annually by the U.S. Institute of Navigation to the person most likely to make outstanding scientific and practical contribution to navigation.

Greenaway has developed a navigation computer, among other gadgets, which is now in use generally both the RCAF and RAF as standard equipment for northern flying.

Kitchener Child Crushed to Death

KITCHENER (CP) — Twenty-two-months-old David Whitney of Kitchener was killed Monday when he was crushed beneath the wheel of a backing ice truck a few feet away from his home.

Police said five or six youngsters were in the rear of the truck when two ice company employees returned from making a delivery. Ronald Jones, 18, of Kitchener and Robert McCormick, 18, of Wellesley, shooed the children away.

As McCormick backed the vehicle toward the nearby street he felt a bump, and heard a child scream.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A narrow trough of thunderstorms associated with the warm tropical air that arrived Monday swept across southern Ontario during the night. This hot humid air mass will affect the weather over most of Ontario today and Wednesday. However, air has edged down from Northern Canada to Manitoba, nearly all the prairie provinces and is gradually pushing slowly southeastward.

EISENHOWER SAYS CONGRESS MADE FINE RECORD

Sounds Optimistic Note About Security in West

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower told United States veterans Monday night the Republican 83rd Congress chalked up a fine record toward assuring a stronger, better America. He urged them to remember that when they go to the polls in the November Congressional elections.

In a radio and television address, Eisenhower sounded an optimistic note about the security of Western Europe in the face of collapse of European defence army talks at Brussels.

HE BACKED YET

"Don't be too discouraged," the chief executive said. The great statesmen of Europe "want peace as much as you and I do."

"They are not licked yet. And we are certainly not licked. We will not lose faith in them. There is still something to be done in that region, and we are going to do it."

The rest of Eisenhower's half-hour address was exclusively a plug for his Administration and the record of the Republican-led Congress which wound up its legislative chores last Friday.

He bragged about with enacted legislation which he said would cut taxes by nearly 7½ billion dollars, expand social security coverage and increase benefits, shift presently high price supports to a system of flexible props, and provide new weapons to help defend communism and subversion at home.

CUTS DEFICIT

He claimed a two-thirds cut in the deficit—which he said their size was "appalling when he took office"—and declared: "We are well on the way toward a goal, finally, of achieving a balanced budget in the next year or two, God willing."

But the chief executive added that his is "a human administration" which hasn't placed "the pocketbook above the heart."

On that point, he pointed to enactment of legislation in the fields of housing, health, welfare, aid to aged agriculture, and said it's all designed to make America "a better, more secure place in which to live."

Game Preserve Planned in Marsh

BRANTFORD (CP) — A Crown game preserve of 3,500 acres will be established on a part of the Luther Marsh, Wellington County of duck hunters in the upper Grand River Valley, Dr. A. Robinson, secretary of the Grand River Conservation Commission, said Monday.

The part of the marsh to be set apart extending east from the dam at Luther Marsh and extending north to the hamlet of Monticello.

Remainder of the lake area will be open to the public, subject to department of lands and forests regulations.

Wage Hike of 5 Cents an Hour Recommended for Stelco Plant

TORONTO (CP) — An Ontario conciliation board has recommended a general wage increase of five cents an hour for nearly 7,000 workers at the Hamilton plant of the Steel Company of Canada, the country's biggest steel producer.

In a report released today, the board turned down a request by the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) for an additional hourly boost of 1½ cents in about 30 job classifications.

Negotiations between the union and the company, which began last January, hinged on wages but included workers' demands for higher pensions, improved union security, longer vacations, overtime schedules, sick benefits and welfare improvements.

The union had demanded an across-the-board increase of 8½ cents an hour over the present basic rate of $1.43½.

The board was headed by Judge W. S. Lane of Picton. Norman L. Mathews of Toronto represented the company and Marius Lalonde was the union nominee.

Judge Lane said he could not grant the union's request for increased union security, the provision sought by workers in the disproved pension plan.

This pledge is regarded by many union officials as the peacebetter in Canadian steel plants, including such basic mills as the Sault Ste. Marie and Sydney, N. S. plants, which have been operating on only a few minor points.

"There was no evidence before the board to justify the proposed increase, or any increase," said Mr. Mathews.

Mr. Levinson questioned the right of the board to rule against wage parity between United States and Canadian steelworkers, a major point in debate. The union has said wages of steelworkers in this country should be brought in line with steelworkers wages in the U. S.

Said Judge Lane:

"The steel industry in Canada is the steel industry in this country and this country alone.

"... We cannot and should not impose the American wage pattern on Canadian industry generally or on any Canadian industry in particular if we expect by and large the to have complete or relatively-complete employment in Canada."

Mr. Levinson commented:

"The Canadian steel industry has been operating in parity with the steel industry in the United States, but it refuses to accept wage parity. It is much more possible that higher wages at the Steel Company of Canada will have to provide a lower standard of living for other sections of the Canadian population, but smaller dividends of returns to the shareholders at the Steel Company of Canada."

The report was handed to company and union officials Monday for consideration. H. Millard, the union's national director, declined comment on it but said: "We are ready to use the next seven days provided in the act to meet the parties in an effort to settle these matters which have not been settled in negotiations to date" before any further moves of negotiation and conciliation proceedings.

The law requires that a union wait seven days after the conciliation board report is handed down before it can call a strike. The union has given a 48-hour strike notice.

Conciliation talks broke down July 22 after months of negotiations.

At these discussions, the company said its wages were more than kept pace with the cost of living and with wages in the industry generally and have brought improvements in employee living standards. The company had spent $100,000,000 in plant expansion since 1945.

The majority report also turned down the union request for double time for work on statutory holidays.

Hope for Good Fall Business, But U.S. Businessmen Nervous

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Hope for good fall business in the United States burns bright. But many American businessmen are privately a little nervous about it until the next few weeks are past.

Signs of an upturn aren't too convincing yet. Government recession appears to have been halted, but some of the usual August signals—bank loans, and steel output—are flashing an advance as they should.

If an upswing comes after Labor Day, American industry's adjustment to peacetime will have been placed in the past-history files. But if trade and output don't make the usual show of strength as the days shorten, businessmen will be in another look at their plans and expectations.

They're mostly playing it cautiously now. Bank loans to business should be increasing in August as retailers stock up for fall trade and wholesalers order for Christmas. This August businessmen are staying away from the bank.

Factories report merchants slow in ordering.

Merchants usually do 40 per cent of the year's business in the last four months. So far in 1954 trade has been running slightly behind a year ago.

Consumer income stays high. What was lost by factory layoffs and the drop in seasonal jobs was pretty much regained through tax cuts, the boost in social security rates, and increased dividend and interest payments.

Industrial output didn't change from May through July. But the federal reserve board's index, based in two important fields, automobiles and steel, output "fell by more than the seasonal amount in July."

Auto-model change-overs, coming early this year and taking longer, are holding down production in that big steel-consuming industry. Railroad freight-car orders are another weak point. The backlog of cars on order now is only about a fourth of what it was a year ago. The general business prospects sound enough for the long haul. As for the short pull, the next few weeks should give the tip-off.

Await Statement About Of Scientist

QUEBEC (CP) — Solicitor-General Lionel Chevrier said in a statement, perhaps today, about the circumstances leading to the interference last week by Justice Richards, 36, English-born scientist and conference host, Wednesday on the grounds of the Quebec lieutenant-governor's residence.

Mr. Rivard, likely will make known some of the facts uncovered by Crown Prosecutor Armand Morin day by Dr. Rosario Fontaine of Montreal, on the coroner, government's top medico-legal expert, and to indicate whether Richards' death was an accident or a crime.

A coroner's inquest was opened and adjourned to Wednesday after the report was tabled in the Commons last week.

It is not known if Dr. Fontaine who returned to Montreal in his private plane for the weekend before announcing his conclusions.

Meanwhile the attorney-general's department has released Richards' body to Scotland Yard, London, England.

Provincial police said Richards died from a brain hemorrhage caused by a blow to the head. They gave no explanation.

Investigators believe he may have been murdered. They have said they believe he may also he was kicked by horses in a grazing enclosure where he was discovered.

Police have not discounted robbery as a motive for the shocking dispatch the $27 found in the man's pockets. They believe the killers have been carrying a larger sum.

At Ottawa, the defence research board said Monday it has no reason to believe that Richards' death has any connection with secret work on Canada's guided missile project. Richards, an employee of Canadair Limited, Montreal, was on loan to the Canadian armaments research and development establishment at Valcartier, Que., at the time of his death.

URGE U.S. MOVE TO REARM REICH OUTSIDE OF EDC

Senators Urge Action To Offset Deadlock

By ROWLAND EVANS Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Democrats and a Republican senator voiced dismay today over the European Defence Community deadlock and said the United States may soon have to move directly toward rearming West Germany.

Senator Mike Mansfield (Dem.-Mont.) labelled the failure at Brussels to reach agreement on the six-nation European Army project "a victory for the Soviet Union."

Sen. Ed Johnson (D.-Colo.), he said, the German federal republic should be admitted "by as soon as practicable."

MOVE TO REARM

Senator Richard Russell (Dem.-Ga.) said possible loss of Germany to Communist domination would be "catastrophic," while Senator Arthur Watkins (Rep.-Utah) said an EDC collapse would mean the United States must "by all means" move to rearm the forces of enemy.

President Eisenhower, in a broadcast Monday night, discussed the "grave challenge" and predictions about Europe" as the EDC army officers' position was presented to Vargas this morning. It was understood that the president, who came to power in 1930 and ruled all but five years since then, has agreed to ask Congress for a leave of absence. Four hours later he died.

Joao Cafe Filho, vice-president since 1951, was in line to succeed Vargas.

The crisis that brought Vargas' suicide death began August 5 with the slaying of an air force major, Ruben Vaz, during an attempt to assassinate Carlos Lacerda, an anti-Vargas editor. The slaying aroused widespread indignation in both the military and the press. This grew when it was discovered that members of Vargas' personal body guard were involved. Vargas absolved the guard.

VARGAS OUT

The crisis broke into rioting Aug. 11. Two papers were burned and campaign posters for Vargas' Brazilian Labor party (PTB) were torn down.

"Vargas out!" shouted the mob. The military acted quickly to prevent further disturbances. The army, navy and air force issued a public declaration demanding the support of the constitution.

Vargas narrowly escaped a time Brazil was undergoing severe economic stress. Last week the price of coffee, the nation's top export, fell to terms of American dollars, and there have been predictions of further blows against Brazilian currency.

The air force, with Vargas' permission, obtained the personal papers of Gregoria Fortunato, former head of the disbanded presidential guard, and these papers may have provided materials for the final push against Vargas.

The papers, partly published, purported to show influence-peddling by Fortunato. This increased the troubles for the government already under attack for alleged corruption.

New demands for Vargas' resignation were made Monday night by 27 federal officers conferred 10 hours Sunday and prepared a note saying Vargas' resignation was the only solution for the crisis.

NIGHT OF DRAMA

The army officers' memorial calling for Vargas to quit was presented to him shortly after midnight by Gen. Mascarenhas de Moraes, chief of the armed forces general staff, and war minister Zenobio da Costa. Then came frantic hours of conferences between Vargas and these army officers and members of his cabinet, as well as members of his family.

Finally came the announcement that Vargas had agreed to take a leave of absence.

It was the second time Vargas had been asked to quit the presidency of this country of 54,000,000 persons. An armed coup in 1945 deposed him after he had served 15 years. But he came back in 1951.

The air force, which took the lead in probing the Lacerda case, uncovered documents leading to accusations of corruption in the Vargas government.

Today Vargas' death distributed heavily in the area of the presidential palace. An unusual number of police also was noted on the streets.

Vice-president Cafe issued a statement asking all Brazil to lay aside political and personal feelings and pay Vargas the homage due him.

Rio's mayor, Dulcido Cardoso, closed all schools and public offices.

LOSES SUPPORT

Sharp increases in the cost of living began to cut into Vargas' popular support with the masses in the last two years. He sought to offset this trend with decrees giving minimum city wage scales as high as 100 per cent, but private companies countered with widespread layoffs.

The government also came under attack of army leaders, who charged that it had not provided adequate military funds. The latter charge increased the mounting tensions to a head.

Forced to Quit, Getulio Vargas Shoots Himself

Army Joined With Air Force In Demanding Resignation

By STANFORD BRADSHAW

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil's old iron man, Getulio Vargas, sent a bullet through his heart and died in his palace today after 58 generals forced him to quit as president.

"To the wrath of my enemies I leave the legacy of my death," said a note left by the 71-year-old chief of the world's fourth largest country.

"I take the sorrow of not being able to give to the humble all that I wished."

FULFILLS PROMISE

Vargas stepped down from the presidency at dawn and shot himself at 7:41 a. m. EDT in his quarters at Catete Palace. Gen. Caido da Castro, chief of his military staff, was with him. Police said Vargas suddenly whipped a pistol from his pocket and shot, dying almost immediately.

He thus fulfilled a promise made Sunday night—that he would leave office only under arrest or dead. That was after 26 general officers of the air force asked him to resign to calm a tense political and military situation. Today 31 general officers of the army joined in the demand for Vargas' ouster.

While the sat silently in her cage a man climbed into her car parked across the street and drove away, ignoring her shouts. Police still are looking for the thief.

Locked in Cage Cashier Sees Her Car Stolen

VISALIA, Calif. (AP)—To protect them from thieves, this city's theatre cashiers are locked—from the outside—in their booths. But the precaution backfired for Robbie Whitefield, 17.

While she sat helplessly in her cage a man climbed into her car parked across the street and drove away, ignoring her shouts. Police still are looking for the thief.

Vargas' suicide was the result of a long struggle between the president and the army officers who demanded his resignation. Vargas refused to quit, and the army officers then issued an ultimatum demanding his resignation by 4 p. m. today.

Vargas' death came hours before the deadline.

Safety Writer Fatally Injured In Car Accident

ATLANTIC, Iowa (AP) — "Ten seconds to live."

That was the title of a dramatic story in the current issue of Reader's Digest.

Today the author, Stanley Kramer, 32, died at a hospital here Sunday, along with a companion, Ralph Stevens, 30, of Moines. Sheriff Kenneth Jones said Kramer's new Jaguar sports car "clipped" another vehicle, rolled and careened into a bridge. Two persons were injured in the crash. It was not known who was driving.

SOLDIER GETS DEATH

MUNICH (Reuters)—A 30-year-old German soldier was executed Robert K. McMahan, of Willington, S.C., Thursday for murder. He was shot by a court martial here for shooting a 58-year-old German taxi-driver, Karl Kaiser, on July 10. Evidence showed McMahan stole Kaiser's car. Yesterday the sentence is subject to confirmation.

Duchess of Kent Steps Into Past, Will Visit Ursulines' Monastery

By TOM McCUSKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—The Duchess of Kent steps into the past today to visit the 315-year-old Ursuline monastery inside the ancient walled city of Quebec.

The tall, stylish duchess and her 17-year-old daughter, Princess Alexandra, will be walking in the footsteps of the duke, who, a year before he died in a car crash in Britain in 1942, visited wartime Quebec in top secrecy.

But no secrecy surrounds this visit. Monday they visited the legislature and city hall and while the princess took time out for a game of tenpis at the Quebec Citadel, the duchess toured the new veteran's hospital at Ste. Foy in the suburbs.

Today they are due to spend 25 minutes at the convent. After signing the golden visitor's book, a privilege accorded to few, they will be conducted around the historic building by a private luncheon at Pointe Platon, 4 miles southwest of here at a 124-year-old seigneur Alain Joly de Lotbiniere and his wife, direct descendents of French nobility. A daughter of Queen Victoria, Princess Louise, once called there in 1879.

Shortly before dinner at the lieutenant-governor's house, 300 local residents there will be a reception for Laval University, the oldest French university in North America. Queen Victoria granted it a charter in December, 1852.

The visitors Monday called on Premier Duplessis and Mayor Hamel and later, the duchess spent more than an hour chatting with war veterans.

Princess Alexandra attended a luncheon party at Bois de Coulonge before playing tennis.

Ducks Will Soon Be Off and Waddling At New Track Called Eider Downs

POMONA, Calif. (AP)—If you read in your sports pages next month where Fred Grove and Fancy Free ran one-two at Eider Downs, don't start thinking in a new horse racing track has opened.

Eider Downs is the name of the new 70-foot track at Los Angeles and the ducks will be off and waddling over it Sept. 17-Oct. 3.

Indian runner ducks, noted for speed and agility, are what are going to hot foot it over Eider Downs daily for the amusement of thousands of spectators. There will be no parimutuel betting, however.

Favorite for the Canvasback Handicap, second race on the card, Gander but he presently is suffering from a recurring web ailment. Duck racing rules place no bar on ducks with names resembling geese.

The ducks are trained to run over the track by placing grain at the end of the lane. Those who disdain the sport are retired to the duck pond, where they really star. One set a European record of 220 yards in 365 days, "But racing is easier.

CITY & DISTRICT NEWS

RADIO CLUBS JOIN TO ENJOY PICNIC

Members of the Quinte Amateur Radio Club and those of the North Shore Amateur Radio Club of the Oshawa district got together for a joint picnic Sunday at Cobourg Beach.

A full program of games and races was enjoyed by the kiddies with prizes going to the winners. Mobile radio gear was demonstrated for the members.

Plans are to enlarge this annual picnic to take in the Eastern Ontario district.

HUMIDITY INCREASES DESPITE STORM, RAIN IN DISTRICT

A thunderstorm rattled over the city and district at about 7.40 this morning, making a dent in the cloud of humidity hanging over the area since Monday. However, the atmosphere still continued sticky this afternoon. Some .44 inches of rain fell, while hydro authorities reported the early-morning storm had caused no appreciable damage to power lines. Isolated thunderstorms are again forecast for the Lake Ontario region tonight and Wednesday evening with the atmosphere continuing hot.

Vastness of Oil Industry Outlined to Rotary Club

On a 20-1 long shot of obtaining pertinent results, the oil industry this year will spend some $385 million in exploring and developing Canada's western oil fields.

This pointer to the optimism of the oil industry exploring Canada's oil reserves was given by Leslie J. W. Burns, Ontario manager of the Market Branch of Imperial Oil Company, at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club in the Hotel Quinte, yesterday.

"At present the industry is spending about $1 million daily in drilling and development in western Canada," he said, "while the average results show that only one in every 20 drillings results in a producing well."

The present hope for turning the nation's oil resources into a giant industry dates from the big Leduc discovery in Alberta, in 1947.

Prior to the spark-plug of Leduc, Canadian oil wells supplied due, Canadian oil wells supplied part of Alberta, an infinitesimal part of southwestern Ontario and a negligible area around Norman Wells in the Northwest Territories," Mr. Burns said.

"Now, native Canadian crude (oil) supplies most of the British Columbia demand, all that the prairies can use, and roughly half of the needs of that section of Ontario stretching east of the Ottawa valley."

"The discoveries that followed Leduc have created the greatest demand in the rest of Canada for dependence on imported oil and fuel," he said.

Canada now could produce well over half of the crude oil needs, while before 1947 the nation produced only seven per cent of its needs.

The nation's daily oil consumption is about 515,000 barrels. Alberta fields, source of most of Canadian oil, could now produce 1,000,000 barrels of oil over 350,000 barrels a day, Mr. Burns estimated.

MAY BALANCE NEEDS

"Most men in the industry think that our mushrooming production will almost certainly, within a few years, be enough, on balance, for our total needs."

Are there other fields awaiting discovery?

"That could be classed as a very good $64-question," Mr. Burns said.

The answers can only be learned by continued exploration and development. Last year various oil discoveries were more than 1,000 miles apart.

"The important thing is that the industry is continuing to find encouragement from new discoveries and is continuing to make the investment that is needed if the oil progress is to be extended still further."

This investment so far has reached $2,100,000,000.

"It is still too early to evaluate many of the recent finds, but one certainly is that Canada's oil reserves have increased satisfactorily."

"Up to 1947 the nation's reserves were estimated at 72 million barrels, but since then 'new' discoveries have discovered more than two billion barrels of crude oil under Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba," he said.

He dubbed estimates of potential reserves, which may be discovered in the future, as "astronomical."

Although the nation's oil industry has "some distance to go to reach self-sufficiency, the discoveries since Leduc were significant to that end," he said.

At Canada's present rate of consumption the reserves were judged sufficient for 2,000 years, Mr. Burns told the club.

On the future prospects of exploration he said: "Perhaps the most encouraging results have been that oil is being found in widely scattered areas."

Storm Delays Traders Reaching Local Market

Trading was quiet on the mid-week market today with the heavy early-morning storm delaying some traders reaching the market.

Prices continued to hold steady with no changes. Apples were 75 cents a six-quart basket for transparents and duchess with astrachans bringing 85 cents. Peaches were 75-85 cents a basket. Canteloupes were 10-40 cents, while Burbank plums were thirty cents a quart, 75 cents a basket, while a small offering of blue plums sold at 60 cents a quart.

Corn remained at 50 cents a dozen, while cucumbers were 25 cents for gherkins, 75 cents for dills and slicers were from five cents each. Beans were 15 cents a quart 30 cents a basket, while beets were 10 cents a bunch, 50 cents a basket. Peppers were 10 five cents each and turnips 10 cents each. Cauliflowers sold from 25 cents while cabbage was from 10-15 cents. Spring onions were five cents a bunch, and Spanish were 10 cents a bunch from 10 cents and marrows up to 20 cents. Obituary

EDWARD SHEEHY (Kenilworth)

After a short illness, Edward Joseph Sheehy 75, died Monday, August 16, in St. Joseph's Hospital, Guelph, Ontario.

Born December 4, 1878, in Kenilworth, he was a son of the late Michael Sheehy and Catherine Sherry. In 1907, he married the former Mary Hearn, who predeceased him 12 years ago. He was a member of Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church, Kenilworth, and the Holy Name Society.

Surviving are three sons, Francis and Stafford of Kenilworth and Michael of Belleville; one daughter, Mrs. Harry (Kathryn) Pointer, of Belleville; six brothers, John of Kenilworth and Matthew of Rockwood; one sister Mrs. E. (Mary) Boyle, of Guelph and eight grandchildren.

The body rested in his late residence, Reqiuem High Mass was conducted Thursday at 9:30 a.m., in the Sacred Heart Church by the Rev. G. Beck, assisted by the Rev. V. O'Donnell.

The bearers were George Elliott and five nephews of the deceased, Jack Sheehy, Edward Sheehy, Elwood Sheehy, Michael Boyle, and Michael Epoch.

There were many spiritual offerings and floral tributes.

Interment was in the Sacred Heart Cemetery.

There were relatives attending from Syracuse, N.Y.; Windsor, Sault Ste. Marie, Kitchener, Belleville, Guelph, Toronto Rockwood.

JAMES DOLAN HUNTER

The funeral of James Dolan Hunter was held Monday morning, from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home to St. Michael the Archangel Church, where Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. P. F. Murphy.

Bearers were Arnold Bartlett, William Frawley, Clifford Jenkinson, Frederick Keegan Sr., Earl Rivers and James Shea.

Prayers at the graveside in St. James' cemetery were led by Very Rev. Dean L. B. Garvin.

DELBERT RAYMOND BELNAP

The funeral of Delbert Raymond Belnap was held on Monday afternoon from the chapel of the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home. Rev. H. H. Hillis conducted the service in the chapel and at the graveside.

Bearers were Dan Belnap, Keith Belnap, Bill Clapp, Jerry Bisdee, Asa Brickman and Clayton Brickman.

Interment took place in Albury cemetery.

Spaniel Dislikes Duck Hunting But Loves Riding Surfboard

WELLINGTON (Special) —It takes potential surf-board riders and water-ski enthusiasts a half dozen lessons before they can master the water-ski art, but Bobby, a spaniel aboard in his first try and became an expert immediately.

"Johnny" is a handsome black spaniel who two or three times daily dashes across West Lake aboard a surf board which trails behind the foaming wake of his master's trim speedboat.

Chief Police Earl Marvin (left) asked "Johnny" from a pup, decided to allow the water-loving pooch a try at surf-board riding last Saturday. Carol, Earl's daughter, was ready to take off when "Johnny" came aswimming, a look of appeal in his big spaniel eyes.

"Let him try it," said the chief. Johnny climbed aboard with Carol and they were away.

The roared around the lake three times with Johnny rearing a proud head- but hanging grimly to Carol when the going was sweeping turns.

SOLO ON SECOND TRY

The next day "Johnny" went it alone and came through with flying colors. He took the board twice and on the third time flipped into the water. He swam to the boat and was hauled in.

Since that time "Johnny" makes regular trips on the lake. He stands well forward on the board, balancing himself without benefit of tow rope. He holds up a paw proudly when passing cottages, either in pride or acknowledgment of the ovation he receives from the lakeshore audience.

He seems to be aware of the fact that he is the only surf-board riding pooch in the village if not the county and district. And by levies in Wellington, he's willing him. He's a dog and in his own canine manner "begs."

HATES HUNTING DUCKS

His begging is for food or favors. If "the chief rises, "Johnny" races to the kitchen door as it open and dashes to where the speedboat is berthed.

Strange as it may seem, "Johnny" is not a bird dog. He doesn't bother with ducks or other feathered trophies at the chase.

But he will bring home musical occasionally. This love of hunting was developed when "Johnny" was a pup. He was taken by Allen Marvin, the chief's son, on his trapline. "Johnny" was brought up in a muskrat atmosphere, and that suffices him.

Carol can "sit up" and "roll over" — the conventional dog tricks, but his best trick is bringing in the newspaper. He considers it a game. Store and in others at a time, when in the winter times, when the paper is tossed at the Marvin door and the snow comes down in drifts, "Johnny" locates it, digs it out of the snow and takes it to the house.

Meanwhile tourists and visitors alike are getting a tremendous thrill out of "Johnny's" daily tours on the lake. Soon he may be trained to ride the skis and if he becomes proficient enough, the next winter the glamor gals of the Florida Cypress Gardens will appear in a black beauty from Canada.—G. H. C.

$4,000 Damage To Cooley Home On John Street

Damage amounting to an estimated $4,000 results at the home of E. W. Cooley, 245 John Street, early this evening, when fire of undetermined origin started in an upstairs clothes closet.

The Cooley family was downstairs and the smell of smoke was the first indication of a fire. The Cooley family was downstairs and the smell of smoke was the first indication of a fire. The Belleville fire department was on hand but before fire flames were brought under control. Two upstairs rooms in the Cooley apartment were fire damaged, while there was heavy smoke and water damage in other rooms and also in the next door apartment occupied by Ed. B. Kelly.

Expensive furniture in Cooley apartment was protected as much as possible by firemen who covered it with tarpaulins. Firemen were still at the Cooley apartment mopping up after the fire when an alarm came in from the Belleville Fair grounds, where a pile of rubbish close to one of the buildings was burning. The blaze was quickly extinguished.

Early in the afternoon on Monday firemen had a run to south of Roseboro for a grass fire at the side of the highway near Clarke's Canners. Hereford Rain fire was put out before any damage was caused.

Drunk Driver Apprehended By Dog Catcher

City dog catcher Chas. Thorn stepped out of his customary role as a poodle chaser yesterday with result that following a three mile chase a drunk driver was apprehended at Canniffon and brought back to the city to face charges.

While standing in his yard on Canniffon Road, Mr. Thorn saw a passing car sideswipe another vehicle. He jumped into his own car and gave chase, catching the other vehicle at Canniffon Hospital where he notified and Gordon Adams, 191 North Front street, was brought back to the city.

This morning in city magistrate's court Adams pleaded guilty to drunk driving and was given seven days in jail. On a second charge of leaving the scene of an accident, the acculed also pleaded guilty and was assessed $200 and costs, or in default of payment one month in jail.

Tenders for New Hospital Wing Called Monday

The Board of Governors of the Belleville General Hospital announced today that tenders for the construction of the new $1,250,000 wing will be called for Monday, August 30th. Tenders will be accepted until September 27th.

Construction is expected to begin within another month.

J. N. Yanover, chairman of the Board of Governors, in making the announcement stated, "it is with great pleasure that we at your hospital in Belleville, announce that the plans of the architects has been completed and tenders for construction of the new building will be called for the new building will be called for Monday, August 30th.

"It is with pleasure to extend sincere appreciation to all who have worked so hard to complete the initial phase of the work so rapidly. Within the next month actual work of construction will begin."

The architects, Govan, Ferguson, Lindsay, Kaminker, Langley and Keenleyside had a staff of 25 working on the plans and specifications for the past three months in order to have them ready for the calling of tenders before September.

Initial details of the sod-turning ceremonies, which will officially launch construction will be announced later.

Police Blotter

City and provincial police have been kept busy to assist in locating Earl Holdenby, 45, of 21 First street, who has been missing since 9 o'clock Monday morning.

Described as being 5 feet, 8 inches tall, weighing 180 pounds with brownish gray hair. Holdenby left hoodle yesterday morning and failed to return last night.

Two-year-old Susan Bartley, Station street, was bitten below the eye by a dog owned by a Station street woman. City dog catcher Charles Thorn was notified.

Tony Parissi Signs Contract With Memos

Tony Parisi, sensational goal tender with Belleville Glen Roys two years ago, inked a one-year contract with the local hockey club yesterday and will report for training October 1st.

Parisi, who dazzled the league with brilliant net minding as Glen Roys took Kingston's OHA Senior B champs to seven games before bowing 5-4 in the final in Kingston, signed with Belleville despite a guaranteed offer from a senior western Ontario club.

Last year Tony played hockey for Belleville but was guarded the all over Easter as he guarded the twine for Milan in 6 games to Italian League competition and on the exhibition circuit.

He returned to his home in Niagara Falls following yesterday's signing.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Stock market prices changed little in moderate forenoon trading today.

Strength in utilities, constructions, and manufacturers was balanced by easier papers, steels and financial institutions. Senior base metals drifted and juniors were steady. Western oils gained narrowly as did senior golds, but junior golds and gold prospects eased.

First-hour volume was just over 600,000 shares.

Trading in golds was a narrow range. Uraniums moved up small amounts as a group while Bathurst issues drew little interest.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — Trade was active on all good-to-choice slaughter cattle at the week's advance except cows which were weak and under pressure. Receipts: Cattle 1,600; calves 383; hogs 425; sheep and lambs 200 holdover from Monday 1,600 cattle.

Choice steers all weights were 21-22. Good steers were 20-21, mediums down to 18. Good heifers 18-18.5, a few choice to 19. Medium heavy heifers sold down to 16. Good cows were 13-13, a few heifers cows to 14. Canner and cutter cows sold down to 5. Good heavy bologna bulls were 12-13 with common light bulls selling downward to 8. Common light boner steers and heifers sold down to 8. Choice-fed yearlings were 22-23, mediums down to 20. Good stockers were 18-19 with mediums selling down to 16.

Good-to-choice calves were actively strong at 23-24 a hundredweight. Medium were 14-21. Common light dairy type grass calves sold down to 8.5.

Hogs settled 25 cents a hundredweight higher than last week's close at 28.5 a hundredweight for Grade A. B1 went 27.50. Sows were 1.50 higher at 18.50.

Lambs were strong at 23 a hundredweight delivered by rail, 22.50 delivered by truck for good ewes and wethers. Bucks were discounted at 1 hundredweight. Heavy lambs were discounted as much as $2 a hundredweight. Common-to-medium lambs were 15-20 a hundredweight. Good light sheep were 8-10. Common sheep sold down to 4.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was steady with offerings ample for a quiet demand.

Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture: Eggs, in fibre cases, graded: large A 44; A 43; medium 36-37; Small 29; B 31; C 24. Wholesale to retail: A large 51; A medium 41-42; A small 34; B 36; C 29.

Butter solids: Ontario, 1st grade, tenderable 58; non-tenderable 56½.

Demand in B.C. For Tasty Frog Legs Diminishes

VANCOUVER (CP)—There is no longer a demand in British Columbia for tasty frog legs.

Pierre Laracine, Hotel Vancouver chef, said: "We now have ordered frog legs for months, and it's a shame—they're a great delicacy."

They can be obtained in a few clubs, he said, but demand and supply are diminishing. No frog farms are operated in the province but the enterprising epicure can find imported supplies at a cost of $2 a pound.

"Any local frog farmers would probably starve to death unless they ate their own frog legs," said George Rennie, department store manager.

Said Ian Cowan, of the University of British Columbia zoology department:

"It takes about seven years until a frog reaches the 'eating' stage, and that involves considerable overhead to the farmer."

The university imports leopard frogs from the United States for demonstration purposes. One type of African frog is being used for tests in connection with human pregnancy.

If a frog escapes both the laboratory and the dinner table, it can still find a place in jumping contests. South Africa now claims its tailless amphibians can outhop the prodigious United States jumper, the common bullfrog.

91 New Dwelling Units Built In City This Year

Recent changes in the National Housing Act regulations allowing lower down payments by prospective home owners has resulted in a minor boom in home construction in the city this summer according to David Barker, city building inspector.

During the first seven months of this year a total of 91 permits for new dwelling units were issued at city hall as compared with 74 dwelling units for the same period last year.

During July, 21 permits for dwelling units were issued, practically all for single family dwellings.

Most of the houses being built in the city this year are being constructed on a contract basis with but very few owners building their own homes.

Drainage Day To Be Staged West of City

Hastings district farmers will have the opportunity of seeing the latest in drainage machinery in action on Friday, August 27th when a drainage day is being staged at the farm of Ridley Wallbridge on No. 2 highway three miles west of Belleville.

The various types of ditching machines, scrapers and other drainage machinery will be seen in operation all day with discussion on the merits of the various machines to commence in the afternoon.

The event is being sponsored jointly by the Hastings County Soil and Crop Improvement Association, the drainage department of the Kemptville Agricultural School and the Hastings county branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Slag Explosion Damages Plant

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—A slag explosion knocked out the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation's big steel mills here Monday night when molten metal ignited the roof of the plant's main power house.

The fire was brought under control about midnight and the mills were expected to begin rolling sometime today. Officials declined to estimate the damage but said it would probably be heavy.

There were no injuries. The plant employs about 4,000 men but the working force at present is about 1,000 because of annual vacations.

The explosion rocked the city and caused a power failure for 30 minutes.

WALLINGTON, Eng. (Reuters)—The mayor of this fashionable London suburb and a distinguished guest spent 15 uncomfortable minutes in a police cell here Monday night.

Mayor F. G. Bryant was showing Harold Travis, a visitor from Africa and former mayor of Nairobi, through the modern facilities in the town hall basement. They stepped into one of the cells—and the door, fitted with an automatic self-locking device, slammed behind them.

For 15 minutes the shouts of the unhappy prisoners rang through the near-deserted building before a rescue party came down to let them out.

Brighton Publisher Wins Charters Cup

TORONTO (CP)—Margaret R. Lapp, publisher of the Brighton, Ont., Ensign, was awarded the Charters Cup for the best all-round newspaper with a circulation of less than 1,000 today at the annual Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association convention.

Miss Lapp was also awarded the H. E. Rice trophy in the same class for the best editorial page.

Car Hits Truck, Two Men Killed Near Brampton

BRAMPTON (CP) — Two men were killed Monday night when their car sideswiped a stopped panel truck, went out of control and smashed into two trees on Highway 10 just north of here.

Those killed were Sam Willoughby of Alton and Victor McKitrick, Orangeville. The latter was the son of the late A. D. McKitrick who was editor and publisher of the weekly Orangeville Banner.

Earl Wentworth of Caledon, owner of the truck, told police he had stopped it on the shoulder of the highway because he thought he smelled something burning.

In the truck at the time were Wentworth, his wife, Gwen, and their four children, Lee May, 7, Jane, 5, Ormond, 7, and Everett, 6. None was badly hurt.

The smash occurred at the bottom of a steep grade on the highway near this town 25 miles northwest of Toronto.

Observer Killed As Jet Crashes In Test Flight

PICKERING, Ont. (CP)—A CF-100 jet fighter carried flight test observer John Hiebert, 28, of Toronto, to a fiery death Monday when it plunged into a farmer's field near this village 22 miles northeast of Toronto.

Pilot Jan Zurakowski, one of Canada's top test pilots, parachuted to safety a few seconds before the plane crashed and burned. He suffered a broken leg.

After a mid-air explosion Zurakowski stayed at the controls until he had wrested the jet away from the communities of Ajax and Pickering.

THOUSANDS WATCH

Thousands of residents watched the $800,000 plane veer away from the two centres leaving a smoky trail through the sky.

Zurakowski, Polish-born ace of the Second World War Battle of Britain and a test pilot for A. V. Roe Canada Limited, landed less than 200 yards from the jet's scattered wreckage.

The plane was undergoing a test after coming off the assembly line of Avro's Malton plant. An ejection seat escape apparatus was credited with saving the pilot's life.

Two rocket pods were jettisoned as the pilot fought to keep the 19-ton aircraft from crashing into homes. One dug itself into a shoulder of busy No. 2 highway not far from the main street of Ajax.

Hiebert is survived by his widow in Toronto and parents in Winnipeg.

FAMOUS PILOT

Zurakowski, who started flying in Poland in 1929, has logged more than 3,000 hours on more than 80 different types of aircraft. He made a name for himself with original aerobatics while testing aircraft for the famous Hawker Siddeley group in Britain, of which Avro Canada is the youngest member.

Later he took the CF-100 through the sound barrier, making it the first sixty-ton aircraft to accomplish the feat. He came to Canada with his wife and two children two years ago.

Nevada Rocked By Second Quake

RENO (AP)—Nevada suffered its second strong earthquake in two months late Monday night.

Damage appeared to centre around Lovelock, 90 miles east of here, where a two-story office building showered bricks on the street.

Fallon, centre of a July 6 quake, reported minor damage in its downtown area. Corner of a department store, shook loose and crashed into the next-door Western Auto store, demolishing the roof and one wall.

The road to Stillwater, 16 miles east of Fallon, was reported so badly buckled it was impassable.

No casualties were reported.

The quake was felt eastward to Salt Lake City, westward to the San Francisco bay area and north to Boise, Idaho.

Search Crews Comb North Sea For Dutch Plane

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Search crews combed the stormy North sea today for traces of a Dutch airliner which disappeared en route from New York with 21 or more persons aboard. So far only bits of wreckage and a lone child's body had been found.

The body was tentatively identified as one of the five-year-old twin sons accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gruenwald of Woodbury, Conn., on the flight Monday to Europe. KLM officials said they had not yet established which of the two boys it was, Richard or Peter Yarrow.

A Dutch naval plane and a fleet of rescue ships criss-crossed the North sea area where the body and a few boxes were found but could see nothing more, KLM announced.

The plane, a Douglas DC-6, had last been reported only 20 miles out of Amsterdam when radio contact was lost.

The airline's Amsterdam office said 27 passengers and nine crew members were aboard the plane but KLM's New York office said two more passengers boarded the aircraft at Shannon, Ireland, its last stop before the crash.

NEW FASHION IN PETS

Budgies are now rivalling the popularity of other pets like dogs and tropical fish, reports Jeffrey Norman in an article in the National Gazette.

"But what do you expect?" he quotes one budgie enthusiast. "After all, dogs and fish can't talk."

There seems to be a moral here but perhaps it is not safe to dig it out.

Is there not enough talk in the world already without budgies bickering by the fireside?

What fireside? Yes, perhaps that is the trouble. Nobody stays at home long enough to do more than grunt "Hello" and shout "Good-bye."

But what about the radio? Even singing commercials make more sense than a budgie.

Perhaps, once more, that is the trouble. The budgie owner wants to be quite sure about what is being said without going to the bother of listening.

If one misses a budgie word one knows one is not missing anything important. Their chatter is usually not very witty, except Mr. Norman.

Since a budgie says only what its owner has taught him to say, certainly nothing more and very often much less, than leaves Mr. Norman's standing in the budgie owner's book somewhat doubtful.

But he does add that budgies have a good sense of humor, that they love to play games and are intensely jealous.

Nobody ever saw a goldfish with a sense of humor. So that accounts for the budgies closing the popularity gap between them and the fish family.

Just how they managed to clutch up on the dogs is a different problem. Lots of dogs have a sense of humor, play games and are jealous. But dogs bark in the stilly watches of the night, dig in flower beds and have puppies. Budgies don't do that.

We never knew a dog, though, that fell in a bowl of soup. Or that, choosing a most inappropriate moment to exhibit its linguistic ability, informed a woman summoned to repair a sewing machine, of her standing in the household with the remark "Gee whiz, you are stupid," resulting in her leaving in a huff with the machine not fixed.

THERE WILL BE FIREWORKS!

The Association of Canadian Fire Chiefs wants the retail sale and individual use of fireworks prohibited in Canada.

There will be some real fireworks over this request.

The Association, in the closing phase of its annual convention at Saskatoon, passed a resolution calling upon provincial fire marshals and commissioners across Canada to obtain legislation which would give fire chiefs absolute authority to issue or refuse permits for public fireworks displays.

One may sympathize with the desire of these conscientious public servants to keep the nation's fire loss as low as possible. Still, any legislation prohibiting the individual from purchasing and enjoying fireworks is going to put a severe crimp in the traditional enjoyment of some of our public holidays, notably Victoria Day.

Is such a law really necessary? What is the average annual fire loss resulting from the use of fireworks? If annual fire loss resulting from the use of fireworks? If fireworks are banned, what about Christmas trees? Or open fireplaces? Like fireworks, they sometimes cause fires and they have little utilitarian value.

If the loss in fireworks is really desirable, the fire chiefs have a mammoth publicity job ahead of them before they are able to "sell" the Canadian public on the idea.

And, please, no glib remarks from those who have already being in force in some other countries.

BLINDED!

It is going to cost Toronto taxpayers $1,000 to "unhypnotize" their city fathers.

Mayor Leslie Saunders, who has been having some troubles since he was elevated to the position of chief magistrate, told the Board of Control that venetian blinds hypnotize Council members who face them.

The Board agreed to replace the blinds with velour drapes, with the privilege of one grand.

The Mayor's discovery may result in taxpayers throughout Ontario showing an unusual interest in the furnishings of local council chambers.

"He's the reason," they will say, if they discover the blinds in the mayor's office are also dandies of venetian blinds.

Toronto taxpayers, meanwhile, have a more practical problem to decide. By strange coincidence, the same day that Mayor Saunders' "drain-ing the resources of the human personality" says Dr. A. H. El-Kousey, dean of education at the Ibrahim University, Cairo.

After seven or eight hours a day on an assembly line the worker sees his personality greatly reduced.

No wonder what assembly line drained the personality of King Henry VIII of England, to cite one early example.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The worst feature of a poor meal in a restaurant is that it is full of food at a good meal. You have to start to eat it before you discover it is poor, and by then perhaps you have ordered some sort of contract to go ahead with it. Few of us are more than old-fashioned and snorty enough to create a scene by sharply pushing away from the table, refusing to pay the check and stomping out of the restaurant. But actually there is no contract. It might do our confidence-man commercial restaurant trade some good if a few Victorians or Edwardians among us staged a few scenes. The production of cooked vittles has become indeed a dismal failure in commercialized. Food tastes pretty much the same in every eating place along the street, from the big hotel down to the lunch counter. Even the self-styled epicure restaurants find it unprofitable to stray too far away from the standardized flavors, seasonings and styles of cooking thoroughly established by their less pretentious rivals up and down the street. It is undoubtedly our own fault. We take on a tasteless lump of food the way we take on a tasteful of gas for the car. Drive it in, and fill her up. And perhaps oftener than once in five times, we hit a dud. But we would rather a pretty-row if we got a bad tasteful of gas.

In one of our favorite cities the other evening I entered an attractive looking restaurant which advertised as food prominently on its facade.

I ordered a shrimp salad. When it came, it was a most imposing spectacle. You might have won a advertising agency had designed it. It looked like a shrimp salad out of the color pages of one of the slick magazines.

It consisted of a great crisp hay-mow of finely shredded cabbage and lettuce, a firm cold compact mound of potato salad, long fingers of carrots, a chastely shielded dill pickle, green circles of lettuce, and pecky-weeky in the middle, five minor-sized, somewhat little shrimps. Like a fool, I ate it.

Much to Do In Canada

(Fredericton Daily Gleaner)

Even the most cursory trip through Canada leaves the observer with the impression of great work going to be done. Great power sources are yet undeveloped. Vast resources of timber remain to be cut, ill-cloth-ed and ill-housed world requires its still locked in forest, and mines.

Hundreds of level crossings need eliminating, bridges need building, roads need improving, canals need digging and many transportation bottlenecks are past due for breaking.

Nor does the above nearly exhaust the list of things that are crying to be done.

The artificial stimulation to our economy created by the last world war is now drying away. It must be replaced by the more healthy nourishment of productive enterprise.

For a country such as Canada anything like a depression is even a recession, should be unthinkable. It is the only answer if we are to maintain the economic system it is can provide the framework within which the forward work and aspiration of that country can be carried out.

There should be doubt that Canada has either the vision or the economic setup that the times demand!

Bank Business Under Water

Stay under water and keep cool is not a fish story told in this town. It is a device successfully employed by employees of the Chicago Title and Trust Company's Court Square Division in their new $500,000 building.

But keeping a bank do a thriving business "under water"? The water's on the roof, to be sure, to protect against the heat in summer. It's an inch and a half deep and rests on 53 tons to the overhead weight of the building.

The architects, took that weight into consideration in designing the one-story building of steel beams to support the building. The roof is first covered with two-ply waterproof felt, on which a two-inch layer of foam glass insulation is laid, pitch, followed by the roofing which is waterproof and sealed. The roof is small, and carries a 20-year bond of tarred felt topped with gravel and tar.

With this type of construction it is possible to pour water on the roof which has cured and weighs a pound a inch and a half above the roof line.

The water in it employees in the rooms below enjoying the coolness, while the air conditioning keeps the costs in economy from the lake above. The watered roof also helps the air conditioned refrigeration tonnage for air conditioning about 20 per cent of the number. Another feature of the building is its "drive-in" window, built into the ground floor. It is a drive-in structure where customers can make their savings deposits by microphone to the teller within. Papers and currency pass in and out of the building on a small sliding drawer.

Built of Indiana stone and extending 174 feet along the main street, the new building gives the Court Square Division modern and compact assembly at departments on a single floor.

Dragon-Slayer, Modern Style

(Hamilton Spectator)

While we deplore breaches of the air regulations just as much as anyone else, the new Highway Traffic Act, we cannot escape a rather guilty feeling of admiration for the young American who flew a light aircraft under London Bridge the other day for the purpose, he said, of persuading his girl to marry him.

The illustration is based not on what he did (almost every pilot at some point has been tempted and tried to fly under a power line or a bridge or even, as in the case of the writer, through a hangar with open doors at both ends; it's fun, but it's dangerous, you have to get out of your system) but on the motive for which he did it.

As an argument for marriage he offers no recommendation of security and a ranch house with a Buick convertible parked in the driveway. The demonstration of his own prowess and a risking of his own neck. Thus is life romantic even in the niggling, mercenary level to which it has sunk of late and restored to where it should be—in the magnificently illogical tradition of chivalry.

We have sometimes wondered whether the slaying of dragons was not a bit old fashioned at this point of feed, do more harm than good. It probably upset the ecological balance. With no dragons to devour them, werewolves multiplied, and the population of werewolves is much worse than the occasional dragon puffing fire in some rocky gully.

For that matter, we have sometimes wondered about the mental reaction of the Princess when her knight presented her with the carcass of the beast, its dilated nostrils still smoking, its tongue a length of sulphurous smoke. A discreet dragon, after all, is a shade; as scandalous as a washed-up whale; it won't fit in the deep-freeze, and it's difficult to get rid of. Perhaps she doubtedly she would have preferred a brace of phoenix or a griffin.

However, there's no question that the dragon-slaying lives on in everybody' knowing. They Lived Happily Ever After.

Treatise On Pipe-Smoking

(New York Times)

In the wake of all the to-do about whether or not cigarette smoking is related to a number of ills human flesh is heir to, people who make pipes are rubbing their hands and looking hopefully toward a spurt in trade. Indeed, there is evidence of late that pipe are enjoying a small rise in popularity as their purveyors subtly suggest pipe-smoking to be a comparatively healthful divertisement. It is, therefore, not impossible that a number of non-pipe smokers may be beguiled into thinking that pipe-smoking is a very fine and noble thing. Perhaps all along they have been impressed by pictures showing famous publishers, writers, et al, smoking pipes, but they have just not come around to smoking a pipe themselves. Now they may consider it time to emulate those publishers, writers, actors, et al, who are pictured in public prints as virtually constant smokers of pipes.

• • •

Well, there is much said about pipe-smoking, and con. Some say it encourages a number of ailments that have been laid at the door—so to speak—of cigarettes, that pipe smoking is definitely not for you, but silence as yet has not announced anything definitely dead against pipe-smoking.

Undoubtedly a number of scoundrels as well as persons of nice, ordinary folk smoke pipes —even as do publishers, writers, et al, as pictured in pictures) —but somewhere in the dim past the idea became fixed in people who smoke pipes are the quiet, deep-thinking sort: deliberate, faithful and true.

• • •

It is hard to say when or why that idea took hold. It is held largely by people who do not smoke pipes, and it is hard to say whether what pipe-smoking actually requires a lot more impediments than meets the eye or why a very poor index to character. As for impediments: there is a pouch. There are matches—preferred by most pipe-smokers to mechanical pipe-producers. There may be a gadget known as a pipe spoon used mainly for packing pipes when it is clogged with tarry-like substances. There is a pretty lot. All this adds up to quite a collection of stuff to carry around, and therefore quite out of shape. It is also a substantial amount of gear for one to carry in his pocket—one starts the day; it is a talented pipe-smoker who can get all of the office completely equipped.

• • •

Women have been known to say they don't like a man smoke a pipe. That is, unmarried women. Wives find themselves making a brisk trade in pipe-cleaners as experience has been gleaned for weeks can be wrangled from them. And when a pipe-smoker nuts his pipe down upon end—as he does his hat (down upon end-less usually does) lip ashes may cascade, hot ashes, spilling its ashes. And wives are apt to step on dead bits of matches left behind by hot fingers of absent-minded pipe-smokers.

• • •

In addition to all this, a pipe-smoker seems to be more likely to be the target of sharp hints from his dentist. If he should be a heavy-handed fellow of six months, that good man will inspect his teeth observing that the constant use of been smoking a good deal lately, has he not, and he will point out that you can actually gauge the amount of tobacco tars that cling stubbornly to enamel, depending on how much pipe he has stopped smoking entirely and feels every so much like it. But there is this to be said for pipe-smoking: whereas cigarettes have been known to cause ar-ists made in all shapes and sizes. Pipe tobaccos are usually cut, flaked, stringy thick, thin, strong, mild. There is no end to the variety of pipes and pipe tobacco, and no end to the subjects one can distribute them and their accessories about.

CORNS AND CALLUSES... AND FOR GOOD MEASURE A HALF DOZEN WARTS

Dr. Brady

A remedy for corns, calluses or warts which has been used by Doctor Brady was a coll. It is prepared by dissolving 30 grains (about one - half teaspoonful of salicylic acid powder in one-half fluidounce (about a tablespoonful) of flexible collodion.

Any drug clerk can make it up. It should be kept in a tightly stoppered vial, and the liquid should not be kept from contact with the air. If it is not kept tightly stoppered the ether and alcohol in the liquid will evaporate, leaving a useless, wrinkly lump.

Paint the corn, callus or wart with the corn remedy once a day for a week or ten days, when it will have softened so it will easily rub off. Of course corn or callus will return if the pressure and/or friction which causes it continues. As for warts, who knows what causes them?

For many years anyone could enter a drugstore and ask for an ounce of bromo-arsenic-nitrates, in the form of "thin, transparent, garnet-red scales of granules" and get precisely what he asked for, without any gratuitous comments or mentioning tons of misgivings on the part of the clerk.

Today the chances are that the druggist will lift his eyebrows and shake his head as though to say hopes you are not up to any—or he has "never heard of it" and here's what he personally recommend for strengthening the blood, or yes, it was on the market years ago but is not now available.

There is considerable truth in the last remark, although a few readers tell me they still find the "thin, transparent, garnet-red scales or granules" in their drug-store.

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WITHIN THOSE WALLS

A young man suffering from a serious ailment went to a physician recently, and the physician frankly that he could not cure him but that he could teach him how to control the ailment. "You can live a quite happy and useful life," continued the physician, "but you must live within certain limits. I can improve your present condition and indicate the limits, but you must discipline yourself; and above everything else, you must stay inside the limits which Nature has set for you."

This would seem to some people a sentence of death, but to other people of wisdom and courage. Helen Keller is an example of how much can be made of little. A very successful chaplain working at present in a hospital for the disabled was born without arms. He has trained his feet to do practically everything that other people do with their hands, and he is married and has a full and happy apparently lives a full and happy existence. TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

MY ISLAND

There is a spiritual pull and enchantment about an island that no spot on the mainland has. As far as I dreamed of the day that might come when I could own a small island of my own, I knew that I have had it for nearly a quarter of a century I shall try and tell why I like my island.

The name of my island is "Wesakawenask," the Missouri Indian word for "Happy Land" — and is is exactly that. There are no mosquitoes here, no crowded streets, no screaming automobiles, no foul smells, no dust, no city of steel corners — just space and trees, mossy paths, the sound of the lake by day, the lapping sway in rhythmic fashion at the rocky shore all day and night.

On an island you are separated from everything — even worries, and the rent collector! And when you have to go to the store for friends and supplies, the motor to your boat furnishes a soothing song while you view the clouds or a starry night. Something always interesting and out of the ordinary when you live upon an island.

Many writers have lived upon islands and I can understand why. Stevenson is an outstanding example. There are no serious interruptions. There is quiet and peace. You learn there to respect the art of stillness and to give tired nerves a new lease on life.

This island of mine is heavily wooded and every tree and bush and flower is familiar to me. There are blueberries and huckleberries in season. The glossy leaves of the wintergreen are always there to tempt you. I love to watch the tiny warblers and other birds that are always at table. For a spell. The fragrant odor of the island is something to inhale. There is a comfortable lodge, cook house and dining cabin, bed rooms, a boat house, and helper's small cottage. One of my guests has called it "Wesakawenask — a small paradise."

It's that to me.

Too Much Authority Vested In One Person Not Good For Municipalities Says President

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Municipal administration "is becoming more complex and it is interesting to note the trend in Ontario toward some co-ordinating authority," Thomas H. Currah, president of the Ontario Municipal Association said Monday.

"Whether you call such authority city manager, comptroller or director does not matter," he said. "Our Municipal Act is not drawn with such over-all authority in mind and we could do well to give the matter some study with a view to making recommendations to our law makers."

Mr. Currah, mayor of St. Thomas was addressing the opening session of the annual OMA convention.

"In all our endeavors to make our municipal administration more efficient we should not lose sight of the democratic pattern," he warned. "Too much authority vested in one person . . . could also destroy the democratic idea. We must keep a reasonable balance."

TOO MANY

Mr. Currah said he has sometimes thought there are too many different associations which members of council are expected to join. The OMA was the oldest confederation dealing with the municipal government. He suggested it should examine itself "to see if we are failing to meet the need for collective action by municipalities."

"I am not prepared to advocate one big association, but on the other hand we should avoid duplication of organization. The OMA, all motor vehicle drivers.

taking in both elected representatives and appointed officials could be the co-ordinating organization."

W. A. Orr, deputy minister of municipal affairs, said municipal taxes in Ontario last year amounted to $28,283,000, representing nearly one-tenth of total levy.

SHOULD REVIEW

"Many municipalities which have excessive arrears should review their methods of billing and collecting taxes.

Nearly 500 delegates representing 238 municipalities are attending the convention which finishes Wednesday.

Clerk-comptroller P. H. Murphy of Sudbury asked for an association study of council, committee and municipal labor relations. This would keep municipalities up to date and enable them to meet union demands with facts and figures.

HIGHWAYS SCALES

The association recommended a 75% grant provincial and federal, asking for a revision of highways subsidy scales.

The resolution asked that subsidy to roads in towns and villages be reduced to one-third from 50 per cent and that the subsidy on county roads be reduced to 50 per cent from 50 per cent.

Fort William delegates urged greater provincial and federal supervision of truck and transport drivers with a view to setting up a code of safe driving rules and air brake inspection stations.

BANCROFT

Brothers Given Two Months In Jail for Theft

BANCROFT—Two brothers, Wilfred and Bernard Phillips, both of St. Ola were each sentenced to two months in jail when they pleaded guilty to charges of theft before Magistrate T. Y. Wills. Wilfred, 29, was charged with stealing a tire and wheel which he afterwards sold to another brother for $10. Const. Constable M. Perry said that, when questioned, Phillips admitted the offence. Three charges of stealing gasoline from the CNR and the department of highways were preferred against the younger brother Bernard, 22, who was also charged with driving whilst his license was under suspension. A fine of $100 or two months to run concurrently with the previous sentence was imposed on the latter.

A charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident brought against Wayne Coe, 20, of Bancroft was dismissed by the magistrate. Thirteen-year-old George Tully, of Bancroft, told the court that he was knocked from his bicycle about 9.30 p.m. on July 11 by a car which he recognized as belonging to Coe. He was not able to identify the driver. OPP Constable George Lloyd said that he examined the car later that night and found red paint on the bumper similar to that on the bicycle. Coe, when charged, was accused refuted a statement made voluntarily to the police on the day after the accident, saying that it was not true and that he was scared when he left.

He then said that his car was left parked near the Bancroft hotel from 8.30 p.m. until after 10 p.m. on the night of the accident when he was driving with friends in another car. This evidence was corroborated by Shirley Merritt, of Bancroft, and Mrs. J. Chidley, also of Bancroft. Jim Vance, of Bancroft said he saw Coe the Chidley car around 10 p.m. on the night in question.

Crown attorney S. G. Robertson prosecuted and J. D. O'Flynn was defending counsel.

PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE

Mrs. L. Godfrey, of Bancroft, who pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident was fined $25 and costs. OPP Constable Ray Hooker told the court that he inspected and seized a car, which was reported to have been involved in an accident on the night of Aug. 7. The following day Mrs. Godfrey came to the police office and admitted being the driver of the car.

Convicted of careless driving, James Creighton, of Islington, was fined $5 and costs. Creighton, who received head injuries, when his car left the road, snapped off a telephone pole and crashed into the side of a store, said that he lost control when the driver of a car in front of him applied his brakes. Counsel W. J. Arthur Fair defended.

For being drunk, Wilson and Mrs. Ethel Bowerman, of Bancroft were each fined $10 and costs.

Pleading guilty to causing a disturbance, Fernand Boudeau and Salon St. Amour, both of Apsley, and Jim Vance of Bancroft, were each fined $10 and costs.

A fine of $20 and costs was imposed on Llewyn Hartwick, of Boulter, charged with careless driving.

Griffin Waite and A. Mullonheur, of Toronto, both paid $10 and costs for speeding charges.

Convicted of being a minor obtaining liquor, Glen Shamick, of Bancroft, was fined $10 and costs and Wm. Stringer of Maynooth, paid a similar amount for being drunk.

ARREST "SPIES"

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet news agency Tass today reported the arrest of five "Syngman Rhee and American spies" in the Kenson province of Communist China. Quoting a message from the North Korean news agency, Tass said all five prisoners had been trained at a special "spy school." It added that another "spy" working for American intelligence had been arrested by the Chinese authorities in the district of Kephun.

Fireman Suffers Heat Burns On Neck and Arm

TRENTON (Special) — Trenton firement Sunday evening tinguished a blazing storage shed in the backyard of 30 Charles street south, behind the residence of Charles Kelliher. Although the fire was a small one, the heat was so intense firemen had to back the fire reel about 50 feet away from the shed, while one fireman suffered slight heat burns on neck and arm.

SEVERAL MINOR CRASHES

An unknown motorist caused about $50 damage to an auto owned by Jack Zigman, 104 Division, yesterday morning, when the unidentified driver drove into Zigman's yard on Front, backed up and struck the parked car, then drove away, leaving only some glass from a shattered tail light.

The rear-end of a U.S. tourist's car, parked on Front, stopped about $40 damage, Saturday night, when a car driven by Claude Hickerson prodded it, while driving north on Front.

Only other motoring incident reported to police over the week-end was that of a car owned by Jack Farrar, Charles south, which received about $20 damage, when an auto being driven out of the parking space on Government Dock struck the door of the Farrar car.

Given 10 Years For 'Own Good'

TORONTO (CP) — A man was sentenced to 10 years in Kingston penitentiary yesterday "for his own good."

Vernon Bewley, 58, was charged with wounding with intent to maim and attempted robbery. Police said he entered a jewelry store Aug. 11 and shot Douglas Johnson, son of the proprietor, in the leg.

Bewley, who was on probation, surrendered and asked for a mental examination, police said.

"For your own good I am putting you away for a long time," said Magistrate C. A. Thoburn.

60 Beam Therapy Units to Be Turned Out in Fair Numbers

OTTAWA (CP)—Cobalt 60 beam therapy units, latest weapon in the fight against cancer, now are to be turned out in Canada on a modest mass production basis.

But the new manufacturing technique developed by the commercial production division, Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., is not expected to hasten output of the therapy units until next year.

The division produces the bulky equipment required to house the powerful cancer-destroying Cobalt 60 isotope which is the energy source of the therapy unit. The isotope ora "cobalt bomb" is produced in the NRX nuclear reactor at the Chalk River, Ont., atomic energy plant.

While the division has found a way to cut the manufacturing time of therapy units, the number it can turn out is governed by the supply of cobalt.

The flow of cobalt from Chalk River was cut off when the NRX reactor broke down in December, 1952. The reactor went back into operation last February, but more cobalt supplies will not be available until late this year or early in 1955.

Therapy units are still being produced, but a production increase will have to wait for the increased supply of cobalt 60.

Officials of the commercial products division have developed a method to manufacture several therapy units of similar design at one time. However, only a few units have been produced to date in this manner. Previously all units were turned out as custom-made equipment.

The first therapy units took more than a year to produce and install. The division now is quoting delivery in a year or less and this time will be cut again when more vest mass production is possible.

One official said he expected the division eventually will manufacture the therapy unit itself in from four to six months. However, it would take additional time to install the cobalt energy source and deliver the apparatus.

The units are of two types—fixed beam and rotational beam. The fixed beam units sell for about $3,000 and the rotational units for $60,000. The value of the Cobalt 60 isotope ranges between $15,000 and $20,000, compared with about $30,000 for an amount of radium with the same energy.

The division has found its best market for these units in the U.S. Nine already have been sold and 12 more will be installed by the end of the year. Canadian hospitals have purchased eight units, Italian two, English one and Mexican one.

The division says it already has received orders from several countries for a number of units scheduled for delivery in 1955.

WEST GERMAN FLEES TO REDS

West German Bundestag member Karl Franz Schmidt-Wittmack, a Christian Democrat, has fled with his wife and daughter to the Soviet zone of Germany and has been given political asylum. His defection to the Communists followed by one month that of Dr. Otto John, former chief of West Germany's security force. The Communists so far have given no reason for Schmidt-Wittmack's flight.

KELLS—DOYLE

Tall standards of gladioli, carnations and ferns formed a lovely setting in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, on Saturday, July 31st, at 10.00 a.m., when the Reverend J. J. Buckley united in marriage Joan Ann Doyle, Belleville, daughter of Mrs. Leo Doyle, of Belleville, and the late Mr. Doyle, to Grant Ernest Kells, of Belleville, R.R. 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kells.

Miss Mary Flurry rendered the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Carolyn Forin, who sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," "Ave Maria," and "Pardi Angelicus."

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Clifford Doyle, the bride wore a charming gown of white nylon net and Chantilly lace over satin in floor-length, featuring a fitted, strapless bodice and jacket having a tiny Peter Pan collar and long lace sleeves ending in points over the wrists. The gracefully full skirt fell from a Chantilly lace pointed yoke. Her stepmother veil of tulle illusion was caught to a coronet encrusted with seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red American Beauty roses and stephanotis.

Miss Margaret Doyle, of Belleville, sister of the bride, was maid of honor wearing a floor-length gown of lime green nylon net over taffeta fashioned with moulded, strapless bodice and matching jacket having a Peter Pan collar and short sleeves, and bouffant skirt. She carried a hand bouquet of gladioli florets and wore a matching coronet headdress trimmed with rhinestones.

Miss Yvonne Hutchinson, of Belleville, as bridesmaid, was attired in shrimp-colored nylon net over taffeta made on similar lines to that of the maid of honor. She wore a similar matching headdress and carried a hand bouquet of gladioli florets.

Little Georgina Bell, of Belleville niece of the bride, was flower girl, sweet in her floor-length frock of yellow nylon chiffon over taffeta with matching floral headdress, and carrying a nosegay of summer flowers.

Mr. Jack Garvin, of Belleville, attended the bridegroom, and Mr. Arthur Doyle, of Belleville brother of the bride, and Mr. Keith Kells, brother of the bridegroom, were ushers.

The reception was held at the Club Commodore, Belleville, which was decorated for the occasion with pink and blue cornflowers, pink and white streamers, and white wedding bells. The bride's mother received, wearing navy blue triple sheer with white accessories, and corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother, powned in light blue sheer with navy accessories, and corsage of pink roses, assisted.

For the wedding trip to Montreal, Ottawa, Stoco Lake, the bride travelled in a navy blue suit with red accessories, and red rose corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Kells are residing in Belleville.

Guests were present from Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Lakefield, and North Bay.

HANNA—MONTGOMERY

St. Paul's United Church parsonage, Stirling, was the scene of a pretty double-ring wedding on Saturday, August 21 at 4 p.m., when Marie Frances, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Montgomery, of Stirling, became the bride of Jack Allen Hanna, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hanna, of Frankford. Rev. Arthur Packman officiated. Twenty guests were in attendance.

The bride wore a tailored gabardine suit of glacier blue with silver fleck, white accessories and a corsage of red roses and bouvardia.

Miss Dolores Semark, of Belleville, attended the bride, wearing a tailored suit of navy blue with white accessories and corsage of red roses.

Mr. Maurice Montgomery, brother of the bride, was the groom's attendant.

A reception dinner was held at the "Stirling Hotel" following the ceremony.

The dining room was artistically decorated with a canopy of pink streamers and white bells over the head table. The three-tiered wedding cake was set in white bells, with miniature bride and groom as a top ornament. The cake was flanked by low bowls of "Similax" and pink glads and fern. Silver baskets of various-colored gladioli with "Princess Elizabeth" and "Black Opal" predominating, were used as floral decorations around the table.

The bride's mother received the guests in a tailored gabardine suit with navy accessories and corsage of red rosebuds, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing beige bengaline with bronze accessories and rose corsage.

Dr. Packman was master of ceremonies for a program of toasts, after which several flash pictures were taken of the group.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanna left by motor for a honeymoon at Niagara Falls and points west. For their return they will reside in Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Ernest Kells, with their bridal attendants, are shown following their marriage in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville. Conservative Greys, Browns New Autumn Colors For Women

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Unless the Canadian male is unusually observant he won't notice many changes when the women don their new autumn wardrobes. It will take another woman's eye to appreciate the subtle style changes forecast across Canada.

Quiet tweeds, especially in dress-weight weaves, and silken-smooth wools will lead the material field. Transition cottons, popular south of the border, are being pushed in most Canadian cities again this fall, but most Canadian women—used to cold winter breezes—traditionally associate cotton with summer.

Colors are conservative greys and browns, although reds and blues are popular in central Canada.

NEAT FITTED LINES

In Montreal, neatly fitted lines and the "corsetted look" will highlight fashion for more formal occasions. Woollen garments and tweed dresses will hold sway for casual wear.

Darker tones will predominate this autumn, according to leading Montreal department stores. Dresses will feature shades of charcoal, mink brown and medium blues, with black holding continued favor. Daytime dresses are outselling best sellers at slightly lower prices than last year.

Open shoes are expected to be more popular than ever, although closed suede shoes are still rated desirable to keep the wearer always in style.

BRIGHT COLORS

Among dresses in Ottawa, wool jersey is a big seller in bright reds, golds and greens. Sleeves are short and skirts are full. Evening dresses are "luxurious" with sequins, pearls and rhinestone trimming. Deep pile fabrics like alpaca are shown in coats which have slimmer lines and big collars. Charcoal grey and black are popular colors.

Suits are little changed, except for some big collars. Ottawa's hats are of velvet and velour, close-fitting, many in raspberry red or provence blue. A popular shoe is an opera pump style in polished calf.

Toronto women will be wearing reds, varying in shade from orange to ruby, with dusty grey and "blue print" blue also very popular. Tweeds in three weights, dress, suit and coat—and smooth woollens lead the material parade.

Hats will show wide brims, in the fashion of the Breton sailor, with ribbons trailing down behind.

Coats are fitted, and in the more expensive lines will follow the Dior pattern of long tops and sheath from the hips down.

NEAT IN WINNIPEG

The fashion-conscious buyer in Winnipeg will be neat in appearance this fall, with no flamboyant details on her clothes. Transition cottons in greys will be very popular, fashion authorities say.

Daytime and late-night dresses have fully flared skirts. Suit skirts will be both straight and full, with short jackets and lower, collared necklines. Green and browns, with some reds and amethysts, will be the predominant colors.

Hats will be small, and many coats will have small shawl collars of persian lamb.

Colors in Regina may be either light or dark, with tweeds popular for dresses, suits and coats. The coats will feature slim lines, and suits will have straight, slim skirts and short jackets. Shoes in this prairie centre will have bits of rhinestone and other adornments.

FUR TRIM STYLISH

Fur trims are placed high on the list of necessities for the stylish woman in Edmonton. Wools and tweeds are especially popular, as well as jerseys, taffetas and crepes. Skirts are the same length as last year, either full or pencil slim. Colors are grey, brown, blue, black and red.

Wide-brimmed hats in velours and velvets are promising fashion features.

In Vancouver, the slim flat look recently highlighted in France is definitely not the style. Skirts will be full and pleated. Jumpers to be worn with shirt-waists and turtle-neck sweaters are popular with the young set.

"COACHMAN" COATS

Coats will feature the "coachman" look, buttoning from neck to hem and trimmed with fur. They will be slimmer than last year, although still not fitted or flat.

The colors, in a trend that seems to point to casualness, are greys, browns, reds and blues.

Wardrobes are built around a basic outfit that can be rearranged and matched to suit many occasions, as well as "costume" outfits, and matching dress and coats.

Jewelry is bigger and bolder.

Prices for the new fashions generally across the country are either the same as last year, or a bit cheaper.

U. of T. Co-Eds To Study in U.S. In Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Three University of Toronto junior co-eds will trade schools with seven from Smith College, Northampton, Mass. this fall in the 10th annual student exchange between the two schools.

The exchange program was started by the Canadian-American women's Committee on International Relations and is open to students majoring in any field. The girls return to their respective colleges for their senior years.

The Canadians are Katherine N. Belle, Windsor; Josephine Bliss, Hamilton, and Pamela Whotton, Galt.

DUCHESS, DAUGHTER BEGIN THREE-WEEK VISIT TO CANADA

The Duchess of Kent, left, and her 17-year-old daughter, Princess Alexandra, began their three-week visit in Canada at Quebec where Governor-General Massey and a 100-man guard of honor greeted them. It was the first time either had set foot in Canada.

Quinte Girls' Garden Club Tours Gardens

Five girls and their leaders of the Quinte Garden Club gathered recently at Craig's in the afternoon for a survey of their gardens, when each girl was photographed beside her garden.

Following this the general meeting was held at Reid's with the vice-president, Jane Reid presiding.

Plans were made for "Achievement Day" to be held on September 3rd in Stirling Community hall.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. F. Greatrix.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

AUSTRALIAN TELEPHONES

Give Women Bigger Role In Work of Church Is Plea

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Men who outnumber women 15 to one at the world church assembly here today were given a polite, but firm, female suggestion: If they want real Christian unity, let more women in on it.

The gentle plea came from a French mademoiselle, who said women's church work is usually restricted to sisterhoods and societies, a "shadow church," with little to do with the actual conduct of churches.

To get all Christians pulling together, said Madeleine Barot, requires not "just theological harmony but a "more complete integration of both sexes into the life of the church."

Unfortunately, she said, "the full co-operation of men and women in the service of Christ has not yet been achieved." She proposed

Mlle. Barot's appeal came as the World Council of Churches assembly, including delegates from 163 denominations in 48 countries, worked to set down a joint Christian assessment of current problems of man and his society.

On the topic of Christian unity, the ideal which provides the council's basic motive power, it was Mlle. Barot suggested it might be that if women had more to do with the unity movement, it would get along faster.

"Women seem to have an even more intense desire for unity, world Christian fellowship and mutual help than do men," she said. "This desire cannot be satisfied by the limited participation allowed them . . .

She said she did not favor the "aggressive feminism" which denies "any differences between men and women," but she said ideas which keep women from using their

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX,

THE AMERICAN UNIVERSE ASSOCIATION, INC.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a widow. My age is 53, and I am in love with a servicemen, age 38.

This man tell me he loves me, and that I am the only one he ever loved. He always stays with me when he is home on leave, and he wants me to come and live with him at his base.

I have children, as old as he is and they don't like it when he comes to see me. And another problem is that when we go out together in public, people seem to watch us and laugh. I don't know what they are laughing about. Do you think it is at us?—H. C.

Dear H.C.:

I am very much afraid that this servicemen has a fickle character and doesn't know it. It would not be possible for a man of 38 to be in love with a woman, 53, not for the woman to be in love with the man. It is not a case of a normal for a marrying couple. Whether or you realize it or not, this young man's feeling for you is actually, an exaggerated devotion to a woman who seems like a mother to him, and yours for him is an exaggerated feeling of what a mother may feel for a son.

I don't blame your children for not liking this relationship of yours, and I think you would make a very serious mistake if you went to live with this young man, not only for yourself, but because you might be in grave danger of causing a breach between yourself and your children.

It's quite possible that you are correct in your suspicion that people may find something amusing in the picture of a woman of your age and a man of this one's age acting like a couple in love, as you apparently are doing. If you were acting like mother and son, nobody would give you a second glance, so it seems obvious that you are behaving, perhaps talking, more intimately than would be the case in a normal mother-son relationship. I advise you strongly to give up this unnatural association and to think and talk no more about the two of you being in love.

IF THESE BOYS CAN'T BEHAVE, MAKE THEM TAKE YOUR HORSE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My girl friend and I seem to have the same problem with our dates.

Whenever we go out with boys they always try to neck with us right away. We do not consider a goodnight kiss anything wrong, but we do not like to neck, and it is getting so we really hate to date anyone. It seems that we have the same trouble whether we double-date or go alone, and we just don't know how to cope with it.

We are sure we do not seem like cheap girls, and we always try to keep conversation going on a date, because we have heard that boys often try to neck when they are bored.

Can you tell us how to solve this problem.—Elaine L.

Dear Elaine:

Perhaps you and your girl friend aren't dating the right kind of boys. Moreover, any young men who are bent on necking are not going to be diverted by mere conversation.

Have you tried telling these characters plainly that you are not interested? If they don't take a hint readily, then you might try telling them that if they haven't better entertainment to offer, they can just take you home.

What you should do, of course, is to pick your friends from boys who are so much interested in good wholesome activities that when you go out with them there is always something planned for you to do, instead of merely loafing around in idleness. It is perfectly true that idleness can lead to boredom, which in turn creates the necking problem. Above all, don't let yourselves be inveigled into sitting in parked cars.

If beforehand, you are clever enough to plan how your dating time will be occupied, it should go a long way toward solving your problem.

ANKLES, NEAT AND SLENDER

It is said by those who are qualified to know the teachers of physical education and postural experts — that feminine ankles are getting bigger and bigger. The delicately-turned ankle has in fact, become a rarity.

The change has been brought about, it is claimed, by the wearing of high heels and flats of high-buttoned shoes, muscles had support, but now they are inclined to relax, like an oulk. We do know that feet have expanded since the days when number four was the average and a six was a disgrace. High heels and ill-fitting shoes are sometimes responsible for ankles that have expanded beyond pleasing proportions. With an unsteady foothold, because of the elevated heel with small base, the ankles are under strain. There is also relaxation of the tissues of the calves, a condition that invites fat formation.

Unless the ankles are weak, the best way to reduce them is to get a child's jumping rope and use it for five minutes a day. This form of exercise is not recommended if one is forpied and unaccustomed to exercise. But for teen-agers who are unhappy about too-ample measurements of ankles, legs and thighs, this is the solution.

Lifting up on the toes is a good reducing stunt for the woman who has developed normal above the waist line, but is too curved below it. She should stand tall, chest lifted, arms extended out for balance. Then up on the toes as high as one can go, flexing the muscles of the legs. Count two, down on the heels and repeat.

Walking "tippy-toe" is recommended; so is high-kicking which strengthens the leg muscles.

MOPPETS like to soak their orange drink or other simple syrup through a straw, and there's a way to let 'em do it without spilling. Give 'em a bottle instead, but punch a hole in the top just big enough for a straw. Of course, you'll make sure Sister stays put in one spot until she finishes and you can whisk away the bottle.

Duchess Will Take Salute Warriors' Day

TORONTO — The Duchess of Kent, first woman to open officially the Canadian National Exhibition, will take the salute during this year's Warrior's Day Parade. On the reviewing stand will be Hon. Ralph Campney, Minister of National Defence.

The parade is scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 28, and will include thousands of Canadian, Imperial, and American veterans of the South African War, World War I, War II, and the Korean War. More than 50 bands will supply martial music.

For the first time in its history, there will be no reserved seats at the Grandstand for the march past or the drill and band competitions. Gates to the Grandstand will be open at 11 a.m., and the order of the day will be "First come, first served". Veterans' families will be given free tickets, and general admission to the Grandstand for the public is also free. Disabled veterans from military hospitals will be taken to the Grandstand in a motorcade prior to the parade.

The parade will move off from the area south of Fort York Armouries and will circle the lighthouse before swinging around towards the Princess Gates and the western entrance of the Grandstand where the saluting base will be established.

Her Royal Highness, the Duchess of Kent, is Colonel-in-Chief of the Queen's Own Royal West Kent Regiment, Honorary Colonel of the Buckinghamshire Rm., Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry (T.A.), and Commandant of the Women's Royal Naval Services.

Pass It On

By Mary Moore

There is so much inner satisfaction in "making do" with what resources one has at hand that one tends to forget the other fellow and his privileges—the privileges of being allowed to help.

When I was very young and newly married, as students we lived in a small town in Missouri, 1,000 miles from my home. A doctor and his daughter (the very Nancy I often refer to in this column) sort of adopted us and their hospitable home became a port pf call (usually for a meal) every day.

I was homesick and loved them very dearly for their friendship but often remonstrated because they would not accept my return hospitality in our humble digings.

Dr. Grow listened to me as he was passing one day and then with a Lincolnesque twinkle and straw said "Little Miss Mary we're playing a part. Right now we seem to be the ones that are giving. Some day it will be your privilege to pass it on."

I was quitened. From then on I tried to accept more graciously. Times change. Old Doc died a few years ago. Our house has now become a port of call for away-from-home students.

But during this month we are on vacation and for a week of the time were without a car and depending on townfolk to bring us drinking water.

What wonderful fun to open our screen door in the morning to find a gallon of fresh water on top of a stack of hometown papers on your back porch. And here we were down to the last two inches of water in the last bottle.

Who left it there? Our neighbors in the next cottage, Mary and Harry Porteous who are complete strangers! Furthermore, they spent a long evening on the bay fishing and about twenty minutes after coming in from it were to us their complete catch, cleaned and ready for the pan. Our first impulse was to wonder what we could do for them. Then Doc's admonition floated in to my mind, "Pass it on, Mary, pass it on."

What I want to do most is to give you a taste of our fish, but with the only means at my disposal I'll have to be content with sharing the menu and method:

Now Many Wear
FALSE TEETH
With Little Worry

Dot, talk, laugh and eat with confidence of insecure False teeth dropping, slipping or wobbling. FASTEETH holds plates firmer and more comfortably. This pleasant powder has no gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour or cause plate odor (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Pan-fried Fresh-caught Bass with Lemon
Creole Corn
Crumbed Fried Tomatoes

This meal was all fried but summer cottagers can't be too choosey.

PAN FRIED BASS

First you move next door to Mr. and Mrs. Porteous, assume a helpless and hungry look, and say "Thank you" when they hand in a paperful of fresh caught cleaned bass. You roll them in very fine cracker crumbs, sprinkle them with salt and pepper inside and out and fry them in butter until just done and slightly crisp on the outside. Don't overcook fish or you will dry it out and its moistness is half of its fresh-caught charm.

CREOLE CORN

Cut the kernels, from 8 cobs of uncooked corn. Melt 3 tablespoons butter in frying pan, add 1-2 finely chopped green pepper and gently sauie for 5 minutes, then add the corn kernels, some salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons cream or top milk, put on cover and gently simmer for five minutes —barely long enough to set the milk in the corn.

You know how to halve and crumb and fry tomatoes, and that this operation is more successful if you use slightly underripe or even green tomatoes.

RESUMES RAFT JOURNEY

NEW HAVEN, Eng. (Reuters)—A 31-year-old German bartender Thursday night resumed his round-the-world raft voyage. The voyager, Wolfgang Kraker von Schwarzenfeld turned up earlier at Alderney, Channel islands, a few hours after being reported missing in rough seas in the English channel. Schwarzenfeld left here three days ago bound for Brest, France, on a 10,000-mile trip to Australia.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

SHOULD WEAR ONLY HIS ENGAGEMENT RING!

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Like most men I can't figure out the ways of girls! Particularly since last week. Last week I gave my fiancee her engagement ring, a solitaire diamond, the buying of which meant considerable budgeting for me. I was happy to give it, of course, and she seemed happy to have it. BUT . . . imagine my feelings when last Sunday I went to see her and observed that she was wearing on her right hand the solitaire diamond engagement ring given her by her ex-husband from whom she was divorced several years ago. She had worn this ring on her right hand quite often in the past, but it just never occurred to me that she would ever wear it when she received our engagement ring. Anything for a mere man to do about this, Mrs. Beeckman?

The "Mere Man".

Yes, sir! Since to you this is such a fundamental affront...and I can completely understand your resentment about your fiancee's regarding the other ring, she should be straightforward and realistic about telling her how you feel. Such a situation can very well cause future unhappiness if it isn't cleared away. And if you are gracious in your explanation of your feelings, I am sure your fiance will show real consideration of your feelings, and wear only your engagement ring.

NURSEMAID'S QUERY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a widow of forty, and fortunately I have recently secured a position as a nursemaid for a child, in a fine family. I've never done this kind of work before, and am uncertain about some things. One is this: When the family plans a quite long motor trip (as is now being considered) and says nothing to me about paying expenses, should I take it for granted that they pay my expenses, or that I pay them?

Mary A.

You take it for granted that the family pays all your expenses.

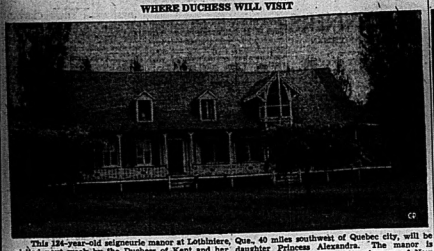
WHERE DUCHESS WILL VISIT



This 124-year-old seigneurie manor at Lotbiniere, Que., 40 miles southwest of Quebec city, will be visited next week by the Duchess of Kent and her daughter Princess Alexandra. The manor is owned by Seigneur Alain Joly de Lotbiniere, 68, descendant of one of the early seigneurs of New France, who was given 189 square miles of land by Louis XIV. (CP Photo).

Passchendaele Enraged Borden, Nephew Relates

GRAND PRE, N. S. (CP)—Canada warned British prime minister David Lloyd-George during the world war it would keep its soldiers home if there were a repetition of the battle of Passchendaele.

This bit of Canadian history was revealed Saturday when Henry Borden unveiled a cairn marking the birthplace here of his uncle, the late Sir Robert Borden, former Canadian prime minister.

Mr. Borden said the incident took place in July, 1918, at Lloyd-George's week-end residence and that he couldn't remember what provoked his uncle to say:

"Mr. prime minister, I want to tell you if there is a repetition of the battle of Passchendaele not a Canadian soldier will leave the shores of Canada as long as the people of Canada entrust the government of their country to my hands."

Mr. Borden said he was told by his uncle to leave the room and that he never found out what happened after that.

Passchendaele, a French town, was the scene of one of the war's bloodiest battles. Canadian casualties were heavy.

Sir Robert Borden was born in this village in Nova Scotia's Annapolis valley 100 years ago. A lawyer, he was elected to the House of Commons in 1896 and became prime minister 13 years later.

His nephew described him as a great Canadian war leader, as the one responsible for Canada signing on her own behalf the Treaty of Versailles that ended the First World War, and as the one who first suggested a Canadian as governor-general.

EGGLETON MISSION BAND

The August meeting of the Eggleton Mission Band was held on Friday afternoon at the home of the leader, Mrs. Maurice Clancy.

In the absence of the president Allan Reide, his sister, Joanne Reide, presided over the program which she and Shirley Prest had prepared.

The meeting opened with the chorus "Hold Out Your Light."

Joyce Stapley read the Scripture Lesson, 148th Psalm.

Shirley Prest read the minutes of the previous meeting and roll call was answered by nine members.

The September meeting will be held at the school with Sharon Reide and Joyce Madill preparing the program.

Each member was given a card on which they printed the memory verses to be memorized for the September meeting.

A chorus "For God So Loved the World", was sung.

Shirley Prest gave a reading, "Harry's Birthday."

The chapter from the study book "The Fourth Saturday," was given by Mrs. Clancy. It was an interesting story about children in Mexico and closed with the sentence "The hands that serve Christ are very beautiful."

Mrs Fitchett closed the meeting with prayer remembering the special missionary for prayer this year, Miss Isobell McCauley, Reg.N., at the Elizabeth M. Crowe Memorial Hospital, at Erskdale, Manitoba.

Several games were enjoyed, the hostess served refreshments.

Bells of 500 Churches Toll for de Gasperi

ROME (AP) — The bells of Rome's nearly 500 churches tolled mournfully Monday as a long, silent procession accompanied Alcide de Gasperi, Italy's great postwar premier, to his final resting place.

Tens of thousands of saddened Italians, many of them weeping, paid final tribute to the premier for 7½ years who died of a heart attack four days ago.

A thousand more lined the streets from Rome's downtown Chiesa del Gesu, where a state funeral was held. It was there that the 73-year-old advocate of European unity frequently paused to pray during the critical postwar years when he, more than any other man, saved Italy from communism.

Throughout Italy flags were at half mast.

'Copter Pilot Takes Four Days To Walk 7 Miles

GERALDTON (CP)—It took helicopter pilot Bill Waring four days to walk seven miles in the northern Ontario bush.

But, he said:

"I wasn't lost. I simply underestimated the terrain."

Waring, 33-year-old employee of Sparten Air Services in Ottawa, walked into a mining camp Saturday after being listed as missing for four days. His appearance ended a search by two helicopters five planes, a river log, two Indian trackers and several gangs of bushworkers.

Waring was on a supply trip to mining camps and ditched his helicopter on a small lake 70 miles southeast of here when it apparently developed engine trouble.

Roy and Dale Arrive for CNE But No Trigger

TORONTO (CP)—Roy Rogers, Dale Evans, but not Trigger, arrived Sunday.

Roy, the 43-year-old cowboy who needs no introduction to lovers of movie and television westerns, landed at nearby Malton airport with his wife and started making preparations for their grandstand show at the Canadian National Exhibition here.

Trigger, Roy's horse, leaves Hollywood with 19 palomino horses in a few days.

Roy and his troupe headline the grandstand show, which starts next Friday and runs for 14 days.

Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN — Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dickie and family, of Ottawa, spent the week-end with Mr. Arthur Bush and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bush and family.

Mrs. Alva Meyers called on Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bailey of Trenton, on Monday morning.

Some of the Johnstown boys attended the Belleville Fair on Tuesday when they were judging. On Wednesday, Mr. Frank Harry went to the fair to see his brother, Douglas, came high but as he had won a first prize another year he was not eligible for the radio this year.

The square dancing team won a first on Wednesday night and second on Thursday night at the fair and on the 28th they are to be taken by CJBQ to Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brooks of Frankford, and children, were Sunday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Brooks and Wayne and Grandpa Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McKenna, of Oshawa, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stickle.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fleit, of Oshawa, were Sunday afternoon callers of Mr. and Mrs. J. McDiven, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stevens and grandson, John, of Ottawa, were Sunday's callers of Mrs. F. Meyers and Mrs. Alva Meyers with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyers and Edward.

Miss Joan Smith, of Trenton, visited her friend, Miss Gail Lobzun, for a few days this past week.

Mrs. Alva Meyers spent the lunch hour on Wednesday with Mrs. Fowler and Elsie, of Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. George Warren, of Unionville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Curtis on the week-end.

Mrs. Max Rollins, of Belleville, called on Mrs. Meyers, Sr., on Sunday afternoon, and was the supper hour with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyers and Edward.

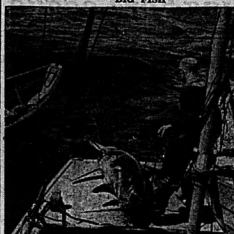
The threshing is about finished in this immediate neighborhood. There was very little worms here, but it could have been much worse. What is needed now is a good long rain, for the benefit of the cisterns and wells, as well as the hay crop and gardens.

Mr. Thomas Jackson Barrest, of Silver Creek, N.Y., was a caller on Saturday afternoon of his aunt, Mrs. Alva Meyers. Mr. Barrest is attending his seventh year at law school in Miami, Florida.

PENNYWEIGHT

The English penny is so named because originally 240 pence (one pound) were equivalent to one pennyweight of silver.

BIG FISH



A swordfish is hauled in over the stern of a Nova Scotia fishing craft. About 200 boats at a time are fishing for the swordfish which find a ready market in the United States. The fish are harpooned, then the line is fast to a floating-keg-buoy and the swordfish allowed to tire itself out towing the keg. (CP Photo)

Broadbill Catch Off Banks Not as Heavy as Last Year

By GERALD FREEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP)—Long - prowed fishing boats slide into port here daily with catches of glistening, dark-blue swordfish for dealers fond of swordfish steaks.

Most seasons their holds are crammed after two or three weeks on the banks off Cape Breton, Sable Island or the Nova Scotia south shore where the broadbills school.

But this year the weather hasn't permitted the fishermen to get as big a catch as they would like. In good seasons they try for 100 or more fish each trip, but the 13-man crews in the larger boats figure on averaging 75.

ONE BIG TRIP

Early season catches hung around 50 this year, gradually increasing to 60 or 70 each trip.

The Robertson II out of Shelburne on the south shore brought home 124 of the big fish on one trip to claim the 1954 record. Crew members each received more than $500 for the 18-day trip. Usually $400 is considered a good share.

About 200 boats at a time are on the banks, but these are outnumbered by small-boat fishermen and sportsmen who say there are few thrills equal to that of hooking a fighting broadbill.

Small boats with one or two-man crews also make short sorties out of Glace Bay and other Cape Breton ports have been worst hit by weather. They have had to keep to safe anchorage while larger vessels prowl the banks taking advantage of breaks in wind or fog.

BIGGER BOATS ACTIVE

Landings at Glace Bay have been averaging 35 or 40 fish a day. Veteran fishermen watching the small boats return at sunset recall how docks used to be piled with 400 and more swordfish every night.

They say the bigger boats have to come ocean rendezvous.

Nobody knows where the big fish come from in the spring or where they go in the fall.

The best guess is that they winter near Africa and cross the Atlantic at the Equator to eat their way north through the Carribbean sea.

RACY-LOOKING CRAFT

Except for the tall masts with their lookouts' crow-nests above the cross-arm, the boats that sweep trawls for harpoon fish or gaff fish season look like the fish they hunt. Both are long, trim and dangerous-looking, and both push long snouts ahead.

The sword or bill which gives the swordfish its name is about three feet of hard bone which fishermen sometimes polish and equip with handles to sell as souvenirs.

The boat's "dolphin" or harpoon stand juts 20 feet ahead of the bow. It's about 12 feet above the water in calm seas, but in rough weather waves often drench the heavy harpooner, the man with the most exacting job on the banks.

Lookouts direct the helmsman, or sometimes a wheel at the cross-arm so they can steer the boat directly over basking broadbills. From his plunging perch the harpooner waits for the exact second that will give him the best shot.

HAZARDOUS WORK

Then with both hands he rams down the 25-foot harpoon tipped with its lethal iron barb, sometimes driving swordfish the distance under water.

The barb with line attached comes free of the wooden shaft, and the fish plunges wildly off into the Atlantic dragging a keg-buoy marker behind.

Crew-members take to 15-foot dories late in the day and collect the tired but still rambunctious swordfish marked by the distinctive colored buoys of their own vessel.

Getting them aboard is tricky business, because the powerful fish can ram their swords through two inches of plank.

Most of them are shipped to the American market by refrigerated car.

Skinny men, women gain 5, 10, 15 lbs.

Get New Pep, Vim, Vigor

What a thrill! Every inch of you, only believe it! Get such an improved energy look! Every hollow, scrawny "bean-pole" look, those skinny arms and legs, that flat chest could gain inches, are now proud of shapely rounded contours. Why be skinny, weak, nerve-baffling, ashamed? Use Ostrex Tonic tablets for new pep, vim, vigor and added pounds, this very day. At all druggists.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma started to wonder what to have for dinner while we were eating breakfast, saying it pop. It's no use speeling to you, William, your mind is always an blank when I ask you for menu suggestions.

This time it's different, my dear, pop said. I suggest good old roast beef, or preferably good young roast beef, he said, and ma said, That's a wonderful idea, they combling like a roast, we haven't had a roast for weeks. A nice rib roast of beef would be perfect, but of course it's a lot of meat just for ourselves. We'll have a nice small leg of lam. There, you see, William, you can be very helpful when you put your mind to it, she said.

Then I'll keep my mind rite on it, pop said. Nothing goes with a roast like a bake. How about baked potatoes? he said, and ma said, I could not ask for a better suggestion, it there was only more room in the oven. I'll whip up some old fashion fluffy mash potatoes, she said.

By gollies I'm going strong, I'd be silly to stop now, pop said. I'll skip rite on to the green vegetables. Spinnitch is green, and even the best tomatoes were green before they were ripe, so I suggest spinnitch and stewed tomatoes, he said, and ma said, that's perfect, William. Brockoly is 2nd nature to spinnitch, so I'll have brockoly, and I'll have slice tomatoes to take the place of a salad, William, I think you're wonderful, she said.

I'll be glad to give everybody's napkin, pop said, and he kissed ma good bye and left for his office.

Reds Abduct Germ Warfare Research Staff

BERLIN (AP)—Allied security officials said Sunday it looks as though the Soviet Union is rounding up a research staff in East Germany for experiments in germ warfare.

They voiced the belief after being apprised of reports that Russian agents combing East Germany have kidnaped at least a dozen biologists and presumably whisked them off to the Soviet Union.

All scientists seized are biologists who would be qualified for such study.

The clandestine roundup has been going on for weeks. First confirmation of it reached West Berlin several days ago with the arrival of four student scientists who disclosed details of abductions of their professors.

Hospitals Collected Record Revenues But End Up in Red

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's public hospitals collected record revenues in 1952 but still ended the year in the red.

The bureau of statistics reported today, however, that a sharper gain in revenues than in expenditures cut the deficit by more than $1 per cent to $4,802,000 from $7,702,000 in 1951.

Revenues in 1952 rose to $182,227,000, an increase of $10,017,000 compared with the preceding year. Expenditures totalled $186,212,000, a boost of $7,300,000.

The bureau said only 86 per cent of the 1952 income actually was earned from services rendered to patients.

The other 14 per cent of the income received by public hospitals in 1952, came mostly from government grants, with the provinces providing 6.4 per cent and municipal governments 2.9 per cent. The balance was made up of donations.

The average cost per patient day reached an all-time peak of $10.34 in 1952, as against $9.60 in 1951 and $4.50 in 1944.

AROUND THE END of the last century, when aluminum was practically a precious metal, a famous racing stable had one of its thoroughbreds shod with racing plates of the weight-saving material. They were made by Tiffany's, the famous New York jewellery house.

Nowadays it is standard practice for race horses to run on aluminum shoes. Since the turn of the century the price of aluminum has been reduced to the point where it is now one of the most economical of all materials, extensively used for things like barns and boats and bus bodies. Oakville Oaks will be guests of Belleville Bats tonight under the klieg at the Fair Grounds in the second game of their best-of-five semi-final series in the Vladaet-Ontario Senior Baseball League playdowns. The Oaks will be aiming at their second win, having demolished the Bats 12-4 in the Toronto suburb last Saturday evening. Bats coach, Vern Geyer, states that he will start Art Wright in tonight's contest in an effort to square the series. Oakville's slick southpaw, Ross Faiton, pitched the whole game last Saturday but it would be no surprise if the Oaks management started him again this evening. Third game of the series will be played at the Fair Grounds under the lights this Saturday night.

The ponderous pachyderms, Mighty Ursus and George (Zebra) Bollas will have their third rendezvous with Ray Villmer and Quebec strongboy Paul Baillargeon, in the main bout of Friday night's wrestling show in Memorial Arena. Two weeks ago these giants of the ring proved too much for a single referee and a rematch was ordered with refs Bunny Dunlop and Joe Golloh ordered to police traffic. It was a fine idea but Golloh wound up on the bottom of a pile that included all four wrestlers. Their combined weight of 1,025 pounds was too much for Golloh who wound up leaving the ring feet first on a stretcher. The bout's decision went with him as Ursus and Bollas fled to the sanctuary of the dressing room with Villmer and Baillargeon in pursuit. Since Bunny Dunlop was the only one left standing in the ring at the finish he obviously won. But since he wasn't wrestling the whole thing was called no decision.

Point Anne Cementmen downed Northern Electric 7-6 in Point Anne last night in the first game of their best-of-five final series for the Belleville and District Softball League 'A' title. This is getting to be a habit for the Pointers who copped four games and tied one in a six game series with the Electrics to determine OASA playoff positions. Thus, in seven played games, Northern has won one and tied one. The suspicion grows that maybe Point Anne is the better club by just a little. The calibre of ball of both teams is such that playoff prospects look bright. Point Anne is almost sure of a berth this year and last year it took ex-Beaches League football stars to eliminate them in the OASA finals.

Bryson Reid's Regents used three home runs to subdue Deseronto Athletics at the Fair Grounds last night but Jack Elliott's round tripper with a man on, two out and the score tied in the bottom of the ninth was the cruncher. Deseronto held the lead until the bottom of the ninth and then gave it up when it became impossible to fight back. Jack Batchelor, Regent second sacker drilled two home runs into left centrefield. His lead off homer in the third frame was one of the longest drives seen in the Fair Grounds this or any other year. It landed beyond the light standard and rolled almost to the race track. John was over the plate before the ball was out of the outfield. Gerry Lewis and Lou Tuffs both crashed homers for Deseronto. Tar. Brady, who whiffed 16 batters in spinning a six hitter, lost a heartbreaker.

Phillies, Giants and Brooks Move Into County Stadium For Make or Break Series

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sport Writer

The Milwaukee Braves have eight days left to get back into the National League pennant fight. After that it will be too late.

The big tests start tonight when Philadelphia moves into County Stadium in Milwaukee for the first of three games. Then comes New York for two games and Brooklyn for four.

A sweep would make the Braves dangerous contenders. A misstep anywhere along the path could be the end.

Last week should be edged in black on Milwaukee calendars. Only seven days ago the Braves were a mere 3½ games out of the lead and owned a nine-game winning streak. Then came four losses in six games and now they're 7½ behind.

REAL BATTLE

Although faced with a real battle to stay in the first division, the Phillies have had a lot to say about the positions of the first two teams in the pennant race. In the last week, for example, they personally added three games to the Giants' edge over Brooklyn by beating the Dodgers three games and hating around the Giants.

Milwaukee holds a 9-8 edge over New York and a 10-8 bulge over the Dodgers. But 6-6 against the Phillies the Braves only have been able to break even at 9-9.

The Giants and Dodgers both open 16-game swings through the west today. The Giants take off first in Chicago. Brooklyn begins in Cincinnati. At the end of the clubs come home they collide in a three-game series at the Polo Grounds, Sept. 14-16.

The forthcoming week in the American League includes an extended tour of the eastern seaboard by the fast-moving Cleveland Indians, prior to their final three-game visit to New York.

INDIANS' TOUR

The Indians, big games ahead of the Yankees, play a pair in Philadelphia starting tonight, three in Washington and three in Detroit before coming to Yankee Stadium Aug. 31.

The Yankees, meanwhile, will be nursing their wounds at home with two games against the Baltimore Orioles after against Detroit and a single date with Chicago.

Three games were scheduled Monday in the majors but only two were played as rain washed out a Cincinnati engagement in Milwaukee.

Washington Senators whipped Philadelphia twice, 8-5 and 10-3. Eddie Fisher, Jim Busby combined to drive in six runs in the doubleheader. Chuck Stobbs started all the way in the first game for his eighth victory. Gus Keriazakos pitched his first complete game in the majors in the nightcap.

Batting Races In Both Loops Getting Tight

NEW YORK (AP)—Two close and perhaps controversial major league batting races are in prospect for the rest of the season as the leads of Brooklyn's Duke Snider and Irv Noren or the New York Yankees are threatened for the first time in several weeks.

Snider, the National League's pace-setter since June 20, has only one point left of the 27-point bulge he enjoyed on July 5.

The Dodger outfielder slipped two points to .349 last week while runner-up Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals gained nine to .348.

North's American League margin which reached 40 points on July 27 also has been reduced to a single point. Irv tallied off 10 points to .335 with six hits in 27 times at bat last week.

Meanwhile, Minnie Minoso of the Chicago White Sox collected 12 safeties in 31 trips and advanced to .334.

Smoky Burgess of the Philadelphia Phillies and Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox have higher percentages than the actual leaders, but they have not batted often enough to be ranked.

Burgess is hitting .375 and Williams .348, both with 267 official trips. It is doubtful if they can keep up against them that either or both will reach the required 400 times at bat needed for consideration for the batting championship.

Some observers, on behalf of Williams, have suggested a change in the current ruling requiring .450 at bats, official or unofficial, as the minimum. This, they contend, would enable Williams to qualify for the 98 bases on balls he's received this year. However, no new legislation is likely, at least until 1955.

Willie Mays of the Giants, who had his 16-game hitting streak snapped by Pittsburgh on Sunday, remained the National League's home run leader with 37.

Larry Doby of Cleveland heads the American League in homers with 27 and runs batted in with 102.

Winnipeg And Regina Score Second Victories In Western Conference

Bombers Had to Fight Hard To Down Eskimos by 7 to 3; Roughriders Beat Calgary 11-7

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The highly-rated Winnipeg Blue Bombers and the pre-season underdogs, Saskatchewan Roughriders, remain undefeated after two games in the young Western Interprovincial Football Union season.

The Bombers had to fight hard in the last half to hold on to a 7-3 victory Monday over an injured band of Eskimos from Edmonton who rallied behind hard-playing Rollie Miles.

In Regina, Larry Isbell, who traded a Boston Red Sox baseball uniform for the green and white football colors of the Roughriders, directed an 11-7 upset over Calgary Stampeders.

Miles took over the winless Eskimos after regular quarterback Claude Arnold suffered a leg injury. He put on a one-man show of passing, kicking and running but the Bombers clung to their lead.

About 17,000 Winnipeg fans saw Western veteran quarterback Jones score a major on a two-yard sneak in the first quarter with Bud Korchak booting the extra point.

Korchak added a second-quarter single on a rouge to round out Winnipeg's scoring.

KICKS FIELD GOAL

Import Bob Dean kicked a field goal for Edmonton's three points in the second period.

Eskimos, despite the talent-studded list of players picked up, lost 101 yards rushing, mostly on passes run by Miles on the Edmonton import Glenn Lippman. The Miles-Lippman combination clicked on 18 of 31 passes for 221 yards.

Jacobs, finding the Eskimo front wall a little close at times, completed only six of 19 passes. He was relieved by Dean Kemp and by Joe Zaleski who preferred ground strategy.

Calgary, after dropping the season opener 17-5 to Winnipeg, found Isbell's kicking sharp and true.

The Baylor University grad's points proved the five points and an average of 56.5 yards, two off the league record.

BOTH GET TOUCHDOWNS

Both clubs scored converted touchdowns. Rupe Andrews, halfback from Stanford University, tucked the ball for 29 yards and five points for the Stamps. Glen Christian converted.

Isbell had taken his team to the Calgary one when Bobby Marlow went over for a 65-yard touchdown converted by Joe Aguirre.

Stampeders had a 7-6 lead at half time, their extra point coming when Bobby Flippen was rouged in the first quarter on Ken Preston's kick.

But Isbell started connecting in the last half and the Cowboys were held scoreless.

Yankees Open Vital Nine-Game Home Stand

NEW YORK (AP) — His team 5½ lengths off the phenomenal .721 pace of the Cleveland Indians, Casey Stengel today put himself on the spot by saying the New York Yankees opened a vital nine-game home stand.

"This is where the manager comes in," said Casey. "It's up to me to get them out of this streak."

The "streak" Casey referred to was the loss of a doubleheader in Boston last week-end.

Stengel said the Yankees' plight as far from hopeless.

"Don't forget we still have five games left with Cleveland," he observed. "The Yankees will get on their feet again and make a comeback."

The American League contenders are scheduled to get together in Yankee Stadium in a three-game set Aug. 31-Sept. 2 and then wind up their season's series with a doubleheader in Cleveland Sept. 12 Stengel said he didn't back down a bit.

"When you lose two men like Slaughter and Woodling because they run into walls chasing flies, if you know the effect it's going to have on Stengel's morale received a much-needed boost Monday when he learned that Gene Woodling probably would return to action in two weeks. Three more invalids will be available tonight against Baltimore. Jim McDonald has recovered from a groin injury, Hank Bauer from a pulled stomach and Allie Reynolds' right index is sound again.

DO NOT DISTURB

MEVAGISSEY, England (CP)—Inhabitants of this Cornwall fishing village are particularly quiet at night to avoid waking hundreds of seagulls nesting on their roofs-tops. The gulls, since dawn, start to wake up the whole village by their screaming.

Tiger-Cats Get Down to Serious Practice Sessions

HAMILTON (CP) — The gates were closed to the public Monday night when Hamilton Tiger-Cats got down to serious practice sessions in preparation for the 1954 season in the Big Four.

Coach Carl Voyles said Tiger-Cats will work out in secret until they open the season against Montreal Alouettes here Saturday.

It is probable that earlier training plans may be altered a bit because Voyles brought in two new imported United States players.

They were half Gene Smith and Jim George, a 235-pound tackle. Both were dropped by Detroit Lions of the National Football League last Saturday. They replace tackle Martin Craig, formerly of Missouri State, who, along with quarter Don Ellis, from Texas A and M.

Voyles also said Pete Karpuk, dropped by Ottawa Rough Riders and picked up by Toronto Argonauts for the $500 waiver price last week, appeared for practice Monday night. However, Karpuk has not yet been released by Argos. Ottawa has to clear Karpuk in exchange Gerry McTaggart, former Tiger-Cat end who now is with Montreal Alouettes. Ottawa and the Ontario Rugby Football Union must approve the Karpuk deal. He has not yet received word from Argo coach Frank Clair.

Lopez Playing Each Game As It Comes Along

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Senator Al Lopez still isn't climbing out on any limbs about the American League pennant chances of his Cleveland Indians.

Relaxing in the quiet of his hotel room, the former major league catcher was quietly of the Indians' 5½-game league lead:

"We're just playing each game as it comes along. We're letting tomorrow take care of itself while we concentrate today."

That's been the philosophy of the set-sports all year long. The Indians went into first place early in the summer and clung there tenaciously despite a dogged effort by the five-time world champion New York Yankees.

Lopez thought a while when asked about the physical condition of the club and replied:

"We're in fine shape except for George Strickland. He still has that his jaw wired up. . . It won't be too long before he'll be ready to play a few innings." Strickland suffered a broken jaw when struck by a pitched ball in the first series the Indians played at Yankee Stadium.

Virginians May Be Purchased By Tampa Man

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Phil O'Hara of Tampa, Fla., came to Richmond Monday to see about buying Richmond Virginians of the International League.

After a conference with owner Harry Selbold, O'Hara reported nothing definite had been said or done.

O'Hara said Selbold named an asking price and that Monday's talks were of an exploratory nature. "I plan to talk to Mr. Selbold again tomorrow and the day after if necessary," O'Hara said. "I'd like to go back to Tampa with this deal in my suitcase."

Selbold said that while he might have to sell or transfer the club if attendance didn't pick up in the final weeks of the season. So far, the last-place Richmond team has drawn 197,000 spectators, third best figure in the circuit.

O'Hara is an auctioneer and a former owner of the Poughkeepsie (N.Y. club of the now-defunct Class C Colonial League. He said if the group he represents is successful in buying the team they would be no difficulty getting the league to approve the shift to Tampa.

Frank Shaughnessy, league president, already has said the Richmond club would be operated in Richmond next year.

Babe Zaharias On Winning Side In Exhibition

TORONTO (CP)—Babe Zaharias and Peter Thomson ushered in the preliminary round Monday on the $26,500 Open golf tournament by winning their best-ball exhibition match over Betsy Rawns and Sam Snead by a last-stroke margin.

The Babe, winner of the All-American women's title, and Thomson, British Open champion, fired a 67 over the Scarboro course where the rich 72-hole tournament gets underway Wednesday.

By himself Thomson shot a two-under par 68, and this was matched by Snead. Betsy, one of the ranking U.S. women golfers, had a 76 and the Babe a 72.

For the best-ball match, with a gallery of 3,000, the Thomson-Zaharias team was out in 33 and back in 32 against 33-35 for Snead and Betsy.

A field of 175 or more, including the top players of the United States Professional Golfers Association tournament circuit, is expected to start Wednesday. Top prize of $5,000 was won last year at the tournament's inaugural in Montreal by Doug Ford of Kissimmia Lake, N.Y.

Moore Discloses He Will Manage Phillies in '55

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Terry Moore disclosed Monday he has signed to manage the Philadelphia Phillies for the 1955 season. And he said he hopes that Players learned the supposedly mild-mannered former St. Louis Cardinals outfield star can be a tiger when he's dissatisfied with their work.

Moore's announcement was one of a series of surprises from the 44-year-old freshman boss, who took over for Steve O'Neill just after the all-star game. Usually, announcements of this nature come from the front office. But Moore made his disclosure in an informal chat with reporters Sunday.

Coupled with this announcement was the disclosure that Moore has mixed a little psychology with common sense in getting a line on his charges.

The hustling manager disclosed he felt definitely encouraged by the idea that he was an "interim" hired in order to learn some pertinent facts about his players.

The result?

"I found out more in a month than I normally would have in a season," he said.

Elliott's Homer in Ninth With One On and Two Out Wins for Reid's Regents 7-5

Jack Elliott's home run with a man on base and two out in the bottom of the ninth put the crusher on Deseronto Athletics at the Fair Grounds last night as Reid's Regents stormed from behind to win a 7-5 decision.

It was a battle of home runs with Gerry Lewis and Lou Fish hammering round tripers for the visitors and John Batchelor with two and Jack Elliott packing the range for the locals. The outfield fence taken down for the Fair has not yet been replaced and long drives rolled and rolled. All of last night's home runs, however, were hard hit balls.

Victim of the Regent's three-run rally in the desperation ninth was Lewis who had entered in relief and gave up five hits for four runs. Batchelor picked up the win in relief as he mopped up with three strikeouts, no walks and two hits.

Don Dolan handing 15 chances at first in flawless fashion and held up a scatter-armed infield with some slick moves. Lou Fish, Deserontо, catcher, also turned in a stellar chore figuring in 1-3 put outs without error.

Lineup—Deserontо — Huffman ct; V. Green 2b; J. Mascaia 3b; L. Fish ss; D. Green lf; J. Brant rf; J. Lewis ss; R. Stewart 1b; Brady p-cf.

Regents— Barclay 3b; Harder ss; Fox lf; Elliott c; Dolan 1b; Brady rf; replaced by G. Donovan in 8th; Doran cf; Batchelor 2b; Stoliker p; replaced by Oliver in 9th.

Chadwick Ready

YOUNGSTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Florence Chadwick, the first woman to swim the English channel in both directions, will attempt to swim 32 miles across Lake Ontario from here to Toronto on Labor Day Sept. 6.

Livingston F. Pierce, publicity chairman of the Youngstown Centennial, said Miss Chadwick will make the attempt in connection with the Youngstown centennial celebration and the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto.

The San Diego, Calif., endurance swimmer was scheduled to begin the swim from sometime after 6 p.m. on Labor Day. Pierce said Miss Chadwick "thinks it best to swim Lake Ontario at night."

Northern Rally Falls Short; Pointers One Up in City Finals

By GARRY ALEXANDER

An eighth inning rally fell one run short last night as Northern Electric dropped a 7-6 decision to Potts Arms in the first game of the "A" section finals for the city championship and the Bill Ott trophy.

Following the pattern of their previous series, the Cementmen took a 6-1 lead in the second frame and were out in front 7-2 when Northern exploded for four runs in the top of the eighth. Hunter pitched the first eight complete innings but Pat Marzale relieved him in the eighth and er in the ninth.

Claude Carr opened the loser's rally with a single and Harry Deltushi was hit by a pitch. Hunter took a streak of wildness with two passed balls scoring Marzale to make it 7-3 before he settled down to retire the side.

Carr drew a base on balls and Deltushi a single. John Cooke slashed a home run down the left field foul line to cut the score. Whiting then walked with still none out but a sacrifice and two infield pop-ups ended the inning.

Glenn Young singled off Marzale to open the eighth but a sacrifice and fly sending him to third by Batchelor gave the centre field and the game was over.

Two first inning errors and John Green's single sent the Pointers out in front 1-0 but Hennery crew came back on Hull's throwing error and a single by Marzale to tie the score. In the top of the second, Potts Arms went out in front with nine men coming to bat and five runs scoring off the same number of hits.

HIT BY PITCHER

Gilmour was hit by a pitch to start the rally and Ken Batchelor singled him to third with Gordy Lackey scoring on the throw from the outfield. The lead runner scored on an infield out and Hunter beat out a bunt but was put men on first and third. Ward-Hunter, Wade, Gilmour, Goyer, ed back-to-back singles while the Northerners committed a pair of sheep errors, allowing the runners to take an extra base and the score was 7-3.

John Batchelor's homer in the eighth cut the margin by one run but Doug Hull got the next batter in the seventh when he equalled Batchelor's clout with what proved to be the deciding run.

Marzale was credited with the win in eight innings, giving up six runs off seven hits. He fanned two and walked two. Marzale gave up one hit for no runs in nine.

Lum Carson was touched for the loss in going the route, allowing eight hits. He struck out none, while walking one and hitting another.

Doug Hull, the league's batting champ, paced the Pointers at bat last night with a game winning homer, a double and single in three trips. Lee Goyer had a brace of singles with singleton going to Hunter, Mallory and Green.

Glenn Young had two singles for Potts Arms while Hennery, Lockie and Batchelor, Whiting Carr and De Rushle also hit safely.

The second game of the series in the "A" section finals is slated for tonight at the C.N.R. park.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Millions who never saw a race course first hand in their lives experienced a feeling of personal loss at the news that the great Native Dancer had run his last race because of a recurring sore foot and would be retired to the stud next spring.

Never before has an animal so captured the imagination of the public at large. Men and women who didn't know a furlong pole from a harness pole saw the pint sized two seasons thrilled to the sight of Al Vanderbilt's big horse running down his rivals in the stretch. It will be difficult to compare him as he never will stand that they didn't see the greatest ever.

The comparative few who were privileged to watch the immortal Man O'War in his 30 starts in the years between the success of his progeny.

SET THREE RECORDS

Man O'War in his day set three American records, one of which he never didn't set one, yet this doesn't necessarily mean anything. The fact is that a comparison of the best times set by the two horses is the thing that makes the hardcore shows that Native Dancer will have more than a fighting chance at a mile and a quarter.

The Man O'War diehards will say that today's tracks are faster, and many of them undoubtedly are, especially several on the west coast. But it happens that each horse set most of his fastest times on the same tracks, at Saratoga and Belmont, which still have the same footing and contours they had in Man O'War's day.

When Man O'War proved himself a wondrous weight carrier in the Saratoga Cup, toting a mighty 138 pounds, the Daheer packed 137 as he ran away from a poor field in the same race had a mile and a long. It would be futuous to suggest that the latter couldn't have packed another pound on that occasion. And the Dancer proved he could win at any weight, including muddy, whereas we have always understood that Man O'War was kept off any track that was labelled worse than "slow."

Red produced the Kentucky Derby winners, Clyde van Dusen in 1934 and War Admiral in 1937. Also, that of his first 90 children who got to the races, 26 were stakes winners. That is being considered the more phenomenal of the two records since the one which Native Dancer will find the more difficult to duplicate.

Newmarket Wins

NEWMARKET, Ont. (CP)—Newmarket Flyers defeated the fast Long Branch Monarchs 15-13 Monday night to take a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series in the Ontario Lacrosse Association junior finals.

The third game is scheduled for Long Branch Wednesday night. The seventh, if necessary, will be played on neutral grounds. The date will be decided later.

Winner of the series meets the Manitoba champions in the Canada semi-finals for the right to advance into the Minto Cup championships.

London Majors Make Playoff In Intercounty

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — London Majors clinched a playoff spot in the Intercounty Baseball League when they split a doubleheader with St. Thomas Elgins here Monday night.

After losing the first game 14-3, the Majors came back to win the nightcap by a 5-2 count. The second game win assured London of third place in the league standing.

St. Thomas still has to win at least one of their two games with Brantford tonight to nail down fourth place. A double loss would tie them with Kitchener. In that event a sudden-death game will be played in St. Thomas Wednesday.

Bill Best hurled six-hit ball to give the Majors their 5-2 win in the nightcap. The big blow of the game was Jim Hallkardt's inside-the-park homer in the fifth, tying Gerry Wilson ahead of him. Hallkardt circled the bases all the way for the Elgins.

In the opener the Elgins teed off on London starter Bob Brake for five runs in the first inning and never headed from there on. Eddie Drapcho scattered nine hits to take the verdict.

NO CHARGE

BRAINTREE, England (CP)—A fern in this Essex county has received an electric bill for zero pounds, shillings and pence. An electricity board spokesman explained accounts are rendered mechanically and it would have cost more to stop that one than send it.

Did You've heard that gag about the guy who sold eye-watering material? He couldn't give it away. He had to pay people to have they didn't want it. Ouch.

That brings us important quest:

Is TV harmful to the eyes?

Let's go to ah authority on the subject, Dr. Harris Gilbert Jones, Brooklyn eye specialist and author.

The question is answered best in Miss Corbett's latest book: "Television Can be Good for the Eyes."

Watching a television screen "does not cause eyestrain any more than looking at a book," he states. The more the eyes are exercised, the stronger they become, Dr. Jones says.

There are, of course, important qualifications. For instance that eyestrain, properly used, can act on the eyes like a soothing therapy.

Whether you're in the market for eye exercises, or just want information, remember Hitchon Radio & Television, 4 Bridge Street East, where expert adjusting Electrohome, a by-word in television, is sold and serviced. Phone them with us: in television, Electrohome is tops.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood has long been amazed by Yvonne Decarlo's love life, and so is she. At least by the things she reads about herself.

Just back from Europe and getting ready to leave for an Alaska film location, the Vancouver-born actress paused to clear up some of the misconceptions about her romantic affairs.

Yvonne makes it a point to blab about her real love matters. Thats why so many fanciful tales appear in print about her. Recently she saw a clipping from a Canadian paper proclaiming in big headlines that she was in love with a German baron.

"I was supposed to have left Cologne with dewey eyes because I couldn't bear to part with him," she observed, ridiculous! I've had a few dates with them, but that's all.

POSED WITH WAR HERO

"When I came home from Europe once, there was an Italian war hero on the boat and the photographers asked if we would pose together at the rail. It was happy to. When the caption came out next day the Italian was nursing a broken heart and I had helped him forget by dining with him every night on the boat.

"That was impossible. He was in second class and I was in first class. I wished I hadn't been. I kept looking at the handsome men in second class and all the stuffy ones in first class."

You can see that Yvonne is not the stuffy kind herself. In fact, she's fairly uninhibited, that's part of her charm. She generally talks about anything. In candor you don't often hear from movie stars.

DOESN'T WANT ALY KHAN

One of the other fables she wanted to pult to rest was that she was trying to steal Aly Khan from Gene Tierney. She said that she, the Duchess of Devonshire and two other women were linked to Aly by a London paper. All were housequesting at his village and laughed over the report.

A New York paper chronicled her as a siren who caused men to battle over her. It described a Hollywood encounter at which Steve Cochran fought it out with another man.

"All I can say is that I have never witnessed two men fighting over anything, much less me," she remarked. "I say that with some disappointment. It would be fun to have someone fight for me."

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

Certain symptoms in a bridge deal tell you the type of play that is best suited for it. Paste this on your table top: With a finesse to take, first look for the strip-and-cash play.

Take stock of this rubber bridge deal:

SOUTH
♠ A Q 2
♥ K 7 5 4 2
♦ A 8 4
♣ A 5

South was in a small slam contract of six hearts and the opening lead from west was the club king. What the dummy hand shows tells the declarer that he may have a loser in each black suit.

Unless each opponent has three diamonds there is no chance to stuff the south club loser. Nothing in the south hand offers even the remotest chance of stuffing the north small spade.

A common hope of saving one loser is with a finesse; one type of play that is popular with many. Especially those who are eager to get the suspense or agony over with in a hurry.

However, if the spade finesse fails the slam is a dead pigeon. So, this should tell a player to see if there is a safer play. Such a play exists. It is known as the strip-and-end play.

To a skilled player it would look like a cinch in a hurry. He would realize this from the opening lead of the club king. Because this is an indication that the queen of clubs is also in that hand.

First trick went to the club ace. Two top trumps and the three top diamonds were cashed. The fourth dummy diamond was ruffed by south. Then a club was led, knowing west must win with the queen.

Having been stripped of red suits, west can then return nothing but a black card. South cares not which. A spade return is right into the south ace-queen groove; no matter who has the king.

If west returns a club, dummy simply ruffs a spade and south ruffs. South cashes old mossy face and dummy ruffs two south spades.

A finesse has a friend that is called strip-and-end.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY, AUG. 25, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A generous day for the most part. You can, should accomplish much during this vigorous, stimulating period. Difficult undertakings, familiar activities favored but be sensibly cautious in dangerous tasks.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Friendly Venus, Sun and other rays to speed you on your progressive way. Especially sponsored are government and military interests. Personal and artistic matters are also strongly favored.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — While good fortune smiles, there is, nevertheless, a warning from Mercury's aspect to be accurate, conscientious and truthful in promises, agreements, signing legal and other important papers.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — A-day for vigorous action in work, confidential and government interests. You should be able to get ahead in occupational duties but personal whims, trifling are taboo.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — With intelligent self-restraint, particularly regarding agreements, promises and all dealings with others, you can really achieve a great deal today. Be mindful of health.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Read advice to Gemini, please. You, as well as they, have fresh opportunities now and can probably achieve in the hardest tasks, but you must be reasonably cautious. Good fun is in order, too.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Indications and favors similar to those of Taurus today. Engineers, railroad personnel, you handling groups of people have friendly aid. Just be your sensible self and don't overdo.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Now is the time you high-powered folks, to get in the race for achievement, but don't undertake too much (or worry if you don't attain all you seek. Enjoy some play and rest

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Not especially favorable for financial gains or quick returns from investments but day on the whole is excellent for personal advancement and benefits through your own fine management.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Ready response available now for earnest efforts, working with right groups and for good causes. Head and cooperate only with those who worship God and who are loyal to our country.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Do take immediate advantage of helpful advice and offerings. Don't dally-until opportunity has passed you by. Be careful about details, but not to spin of actually wasting time.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Many good leads and aids today from which you can gain advantages, even benefits. Don't fear to tackle difficult problems, tricky situations; you can advance, enjoy free hours, too.

YOU BORN TODAY are intellectually and morally strong; a deep thinker, analytical and perhaps very exacting at times. But you are fundamentally fine, charitable, artistic and also have mechanical ability. Journalism, writing, advertising, the stage and screen are fields in which you can succeed. Usually dependable and likable, you are proud but not egotistical nor deceitful. You have a bright future. Birthdate: Jas. Lick, founder of The Lick Observatory; Francis Bret Harte, Amer. author.

Bobcats Defeat Stewart Warner In First Game

Bob Temple's Bobcats overcame a 5-0 Stewart Warner TV lead at Alemite Field last night for a 6-5 victory in the first game of their best-of-seven series for the right to represent the Belleville and District Softball League in the OASA Intermediate AA playdowns.

The TV's erected a five-run lead in the first three frames and despite an 11-hit attack could not hold on to preserve the win as Bobcats rallied for four runs in the fifth and two in the seventh.

Stan Creegan and Ed Donovan scored for Stewart Warner in the second inning as Bobcat starter Doug Thompson lost the plate and walked four. A walk to Ted Hurst, a single by Creegan, a double by Donovan and a throwing error by Bobcat left fielder Bill Nolan, produced three runs for TV's in the third frame.

Starter Thompson, who wrenched his thumb, while batting in the bottom of the inning, was replaced by Bunk Young in the fourth. Young went the rest of the way, striking out two, walking four, and giving up seven hits and no runs, to claim the win.

FOUR RUN RALLY

Bobcats staged a four-run rally in the fifth inning as they batted around. Young was safe when the first baseman failed to touch the bag on a routine play. Nolan singled, Harry Wasilik scored to third, Gord Donovan walked, Bone was safe on an error at second, Hatfield singled, Temple walked and Whalen filed to left.

Whalen's fly ball drove in Bone and left two men aboard. McBride batting for Logue, walked, and Hatfield, apparently thinking the bases full, started for home. He was promptly nailed by the catcher to end the rally.

A walk to Gord Donovan, a single by Bone and two fielder's choice plays were parlayed into two runs and the winning margin for Bobcats in the seventh.

Frank Balint, who relieved Stewart Warner starter, Charlie Dracup, in the seventh, threw hitless ball in the final two innings.

Bill Nolan, Doug Bone and Bob Hatfield, each got two singles in four trips, accounted for all Bobcat hits. Bob Brooks, Stan Creegan and Ed Donovan each had two safeties in TV's losing cause.

LINEUP:

Stewart Warner: D. Murray 1b, replaced by Ashley in 9th; Murray c, replaced by Brooks in 9th; Miller ss; B. Brooks, 2b; T. Hurst, lf; C. Dracup p, replaced by R. Baldwin in 7th; Creegan cf; E. Donovan rf; Bertram 3b.

Bobcats: B. Nolan rf; R. Wardhaugh 3b; G. Donovan cf; D. Bone 2b; Hatfield ss; Temple c; T. Whalen lf; Logue 1b, replaced by McBride in 5th; D. Thompson p, replaced by Young in 4th.

Score by innings:

	R. H. E.
S. Warner 023 000 00—5 11 2
Bobcats 000 040 20x—6 6 2

Time 1.35.

Buffalo Wants To Buy A's

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—J. Channing Ellery, lawyer for the Philadelphia Athletics, has been approached by a Buffalo syndicate about possible purchase of the American League franchise, "but no money was mentioned."

Ellery, commenting on an announcement by W. L. Superson, Buffalo real estate man, who said he is interested in buying the A's, said "there had been nothing definite effected."

Roy Mack, executive vice-president of the Athletics, also knew nothing about Saperston, "nothing at all."

Saperston said he understood it would take $12,000,000 to purchase the A's, ownership and to build a stadium in Buffalo. He said he had held conferences with Ellery and Earle Mack, but Mack wasn't available for comment.

Charles Hopes To Catch Champ In Early Rounds

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP)—Ezzard Charles said Monday he hopes to catch heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano in the early rounds and shoot for a knockout.

"He's a slow starter," said the exchampion from Cincinnati before he worked out. "Marciano showed that against Walcott, La Starza and me in the last fight. If I have him in trouble as I believe I did in the fourth round in June, I'll go right after him...for the kill."

Charles meets Marciano again at Yankee Stadium Sept. 15.

Al Sebesky Grossinger, N.Y., Marciano took things easy.

SPORT IN BRIEF

INJURIES HIT IMPS

SARNIA (CP)—Sarnia Imperials of the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union will have two men on their injury list when they meet Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in the league opener here Wednesday night.

Halfbacks Corky Duschane and Archie McAffrey will be out of the game. Eight players were cut from the roster following last Wednesday's intersquad game. Bob Dunsiensihyn, 20-year-old centre and guard from Windsor AKO juniors and Rocket seniors, has been signed.

ELDERLY TRAVELLER

OSLO (CP)—Norwegian farmer Johannes Seljaas, 104, departed for New York aboard the S. S. Stavangerfjord as guest of the Norwegian-American Line. He was accompanied by his son, Ole, 70.

Two Players Fail To Join Team After Coach Quits

DETROIT (AP) — Washington Redskins, who lost their coach in a week-end argument, faced further troubles Monday as two players failed to join the team when it began practice for a National Football League exhibition game with Detroit Lions.

Head coach Curly Lambeau was fined Sunday after an argument with Redskins owner George Preston Marshall in Sacramento, Calif. The disagreement was reported to be over Marshall's displeasure with Lambeau's "easy going" coaching methods. Line coach Joe Kuharich took over Monday, as head coach.

Washington Star sports writer Dick McCann said Don Paul, 28-year-old defensive halfback, and Frank Polzfoot, 27, an end, failed to report here Monday.

McCann said Paul told him "if Curley goes, I go," and indicated he was going home to Tacoma, Wash.

"Polzfoot—let us say that his answer was being put up following the incident," McCann said. He declined to elaborate on Polzfoot's reasons for quitting the team.

Trailermen Win Over Hamilton By 15-4 Count

HAMILTON (CP) — Peterborough Trailermen trounced Hamilton Tigers 15-4 Monday night in their round-robin semi-final series in the Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior League.

Two of the three teams in the series will advance into the league finals to decide who will represent eastern Canada in the Canadian championships for the Mann Cup.

Denny Peterson led the winners with four goals. Curly Mason had two. Nickel two each and Don Ashley and Grant Bunn one apiece. Al Doyle, J. Hill, Bob Dobbie and Jim McNulty scored

MARMORA

Baseball Team Beats Coe Hill To Enter Finals

MARMORA. — Marmora baseball team earned its way into the North Hastings Baseball League finals by winning the second game out-of-three with Coe Hill on the former's diamond on Monday by the gradually accumulated score of eight runs to one. Whereas each team had three errors, those of the visitors unfortunately for them, proved the more costly.

Mantle for the homesters pitched steady ball and three of his six strikeouts in the game lasting only five innings due to a late start were obtained in the fourth frame. D. Giles on the mound for Coe Hill got five strikeouts and apart from a little weakening half way through the game, gave a good account of himself.

Chief hitters for the winners were Dikun, Conner and Killian. Landon, Peters, Gunner and Grenville Crosby stood out for Coe Hill. Marmora will face the winner of the Bancroft-Fort Stewart series in the finals

Teams—Coe Hill — Gunter cf; M. Crosby ss; Peters 3b; B. Giles lf; D. Landon 2b; D. Giles p; Martin rf; Grenville Crosby lf; Conner c.

Woman Angler Hooks Muskie With Sunfish

MARMORA. — An ardent lady angler of the village for some years Mrs. Donald McInroy, achieved success of note on Sunday evening when, using sunfish as bait, she caught a fine specimen of a muskie on Crowe River between the Marmora dam and the C.P.R. which span it a couple of miles below the village.

She was fishing with her husband at the time in their boat, when the household appliances secured her prize which measured 43 inches in length and weighed 20 pounds, landing it at 8 p.m., she was able to proudly take it home to the view of congratulating friends.

Rail Industry In Period Of Changeover

TORONTO (CP)—The railway industry is in a period of changeover from a monopoly in land transportation to one of intense competition, N. R. Crump, senior vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, says.

Mr. Crump's remarks were contained in a speech issued Monday to the press before delivery at the convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

Mr. Crump said this adjustment is the largest single problem the railways have ever encountered. The problem is not only for railway management but for railway labor and public authorities who regulate the industry.

"The railways are efficient; they produce low cost overland transportation . . . yet they are losing out to competitive standpoint of transportation and their earnings are unattractive from standpoint of capital investment."

STILL REGULATED

Although railways are not a monopoly, Mr. Crump said, they are regulated by authorities as if they were a monopoly.

The competition is for railway labor as well as management and public authorities he said. The consumer was the worker's boss as well and must be satisfied with prices and service.

"I'm not suggesting . . . that the railways will have to grind labor down in order to compete and to survive."

Given the necessary freedom and fair competitive conditions, the railways would be able to offer a good day's pay for a good day's work.

"But we must be diligent in seeing that our efforts are managed in such a way that we always get an effectively good day's labor for every good day's pay."

Owners Urged To Get Expert Help on Valuation

MORRISBURG, Ont. (CP)—Some 350 owners of property that is to be flooded by the St. Lawrence river seaway-hydro project were urged Monday night to get expert help on assessing land values before Ontario Hydro completes the expropriations' arrive.

Reeve George Beavers of Morrisburg, Dundas and Stormont, besides said the Seaway Valley Property Owners' Association, a small group expected to form the nucleus of a larger body, already has retained Mr. Montague Cook of the firm of Charles Warnock and Co., Ltd., of Toronto, to act for property owners in the area.

"I would advise every property owner to get the advantage of the firm's services," Mr. Beavers said. "It will help the people who may not be able to help himself."

HYDRO AN EXPERT

He said Hydro Chairman Robert H. Saunders has said each settlement for flooded land will be dealt with individually.

"Well, Hydro is expert in settlements, he thinks you can match wits with them by yourself, I feel sorry for you."

John Jenkins of Montreal, district supervisor of the accounting firm said expropriation often means the best price an owner not prepared to sell can obtain from a buyer not prepared to buy.

He urged property owners to get their own appraisal values before dealing with Hydro officials.

RESIDENTS CONCERNED

Residents said they are concerned over refusal by Hydro to consider flooding rights for compensation of property.

Mr. Beavers said there was no need to flood a big area to obtain the same policy it did when constructing the Marmora power dam from 25 to 60 cycles. Hydro had paid straight replacement values for household appliances which could not be converted.

"The principle is the same in this case," he added. "The only difference is that we are dealing with houses instead of dams."

Canadian Experts Impressed By Quality of Stock

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Four Canadian government farm experts, making their first visit to Moscow, were impressed with the quality of products on display at the Red capital's agricultural exhibition.

But they could learn little or nothing about Russian acreage yields, of the number of bushels of grain produced, of the manpower employed, or of the cost of production.

And they learned even less about Russian animal and plant diseases.

One of the visitors, Dr. W. F. Hanna, the government's chief animal pathology chief, said Monday he inquired about disease problems and was informed by the Russians that the Soviet did not have such problems.

He inquired also about mortality rates among Russian livestock and was told Russia had very few deaths. It all sounded "sort of fantastic," he said in an interview, until he studied that reply against the basic facts of Russian life—that labor is diet cheap and that the government exercises rigid controls over the movement of animals and humans.

THEY'RE CONTROLLED

"They can do things over there that we cannot do in our country," Dr. Hanna said. "They have thousands of veterinarians. And you can't move animals from one farm to another without a government certificate. There are no lengths to which they cannot go to control disease."

Russia also had a lot of cheap farm help. At the exhibition, Dr. Hanna noticed that one of the women looking after livestock gave the animals as much care as a mother would give a child.

The Canadians were sent overseas by the government to see the Red fair at the invitation extended to Western countries by the Moscow hierarchy. They found that the fair wasn't like the temporary summer affairs in the West where prizes are given to the best showers.

The Moscow exhibition was a permanent exhibition, providing place for the best grown in the country. There the exhibits remained until the authorities ordered them replaced.

Mendes-France Wrestles Anew With EDC Crisis

PARIS (AP)—Premier Mendes-France wrestled anew with the European army crisis today as a barrage of delegates mustered in France for acceptance or rejection of the controversial six-country defence treaty.

Mendes-France flew back to meet his cabinet today after a hurried conference in Britain Monday with Prime Minister Churchill.

The premier reported Monday night to French president René Coty at the Normandy resort of Bagnoles de l'Orne, briefing Coty on his secret talk with Churchill and his failure at the six-nation Brussels conference to get approval of the sweeping revisions he demanded in the European Defence Community pact.

If Churchill and Mendes-France decided upon any alternative to EDC during their talk Monday, it was a diplomatic secret. Following the four-hour meeting at Chartwell, Churchill's country home in Kent, he announced only that they had agreed to "carry out practical steps" to maintain Western unity.

Official sources disclosed the two leaders reviewed all possible alternatives for rearming West Germany and restoring full sovereignty to the Bonn government if EDC fails.

DECISION TO MAKE

Facing Mendes-France was the decision on whether to try for another new set of modifications in EDC treaty or let the French National Assembly begin a ratification debate, scheduled for Saturday, on the pact as it stands.

The premier himself had insisted that the modifications he demanded at Brussels were necessary to win French ratification.

There was some doubt among politicians today whether his cabinet could survive the treaty debate.

Former premier Antoine Pinay, a supporter of EDC, suggested Monday night that the six West European allies go ahead with the scheme for an 18-month "trial marriage" period. They should put it into effect as originally drafted, he said, but agree that any of the members could call a conference for revision of impractical features for the first 18 months. This period could be extended if necessary.

Pinay said his proposal had the support of the powerful Popular Republican Movement (MRP), whose members are among EDC's chief French backers.

BUYS RARE COIN

TORONTO (CP)—Charles Ricard manager of a hotel barber shop in Cleveland, O., has purchased a rare Canadian half dollar for $1,400, it was revealed Monday at the 1954 convention of the Canadian Numismatic Association. The coin is dated 1921 and officials here say only seven or eight are in existence.

STOLE TON OF TEA

MONTREAL (CP)—Three men who stole a ton of tea two weeks ago from the Montreal waterfront, Monday received jail terms ranging from four to six months. James O'Neill, 57, who admitted organizing the $4,500 theft, was sentenced to six months. Edward Fagan, 42, and George Kirkpatrick, 49, were sentenced to four months each.

Weekly Editors To Be Crowned At Banquet

TORONTO (CP)—A veteran Saskatchewan newspaper publisher, a Nova Scotia housewife and a young Ontario girl have been named "Mr.", "Mrs.", and "Miss" weekly editor of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association for 1954.

They will be crowned tonight at a banquet for delegates attending the association's annual convention.

Sam Wynn, publisher of the Yorkton, Sask., Enterprise, who started in the printing field when he was 14, was chosen "Mr. Weekly Editor."

Mrs. Nora (Nonie) Murray, whose husband owns the Pictou, N.S., Advocate, is the 1954 "Mrs. Weekly Editor." She finds time to write about 3,000 words a week for the Advocate and care for her nine children.

"Miss Weekly Editor" is Barbara Lee Aylesworth, associate editor and advertising manager of her father's paper, the Watford, Ont., Guide-Advocate.

EDITOR SINCE 1905

Mr. Wynn was born in Palmerston, Ont., 68 years ago and received $1.50 for a 54-hour week when he first went to work. He moved to Yorkton in 1904 and increased his pay to $18 weekly. In 1905, he took over the position of editor at $25 a week. He has been on the job ever since.

Described as a "striking 43-year-old brunette with the passive qualities of a Kansas tornado," Mrs. Murray is aptly named "Mrs. Weekly Editor." She writes regularly for her husband's paper under the pseudonyms of "Aunt Betty" and "Ann Advocate." Her children also work on the Advocate.

Barbara Lee Aylesworth is a jack of all trades on her father's weekly. Besides being associate editor and advertising manager, she often can be found wearing an apron, operating the paper folder or feeding a press.

German Immigrants Die in Highway Crash

The truck driver, William Bruan, Lampman, Sask., suffered minor injuries.

Scientists Claim To Have Invented 'Atomic Clock'

LONDON (AP)—Soviet scientists claimed Monday to have invented an "atomic clock."

Moscow radio said it measures time with an exactness of 1-1,000,000,000th of a second in 24 hours.

Even the best clocks synchronized by the constellations of stars and the sun are not exact enough for certain highly technical processes, the broadcast said and explained:

"The revolutions of the earth are not quite regular. The disintegration of certain atoms, on the other hand, goes on at an absolutely regular pace."

Hees Says Wind 'Has Shifted' For Liberals

GAGETOWN, N.B. (CP)—George Hees, national president of the Progressive Conservative party, charged here Monday night that the "floating" Liberal government at Ottawa "has no idea what it wants to do" or "where it's going to do" for jobless textile workers.

He told an audience of more than 300 that federal leaders have taken the attitude that idle of the men and women made idle by mill closures is "none of our business."

When personnel in plants such as those at Marysville and Milltown lose their livelihood they are simply advised by the government to move some place else, Mr. Hees said.

In New Brunswick on a week-long swing through the province, Mr. Hees earlier in the day addressed a Fredericton meeting.

The 44-year-old MP for Toronto-Broadview said Progressive Conservatives now see a "tremendous opportunity" before them. Ever since 1939, with the nation's prosperity buoyed up by wars, Liberal governments have sailed along "with the wind at their backs."

"WIND HAS SHIFTED"

Now, Mr. Hees said, the world has ceased of wars and the wind has shifted. The period of "false prosperity" was over, the artificial stimulant was gone and Canada was returning to a more normal economy.

"The weakness of the government is beginning to show up," the Toronto manufacturer said. "It is now facing a very tough situation. Unemployment is going at an alarming rate."

Mr. Hees said he had been told Quebec City friends of Prime Minister St. Laurent that the Liberal leader has decided "it is about time he retires." Mr. St. Laurent would be followed back into private life by Trade Minister Howe, Mr. Hees said. Although Mr. Howe might remain in Ottawa for a short while longer as a "caretaker" prime minister.

Eisenhower Won Three Big Foreign Aid Battles in Congress

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower won three of his big foreign aid battles with the United States Congress in the session which ended last week. He lost a fourth, which many observers say greatly his policies for tightening U.S. relations with allied countries.

Here is the record:

1. Foreign trade—Eisenhower's major setback. Congress balked at the president's program for lowering tariffs to encourage allied and friendly countries to trade with the U.S. Eisenhower succeeded in getting mainly a simple extension for one year of his bill to negotiate tariff-cutting trade treaties, but none of the new authority he asked to lower tariffs through such treaties.

HELD AS SIGNIFICANT

Diplomats attach great significance to the record on this issue because American foreign aid programs, which many military are rapidly coming to an end, and many countries are worrying about where necessary aid will be obtained.

2. Foreign aid—Congress voted a total of $2,781,000,000 for the current 12-month period. It was around $700,000,000 less than the nearly $3,500,000,000 requested by the president.

Administration officials indicated that the cuts are not crippling, however, and should not be interpreted by foreign governments as evidence that the U.S. is withdrawing into a shell. Other governments constantly look to U.S. congressional action for evidence as to whether the legislators are on the whole supporting the president's program of "partnership" with friendly countries. About 60 per cent of the total for foreign aid is for military purposes.

3. Atomic—The president registered possibly his greatest victory on this issue. He gained authority, although not all he asked, to transfer to American allies in Europe secret information about the effects of atomic weapons and such information as size, weight and shape of these weapons.

BRICKER MOVE DEFEATED

4. Bricker amendment—Eisenhower won a tough fight when the Senate declined to go for the constitutional amendment put forward by Senator Ralph Bricker (Rep.-Ohio) to restrict presidential powers to make international agreements.

There was a fifth great issue which never was officially presented to Congress, although members spent many an hour making speeches on the subject—how to save Southeast Asia from Communist conquest.

The program of legislation turned out will have a long-range important bearing on U.S. foreign relations aside from immediate effects.

This is a period of transition in American relationships with other countries.

In general, the U.S. is cleaning up eight years of efforts to promote the economic recovery and stability of other countries. Major powers such as Britain and France are back on their feet, but in the less developed countries of Asia and Africa, American policy increasingly emphasizes "point four" assistance—the relatively inexpensive program of teaching other people how to grow more food and make more goods. The project was based on the fourth point of President Truman's message to Congress in 1950.

TRADE BIG ISSUE

For the big western European producing countries and for Japan, the greatest issue now is this: Can they get from American foreign trade, either directly or indirectly, the dollars which formerly got into international monetary channels by way of American aid?

If they cannot, must they look to Russia and Red China for a greater trade volume, or is there sufficient volume among the free countries without an expanded American market?

In so far as U.S. political policy goes, this comes down to saying that the degree of co-operation, the solidarity of the Western front against Soviet communism, will stand in the long run on the foundation of the dollars-and-cents relationships of buying and selling.

FIRST PAPER

The first successful daily paper in the United States was the Pennsylvania Packet and Daily Advertiser which appeared in Philadelphia in 1784.

It takes a complex maze of wires, skilfully arranged in neat patterns—plus the modern dial telephone—to make automatic telephone service possible. And it takes months of patient, precise work to build the equipment that goes into action the instant you start dialing a number.
Installation of the equipment which will mean "dial service" for you is well underway in the new telephone exchange, and after the charge we believe you will agree that the faster, more convenient service makes your telephone more valuable than ever.

Mao Asks Attlee To Urge U.S. End Guard on Formosa

By FRASE RWIGHTON

PEIPING, China (Reuters)—Mao Tse-tung has urged visiting British Labor leader Clement Attlee to use his influence to have the United States end the occupation of the Nationalist stronghold of Formosa which the Communists have threatened to "liberate."

A usually reliable source said here today China's head of state made this one of three requests points he put to the British Socialist leaders with whom he conferred for almost three hours Tuesday.

FIRST MEETING

They were the first Western leaders Mao had met since the Communists revolution.

He is said also to have urged that Western Germany and Japan should not be forbidden to rearm and to have called for modification of the American attitude in international affairs.

The United States 7th fleet has operated in Formosa waters since the time of the Korean crisis, under orders to "neutralize" the area.

Members of the delegation are maintaining the closest secrecy about the meeting.

They talked with Mao over bowls of scented tea. Morgan Phillips, Labor party secretary, said afterwards: "Discussion was very frank throughout and the meeting ended in an atmosphere of cordiality and expressions of goodwill."

Chou En-lai, Communist prime minister, set foot in the British mission here for the first time Tuesday night when he attended a dinner given by Humphrey Trevelyan, British Ambassador.

STATEMENT LATER

The members of the delegation will be the guests of honor tonight at another Chinese official party, arranged to say "au revoir" to them before they leave for Shanghai by air Thursday. Several political figures, including Chou, are expected to be present.

Phillips said that the delegation was making no further statement on Tuesday's three-hour talks with Mao. He said a statement may be made later.

U.S. Has New Plan To Keep Plants Ready for War

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new plan for keeping the country's industrial capacity in readiness to roll into quantity production of modern weapons of war was made public Tuesday by mobilization director Arthur S. Flemming.

A spokesman for the office of defence mobilization said "hundreds of millions of dollars a year," will be spent by the government to keep together key production personnel, to keep products and production techniques up to date with defence requirements and to maintain idle machinery and tools.

QUEBEC WOMAN SLAYS CHILDREN WITH SHOTGUN

Kills Son, 2, Baby Girl, Then Takes Own Life

CASCADES POINT, Que. (CP)—A 36-year-old woman shot and killed her two children and then herself Tuesday in this town, 25 miles west of Montreal, police reported Tuesday night.

Police said Mrs. Beatrice Meloche shot her son Alain, 2, and her three-month-old daughter Murielle with a 12-gauge shotgun, and then turned the gun on herself.

Mrs. Meloche did not learn well since the birth of the baby and had been under a doctor's care, police quoted neighbors.

The bodies were discovered in Mrs. Meloche home by a brother-in-law. Mr. Meloche walked in moments later.

Veteran Red Leader Leaves Party for Good

HAMBURG (Reuters) — A disillusioned West German Communist party leader declared here he and he had suffered worse "bodily and mental tortures" during 20 months imprisonment in a Soviet basement than in a Second World War prisoner-of-war camp.

Anti-Vargas newspapers and U.S. diplomats have been among the more major targets of the rioters.

Many rioters, apparently sparked by the Communists, as well as traditional anti - U. S. feelings, blamed the United States for fomenting the crisis which brought Vargas' downfall.

Eventually, too, the rioters were incited by the 600-word suicide letter Vargas wrote just before his death, in which he spoke of "a subterranean campaign of international groups joined with national groups revolting against the regime of workers' guarantees."

Despite such fulminations throughout his long career, Vargas since the beginning of the Second World War had been a staunch ally of the United States, first against Germany and later against communism. Brazil's new president, 59-year-old Juca Café Filho, who automatically stepped up from the vice-presidency, is regarded as similarly favorable to the United States.

Vargas' body was to leave by plane this morning for burial at his native prairie village of Sao Borja, in the state of Rio Grande do Sul.

The violent demonstrations ended in Rio as night fell. Armed guards and cavalry continued to patrol the streets.

President Café worked tirelessly to dissipate the crisis which began building up after the murder Aug. 5 of an air force major during an assassination attempt on Vargas political foe Carlos Lacerda.

Following Café's step-up, all of the cabinet resigned. The new president's first appointee was Finance Gen. Eduardo Gomes as air minister. Gomes had led the air force demands for Vargas' resignation.

The war minister, Gen. Zenobio Costa, also resigned. He had been a stay on in the top military post. He was the first to be named early Tuesday that Vargas meet the resignation demands by taking poison. He died of a heart attack. Vargas agreed—and killed himself four hours later.

Violence Flares Again in Rio As Mob Attacks Air Ministry

By JIMMIE PAYNE

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) Violence flared in Brazil's capital today immediately after a plane departed with the body of Getulio Vargas. Troops fired on a crowd trying to attack the air ministry. Two persons were injured.

The country's 71-year-old strong man chose Tuesday to give up his presidency by suicide rather than force. He fired a bullet through his heart after 58 air force and army generals decided to force him to resign.

While army troops stood by thousands of Brazilians followed the body of Vargas from the presidential palace to the city's downtown airport. The plane took off for southern Brazil where Vargas will be buried in an unblessed grave.

Afterward a crowd gathered in front of the air ministry. Air force personnel and the crowd became involved in a dispute and troops were rushed to the scene. Shots were fired in an attempt to restore order.

Clashes were reported in other sections of the city. Three persons were killed and 40 injured Tuesday in clashes in Brazil.

An estimated 500,000 persons gathered at the airport in a tribute to the small-statured gaucho who ruled this country for 15 South American countries. Thousands of handkerchiefs fluttered as the plane took off for the southern cattle country that Vargas loved.

The coffin was carried by air force officers from the presidential palace to the airport.

Lieut. Vargas, the president's eldest son, followed on foot the car bearing the coffin.

Anti-Vargas newspapers and U.S. diplomats have been among the more major targets of the rioters.

Many rioters, apparently sparked by the Communists, as well as

Indo-China Truce Delegates Will Leave Trenton Friday

MONTREAL (CP)—Five North Star aircraft of the RCAF 426 Transport Squadron based at Uplands are being tuned-up for a 9,500-mile flight to Hanoi with 100 military personnel of the Indo-China truce team.

The first airplane—commanded by Sqdn. Ldr. C. S. Olson, 33, of Vancouver—is scheduled to leave Friday from Trenton, Ont., on the first of the truce delegates. It will also carry a ton of relief supplies for flood victims in Calcutta, India.

Three other aircraft will leave later in separate hops, flying east across the Atlantic. RCAF officials said the flight to Hanoi was expected to take about four or five days with overnight stops at Malta, Basra, Iraq, Karachi, Pakistan and Calcutta.

Flight captains of the North Stars will be: FO. L. A. Tapp, 34, Montreal; Flt. Lt. T. D. Lamb, 34, an RAF exchange pilot, FO. R. G. Church, Dr. Kelowna, B. C. and Flt. Lt. D. F. Clifton, 29, Montreal.

July Strikes Cause Much Lost Time

OTTAWA (CP)—Five industrial strikes during July accounted for nearly three-quarters of the total time lost through strikes and lockouts during the month, the labor department said today.

In a preliminary summary, the department said 29 new work stoppages in July involved 6,607 workers and a time loss of 67,178 days' employment. In June, 86,085 days' employment were lost through 42 stoppages involving 10,157 workers.

The five main strikes, involving 5,000 or more days' work, were: Beverage room employees at Edmonton; Kelvinator workers at London, Ont.; bakery and confectionery workers at Vancouver and Nanaimo, B.C.; and hotel service employees at Riondel, B. C., and at Ontario vault factory workers at Toronto.

Twelve work stoppages were still in effect at the end of the month.

Would Back Fleet With Military Strength Report

TOKYO (AP)—The United States Navy would be ready to back the Seventh all available military strength if Communist China attacked Formosa, a responsible American military source said here today.

The Communist mainland would be very unwise to launch an operation against Formosa," he said. "I am sure they would fail and I am sure they know they would fail. If they tried it, they would be in for a terrible beating."

"All forces in position to do so would assist the 7th Fleet in carrying out its mission," said this highly placed source who asked to not to be identified.

Girls 'Helplessly Under Sway Of Evil Psychiatrist Tells Court

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (Reuters)—Two teen-age girls on trial for murder today were declared to have written out all the Ten Commandments and broken them."

Psychiatrist R. V. Medlicott, called by the defence to support its contention that Pauline Parker, 18, and Juliet Hulme, 15, were insane, read excerpts from Pauline's diary to show the girls became "helplessly under the sway of evil."

He said Pauline has pleaded not guilty to the charge of bashering Pauline's 45-year-old mother, Mrs. Honora Parker, to death two months ago with a brick wrapped in a stocking. Medlicott maintained today, in four hours on the witness stand, that he believed the two were legally insane.

The psychiatrist said Pauline's diary "rises to a quite fantastic crescendo as it goes on. Evil becomes more and more important and one gets the feeling they became helplessly under its sway."

He told the court the two girls had challenged orthodox beliefs about God and created a religion of their own. A strange sort of "fourth world" with a god whose powers were greatly enlarged.

Juliet told him he said, there was no right or wrong.

Auto-Makers Will Be Asked To Limit Speed

TORONTO (CP)—A brief urging motor car manufacturers to limit the speed and power of new cars and to devote their efforts to producing "more efficient methods of safe transportation" was presented today to the legislature committee studying highway safety.

Presented by the Ontario Association of Professional Engineers, the submission was before the committee "to secure the cooperation of motor car manufacturers" in making vehicles safer rather than faster and more powerful.

"The strictest possible enforcement of the safety provisions and provisions of the Highway Traffic Act (is) the most important move that can be made towards control of the highway and safety of motorists," it said.

A co-ordinated, province - wide educational program should be undertaken at the same time, it added. Too many drivers do not know highway regulations and even the meaning of traffic signs, it said.

It also recommended consideration of legislation to limit "within the type of accessories which may be added to cars. It said elimination of spear-like door handles after many tragic accidents" has been by a large extent nullified by manufacturers of accessories which recreate this danger.

MOTHBALLS FOR MO

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The 45,000-ton battleship Missouri cruised southward in the Atlantic today on a voyage billed as her last. For the mighty Mo, in line with the shift in navy sentiment from battleships to aircraft carriers, is to be decommissioned. She joins the mothball fleet at Bremerton, Wash., in September.

TRUCE REACHED IN HYDRO FIGHT AT IROQUOIS

First Project Contract Awarded Says Saunders

IROQUOIS, Ont. (CP)—The Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission and the 1,100 residents of Iroquois have reached a truce in their fight over the relocation of this St. Lawrence Seaway community.

Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders addressed a public meeting Tuesday night in an effort to clarify Hydro's plans to relocate this village 20 miles west of Cornwall and said:

"We are not wedded to our plan, but something had to be prepared. We won't impose Hydro on you. We have no right to do so and no intention of doing so."

The breakdown in truce team be made up of representatives from Iroquois, Hydro and the Ontario Planning Department to review different relocation plans.

PRIZE CONTRACT

At the same meeting, Mr. Saunders announced the first contract for the St. Lawrence seaway project had been awarded to Cementation Co. of Toronto and Montreal. The federal government is for the project construction office of the powerhouse site just west of Cornwall.

Earlier, the citizens of Iroquois had voted for a brief truce on their own planning consultant, Dr. Wells Hivon, and the plans the Ontario Hydro disclosed last week. The brief also suggested several revisions to the plans for relocating the village council's authority.

Mr. Saunders' announcement from his audience when he said he realized many people wanted their present homes moved to the site of the new Iroquois. "There's no great engineering basis of market value and experts and yours think it should be done it will be done."

FORMULA VIEW

He said the compensation formula used by Hydro in other parts of the province could not be applied to Iroquois. Instead of paying market value plus 10 per cent for forceful taking, Hydro might pay market value or replacement value plus a percentage. But the bonus would be higher than 10 per cent. Mr. Saunders announced he had set up a committee to review all sides of the question. Committee will be Dr. A. E. Rothwell, Hydro's liaison engineer on the project, Prof. Kent Barker, Hydro's planning consultant, and other Hydro officials; Dr. Wales and other Iroquois representatives; and Ontario Planning Department officials.

Referring to the seaway contract, he said Hydro surveyors and workers had been held up a total of shed on the powerhouse site. Cementation Co. engineers were to start work Monday.

Shell-Laden Freight Car Catches Fire

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—An ammunition-laden freight car caught fire in the Frisco railroad yards Tuesday night, touching off a series of spectacular explosions and spraying 105-millimetre shells in all directions.

Exploding shells hit one house, destroying it. Another was badly damaged. But only one person was injured.

An estimated 4,000 to 5,000 shells were in the car.

Flames yesterday uncoupled the burning car from three others also loaded with ammunition. A freight engine pulled the remainder of the train to safety.

Persons in the area were evacuated. All streets and roads for a mile around the yards were barricaded.

The fire burned itself out in about five hours.

Officials said the fire apparently was caused by a "hot box," a lubricating mechanism on a freight car, overheated by friction.

Britain Rejects Polish Demand To Release Man

ALONDON (AP)—Britain rejected today a Polish demand to hand over a Polish diplomat in London who fled his Communist homeland and was given asylum.

A force of 80 London policemen dramatically rescued the seamen-diplomat Josef Kilmanski July 31 from the Polish ship Jaroslaw Dabrowski.

The foreign office said in a note that Britain could not entertain the Polish demand which was for the "return of Kilmowicz and compensation for the damage resulting from detention of the ship and "assault" by the British police on board.

The note said the police, "far from using violence . . . were themselves subject to attack."

Two Dead, Crops Damaged in Heavy Storms Across Ont.

Power Lines Knocked Down, Fires Set, Streets Flooded

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Electrical storms swept across Ontario and New York state Tuesday leaving in their wake at least two dead, several injured and thousands of dollars damage.

Peter Zelkiewicz, 42, was found dead in a puddle of water at the Chrysler Corporation plant in Windsor and was believed to have been struck by lightning. That would make him the third victim.

Hail north of here damaged peach orchards.

After swinging out of Canada, storms struck at northwestern New York. Two persons were killed. Power lines were knocked down, several fires were set and streets and cellars were flooded.

A Batavia mother and her son were killed by lightning while sitting at a kitchen table in Rochester, N.Y. The victims were identified as Mrs. Mary Meier, 46, and her seven-year-old son, Michael.

HARDEST HIT

The Niagara peninsula was the hardest-hit area. Wind, rain and hail damaged thousands of dollars damage to crops, orchards and buildings.

Driving rains which flooded scores of basements in residential and business areas here and in Welland. Most industries had to close in early afternoon.

Fifteen feet of railing was swept away on the Canadian side of Niagara falls and there were threats of further rock slides. The roadway was barricaded to keep people from the danger area as a large crack appeared near the horseshoe falls.

The Canadian National Railways reported two washouts near Welland City, one on the main line, the other on the Fonthill branch.

Fire alarm systems were swamped with about 4,000 phone calls from citizens with varying complaints. At least one man was injured. Robert Auld was struck by lightning as he stood beside his car and was taken to hospital for treatment.

NIAGARA RIVER

At Niagara Falls Memorial Hospital, Niagara Falls, N.Y., nurses shifted blankets around doors to the emergency room to keep out the rain. Water poured over and inside the ambulance entrance.

The hospital director said an ambulance driver had to be used in when regular power failed. Emergency power crews were called in from Buffalo to help restore utility services in the area.

In Lockport, N.Y., a tornado like WUSJ was struck by lightning which caused a fire in the radio station's monitoring system. The station was off the air briefly, in Tonawanda and North Tonawanda, the storm knocked down trees, knocked out power lines and caused several small fires.

PHONES KNOCKED OUT

At least 2,000 private telephones were knocked out here. Provincial and Stamford township police had to get their radio cars to work as police cruisers.

Flying trees were reported but only one was serious. Lightning struck the farm of Keith McLaren in Stamford township. Estimated loss was $10,000 when lightning set fire to a barn, destroying the building, four heifers, grain and hay.

A small cyclone was reported to have knocked over a steel silo three miles south of Niagara Falls, carrying it 300 feet. A frame shed was blown down and a threshing machine was rolled over.

The weather office at Toronto said radars here at the airport ending at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday was

Norwegian Women Hold Rendezvous With Operator of Flying Saucer

OSLO (Reuters)—Two Norwegian women claim they had a rendezvous with a tall, long-haired foreigner and his "flying saucer" last Friday.

This is the story the women—sisters aged 24 and 32—told police and reporters:

They were picking berries when a dark, long-haired stranger appeared and motioned them to a hollow, where they saw a saucer contraption 16 feet in diameter. The stranger invited them to enter, gesticulated and made drawings to try to communicate. They jabbered back in English, French and German. No results.

Finally he sauntered back to his machine, started it up with a slight humming sound, "like a humble bee," rose at great speed and vanished into the sky.

They claimed he wore a kind of khaki overalls with no buttons, but "possibly with a belt."

The alleged landing took place near Monjoen, Norway. The local police chief said he will dispatch a detective to the spot Thursday to see what they can find.

Hydro Station Ready for Opening By Duchess

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—The giant Sir Adam Beck No. 2 hydro generating station is being cleaned up and dressed with flags for its official opening by royalty Monday.

When the Duchess of Kent presses a button on the ceremonial pile near the famous floral clock she will open three 10,000-horsepower units in the new plant. Production will eventually provide the

Brazil President Ends His Own Life

Repeated demands for his resignation as president of Brazil led to the suicide of Getulio Vargas. After agreeing to a demand by army officers to relinquish control of office, Vargas, 71, shot a pistol from his pocket and shot himself through the heart. He left a note which said: "I bequeath my death to the hatred of my enemies."

16 inches, which was boosted considerably by the storm.

Sixty-cycle power was cut off here for more than an hour and traffic was interrupted as roads became littered with debris.

The Niagara Falls Evening Review was published at Welland. The press run was interrupted twice, once here and again, briefly, in Welland. Most industries had to close in early afternoon.

At Sarnia, storm sewers overflowed in several places and water poured five to six feet deep in city streets. The New York Central office in Sarnia reported several signal lamps burned out by lightning. The Empire State passenger train was held at Buffalo awaiting there.

Damage to crops in the Tillsonburg-Delhi-Simcoe area were reported to have been heavily damaged by hail and wind, but no loss of human life was reported.

Sharon Mossenlery, 3, of Delhi, and Mrs. Garland Allen of North Carolina were admitted to hospital at Simcoe after they were struck by lightning. Mrs. Allen was suffering from shock and the girl burns to her thighs and feet.

No Canadian Exports For Indo-China

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has added Indo-China to the list of soviet bloc countries to which no exports of Canadian goods can be made without a federal permit.

Addition of Indo-China to the list of countries to which exports must be made public in the Canada Gazette today.

Trade officials said Canada sells very little to Indo-China and explained that the list is kept up to move.

The Canadian curb was imposed originally to prevent Canada being used as a "back door" by American shippers attempting to by-pass U. S. restrictions.

Trenton-Born RCAF Officer Gets New Post

Squadron Leader Walter S. Johnson, who was born and educated in Trenton, has been appointed officer commanding the R.C.A.F. Recruiting Unit at Toronto, Air Force officials announced.

He is a son of Mrs. J. W. Shier, Queen Street, Picton, and a nephew of Mrs. Herb Mayhew of Trenton.

The son of Mrs. Ella Johnson and the late George Johnson, formerly of Belleville, who is presently residing at 8 Willingdon Ave., Toronto, S/L. Johnson will take over his new duties on November 1. He is currently stationed at 16 Training Group Headquarters, R.C.A.F. Station, Winnipeg.

After joining the R.C.A.F. in 1935, S/L. Johnson went overseas to England in 1939 and saw active service with No. 401 City of Westmount Fighter Squadron. While participating in the Normandy invasion, the squadron leader was credited with shooting down one aircraft and assisting in the destruction of another.

Returning to Canada in 1944, he later assumed the position of inspector of Accidents at No. 14 Training Group, a post he presently holds. During the intervening years, he served with distinction at several R.C.A.F. stations.

The squadron leader was married in 1945 to Victoria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Running, of Thornbury, Ont. They have one son, Edward Peter, aged 4.

Playgrounds Will Close Season With Field Day

The third annual playground Sports and Field Day will bring to a close the activities of the Belleville playgrounds for another summer this Friday. The program will be held at the East Hill grounds under the direction of the Belleville Recreation Committee and will begin at ten, lasting through the day and evening.

The schedule will consist of races of all sorts, divided into boys and girls groups with different age groups, horse shoes, checkers, volley ball, crafts, paddle tennis, best decorated bicycle, balloon blowing contests, freckle contests and bubble gum blowing contests. Prize songs, awarding of ribbons to the winners and a wind up party in the evening attraction with free coke and ice cream for all taking part.

Events during the day include, first, second and third will receive ribbons and the winning playgrounds of both senior and junior competition will also receive ribbons for all children from their playgrounds. The two winning playgrounds will be presented with large gold plated plaques.

COURSE COMPLETED

The square dance instruction course which has been given on for the past two weeks has been completed, according to Recreational Director Neil Fraser, McCoy.

An average of 48 persons attended each of the lessons which lasted for three hours at a time. Many persons showed great interest in "calling" the square dances with the result, that most persons attending could now carry out a program.

It is hoped in the cooler weather that square dancing lessons will be made available to the public for all interested parties.

Local Cadets Have Busy Week

Last week proved to be a busy one for the Belleville Sea Cadet Corps. The boys aided fair officials in directing traffic, as well as maintaining first aid supply and Coca Cola booth. Monday and Thursday nights the bugle and band club band also added to the show at the grandstand with their fine march music, which was the praise received by all present.

During the week-end the boys and their officers attended a regatta in Kingston and though all events were won by the Kingston Corps, the boys enjoyed themselves and vowed to be there next year.

Cadets from Peterborough, Cornwall, Port Hope and Belleville were in attendance. With the boys were Lt. R. Watson commanding officer and Lt. Mrs. Fletcher, Midshipman N. Judge and S. Shandraw and acting Midshipman J. Donovan.

Members of the Navy League were also in attendance on Sunday for the races. They were Dr. J. Guthridge, Mr. J. Watson and Mr. William Judge.

Police Blotter

The old saying that it pays to look where you are going is a sound cevice it was learned yesterday by a Parkwood Heights resident, who backed his car from his driveway—right into the side of another vehicle parked on the opposite side of the street. Damage amounted ic about $70.

This morning a West Hill woman misjudged the distance between the C.P.R. shelter on Pinnacle street and a parked auto. Result was that she drove too close to the latter on the side of her car was raked by some protruding fixture on the shelter.

Mark Avery, age four years, escaped injury late yesterday afternoon when he ran out from the north curb on Dundas street east into the side of a passing auto. Driver of the car was Frank Luca, R.R. 1, Galt, Ont.

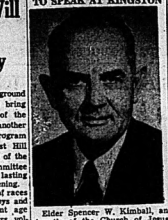
And youthful mischief makers gave vent to their feelings by breaking several windows in Queen Mary School. The caretaker found the broken windows, when he checked the school Tuesday afternoon.

Lightning Kills Two Cows In Thurlow Twp.

Two Thurlow township farmers in the Hallaway area lost cows by lightning during Tuesday morning's electrical storm, which passed over this district, it was learned today.

Harry Kelly and Coleman Townsend, farmers living north of Foxboro, lost one cow each in the storm. The cow owned by Mr. Townsend was killed under a tree which apparently was struck by the lightning, the bolt also killing the cow.

TO SPEAK AT KINGSTON



Elder Spencer W. Kimball, an Apostle of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day saints, is visiting members of the church in Ontario and Quebec and will speak in Kingston, Friday, August 27.

Mr. Kimball is closely linked with the beginnings of the church, his grandfather, Heber C. Kimball, being an associate of Joseph Smith, who organized the church and a counselor of Brigham Young, its first president. Ordained an Apostle in 1943, since then he has spent his life traveling among the membership of his church across the world.

Friday's meeting in Kingston will be in the Ukranian Hall, corner Bagot and James streets at 8 p.m.

Judge H. Lang Of Stratford To Head Board

Sitting of a board of arbitration to hear the salary claims of members of the Belleville police association for pay increases has been set for Saturday, September 12th. It was learned today.

Chairman of the board will be Judge Harold D. Lang of Stratford, county judge for Perth County; with Neil Fraser Q.C., of Oshawa as appointee for the Belleville police commission, and C. L. Dubin, Q.C. of Toronto, representing the local police association.

Hugh Gibson, solicitor for the city of Kingston, will act for the city, while John Mirsky, of Ottawa will act for the police association.

The local police association decided to go to arbitration because the amount of requested pay increases was turned down by city council prior to setting of the tax rate early this year.

The request of the association at that time was for pay increases, and certain fringe benefits. Council agreed orally to the fringe benefits but could not come to agreement on the salary increase.

Hamilton Woman Jilted, Robbed Of $800 in Cash

HAMILTON (CP) — Detectives are seeking a whirlwind wooer who stole a Hamilton woman's heart—and her $800.

Lida Breitkreuz, a German immigrant in this country two and a half years, told police she met a man Saturday, and struck up a friendship which ripened during meetings Sunday and Monday, when the man said he wanted to marry her.

Tuesday, they were to choose a wedding dress. The bride-to-be withdrew $800 from her bank where the man told her he had left his bank book at a hotel.

He took her money and left her sitting in the hotel lounge while he left. "to get my account book."

The victim waited in vain for his return.

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to thank the doctors and nurses, relatives, friends and neighbors who remembered me while I was in Belleville hospital.
Mrs. Mary Fraser,
Carrying Place, Ont.

We would like at this time to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to Dr. Earl McDonald, Miss Kilpatrick, nurses and staff on First South, Rev. Hillis, Mr. Bush and staff of Bellevile Funeral Home, and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent loss of our dear wife and mother, for our many beautiful floral tributes, cards and loan of cars.
Rexford R. Belnap and family. A35

The family of the late John E. Bennett wish to express their sincere appreciation and thanks to their friends, relatives and neighbors who were so kind to them in the recent bereavement of their father. Special thanks for cards of sympathy, floral tributes and for the loan of cars. Special thanks to our neighbor, Rev. Solomon. Mr. Pinkston. A35

NO OVERCOATS

Adelaide, South Australia's capital, doesn't have snow.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market moved irregularly in a narrow range with moderate forenoon trading today.

Industrials gained narrowly. Papers, utilities, constructions and financial institutions were narrowly ahead and liquors and textiles eased.

The market's first-hour volume was 560,000 shares.

Base metals were generally easier.

Western oils and golds showed no trend.

Willroy continued active and strong in Mantiouwadge issues. New Mylamaque, last week's feature in uranium, eased in fairly heavy turnover.

PRODUCE MARKETS

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was firm with offerings light and demand good.

Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture:

Eggs, in fibre cases, graded: A large 49; A medium 36-37; A small 29; B 31; C 24. Wholesale to retail: A large 54; A medium 41-42; A small 34; B 36; C 29.

Butter solid, Ontario, 1st grade, tenderable 58; non-tenderable 56½-57. (Nominal).

Lambs delivered by rail 23 a hundredweight; declared by truck 22.50; bucks were discounted $1 a hundredweight; common to medium lambs 15-20; good light sheep 8-10; common sheep selling down to 4.

Steel Market Ripe for Upturn Says Magazine

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel market is ripe for an upturn now that mass vacations are nearing their end and consumers' stocks are fairly well adjusted, Iron Age, the national metalworking weekly, says today.

Only a strong stimulus is needed to get things going, it adds, and this is expected to come from automotive buying for new models.

The auto industry uses about half of all cold-rolled sheets produced, the publication says, but the first signs of an upturn will probably be in orders for other steel products.

Stainless steel and alloy steel products require longer production cycles so automotive buying for new models will probably show up first in these products, says Iron Age. Furthermore, the big auto parts makers will probably be in the market ahead of the auto producers.

This week steelmaking operations are scheduled at 63 per cent of rated capacity, up a point from last week.

H.D. Bateman Vice-Pres. Of Municipal Assoc.

ST. THOMAS (CP)—R. E. Ashton, London assessment commissioner, today was elected president of the Ontario Municipal Association. He succeeds Mayor Thomas H. Currah of St. Thomas.

The appointment of a new secretary-treasurer to fill the position caused by the resignation of K. Grant Crawford of Kingston was left to the incoming executive.

The convention, at its closing sessions of the annual convention, approved a resolution asking the provincial government to increase the limits of claims under the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund with the contribution of licence holders to be increased by an amount sufficient to carry the fund. The resolution also asked the highways department to revise the system of examination of applicants for driving permits and renewals.

Vice presidents elected today:

H. D. Bateman, assessment commissioner and comptroller, Belleville; Alderman Grant Donald, Niagara Falls; Reeve V. H. Evans, Tisdale township; Reeve H. E. Kilman, Pelham township and Charles Kirk, clerk of Westminster township.

$1,000 Bill Looks 'Real Purty' But No Good as Legal Tender

By BOYD UPPER

A thousand dollar bill is a thing of beauty. Its denomination is delightful. Its blush pink color is most attractive and its size is downright appealing. Sir John A. MacDonald, whose white-thatched head graces the front of the bill, has a twinkle in his eye as if he knows he is still big league. The size is big league, too.

But as legal tender a thousand dollar bill is about as useful as wampum. It is no good for buying cigarets, soft drinks, pens, pencils, men's apparel, headache, tablets or shoe shines. In fact, a man could starve with a thousand dollar bill in his pocket.

Why? Because no one likes handling a bill that size. They are afraid of it.

Taking a thousand dollar bill for a stroll up Front Street is a heady sensation. But it soon becomes frustrating. As an example take the plight of Willard Fawcett, manager of the McCarthy Odeon theatre. Tuesday morning he started out to buy a few items with a thousand dollar bill.

KEYS OFFERED

At Pete's Palace, waitress Lillian Heroux turned pale when the thousand dollar bill was offered as payment for two soft drinks. She gulped twice and then called manager Pete Papadopoulos.

Pete looked at it, laughed nervously, asked if it was a good one. When assured that it was, he smilingly put the bill in his pocket and offered Mr. Fawcett his keys to his Palace.

F. K. Tom, cashier at the Paragon Cafe found the bill staring him in the face as payment for a package of cigarets. He stared right back nonplused.

"What kind of money is it?" he asked. "I never saw money like that before. Is it a good one? Where did you get it? Maybe you had better keep it. I never saw one like that before. Never."

Margaret Royall, a clerk in Duff's Drug Store, was ringing up a 19-cent sale of headache powders when she realized she had a thousand dollar headache on her hands. She laughed somewhat nervously at Mr. Fawcett and called the bill off to manager Gardner Duff.

"Make it yourself!" asked Mr. Duff holding the bill up to a strong light. "Is it good?" he said crackling and snapping the paper between his fingers.

"Sorry, but we can't change it. What is the gimmick, anyway?" he asked.

JUST A STUNT

When told it was a stunt to illustrate the troubles Gregory Peck has trying to cash a million pound note in the film, "Man With a Million" which starts at the Odeon, Thursday, Mr. Duff grinned and said, "Well, thanks for the compliment anyway."

Barbara Rose, who sold Mr. Fawcett a ball point pen and a five cent eraser at Schwalm's, stopped dead about half way to the cash register, walked back, handed Mr. Fawcett the bill and said "How about 40 cents?"

Miss Rose rubbed the bill "for luck" nevertheless.

Ted Schwalm and Lorne McDougall, called on by Miss Rose to break the bill, stated they had five cent eraser such a bill before.

"You can quote me," said Ted, "that I have never seen a black and dollar bill before and I don't expect to see one again, end quote."

"I didn't think they printed one that big," commented Mr. McDougall, who wanted to know if Mr. Fawcett had insured it against loss at McDougall Insurance Agencies Ltd., 130 Front Street.

Harry (Ginger) Stewart sold Mr. Fawcett a pair of shorts at Quick and Robertson's. When he clapped his hands over his eyes, peeked at the bill, slid his eyes again, then burst out laughing.

"Any more of those things," he said, "perhaps you would loan me one for my holidays."

Chuckling, he hastened off to the cashier's cage, where dead silence was followed by an uproar and several questions, about the bill's ability to pass as legal tender.

Frank Lapanne, who makes old and dirty shoes shine like new at his shoe shine stand in the rear of the New Central Barber shop, took the bill in payment for a shine, looked at it wonderingly for about 10 full seconds and then gave a long, low whistle.

He handed it back to Mr. Fawcett and said, "I can't take it."

SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS

Getting a thousand dollar bill in the first place is no easy task, either. Special arrangements for it were made by Mr. Fawcett with the Bank of Montreal. A one thousand dollar cheque was deposited to cover the bill and the bank was asked to let him have it for two hours.

Mr. Fawcett enjoyed the fun but he was pretty worried, too. He kept nervously plucking the bill from his wallet before and after entering every business place, just to reassure himself it was still there.

And by an odd coincidence it always was there.

Carrying a thousand dollar bill around is a little scary. It is good for laughs, but the laughs are hollow and not up to par, even though the bill is.

It was a very enlightening morning. Not it punched a big hole in a five dollar bill.

There is nothing terribly glamorous about a five dollar bill, but for buying soft drinks, headache powders, shoe shines, shorts, and cigarets, it beats a thousand dollar bill 200 ways.

VARGAS — A PRESIDENT 20 YEARS

On Tuesday, Getulio Dornelles Vargas was ousted from the president's chair in Brazil by the same instrument which first gained him that seat—the gun.

Revolutions, sparked by public sentiment or, more frequently, engineered by a military junta, are commonplace in Latin America. But there was nothing commonplace about Vargas nor about the manner of his death. He was his own assassin. It was in keeping with a career which, to our Anglo-Saxon eyes, appears as a jumble of paradoxes.

Vargas was born in the state of Rio Grande do Sul in 1883. He had been president since 1930, with the exception of a five-year period after he was ousted from office in 1945. For nearly two decades, he had wrought a great change in his country's political life. When he came to power Brazil was nominally a democracy; Vargas made it a totalitarian regime. But he was a benevolent dictator. Under his guidance many needed reforms were instituted.

Brazil, discovered in 1500 by a companion of Columbus, Vicente Pinson, has had a checkered history. Unlike other portions of South America, it did not come under the rule of Spain but, in the same year that it was discovered by Pinson, was proclaimed a Portuguese dependency by Pedro Alvarez Cabral. French, Spanish and Dutch interests sought to dispute this claim but Brazil, however, remained under Portuguese control and in 1807, under the threat of an invasion of Portugal by Napoleon, the royal family fled across the seas. When Spanish colonies revolted, the independence movement gained strength in Brazil and that country cut its ties with Portugal on September 7, 1822, but instead of becoming a republic it had a monarchial form of government until November 5, 1889. A constituent assembly on February 24, 1891, promulgated a constitution modelled after that of the United States and it was this constitution which was in effect when Vargas became president in 1930.

For years Vargas gained prominence in national politics as finance minister during the administration of President Washington Luis Pereira de Souza (1926-1930). President Luis fighting for constitutional unrest, sponsored reforms and in 1927 ended martial law. Vargas for three years retired from national politics to serve as governor of his native state of Rio Grande do Sul. He was, however, his native state of Rio Grande do Sul. He was, however, he ran for the presidency as the Liberal Alliance candidate. Defeated, he made what the Encyclopedia Americana describes as "the customary protests" against the manipulation of the electoral machinery by his opponent and a revolution broke out.

Vargas assumed dictatorial powers as provisional president on November 3, 1930, and then this "Liberal Alliance" stalwart abrogated the constitution of 1891. Since then there have been a bewildering succession of constitutional changes.

As a dictator, Vargas instituted the eight-hour day and minimum wage and unemployment insurance laws as well as legislation of a nationalistic character. After a revolution in 1932 was crushed, a constituent assembly was convened and a new constitution promulgated on July 16, 1934. The following day the assembly elected Vargas for another four-year term as president. Martial law was proclaimed after an attempted revolution by Communist forces of radicals. Several other political foes of Vargas were imprisoned. Under the 1934 constitution Vargas was ineligible for re-election in 1938, but on October 2, 1937, in the midst of the presidential campaign, he re-imposed martial law. A month later he called off the election. The constitution was altered to make the presidential term six years instead of four. Vargas promptly ousted a number of governors. This enraged Hitler. Still, while fighting foreign totalitarians of both the Left and Right, Vargas and his influential minister of justice, Dr. Francisco Campos, openly repudiated the democratic principles of the 1891 constitution and proclaimed their acceptance of a totalitarian ideology.

Entering the Second World War on the side of the Allies, Brazil played a part in this struggle. After the war, an army-led coup deposed Vargas on October 29, 1945. Another new constitution, approved on September 17, 1946, re-established a bicameral congress and retained totalitarian features. For instance, the government has authority to outlaw virtually any political party or association. Vargas was returned to the presidency for a four-year term coinciding with January 31, 1951, but under the terms of the 1946 constitution he would not have been eligible for re-election for a second successive term, although he could run again after a five-year interval. As he was 71, it would have been unlikely that he would again have been a candidate.

His term of office thus had only a year and a half to run. That might not have hampered him greatly—on his past record he was a fast man when it came to reviving constitutions. There can, however, be no reminder of him of the terms he meted out himself. His suicide seems to have been the despairing act of a tired old man who felt that the task of remaking a nation's laws to suit his own purpose had finally become too arduous for his advancing years.

CUPID GETS A NEW DEAL IN SWEDEN

After October 1, Swedish maidens are not so likely to discover that Cupid is a teetotaller.

Since 1916, love's young dream must have frequently been a nightmare to sweet young things who enjoyed a slug of rum, or whatever is Sweden's equivalent.

Almost forty years ago the Swedes set out to reduce drunkenness by introducing a hard liquor rationing system.

Now a man may buy five pints of spirits a month. A spinster is entitled to only two pints, which seems to indicate that the feminist movement is none too strong. But a married woman is on the Swedish equivalent to our Indian list. No spirits for her.

A man facing marriage would thus appear to be faced with three alternatives. Wed a teetotaller. Divvy up his five pints with his bride. Or drink his five pints and prepare for stormy weather.

Perhaps all that will be changed. The rationing system will end.

Perhaps there will be a sharp upswing in the wedding ring market.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

August 25th, 1934.

Mayor Geo. O. Tice has issued a proclamation calling for the termination of daylight saving at midnight on Sunday, August 26th, instead of midnight on Monday, Sept. 3rd. In regards to this change Mayor Tice said today, the reason for the setting back of the clock is the Belleville Fair. Practically the whole rural district is and has been on slow time all summer and reversion to Standard Time will assist them and the Fair Board greatly. Officers of the Retail Merchants Association have expressed their willingness to co-operate in this matter.

Mrs. Walter Weatherup of London, Ontario, is the guest of Mrs. Donald Fisher, Foster Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. James McWilliams of Shannonville, celebrated quietly the 50th anniversary of their wedding on August 21st, and received the congratulations and good wishes of their friends.

The club room of the Wharf Street Bowling Club is to be enlarged by one half commencing next week. Many of the members will assist in the work.

Mrs. May Wilson of Hamilton, is spending a vacation here with her mother, Mrs. William Britton, Mary Street.

Police Constable Walter Proctor, who joined the Belleville police force nearly three months ago after serving in an efficient manner as Railway police officer with the Canadian National Railways here for several years, has resigned to accept a place on the Trenton police force. The offer came to him from the Trenton police department owing to the fact that Chief Miller of the Trenton force will be absent from duty for some time owing to an injury he received recently and also due to Chief Constable William Bain of the Trenton force having been granted a well earned holiday.

30 YEARS AGO

August 25th, 1924.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Collins and Mr. L. M. Howe left today on a motor trip to Chicago and Detroit. They will be absent about ten days.

Miss Laura Clark of Carman, Manitoba, is visiting relatives here and in the vicinity.

Mr. Gordon Miller left this morning after an extended visit to England, Ireland and Scotland.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo B. Riggs Rison have come here from Owen City on a visit.

Mr. Gordon Miller of Guelph is visiting friends here.

40 YEARS AGO

August 25th, 1914

Captain Percy Anderson, son of Mr. P. J. M. Anderson, County Crown Attorney, has his left for Valcartier with the volunteers from Pegina Sadk.

Orderly Sergt. J. Wallace of A. Battery, who has volunteered for active service at the front, was presented with a handsome Masonic ring by the members of The Belleville Lodge No. 123 A.F. & A.M., of which lodge he is a member.

The members of the cadet corps in connection with St. Michaels' Church, presented a wrist watch last evening to Mr. C. J. Peppin, who has volunteered for active service with the 34th Battery. An address was read by Mr. James Freeman and the presentation was made by Mr. Harold Barrett.

Mayor J. F. Wills has called a public meeting of the citizens for the purpose of organizing a War Emergency Fund for distribution by a committee of our citizens to the gallant men who have volunteered and to those dependent upon them as may be determined from time to time.

50 YEARS AGO

August 25th, 1904

Fifty years ago today Mr. Anson G. Northrup of this city received his commission from the Ontario Government as clerk of the division court of Hastings and he has efficiently filled the office since that time to the present. He is one of the oldest servants of the Crown in the province. The commission, which is well preserved, bears the signature of Lord Elgin and Kincardine, who was the Lieut.-Governor at that time.

Mr Frank Reid of St. Louis, Mo. brother of Mr. Charles M. Reid of this city, landed a fifteen pound 'lunge in Mosquito Bay yesterday afternoon.

It Is Easy To Misjudge

(Fort William Times-Journal)

Lest we be too quick to judge, recall the story of Hezekiah Dwight who lived and died in the Town of Marseilles in France. He amassed a large fortune by the most laborious industry and by habits of the severest abstinence and privation. His neighbors considered him a miser and thought that he was hoarding up money for mean and avaricious motives. The populace, whenever he appeared, pursued him with hootings and execrations, and the boys sometimes threw stones at him. At length he died and in his will were found the following words: Having observed from my infancy that the poor of Marseilles are badly supplied with water by which they can only purchase at a high price, I have chosen to bestow the whole of my life to procure for them this great blessing, and I direct that the whole of my property be laid out in building an aqueduct for their use."

NO VACANCY

The martens left some time ago,
As always at this time of year.
And now the twittering sparrows know
The dwelling left abandoned here.

Although from hateful strife I shrink
And war is something I condemn,
It's plain the purple martens think
That this house of mine belongs to them.

Until the spring returns they'll be
In each apartment snug and warm.
Perhaps they'll think it kind of me
To shelter them from every storm.

But when the martens come again
And start to wheel the house about,
After a desperate battle then
The sparrows will be driven out.

What Dickens Ate

(London, Eng., Recorder)

Last week was the anniversary of Dickens' death, which was remembered by the Dickens Societies all over the world, including the Dickens Fellowship, who laid a wreath on his tomb in Poet's Corner, Westminster Abbey.

Enough—perhaps too much—has already been written about Dickens the writer by sycophants on the one hand and debunkers on the other. But it is interesting to take a look at the food and drink which fueled his extraordinary dynamo of energy.

Dickens is credited with taking much the same meals as "the average gentleman of his time." But these would be quite enough to make a modern dietitian hair stand on end.

* * *

A typical dinner menu, written up in a cookery book which his wife produced under the nom de plume of "Lady Maria Clutterbuck" runs— Carrot Soup, Turbot with Shrimp Sauge, Calf's liver Rashers, Kidneys; Roast Saddle of Lamb; Boiled Turkey; Boiled Ham; Mashed and Brown Potatoes; Stewed Onions: Cabinet Pudding; Blancmange and Rose Pudding.

A dinner for eighteen would have two removes. There would be soup, two fishes, many entrees (Mushroom Pattles, Pork Cutlets, Sweetbreads, Curry and Pork Grenadine of Veal); succeeded by Forequarter of Lamb; Boiled Fowls and Bacon Tongue; New Potatoes, Spinach, Salad Larded Capons and Roast Pigeons; Asparagus. Italian Macaroni, Ice Pudding.

And a good trencherman would jump the whole course without halking at a single fence.

* * *

Dickens does not record much about his eating habits, but it is safe to say that he enjoyed food in a good stayer. Men reveal themselves nowhere so much as over their victuals, and the gusto with which he describes the grunting of a hog when "Squeaker" carves it, when any opportunity occurs, forces one to believe he was describing his own experiences. And why not—since Dr. Johnson said that a man who took no interest in his food could be depended upon to take little interest in anything else.

—Certainly it seems to have stood him; for the proof of the pudding is in the eating, the proof of the eating is in the digesting and Dickens' colossal energy says a contradictory fingerat the modern theory that one should leave one's table hungry.

* * *

Dickens, by contemporary standards, was a heavy drinker, a moderate if convivial drinker. His generation could stand the pint of port" at a dinner for two in the same tone of voice as that in which one today calls for a pint of beer. As he grew older, he took to drinking brandy and soda before dinner rather than sherry and, in America, when his digestion began to burn low through the prodigious tax which his lecturing put upon him, he resorted to the following routine which he seems to have followed daily:

A tumbler of new cream with two tablespoons of Jamaica rum, a breakfast cup of coffee and two a biscuit at twelve; a pint of champagne at dinner, a tumbler of punch in the evening, an egg beaten up in sherry and, when digestion began to burn low through the prodigious tax which his lecturing put upon him, he resorted to the following routine which he seems to have followed daily:

* * *

It appears that for all their fierce morality, the Victorians did not see anything wrong in a man drinking before breakfast any more than Covent Garden porters do in this present day.

So there it is. It is dangerous to try and argue with the Victorians. We cannot believe that our vitamins and calories should be the same as those of the alchemist's dispensary. No doubt they know best. But admiration for Dickens' large meals can comfort themselves that they have a noble precedent in that great man, and it seems at least possible that if he had tried to live on modern ideas of diet and still keep up his enormous output he would have died at forty after a good deal younger age than even fifty-eight.

Seaway Cheering

(Sherbrooke Record)

The beginning of projects like the St. Lawrence Seaway cheer us in a way in which the rest of life does not. Like the recently completed Kitmat-Kemano power line in British Columbia it will last for as many years as we can foresee. We do not wish to cast a pall of a gloom over the recent iron ore development. Enough of mines is necessary although a limited asset to a nation. The ore may last for 50 or 75 years. Then the mines and all related facilities usually become obsolete. But the Canadian Seaway is more only to drive out to Capelton to see the useless copper mines of a by-gone day. Others will remember the slaughter of vegetation which the Noranda fumes once caused by the dumping of a poisonous slag from the mines.

The optimists tell us that we have to live for the present, that we do not know whether in 50 years tin, iron, coal and oil may be exhausted, or may have been replaced by something better. Their final injunction to us is usually "don't cross your bridges until you come to them."

It is true that there is a Malthusian despondency in these speculations and true that we have to be convinced by the realization that the ingenuity of man always triumphs against odds. In fact these challenges usually stimulate man to reach supreme heights.

In spite of listening to all these, the thought still comes to us that not one of our present one-way traffic we will have no means to cross the Seaway except as when we or our successors come to them. Therefore do we find exceptional comfort in projects such as the St. Lawrence Seaway. We only wonder whether the day will ever come when our children will have to be content with a ride across that river in a wooden boat.

Good Style Not Necessary

(Portland Oregonian)

Any who viewed the great race between Roger Bannister and Landy must have remarked the sharp contrast between the running style of the world's two greatest milers. Landy runs smoothly and apparently without effort. Bannister runs like a rag doll, his long arms and legs seemingly to defy all efforts to coordinate. But Bannister got there first.

Most of the world's greatest athletes have also been great stylists: Bobby Jones, Babe Ruth, Jesse Owens, Joe Louis, Bobby Riggs, are the exceptions, such as Rocky Marciano and Roger Bannister.

It may be subversive to pass the word along to budding athletes, but the evidence is conclusive: To be good it is not always necessary to look good.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

About ninety per cent of those who do not fish are harmless enough. They have some curious delusion. They have what might be called the gold fish bowl conception of fish. They imagine a fish in the bowl of water in his fish tank wander around at random like gold fish. Fishing, they think, is merely waiting for one of those wandering fish to come by and see your bait. Trolling, they suppose, is merely dragging a lure to and fro in the gold fish bowl until a gold fish opens its mouth and is hooked.

These unhappy souls prove they are under this delusion when they say: "I haven't the patience to fish."

Fishing is hunting. Patience is the very last thing required of the sport. Fish do not hang suspended in water, waiting for something to turn up. The gamest of them are sly, shy, frantically wild and timid creatures who have lived by stealth all their lives. When they are caught, if they were not healthy, they were eaten by larger fish. When they are big, they have to be stealthy to survive the stealthy, they were eaten by larger fish. When they are big, they have to be stealthy to survive the stealthy little fish.

So they hide. In weed beds, amid boulders, shoals, reefs, logs, the game fish hide. And the angler has to find them. Even in trolling, the least sporty of all styles of fishing, you have to hunt and troll your lure near likely weed beds, ledges, shoals. It is not patience you have to have in fishing, but ever-increasing knowledge of the mysterious ways of your quarry—knowledge and a good deal of energy burned up in pure fresh air.

Even the gold fish game seeks the secret places of the land, the fish seeks the secret places of the water. Some folk get fish sitting on a wharf, dangling a worm, and that is a fine way doing the same, at random. Some hunters sit on their duffs in duck blinds and have fairly good luck over. But most anglers are fish hunters, and the most impatient men alive.

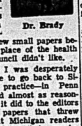
It is downright pitiful to see a young couple sitting on the curbing of a busy city street with no automobile to take them to the drug store a block away.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

HALO SEE SEVEN

At one time the trick specialists in lower Michigan were so mad at me that they organized a council of the state society, dental society, vet erinaries, druggists and teachers and other professional groups and launched a newspaper column which a few small papers began to use in place of the health column the council didn't like.



Dr. Brady

For a while I was desperately afraid I'd have to go back to Interns—bones—practice—in Penn Yan. It seemed almost as reasonable to me as it did to the editors of the small papers that threw me out. that Michigan readers would rather have their queries answered by some anonymous but eminent or leading physician, surgeon, dentist, druggist, nurse, school teacher or rumser in the beauty clinic than to endure any more of my sarcasm.

But, like a radicals, it worried them for a while and then gradually were off and was forgotten by the customers who didn't go for the anonymous stuff. I wouldn't say that this column of daily health column is popular in Michigan or anywhere else, but he has never been short on amicable terms with so many Michigan people as he is today—including editors yet.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Round Shouldered

I am 17, slightly round shouldered. I try to correct it by standing up straight but my clothes never seem to show that I am. Would it be too late to correct it with corrective shoulder braces they sell for a dollar? (H. M.)

Answer—Of course no brace or artificial appliance will correct it. Proper physical training, under the physical education teacher at school, or under the physical instructor at the "Y" would help correct it, if you follow it conscientiously and do as the instructor tells you. Every hour by the clock brace yourself, standing with crown of head high as though supporting a heavy weight, chin in as though inside high collar, fingers clasped together at your back in a stirrup, then thumbs down, under and back—and hold this for a minute. It pulls the shoulders back into overcorrected or exaggerated correction.

Horse Energy

What effect would quinine have on the energy of a horse? What would increase a horse's energy? (W. G.)

Answer—I doubt that quinine would increase the energy of a man or animal. Oats will increase a horse's energy. At least that's what the farmers. . .

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

NEGLECT

What a tragic word is this one—and what tragic results in its evil effects every day. Driving in the country I have passed many homes showing neglect—the yard grown to weeds, the house needing paint and repair.

In youth the boy and girl take great pride in their dress and appearance. They want to be noticed and loved. In later life neglect creeps in, and "I don't care" spirit often dominates. Anything that is worth doing at all should be done in the best way one knows. Any neglect is ruinous.

The law is that he is the love that is neglected. You have to keep yourself well groomed, mentally, if you wish to deserve a return in good will and remembrance. It's the little things that keep calling for attention. Life demands subtle attention to keep it at its healthy happy. Neglect brings on spiritual starvation!

Nations that fail to furnish adequate schools for their children and who fail to care for the needs of every citizen in payment for earlier sacrifices and perpetual loyalty, and who fail to prepare themselves against all foes, are not deserving of greatness, and do not get it.

The little things, or small kindnesses, the thank yous, and the appreciations, are important up to importance when they become habitual. The significant opportunities are very often the ones that we wilfully neglect. For this we have no excuse. Neglect is the spirit ality which usually is excessively high!

A great many of the automobile accidents are undoubtedly caused by neglect. No driver can be in perfect condition at all times. It is good insurance to have it repaired or renewed, no matter how long you have had it. Cars last a long time when kept in top condition. Watch those tires. New tires, also, can be cheap insurance.

Soft Soap
(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)
Soft soap is a necessity in political campaigns, presumably. Or because so much dirt gets mixed in.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

AND SOME PEOPLE BELIEVE HIM

Recently I read a summary of the philosophy of Jean Paul Sartre, the existentialist philosopher Sartre.

If I believe what Sartre does, I think I would want to jump from the highest mountain into the sea. Sartre's view is that the world and its human life as mullity. Throughout his works he declares that the only thing in the world as uprightness and good faith. Human nature, he declares, is essentially trampling down those round about him mercilessly, and, to quote Sartre's own words, "my neighbor is for me the devil, and life and social relations with others is the equivalent to the fall into sin. . . . Religion is also equal to a fall into sin. It is the alienation and loss of self." It is Sartre's conviction for he declares that when one dies, he reverts completely to the nonhuman, which state, says this despairing philosopher, is contingent and absurd.

To which our reply would be: If this is our sorry state, why did God ever go to the trouble of making the world? Why the use of going on, and, as a matter of fact, where are going?

Sartre says that existence is absurd. It would be our opinion that this is our sorry state, why did God ever go to the trouble of making the world? Why the use of going on, and, as a matter of fact, where are going?

Corncob Coming
(Washington Post)
Women's recent interest in pastel and jeweled pipes to match their costumes may be only a fad. It may reflect their desire to play safe until it is definitely determined whether cigarets contribute to lung cancer in men. Or it may indicate the cigaret cycle has come full turn and smoking stars are turning back toward the rugged pioneer (or pioneeress) with the corncob pipe.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK By R. J. SCOTT

Belleville Child Displays Amazing Gift of Memory

WELLINGTON, (Special.) — If you intend stealing a car or truck, don't do it while Gregory Sloan, 3 1-2, is around.

Young Master Greg may not be able to identify you, but 11 times out of 12 he will name the brand of car or truck on which you have a pilfering eye.

Greg is the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sloan, 46 Montgomery Boulevard, Belleville. Mr. Sloan is a member of the teaching staff of Belleville Collegiate Institute.

Greg with a younger brother, Geoffrey, and his parents was a guest of his grandfather, Fred Croft, at his summer cottage here last Sunday.

Fellow cottagers listened with more or less amazement at the story of the exploits of this seeking youngster who can identify modern and not-so-modern makes of automobiles out only while they are standing but when whizzing along a busy highway.

And they stood astounded as the attractive youngster stood by the side of the Wellington-Picton highway and proved every word said about him.

UNCANNY ABILITY

At the age of three and one-half years, Greg naturally cannot read. Not any more than he could a year ago when he started to demonstrate his uncanny ability in automobile identification.

He stood at the side of the road here and named the cars as they roared by. He named eleven of twelve correctly. His twelfth being a "Mercury" which he called a "Monarch" which rates him a half point if his act was being judged on the point system.

Greg does not elaborate when he expresses his opinion.

He is a one-syllable or one-word man. For instance when a car of voting age rumbled by Greg remarked "An ole Plymouth". Next a sleek, black, low slung job purred by. Greg looked at it. "Cadillac", he said in his boyish twang. Another late model followed. "Observatory," said Greg without a change of countenance.

Greg knows the English cars, too. He said "Austeen" when one of that miniature brand whizzed by.

Later another small car drove past. "Looks like a Hillman" spoke one of the cottagers before Greg had a chance.

"Hillman Minx" corrected the youngster gravely.

A low-slung convertible whizzed by. This, Greg's audience felt, had the young man "stuck".

He watched it as it disappeared down the highway. It looked like an Italian Boratti or a British Jaguar.

Greg dropped his head for a moment, "Foreign sports car," he said.

CAR DEALERS AMAZED

At the Belleville Fair with "Uncle" Fred Croft, Jr., Greg amazed car dealers with his ability. He once told Dr. Beattie, the Sloan family doctor, what kind of car he drove before the subject was mentioned. He did the same with Dr. Crook.

He knows the insignias of practically every kind of car made.

He learned the various makes of cars and trucks simply by looking at magazines that carry highly colored ads of nationally known makes. He studies them every chance he gets, so that not everything else mechanical, For a year now he has been pursuing his hobby.

Once when his uncle took his car to be greased at the local service station they found Master Greg guess where? Under the car studiously following every move of the mechanic as he did his job. He knows how to start a car and what the various gear-shifts are. He knows the switches and the brakes.

On a merry-go-round you won't find Greg atop a colorful galloping stallion enjoying himself like the other youngsters. No sirree. Greg will be on the floor, watching the plunger that raises and lowers the horses probably trying to figure out how the mechanical gadget works.

NO INTEREST IN COWBOYS

He doesn't give a fig for horses or ponies. You can have your "Friggers" and "Champions" and favorite cowboys. Not for Greg. You can have your boats and fishing, unless you have a motor-boat, then the "putt-putt" gets all the Gregorian attention.

And don't fix the engine of your car while Greg is around. You will probably soon find the handsome, freckled-faced Greg popping in between your fingers. In any event the last eighteen months have proved to Mr. and Mrs. Sloan, that there is a young man with a definite mechanical trend in their family.

Tree Finally Falls Into Gorge

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)— An elm tree that had clung by its roots to the brink of Prospect point since the rockfall of July 28 plunged to the rocks at the base of Niagara falls Tuesday.

The tree, which had denied efforts to shake it loose and which withstood two clean-up dynamite blasts at the point, fell before the power of a violent electrical storm that swept this area.

The tree had excited the interest of thousands of tourists as it hung precariously over the jagged edge of the observation spot near the American falls.

An estimated 185,000 tons of rock collapsed into the Niagara river gorge last month.

Teachers' Assoc. Honors Member From City

TORONTO, — Miss Pearle Campbell, of Belleville, has been elected an honorary life member of the Association of Women Teachers' Association of Ontario. This is the highest award of the Federation, which represents the province's 15,000 public school women teachers. The ceremony takes place at the 39th annual dinner of the Federation which is being held in Toronto today.

Commenting on the award, Miss Alice Ogden, St. Catharines, president of the Federation which represents the largest single group of teachers in all Canada, said, "In recognizing members of our Federation who have devoted years of service to the cause of public school education throughout Ontario, we know that Miss Campbell and the six other teachers formally honored symbolize the hundreds upon hundreds of teachers in this province and country who have developed an understanding of what education should really be among our citizens."

Miss Campbell was born in Tweed, Ontario. For 27 years taught in Queen Victoria School in Belleville. An active and inspiring worker in teacher affairs, at various times Miss Campbell has been president of South Hastings Teachers' Institute, president of Women Teachers' District Federation, and provincial president of FWTAO.— She retired from active teaching in 1943.

Youths Fined For Roughing Up Police Officer

TRENTON (Special) — Damage totalling $200 was caused by a car collision at the intersection of Dundas West and Lorne Ave. on Tuesday.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Michael J. O'Grady of Kingston, travelling south on Lorne, pulled through a gap in west bound traffic on Dundas and was hit by a car going east and driven by Lyal Tackaberry, 208 Dufferin.

Damages were estimated at $150 to O'Grady's car and $100 to the other vehicle.

O'Grady told police he did not see the other car approaching.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills yesterday levied a fine of $10, with $27.37 costs on both Albert Scherle and Thomas Peacock, RCAF Station, Trenton, for obstructing a police officer in the execution of his duty.

The charge arose out of an incident on Front St., August 22, when Peacock defied Constable C. W. Carter's order to a group of youths to stop loitering. When the officer placed Peacock under arrest, Scherie intervened and a scuffle followed in which the officer's watch band was broken and his uniform stained.

Magistrate Wills also imposed a $10 fine with $22 costs on Pte. John Varco, stationed at Nelson, B.C., who was charged with public mischief under common law for unlawfully alleging he had been robbed of an army shirt by John Waddell, Frankford, on August 21.

A charge of theft in the case against Waddell was dismissed.

Industrial Expansion Seen Favoring Smaller Communities

ST. THOMAS (CP)—There is a decided tendency for new industrial firms to locate away from large urban centres in order to give their employees the advantage of living in a small community, J. E. Turnbull said today.

Mr. Turnbull is chairman of the municipal section of the trade and industry branch of the Ontario department of planning and development.

Addressing the 58th annual convention of the Ontario Municipal Association, Mr. Turnbull said smaller centres can often supply advantages in the way of recreation, living pleasures, educational facilities and other social benefits that help make good manager-employee relations.

He said it was up to small communities to take advantage of this trend of industry. Some 30 companies planning expansion in Ontario have established branches as much as 200 miles away from the parent plant, he said.

He said the taxpayers themselves should be aware of the benefits industrial plants could bring to their town, and should strive to capture some of it for their community.

Weddings

WISMER—LYSAK

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, was the scene of the wedding on Saturday, July 31, of Martha Lysak to Mr. Lloyd Wismer, of Pembroke.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Michael Lysak of Port Arthur, Ontario, and the late Mrs. Lysak, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wismer of Palmerston.

White gladioli formed the background for the ceremony performed by the Rev. R. McInnes. The soloist, Flight Lt. Norman Wilson sang "Through the Years" and "I Love Thee."

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. William Ludlow, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of bridal satin, fashioned in princess style with sweetheart neckline, and long sleeves, pointed over the hands. Her full-length veil of silk net was caught to a halo encrusted with seed pearls and she carried a cascade of red roses.

The attendants were Mrs. Tillie Bonn, Prince Albert, Sask., sister of the bride, as matron of honor, and Miss Dorothy Place, of Toronto, bridesmaid. They were similarly gowned in floor-length strapless dresses of blue and mauve taffeta trimmed with lace, having short sleeved lace jackets and bolerettes. They wore matching lace bandeaux.

The little flower girls, Janet Bonn, niece of the bride, and Brenda Cuyler, niece of the bridegroom were pale pink silk skirted nylon dresses over crinoline slips trimmed with black velvet ribbon. They carried nosegays of tinted blue and white 'mums.

Mr. Gordon Cuyler, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, acted as best man. The ushers were Mr. Dwight Bonn, Belleville, and Mr. Donald Wilson, of Palmerston.

The wedding dinner was held at the Golden Acre Inn, Kingston Road. Mrs. Ludlow, sister of the bride, received, wearing a floor-length turquoise dress with black hat and accessories. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Wismer, who wore a street length dress in coral linen, with white jacket, white hat and accessories. They both wore corsages of yellow and pink roses.

Rev. Richard Needham of Toronto, proposed the toast to the bride with the bridegroom responding.

Following the wedding dinner, an evening reception for about 100 guests was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Ludlow.

For their wedding trip to Toronto, Palmerston Port Arthur, and west to Prince Albert, the bride donned a coral linen dress with matching shoes, white hat and accessories, and a corsage of white 'mums and roses.

The young couple will reside in Belleville.

Out-of-town guests were present from Prince Albert, Sask., Port Arthur, Palmerston, Stratford, Detroit, Guelph, Toronto and Brockville.

Prior to her marriage the bride was the honored guest at a miscellaneous shower at the Country Club with Mrs. Jack Marshall and Mrs. Alex Ingram as co-hostesses; at a linen shower of which Mrs. Eileen Watters was hostess.

Community presentations were also made to the young couple at the bride's home in Port Arthur, and the bridegroom's home in Palmerston.

TAYLOR—DELINE

MARMORA. — A pretty late summer wedding was solemnized at St Andrew's United Church, Marmora, on Saturday afternoon, August 21, as Dorothy Carol Taylor Deline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Carl Deline, of Marmora, became the bride of Thomas Robert Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Taylor, of Toronto. Rev. K. J. Crawford, B.A., B.D., was the officiating minister The church was choicely decorated with assorted gladioli, white and blue.

Wedding music was played by the organist, Mrs. A. P. Fraser. Miss Barbara McKiejohn, was soloist rendering "Because" before the ceremony and "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a floor-length gown of white lace over satin with an apron effect of nylon net. Her veil of nylon net was in coronet shape and was caught with net and lace, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses, stephanotis and ivy.

As maid of honor, Miss Margaret Empey, was attired in mauve nylon net with matching headdress and carried a bouquet of yellow gladioli.

Miss Evelyn Taylor, of Toronto, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. She wore green nylon net with matching headdress and her bouquet was of mauve gladioli.

Miss Donna Beatty, of Lang, cousin of the bride, as flower girl, was dressed in yellow nylon with matching headdress and carried a nosegay of mauve and yellow gladioli.

The best man was Mr. Trevor Jones, of Toronto, and the ushers were Messrs. Gerald Fox, of Malone and Ray Cantelon, of Toronto.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at St. Andrew's Hall where the bride's mother recieved wearing a gown of blue linen with a lace bodice and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations and white 'mums. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing a gown of navy taffeta with matching accessories and corsage of pink carnations and white 'mums.

The wedding trip was to the New England States, the bride travelling in a blue nylon dress with white accessories and corsage of pink carnations and white 'mums.

The bridegroom's gift to his bride was a set of cowhide luggage They will reside in Toronto.

Out-of-town guests were present from Hamilton, Toronto, Belleville, Lang and Malone.

DRUE—FOX

Cooper United Church, Cooper, Ontario, was the setting on Saturday, August 14, at 3.30 p.m. for the marriage of Shirley Anne Fox, of Madoc, Ontario, daughter of Mrs. Delos Fox and the late Mr. Fox, to John Druif, of Marmora Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs Jacob Druif, of Oppneer, Holland. The Rev J. F Lane officiated before a background of gladioli snapdragons, ferns, other summer flowers and lighted candelabra.

Miss Carma Fuller, of Trenton, provided the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Carol Fox, sister of the bride, who sang, "Give Me Your Hand" and "I'll Walk Beside You."

Given in marriage by her eldest brother, Mr. Albert Fox, the bride was lovely in her bridal gown of white nylon net, Chantilly lace and taffeta, fashioned in ankle-length, with molded strapless bodice and lace jacket, and bouffant skirt appliqued with lace. She wore a tiara of orange blossoms and fingertip veil of tulle illusion, and carried a classic bouquet of Bettertime red roses.

Mrs. Margaret Campbell, of Napanee, Ontario, as matron of honor, was attired in light blue nylon net over taffeta, with matching headdress. She carried a nosegay of pink Sweetheart roses, white pom 'mums, blue delphiniums and white feathered carnations

Miss Glenda Graham, as bridesmaid, niece of the bride, was also gowned in light blue nylon net over taffeta with matching headdress. She carried a nosegay of pink Sweetheart roses, white 'mums and blue cornflowers.

Mr. Wager Heirshon, of Ivanhoe, Ontario, attended the bridegroom, and the ushers were, Messrs. Jarvis and Farley Fox, brothers of the bride, both of Madoc.

The reception was held on the spacious lawn of the bride's sister, Mrs. George Grham, where the bride's mother received attired in cocoa colored tricotine and lace, with brown accessories, and corsage of Talisman roses.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride chose a tailored gown of imported silk, with lime green duster, copper accessories and corsage of red roses. Mr. and Mrs. Druif will reside in Peterborough, Ont.

Guests were present from Shelburne, Attlekan, Oshawa, Port Hope, Trenton, Peterborough and Detroit, Michigan.

Statistics Show Homemaker Has Much Easier Role Today

TORONTO (CP) — If statistics mean anything, the homemaker's role is much easier than in mother's day.

Dr. Omer Lemieux, chief of the census division, Dominion bureau of statistics, told delegates to the Canadian Home Economics Association biennial convention Tuesday the Canadian housewife has less to look after than 20 years ago and many more conveniences to help her do it.

In 1953, he said, 67 per cent of Canadian homes had electric or gas refrigerators and in 25 years the amount of commercially-canned food has increased 300 per cent.

MORE WORKING

Against that, more women were working; 11 per cent of married women in 1951 against three per cent in 1931. But although women are better educated—the number between the ages of 20-24 attending schools increased by 249 per cent—they are not highly paid. Only 12,000 women earned $3,000 or more in 1951.

A Canadian woman with a key job of world-wide scope came from Rome to talk about her work. Dr. Margaret Hockin is chief of the home economics section, nutrition division, of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

Dr. Hockin, who holds degrees from Mount Allison and Cornell universities, sends missions into countries which request help in setting up facilities for training specialists in nutrition and home economics in general.

LITTLE GLAMOR

Another woman doctor home from an FAO job overseas in time for the convention is Jessie Brodie, who has been organizing home economics in a Baghdad girls' college.

"An extremely interesting experience but no glamour job," is how Dr. Brodie describes her work. She is former director of the school of household science, University of Toronto.

French Ambassador's Wife Fond of Flowers at Embassy

By PEGGY THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The French embassy is surrounded by spacious lawns and colorful gardens. At the rear are greenhouses with flowers in full bloom all the year round.

The ambassador's wife, Mme. Hubert Guerin, oversees the horticultural life of the embassy. A lover of flowers, she not only supervises the gardens but works in them as well.

"If I ever find myself with nothing else to do I am out in the garden at once," she said with a smile during an interview. "Of course, the results to my hands are rather bad."

She held up her dainty hands for inspection. She has the French mannerism of gesturing with her hands as she speaks.

LIKES OUTDOOR LIFE

Mme. Guerin is found of outdoor life and the gardens have a great opportunity to enjoy it.

However, fishing is one activity she has not taken up.

"I am quite prepared to eat them but catching them is a sport I assuredly do not enjoy," she said.

She became serious as she spoke of one of her main interests, welfare work to help crippled children. She is an active member of the French Red Cross which does much work to help crippled children and to prepare them to earn a living.

"I feel that this work for children is most important because older people have really had their time in life, but these poor little ones must be helped."

With sympathetic pride she described playing ping-pong with a boy who has artificial legs and watching another with no hands type a typewriter with the aid of a stick.

HAS ACTIVE TIME

As a member of the Canadian Red Cross she spends some time each week working in the Ottawa "maternity" shop. The rest of her remaining time is taken up by the many social activities of the French diplomats, including luncheons, teas and dinner parties at the embassy.

"Not long ago I had the entertaining of delegations from France," she said. "I do not know what it is about my compatriots, but they seem to be on the sea, in the air or on the rail all the time."

Mme. Guerin herself has had a lot of travel. During her husband's diplomatic careers she has been in Brazil, Holland, England, Finland, Italy and the United States. Since coming to Canada 4½ years ago she has travelled from coast to coast.

She plans a trip to Paris soon to arrange for displays of French clothing and jewelry at an international exhibition in Montreal next fall.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A WORD OF WARNING TO TEENAGERS

Of interest to girls who think that they are plenty old enough for marriage is the following letter from a woman who has been married for 12 years and still is only 29. She writes her letter, she says, not to "whine for pity" but because she wants to warn teenagers against the kind of mistake he made herself when she married at 17.

Here is what she has to say:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"Every now and then I read in your column letters from girls who want to get married at 16 or 17. Oh, how sorry I feel for girls who want to throw away life's most precious gift—youth!

"At 16 or 17, girls think of marriage as nothing but romance, love and kisses. What they will very soon find out that it involves a lot of serious responsibilities with which only a very mature person can cope.

"It's true that, a few of these early marriages work out fine. But that happens only when the couples are far advanced emotionally and physically.

"I myself was married at 17, unfortunately, to a man with an uncontrollable temper. His abuse, even to the point of physical cruelty, towards me and our son, has at times made my life almost unbearable. I take my marriage vows seriously, and the part that says "for better or for worse" has kept me with my husband for the past 12 years. The nights that I could have been having dates, I was rocking a crying baby. Days that I could have been completing my education, I was washing, ironing, cooking.

STOP, LOOK, LISTEN

I hope your readers will not think that I am whining for pity. I married against advice and pleading, and now I am trying to make the best of it. I am only writing this letter in the hope that it may cause girls in their teens to stop and think, and this is what I would like to say to them:

"You are only young once, so enjoy life while you can. Then later, when you are really old enough for marriage and its responsibilities, you can look back happily on the young, carefree years that you didn't throw away."

Well, teenagers, there you are and I hope, too, that this letter will make you "stop and think" before you decide too quickly that the time for marriage has come. It's not, of course, that you would inevitably have the tragic time this wife has had, but merely because, when you marry too young, you do forfeit things which belong to youth and that you never can have again.

The way to live life well is to enjoy the experiences that belong to each period as it comes along, neither rushing ahead to meet the experiences that should come later, nor trying to hang on to those which should normally be left behind. Only so, can life be rich and full and therefore happy.

From The Frying-Pan Into The Fire

By Mary Moore

To cautiously and conscientiously avoid all unnecessary work—that was the object of the holiday.

So forthwith we leave our treasured Annie at home—so we have to do all of the washing (in the lake), ironing (a bare minimum I must admit), scrubbing, sweeping (which includes even the outside walls because of the billions of pesky shad flies), carrying drinking water from town, stoking a woodstove for heat (instead of filching the cellinner thermstat) and extra chores ad infinitum

. . . but it was all fun which goes to prove that unless we are working we are not happy.

Believe it or not at the present moment this is being typed on a picnic table at the back of the cottage while I'm in halter and shorts being burned to an Indian brown in the morning sun.

It is our last day.

Before I finished making the pie I am going to describe the temperature of the woodstove oven, was up to 600 deg. Fahr.

Goodness, what a pie. I must remember to bake all of my apple pies at higher temperature in the future.

FRESH APPLE PIE

(Baked in a woodstove oven.)

(I did the same with peaches for a fresh peach pie, adding 1 tablespoon flour to the sugar.)

You can't find a pie plate so you use the bottom of the oval enamel roaster. Make your pastry by measuring the flour in a clean dry 16-oz. can that contained apricots before you ate them for lunch. Add 1-2 of a pound package of best quality shortening, which is, of course, 2-3 cup. Measure a teaspoon of salt in the palm of your hand, and mix the whole business with your finger tips. Sprinkle over it 3 tablespoons city water, cut in with knife. Divide dough n halves and roll out one half on floured enamel-topped table to fit bottom of small roaster. Slice in about 7 or 8 Ducless apples, which have been pared and cored by your sister Doris, but when you have added about half of the apples sprinkle them with 1-3 cup sugar and some cinnamon. (I know the measurement of the sugar accurately because I used the 2-tablespoon measure-scoop from the coffee canister.) Repeat this, adding another 1-3 cup sugar and some cinnamon when al apples are in. Roll out top crust (with glass sealer of course) to fit, fold it over to seal and moisten edge of bottom crust and seal on the top crust. Brush top with mixture of 2 teaspoons each sugar and milk. (I had to use my fingers as a pastry brush is not provided.) Bake at 600 deg. Fahr. for first ten minutes and, if you check the woodstove you may, by some miracle, get the temperature to drop to a mere 350 deg. Fahr. Pie was done in 25 minutes and was the best I've ever made.

It is tough going to get this family to say "Best yet, Mum" but this time they did.

That's all I need to make all of the perspiration and burned fingers worthwhile.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

TO ROUGE OR NOT TO ROUGE

Before make-up became respectable a woman who tinted her cheeks and lips was regarded with suspicion—and criticism. But now we know that make-up is a question of beauty—not morals— and praise be for that! Of course no woman should use too much rouge, though many do. And, conversely, while most women whose candles are crowded on the birthday cake should use a little, many don't.

There are very few who can eliminate the use of rouge, either because they have color enough of their own or because nature didn't intend them to have any color at all.

If, in your younger days, you had rosy cheeks and the bloom has vanished, the privilege of tinting them is yours. Endeavor to attain a natural effect, however. Too lavish an application may give you a theatrical appearance, and that of course, is something to be avoided. Synthetic beauty aids are to be used, never abused.

Should it happen that you are naturally pale, have a thin, delicate transparent skin, rouge may not be your beauty dish. If you use it you will look like every other woman. Whereas, if you refrain, you may be an arresting individual, distinguished from the crowd.

As for rouge colors, there are varying tones for blondes, dark blondes, copper-haired girls, brunettes, redheads. There are girls who are border-line cases and only careful experimenting will prove what shade will be becoming, create glamor.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

BRIDE AND HER MOTHER SHOW KINDNESS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

For over forty years my closest friend has been a wonderful woman who, when her husband died several years ago, found that his financial affairs were so involved that she was left with very little to live on. Not only is she my cherished friend, but my daughter, who is to be married soon, loves her dearly, has always called her "Auntie". Now my daughter is to be married, and last evening she and I were talking about the idea of asking "Auntie" not to give a wedding present. Of course we don't want to embarrass her or hurt her feelings, but neither do we want her to be troubled about not being able to afford to send a present. Should we let matters take their course, or do you think it might be permissible for me to tell her please not to send a present?

Mother.

You are, bless you, a very understanding woman and friend, and I suggest that you follow your splendidly indication. By saying, perhaps something like this: "Please, Mary, let's talk something over together. Elizabeth and I want you with us on her wedding day, want you to sit with our 'other relatives' in one of the front pews at the church, but we would so much rather you wouldn't buy a wedding present. After the wedding she will think of something she very much wants and which you could maybe make for her. Elizabeth so much wants to have you follow this plan. You will, won't you, dear Mary?"

DOES the arrival of cousin turn your child into a noisy clown—or a clinging vine? It might help him over the first hump if you make a game of teaching him how to greet visitors. Do it when you're alone with him, and take turns being guest and host. Dressing up makes it fun, too.

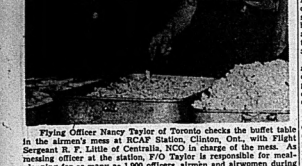
In Charge of Food at Busy Station



Flying Officer Nancy Taylor of Toronto checks the buffet table in the station's mess at RCAF Station, Clinton, Ont., with Flight Sergeant R. F. Little of Centralia, NCO in charge of the mess. As messing officer at the station, F/O Taylor is responsible for menu planning for as many as 1,900 officers, airmen and airwomen during the busy summer months. (National Defence Photo).

Task of Woman Messing Officer Buying Food for Large Air Station

By FLT./LT. DOROTHY BLACKBURN

RCAF STATION CLINTON, Ont.—When you go shopping for Sunday dinner this week how would you like to cart up 1,500 lbs of turkey, 1,200 lbs of potatoes, four crates of lettuce, 400 lbs of frozen peas, 250 lbs of Parkerhouse rolls and 55 gallons of ice cream?

This is the list prepared by Flying Officer Nancy Taylor of Toronto, when she plans Sunday dinner for upwards of 1,900 officers airmen and airwomen at RCAF Station Clinton, Ont. F/O. Taylor is messing officer at Clinton, the air force's radar and communications training centre located 115 miles west of Toronto.

And, believe it or not, there will be additions to the list—300 lbs of tomatoes, 160 gallons of milk, ingredients for soup and sauce for the ice cream, and cake. For the salad tables she will have, tossed green, potato salad, radishes, celery, green and Spanish onions, cucumbers, pickles, cheese and crackers, fruit bread, fresh fruit and casserole dishes.

DAILY TASK

All this food will be consumed when personnel of the station sit down to dinner. Every day for 365 days a year she has around 1,300 people to satisfy. And in summer there are more—Air cadets with growing-boy appetites, University flight cadets and auxiliary personnel to total the 1,900 mark. And there may be visitors.

The food listed will be eaten at one meal. Monday will be a new day and her planning for Monday's dinner will include similar quantities, with roast beef and Yorkshire pudding or roast pork with apple sauce substituted for turkey.

F/O. Taylor daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Taylor, 17, Westacres Drive, Toronto, has one advantage over the ordinary housewife. While it is her responsibility to direct the food services at the station, she has over 100 staff cooks and kitchen personnel to help her.

She is well qualified for her job. Obtaining her Bachelor of Science degree in Home Economics at McGill University, she took her dietetic internship at the University of Oregon Medical School Hospitals, in Portland, Oregon, and worked for a large US restaurant firm before joining the RCAF in 1952. She was messing officer at RCAF Station Aylmer, Ont. before coming to Clinton a year ago.

IMAGINATION NEEDED

Meal-planning on a large scale calls for ingenuity and imagination just as it does when a housewife plans her meals. The "ration scale" for Canadian Armed Forces provides generous amounts of food per person, including seasonal items, but it is still up to the individual messing personnel to use that food with skill to produce attractive, appetizing and well-balanced meals.

Menus are printed in advance, and pinned to the bulletin boards in the appropriate messes so that personnel may know in advance what to expect from day to day.

Glancing over a menu sheet, the visitor will find that for every hot meal planned, there is a substitute cold plate, although, according to F/O. Taylor, people prefer hot roasts and baked dishes "even in hot weather."

On Fridays fish features the main course, with meat dishes as an alternative. For example on Friday, July 9, of this year, baked salmon with egg and parsley sauce was the main dish, with grilled beef patties offered as an alternative.

Do men like salads? "Yes," she answered, "practically everyone adds salad, tomatoes, pickles, deviled eggs, etc., to already laden trays. And milk is a favorite too, with men and women alike."

Apple pie with ice cream remains a universal favorite. Doughnuts are well-favored, too, with the cooks mixing batter for 250 dozen when the menu calls for these delectable morsels.

The same food for all is the Air Force plan, officers and airmen alike receiving the same foods, salads and extras.

On a busy station time is paramount, and in the airmens' mess, it takes only 12 minutes to get through the queue from door to table at rush hours.

Group Captain H. C. Ashdown, of Ottawa, commanding officer of the station, has a story to tell of one airwoman-trainee who complained to her mother back home that she was losing weight in the Air Force. In due course, he was asked for an explanation. Calling the airwoman to his office he asked: "How much did you weigh when you joined the Air Force?"

"About 118 pounds, sir," was the answer.

"And how much do you weigh now," he asked.

"Oh, about 130, the girl answered. Explaining, the girl replied that if she told her parents she was putting on weight the "parcels from home" might stop coming.

HEALTH MAINTAINED

"Flight Lieutenant Elizabeth Marritt, of Galt, Ont., a woman doctor on the station, agrees that some put on weight at the station but that, the "standard of health and weight is maintained despite the fact that people are working and studying hard."

A typical breakfast menu for any day reads: apple juice, stewed prunes, dry or hot cereal, pancakes and syrup, grilled bacon, eggs any style, toast and jam, tea, coffee or milk.

Noon menu for Sunday July 11 was: Consomme, grilled pork chops with piquante sauce, scalloped potatoes, buttered frozen peas, or a cold plate of sliced meats potato salad sliced tomatoes, and jellied Perfection salad, peach pie, canned fruits, jello or watermelon, tea, coffee or milk.

Supper menu for that same day re-d: Vegetable soup, roast beef with brown gravy, parsley new potatoes, buttered wax beans, or cold plate, strawberry sundae and space cake with lemon icing, fruit, jello, tea, coffee and milk.

And then there is the buffet table for casserole dishes of Boston baked beans and macaroni and cheese; or salad greens, vegetables and pickle if you are on a diet. However, dieting is relatively unknown at Clinton—and small wonder.

PRODUCTION UP

NEW DELHI (CP)—Agricultural production in India went up by nearly 13 per cent in 1953-54 compared with the post-war normal year 1949-50. Food production shows an increase of 16.1 per cent. Rice production was up 16 per cent and wheat 11 per cent.

TOO QUICK

DERBY, England (CP) — The post office is not pleased over a citizen's compliment that a letter he posted was delivered at the town hall an hour later. Officials said it was too quick, and wanted to know why it didn't go through the normal channels.

I went to the market for eggs and oranges and took them back to ma in the kitchin, thinking, O, this bag would make a swell bag to blow up and bust if the orinjes was in it.

And I said, Hay ma, do you want me to take thing orindges out of the bag and lay them on a shelf in the cupbord, nice and neet?

They'll keep very well in the bag, thank you, ma said, and I said But G, ma, if they're out on the shelf in plane site, you'll know exactly how many you've got left and how many you have'nt, instead of having to peek into the bag all the time.

Just leave them as they are, as long as they're in the bag they wont be all over the place, ma said, and I said, But heck, ma, I want the bag.

Then why didn't you say so? ma said. You'll never get anywhere beeting around bushes, she said and I said, But ma, thanks.

And I quick undumped the orindges and blew the bag full of air and exploded it with a fearse bang just when ma was starting to put the eggs in the refrigerater, and the carton droppped out of her hands, and of the hadn't of stuck her knees out to loosen the shock, probably all the eggs would of broke instead of just some of them, and she started to get mad, and I said, But gosh, ma, you told me I could have the bag.

Did I tell you to fire it off rite behind the cenn? ma said and I said, Well heck what, els would I want with a swell bag for? You know that much about bags, I said.

Making her still madder, and she hasn't recovered all the ways yet.

Knights Templar Hold Banquet

KINGSTON (CP)—The 71st annual Sovereign Great Priory of Canada Knights Templar concluded their business meetings yesterday ending a three-day convention.

Members from the priories of England and Wales, Scotland and many knights from grand encampment of United States left for home Monday night.

The three-day convention of knights has been filled with solemn services and ancient rituals, most of which have rarely been seen by the public.

At the conclusion of the business meetings Monday the visitors were taken on a tour of Fort Henry. In a colorful ceremony the Earl of Elgin and Kincardine was received by the guard at the fort in the same manner in which his great grandfather, Lord Elgin, a former governor of Upper Canada, was received there more than 100 years ago.

A banquet and ball were held Monday night as a tribute to Most Eminent Knight George Frederic Mann, of Peterborough, Grand Master of Canada.

MAIN CULPRIT

Wallbridge

WALLBRIDGE — Sorry to report Mrs. Clem Ketcheson fell and had the misfortune to break her wrist. All wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris accompanied Mr. George Wallace and daughter to Bancroft Tuesday afternoon to visit his father, who is a patient in the Bancroft hospital. His condition was much improved and was expecting to return to his home in Uxbridge where he lives with his daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. George Beare.

Miss Marjorie Wannamaker is confined to her home with the mumps. Her young playmates wish her a speedy recovery so that she soon will be able to be out playing.

All that took in Belleville Fair report the best yet, as the weather was ideal and splendid exhibits.

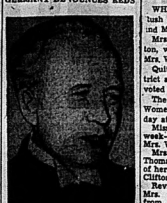
Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pope, of Trenton, were Saturday evening guests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris.

Miss Maud Phillips spent the week-end with Miss Ella Phillips and mother, Mrs. F. Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Garrison were Sunday guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garrison.

The farmers are busy finishing their threshing and report a fair crop considering the dry weather.

MINISTER FROM EAST GERMANY DENOUNCES REDS



—Central Press Canadian

In an address of the World Council of Churches at Evanston, Ill., Dr. Guenther Jacob of East Germany denounced communism and all its works and told how the Reds have exerted pressure on churches and have poisoned the minds of the nation's youth with their atheistic philosophy. Despite this, Dr. Jacob said, there is a great "awakening" of the East German people. He is risking his life by his statements.

White's District

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Mrs. D. Bush was a recent caller of Mr and Mrs. Clifton Rush.

Mrs. Albert Yateman of Trenton, was a Wednesday visitor of Mrs. William Yateman.

Quite a number from this district attended Belleville Fair and voted it the best yet.

The ladies of the Bay of Quinte Women's Institute served Thursday at the Belleville Fair.

Miss Sharon Jeffery spent the week-end with her grandmother, Mrs. W. A. Jeffery.

Mrs. Carl De Rushie and baby Thomas were Wednesday visitors of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Rush.

Rev. R. W. T. Middleton and Mrs. Middleton have returned from an enjoyable two months' holiday with relatives in Great Britain.

Mr. and Mrs. Murney Jeffery were Sunday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. C. Rush.

The funeral service for the late Mrs. Robert Jeffery, a former resident of this district, was held last Monday at Grace United church of Trenton, with the Rev. Jim Puttenham of Grace Church, assisted by the Rev. A. C. McCallum, conducting the service. A number of relatives and friends from this district were in attendance. The sympathy of the community is extended to the family.

Mrs. Clifton Rush was a Tuesday visitor of Mr. and Mrs. Murney Jeffery, of Alnwa.

A few from this district attended Decoration Day at Belleville cemetery on Sunday.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter and Mrs. James Hunter in the loss of a loving father and husband.

Church and Sunday school services were held at White's Church on Sunday morning with the Rev. R. W. T. Middleton resuming services after an extended holiday. He brought a fine message to the congregation. Mrs. W. A. Jeffery was pianist for the former service and Mrs. Donald Bowers for the latter service. A number of the members are still on holiday and a full attendance is not expected until September.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Knox of Clare, Sask., were last week visitors of their cousin, Mrs. Walter Jones and Mr. Jones.

TCP Re-powers Your Engine

TCP, a Shell-discovered fuel additive now blended into both Shell Gasolines, sets free the captive power formerly locked in by lead and carbon deposits. It's the greatest gasoline development in 31 years.

Acts so fast it repowers your engine before you've finished your second tankful.

Did you know that up to 15% of your engine's power is actually trapped . . . that you are paying for power you aren't getting?

The reason is this: Every gasoline sold today contains deposit-forming compounds. And, as gasoline is burned, lead and carbon deposits form on the walls of the combustion chamber and on the tips of the spark plugs. In the combustion chamber these deposits become red hot, especially when you are accelerating, and set off the gasoline-air mixture before the piston reaches its proper firing position. Power works against you, not for you. This condition is called pre-ignition and is not only wastes power and fuel—it is also responsible for a most severe kind of knock—engineers call it "wild ping."

These deposits also cause power loss by short-circuiting spark plugs, causing them to misfire when you need power most.

Now, however, there is a way to release the imprisoned power in your engine—and quickly!

It's TCP, the greatest gasoline development since the discovery of tetraethyl lead, TCP additive actually repowers your engine by changing the character of the engine deposits. In the combustion chamber it "fireproofs" them so they cannot glow and cause pre-ignition. And, because it makes the deposits nonconductors of electricity, spark plugs no longer short-circuit—they fire on time. Power works for you—not against you.

By the time you have finished your second tankful, you'll be getting up to 15% more power. But remember—because these deposits are constantly building up, continued use of Shell Gasolines with TCP is essential to retain full benefits.

Shell Gasolines with TCP are available only at Shell dealers.

Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Large Number Thunderstreaks Going to NATO

By HAROLD KING

PARIS (Reuters)—Sources close to Gen. Alfred Gruenther's Supreme Headquarters, Allied Forces Europe, say the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's airbases in Europe are due to receive during the next few months a large number of Republic F-84F Thunderstreak aircraft.

The Thunderstreaks, now in mass production in the United States, are the swept-wing, atom-bomb-carrying successors to the Thunderjet and are listed by the U.S. Air Force in the select "over 650 miles an hour" category.

They will replace some of the Sabre jets deployed to Europe as an emergency measure during a period of international tension last year. A fast photographic-reconnaissance version of the Thunderstreak, known as the Thunderflash, also is scheduled for delivery to NATO.

These and other new aircraft coming into practical assignment in Europe indicate, military experts believe, the most important change in the concept and application of tactical air strategy, a change which may have influenced the decisions of the statesmen of the Western world in recent conferences.

This change follows the spectacular development of a wide variety of smaller and more powerful nuclear weapons which can be carried at sonic and supersonic speeds over long distances by relatively small jet fighter aircraft or by guided missiles.

CATASTROPHE GREAT

The Air Force Magazine, publication of the U.S. Air Force Association, describes the new capability as "a tactical atomic air power in a special staff study.

"It is now possible to tailor a nuclear warhead to perform virtually any mission," the editors state.

The magazine sees the new air concept and practice of tactical atomic airpower as enabling a NATO commander to "concentrate strong troop concentrations and strongpoints with nuclear weapons, to test jet fighters, and immediately follow up his advantage by deploying his ground forces into the areas protected to nuclear bombardment.

Duchess and Princess Mark Anniversary of Duke's Death

QUEBEC (CP)—The Duchess of Kent and Princess Alexandra today take time off from social engagements to quietly mark the 125th anniversary of the death of the Duke of Kent.

The royal visitors, scheduled to board a late-afternoon train for Toronto, planned to spend a leisurely morning at the citadel, have a picnic, weather permitting, and relax with members of Governor-General Massey's summer residence.

The Duke of Kent died in an air crash Aug. 23, 1942, when his daughter, the princess, now 17, was five.

The duchess and the princess have called on government, civic, religious and educational dignitaries during their four-day visit that began Sunday when they arrived from England by air.

Train time is 6 p.m., EDT. In Toronto, the duchess will open the Canadian National Exhibition.

The stylish visitors have attracted hundreds of spectators in this ancient capital of French-speaking Canada—their first stop on the three-week tour of eastern Canada.

The princess has sipped orange juice with Premier Duplessis, chatted with professors of Laval University, stood in six reception lines, signed four guest books and listened to music during the Quebec visit.

Tuesday, they visited the 315-year-old Ursulines Monastery where a community of 125 cloistered nuns maintain a rule of silence.

The duchess has looked forward to a Canadian visit for three years. She turned down an invitation in 1952 because of her trip to Australia that year, and because of the Coronation.

The visitors spent six months preparing an extensive wardrobe, reading about Canada and quizzing Canadian officials in London for information.

They were told to expect soaring temperatures, at least in Toronto. During the past three days temperatures have been in the 80s—warmest this summer. Last year, at the Canadian National Exhibition, which opens Aug. 27, temperatures were in the 90s.

Senator Suggests Later Revision Of Anti-Red Laws

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Henry Jackson (Dem.-Wash.) proposed today that the 84th Congress take time to do "a thorough and sensible" job in revising the laws curbing Communists, including a bill signed Tuesday by President Eisenhower.

Eisenhower said in signing a measure which would strip the Communist party of its legal rights that further study will be required to determine the full impact on the enforcement of laws already on the books.

As one of the Democrats who helped push across the measure in the face of Republican efforts to keep them from attaching it to another bill, Jackson said he regards the legislation as being open to possible extensive revision when the next Congress meets.

"By January we should have some positive results from the justice department on the workability of the new law and how it affects other statutes."

AMENDED FORM

Jackson said he and other Democrats who helped write up with a proposal to outlaw the Communist party had no intention of hampering the operations of the internal security act under which the justice department is attempting to force the registration of all Communists.

Congress finally passed the bill in somewhat amended form after administration pressure that the original Democratic sponsored version would hamper its effectiveness against the Reds.

A Communist party spokesman said the measure will be attacked in the courts as unconstitutional and that members of this organization will "continue to function as a legal party."

The bill Eisenhower signed represented a consolidation of the Democratic proposal with a measure which originally dealt with Communist infiltrated labor unions.

That section of the measure would deny the Communist-infiltrated unions of their legal standing before the National Labor relations board for collective bargaining purposes.

Russia May Have Developed Atomic Powered Submarine

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The ranking United States admiral in the Pacific could have been thinking about possible future development of an atomic submarine when he said there were no Soviet submarine operations there—"that we can talk about."

The navy has come out trying to answer any of the provocative questions raised by the remarks made in an interview this week by Admiral Arthur W. Radford, Pacific commander in chief. Defence department officials merely point to the long line of warnings made from Washington in recent years about Russia's estimated strength of some 350 to 400 submarines.

Stump said about 100 were in the Pacific.

The existence of hundreds of Soviet submarines is not in itself sufficient cause for the frequently voiced official concern, for most of them are known to be obsolete.

The Russians did get some completed German submarines and some of Germany's best undersea devices after the Second World War. But the United States has the same ideas and has actually built better submarines than the best the Germans produced.

Informants here say however that the Soviets have been working intensively for years on atomic power for ships and probably on other war machines. They say the Russian atomic ship will be put on soon as the United States made is known that atomic power could be applied and that this country was going ahead with a nuclear powered submarine.

Russian naval handbooks and published papers make it clear that they have long been thinking of trying to compete with the United States for mastery of the seas in he conventional means of warfare. The atomic submarine, with its expected high speed and long distance ability under water, would be able to dodge for more numerous American surface craft, especially in heavy weather. While U. S. navy men are well aware of the Soviet drive to develop atomic-propelled ships, they have been keeping a tight secret the estimate as to how far the Russians may have advanced.

Senator Scientists Getting Ready For Year of Simultaneous Global Observation of Earth

By RENNIE TAYLOR

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Scientists around the world are getting ready for one of the greatest research undertakings of all time—a long year of simultaneous, global observation of this planet.

The object is to learn more about how the forces of nature affect man's physical environment. Years may pass before this effort should make the world a better place to live in.

Despite the tremendous advances in the last decade in science and related fields, there are a lot of unanswered questions about the earth and the forces which affect it and all the living things on it.

MAGNETIC STORM FUZZLER

Many of these questions are too big for the scientists of any one group or any one country to tackle.

A magnetic storm is one example. It is a lot different than an atmospheric storm, which usually covers only a few thousand square miles and can be observed here and at, top to bottom, by a few men in planes and on the ground.

But a magnetic storm envelopes the entire surface of the earth in less than one minute. It causes wide variations in the magnetic field of the earth can affect radio transmission, the magnetic compasses of ships at sea and planes in the air. They also may have something to do with weather changes.

Scientists in any one area or even in the area of whole continents can't get a complete picture of a magnetic storm. Observations from points all over the globe would be needed, and they would have to be made simultaneously and in uniform procedures.

So do this and other global operations, the world's scientists are setting up machinery for what they call the International Geophysical Year.

Full success of the undertaking will depend upon participation by Russia and her major allies, says Dr. Joseph Kaplan, chairman of the United States national committee for IGY.

Sponsored by the International Council of Scientific Unions, the period 1957-1958 was selected because it coincides with a scheduled period of maximum sunspot activity.

The sun will be one of the prime objects of investigation because it plays such a big part around the forces which affect man. The magnetic storm is one of these. It reaches the earth about 24 hours after an intense flare-up on the sun's surface.

Flare patrols will keep watch on the sun from the North American and 15 foreign stations. Every flare will be recorded, along with its effects on magnetism, cosmic rays, the northern lights and the ionized layers of the atmosphere.

A warning service is to be set up. Dr. Kaplan says it will try to advise all stations of any unusual occurrences due to solar activity, so that each station can go to work instantly on any pre-assigned operation.

Rockets will be shot high into space from sites in the U.S., Greenland, Alaska and Canada. The rockets will be loaded with instruments for measuring magnetism, cosmic rays, particles in the northern lights and a variety of other things.

Some stations plan to make temperature observations at various heights along three meridians of latitude to determine how air masses move from west to east. They also may throw some light on whether air masses are exchanged between the northern and the southern hemispheres.

These studies will be counted upon to give weather scientists for the first time an understanding of the world's pattern of atmospheric circulation.

Three-D TV Made World Debut in London

LONDON (Reuters) — Three-D television made its world debut Tuesday.

Reporters wore polarized glasses for the three-dimensional showing. They saw TV announcer Avis Scott enter a studio. The smoke from her cigaret appeared to curl right out from the screen.

It will be some time before TV-in-depth is developed for home viewers. The government expects to be able to make use of it for atomic research.

The invention was unveiled at a display at the annual British Radio Exhibition in London by the Fye Company of Cambridge.

"It is known that experiments on similar lines have been going on in the United States," a Fye official said, "But I believe they have been more secret about them because of the value to atomic energy research."

A spokesman for Britain's department of atomic research said: "We already use TV for research which cannot be watched by the naked eye. Three-D with pictures in depth opens new fields."

The company official stressed that it is not now economically possible to adapt 3-D television for British homes. But, he added, "that will be the industry's future goal."

Threat of Strikes Involving 17,000 Workers in Three Industrial Plants Seen

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A threat of strikes involving more than 17,000 workers in three of Canada's largest industrial plants appeared Tuesday as two of the country's biggest unions expressed dissatisfaction over conciliation board findings.

Involved are the Steel Company of Canada at Hamilton, the Ford Motor Company of Canada at Oakville, the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) and the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL).

A conciliation board report handed down in Toronto Tuesday recommended a general wage increase of five cents an hour for the 7,000 workers at the Steel Company of Canada but not turned down a union request for an additional hourly boost of 1½ cents in about 30 job classifications.

The union had demanded a general increase of 6½ cents an hour over the present basic rate of $1.45½.

Negotiations between the union and the company began last January.

Charles Millard, Canadian director of the union, said the board's recommendations "resolve none of the issues." The union negotiating committee will meet with company officials today to discuss the board findings. Union members have already voted in favor of strike action if union officials consider it necessary.

Another conciliation board, in a report handed down Tuesday, recommended increases of from 2½ cents to three cents an hour for more than 14,000 employees of International Nickel Company of Canada plants at Sudbury and Port Colborne, Ont. The report also recommended that the workers, members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), also accept benefits offered by the company during negotiations for a new contract.

A third conciliation board, in report handed down Tuesday, recommended increases of from 2½ cents to three cents an hour for 2,000 employees of the Ford Motor Company of Canada plants at Oakville.

The union has demanded a general increase of 6½ cents an hour over the present basic rate of $1.45½.

Another official said the report was "completely unsatisfactory."

Saunders Tells Why U.S. Is In Seaway Project

OTTAWA (CP)—Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario hydro-electric commission, said Tuesday Canada's interest in seaway is being built with United States participation because Washington finally was convinced Canada would go ahead with the project alone.

Speaking at an International Day address at the Canadian National Exhibition, Mr. Saunders said the seaway would have been started two years ago but that U.S. authorities thought that talk of an all-Canadian seaway was a bluff.

"The Americans thought we couldn't build it and that we wouldn't build it," he said. "The only reason that the project now is underway is that our friends in Washington finally became convinced that Canada could and would build the seaway on her own."

Mr. Saunders suggested that detailed study of the possibility of industrial enlightenment in the United States. There had been too much advertising of Canada as a land of forests and lakes and Rose-Marie RCMP settings.

Veteran Pilot Crawls Unharmed From Aircraft

BOWMANVILLE, Ont. (CP)—A veteran Quebec bush pilot escaped unharmed when he overturned and plane in Lake Ontario Tuesday night after he crash-landed in a violent squall.

Pierre Queneau, 55, of Montreal, climbed onto a pontoon while the wind blew his half-submerged aircraft a quarter of a mile along the beach from near this town 35 miles east of Oshawa.

Queneau was rescued by resident who went to the scene in a rowboat and an outboard motorboat. He was flying his Bellanca 170, a four-passenger aircraft, from Montreal to Toronto for engine modifications.

Scout Jamboree Will Be Held At Niagara Falls

LINZ, Austria (Reuters)—Gen. Dan Spray of Canada, director of the international office of the world Scout movement announced here Tuesday that the next Boy Scouts World Jamboree will be held at Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 18-24, 1955.

The international Scout movement plans to hold its general assembly there at the same time.

Spry said the number of Boy Scouts in 37 countries has increased from 3,500,000 in 1948 to 5,500,000 today.

The leading countries are the United States with 3,025,000 Scouts; Canada 666,000, and Britain, 500,000.

MURDERERS ARE MEEK AFTER CAPTURE

A meek man, at first glance, is Sayyed Ghabahfar (centre), shown as he was sentenced to 15 years in prison in Kasram, Iran. According to the charges, his claim to religious leadership has led to many years of violence. On two occasions he and his followers have been held responsible for mass riots and killings. He was arrested in a mountain stronghold, where he was arrested with associates, two of whom are shown flanking him as a guard stands by in the courtroom.—Central Press Canadian.

Extra Tax Would Help Pay Cost Says Bannister

ST. THOMAS (CP)—An extra three or four cents a gallon on race tracks would help pay the cost of administering justice in Ontario, Raymond P. Barrick says.

Mr. Barrick, clerk-treasurer of Midland county, told the 54th annual convention of the Ontario Municipal Association Tuesday that $34,980 was bet at Fort Erie race track in 37 days this year.

"If the government takes eight per cent or $1,398.40 of that bet, and 50 per cent of four per cent on betting applied to the administration of justice, that is a considerable relief."

Mr. Barrick suggested the provincial government take 50 per cent over all administration of justice. He said the saturation point in municipal taxation has nearly been reached.

"The more I study the administration of justice costs I am convinced more than ever that the responsibility for it is not one for the local taxpayer to assume," he said. "I believe the government which takes notice of this and acts will be one of the most popular we have had in years."

Seek Rotation On Fruit Stands

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Operators of roadside fruit stands on the Queen Elizabeth Way have reportedly divided into two factions on the question of stand rotation.

Sellers claim those with stalls nearest approaching traffic get all the business. They say some make as much as $300 a day while those in less choice locations seldom make more than $50 a day.

They seek a rotation system which would give them a chance to sell from upper stalls at least once a week.

Upper-stand farmers refuse to budge. They have invested their stalls by the department of highways because of the location of their farms.

RESCUE VESSEL

HALIFAX (CP)—The Canadian Navy's newest Arctic patrol vessel, Labrador, Saturday rescued the ice-locked American vessel Monte Carlo about 850 miles south of the North Pole, the navy said here Tuesday. The Monte Carlo was taken in tow after being imprisoned eight days.

Color Television Within Year At $1,000 A Set

TORONTO (CP) — Color television will be on sale in Canada within a year at $1,000 a set, Seymour Mintz, president of CBS-Columbia, said Tuesday.

He said Addison's Ltd., Toronto, has received exclusive rights to manufacture and distribute CBS-Columbia radio and television sets in Canada.

However, the company president said color television will never replace black-and-white because it will never be competitive price-wise.

He said the price of color television will probably drop in the same ratio and with the same speed as has black-and-white sets. Color sets may go for about $400 within four years.

Airliner Skids But None Hurt

GANDER, Nfld. (CP) — An Air France Constellation veered off the runway as it landed at Gander airport early today but its 58 passengers and nine crew members were not injured.

Inbound from Europe, the plane had come down on the runway briefly when the nose wheel skidded to the left.

The plane straddled a 10-foot deep drainage ditch, buckling its nose and pushing the tricycle landing gear and the fuselage. There was no fire.

Find Recluse's Body

STURGEON FALLS, (CP) — The body of a 57-year-old man, believed dead for more than 10 days, was found Tuesday in a small shack on the outskirts of this town 25 miles west of North Bay.

Police identified the body as that of Arthur Lemay, a recluse who came from Elmsdale, Ont. It was believed he died of a heart seizure.

Labor Congress Door Open For Fishermen's Union

REGINA (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada has left the door open for the 6,000 members of the suspended Fishermen's Union of British Columbia if they want to get back into the fold of the parent body.

The move here told Tuesday they could get back by shaking off Communist influence.

The action came when the TLC annual convention turned down the Reed-led union's appeal against the suspension imposed last year by the congress executive.

A recommendation from the TLC officers' report a committee attended the invitation to return. The recommendation said, "We would welcome either the whole organization or any division of it willing to abide by the constitution of the TLC." The constitution has a clause barring unions headed by Communists or sympathizers.

Homer Stevens, general secretary of the fishermen's union who was a Labor - Progressive (Communist) party candidate for Burnaby-Richmond in the last federal election, charged the congress executive with stifling freedom of political thought.

Percy R. Bengough, TLC president, said he is convinced the majority of the fishermen's union officers are by no means in the Communist philosophy.

The convention also heard Russell Harvey of Toronto, American Federation of Labor organizer, and Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan.

Harvey said more crown companies should be established to provide collective bargaining facilities for federal employees. He said federal workers now are "social class citizens" because those directly employed by the government cannot negotiate collective agreements with the government.

He said the state of farm income and the welfare of industrial workers are tied together directly and that labor movement will be mistaken if it thinks its gains can be maintained apart from the welfare of the general economy.

"What happens to one group in the economy affects all others," he said.

Scientists Find Floor Fight Over Election Takes Shape

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—The possibility of a floor fight over the election of the top officers of the World Council of Churches loomed today.

It was indicated in the wake of a surprise move at the council's session Tuesday night.

The move, by the chairman of the nominating committee was designed to submit a slate of six high-ranking clergymen for election as presidents of the WCC. The slate to include a layman, informed that requests had been received to place a layman on the slate of senior officers who form the presidium.

Dr. Justin Niemoller, German protestant leader, offered a motion to postpone the election until tonight and it was approved 138 to 146.

AN ALTERNATIVE

Effect of the motion was to request the nominating committee to consider placing a layman on the list of candidates for president.

There was no early indication whether the committee will stick to its six-man slate and start a fight among delegates or revise the ticket to include a layman.

One alternative would be to submit seven names, including that of one layman, and let the delegates choose the six winners.

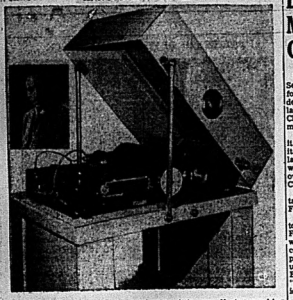
ANNOUNCING CLOCK



This is a view of the working parts of the complicated speaking clock to be used by the Dominion observatory at Ottawa to broadcast the correct time each minute throughout the day. The clock's announcements will be carried over the observatory's short-wave time-signal service. Frederick M. Meech, a foreign-service officer with Canada's external affairs department, is the clock's voice. He made the recordings announcing the 1,440 minutes each day. (CP Photo).

Observatory Soon Will Make 1,440 Broadcasts Daily to Let Canadians Know Correct Time

OTTAWA (CP) — The Dominion observatory soon will be making 1,440 broadcasts daily to let Canadians know the correct time.

The minute-by-minute time service will be provided through the combined efforts of a complicated speaking clock and the observatory's powerful short-wave radio transmitter.

The clock's voice will be that of Frederick M. Meech, a 38-year-old foreign service officer who got the unusual announcing job by chance while posted in Paris last year.

Mr. Meech's recorded announcement of the time each minute throughout the 24 hours of the day will be heard over the observatory's short-wave service on three wavelengths—3330, 7335 and 14670 kilocycles.

15,000 WORDS A DAY

The new service will involve the broadcasting of some 15,000 words a day or nearly 6,000,000 a year. However, Mr. Meech won't develop laryngitis. The whole operation will be electronic.

The clock, manufactured in Paris by the firm of Atelier Brillie Freres, has been shipped to Ottawa and is expected to be in operation by the end of the year or early in 1955. The apparatus will cost about $13,000.

The time service—to be broadcast in English—will supplement a "peep" time signal transmitted on the minute by the observatory. About 10 seconds before the minute the speaking clock will announce the time, with the "peep" being sounded on the minute.

The time before noon—say 9:45 a.m.—will be nine hours, 45 minutes. At 1:20 p.m. the announcement will be 13 hours, 20 minutes. Midnight will be zero hours; and 11 p.m., 23 hours.

Anyone whose radio has a short-wave band to pick up the observatory wave lengths will be able to use the service. But it is being provided mainly for aerial and water navigation, communication and broadcasting services, and for the use of surveyors and others located in isolated areas.

CHANCE CHOICE

Mr. Meech was chosen for the announcing job because he happened to be working at the Canadian embassy in Paris during the early stages of the clock's manufacture. The company asked the embassy to provide someone with a good speaking voice and Mr. Meech was elected.

The sound track of Mr. Meech's voice now is on a drum inside the clock. At each minute of the day a photo-electric cell arrangement will pick off the introductory phrase and the correct number of hours and minutes to be broadcast.

Mr. Meech, a native of Windsor, Ont., is not impressed by the fact that his voice will be on the airways each minute of the day.

"Fortunately I won't have to listen to the speaking clock," he said. "I only hope that the people tuning into the observatory for the correct time will understand me."

CONTRACT CANCELLED

OSLO (CP)—Norway's National Association of Municipal Cinemas has cancelled a contract with the Motion Pictures Association of America, Inc., because of unwillingness to pay five per cent higher rental for United States superfilms.

FATALLY INJURED

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — Lren Russell, 28, of Harrison's Corners, Ont., was fatally injured early Sunday in a two-car crash about 2½ miles east of this village near the Canadian border. Russell, a passenger in one of the automobiles, died in hospital.

Dulles Says U.S. May Defend Chinese Isles

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Secretary Dulles said Tuesday U.S. forces would be justified in defending some Nationalist-held islands between Formosa and the Chinese mainland from any Communist attack.

Dulles told a press conference it would be up to American military leaders to decide which island in addition to Formosa they want to defend as part of their over-all strategy for aiding the Chinese Nationalist stronghold.

Dulles spoke up in the face of talk by Peiping of "liberating" Formosa.

In talking about Europe, Dulles told reporters he deeply regrets France's unwillingness to agree with five other Western European countries on the European Army plan. But he said he has not given up hope France will ratify the European Army agreement when "it confronts the ultimate decision."

Pentagon sources said today intelligence reports have produced no serious evidence—such as movement of assault troops—to indicate an imminent attack on Nationalist island stronghold off the China mainland.

U.S. diplomatic officials said Peiping apparently is having enough woe from flood and famine without taking on the additional burden of fighting a war.

President Eisenhower told his press conference last Wednesday any Red Chinese attempt to invade Formosa would have to run the U.S. Seventh Fleet, which guards the Formosa straits.

Husky Muskie Will Not Go Down in Records

TORONTO (CP) — The husky muskie Bob Malo of Port Arthur caught in Wisconsin last June 6 may have been the biggest ever caught by a man. But it won't go down as such in the records of Field and Stream, the outdoors magazine.

Pete McGillen reported Tues., in the Toronto Telegram that Field and Stream advised Malo it was rejecting his claim for a world record because the scales were inaccurate even though they were weighing light by half a pound.

After Malo landed the muskellunge in Eau Claire lake 60 miles south of Duluth, it went 69 pounds, 12 ounces, on a taxidermist's scales. This was one ounce heavier than the previous world record muskie caught in Wisconsin in 1949 by Louis Spray. Subsequently, an official check showed the scales to be weighing light and Malo's fish was 70 pounds, four ounces, compared with 69 pounds, 11 ounces, for Spray's fish.

Field and Stream's letter to Malo said it had no recourse but to refuse acceptance of his entry since "any other course would immediately involve us in endless controversies."

Blame Vacations For Drop in Total Of Employed

OTTAWA (CP) — An above-normal number of vacation closures during July cut Canada's employment rolls to 4,821,000 at July 25, the labor department reported today.

It was a drop of 280,000 from the year's high point of 5,101,000 at June 19 and 181,000 below the figure of 5,002,000 on July 18 last year.

The employment figure, reported by the bureau of statistics in its monthly labor force survey, included 4,584,000 persons who worked 35 hours or more during the week ended July 24 and 307,000 who worked shorter hours.

MANY AFFECTED

Many more workers were affected by vacation closures this year than a year ago. An estimated 450,000 were out on vacations at the end of July, compared with less than 300,000 in 1953.

At the same time, the bureau's survey showed a drop in unemployment of 13,000 during the month. It reported 178,000 persons were without jobs and seeking work during the survey week, compared with 185,000 in the week ended June 19. The total compared with 90,000 listed a year ago as without jobs and seeking work.

The labor department said employment in non-manufacturing industries, forestry, lumbering and construction, increased during July slightly more than is usual for the month, but manufacturing employment increased at a below-normal rate.

Another set of figures—job applications on file at National Employment Service offices—provides information on the work situation.

FEWER REGISTER

The report said 263,514 persons were registered at NES offices on July 22, a drop of 32,233 from the June 17 figure of 295,747 but still 97,630 more than last year's total of 165,884 on July 23, 1953.

The figures showed a continuation of the decline from the year's high point of 370,000 NES job applications in March.

The NES figures include a number of persons who had found employment or left the labor force when the count was made. However, there are some groups of unemployed who do not register at NES offices.

Board Reserves Ruling in Dispute Between Unions

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario labor relations board Tuesday reserved decision on a dispute between two unions battling for certification as bargaining agent for 167 employees at the new Canadian Westinghouse Co. Ltd., plant at Brantford.

The International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO-CCL) charged that the United Electrical Workers (Ind.) falsified membership cards and that union officials posed as representatives of the labor relations board.

Five of the independent union's membership cards have been challenged. Without them the union does not have the 45 per cent of plant workers necessary to become bargaining agent.

F. L. Walkinshaw, counsel for the UEW, said a campaign to damage the union was being waged among trade unionists.

"The union knows that because of the report that it is Communist-inspired, everybody is just waiting for the golden opportunity to hit it," said Mr. Walkinshaw.

Interrupted by board members, he said he was not inferring the union had received treatment different from any other union at the hands of the board.

Nehru Offers Own Collective Peace Formula

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru offered his own "collective peace" formula today for easing world tension. As an example, he cited his recent non-aggression agreement with Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai.

In a 25-minute foreign policy review to the Indian Parliament, Nehru condemned such military pacts as the U. S.-proposed Southeast Asia Defence Alliance (SEATO).

Nehru confirmed India's refusal to participate in the SEATO talks in the Philippines next month and said his government was "apprehensive that the proposed organization will in the present do more harm than any good it might hope to do in the future."

Nehru and Chou, after their New Delhi meeting in June, proposed that the principles of an April pact on Communist-occupied Tibet serve as a basis of relations between China and other Asian countries.

In the Tibet pact, India and China agreed to respect each other's territory and sovereignty and to avoid interference in the other's internal affairs.

Treaties dependent on military strength rely on false hopes because they are based on fear and war, the prime minister said.

Committee Will Hear Charges On September 8

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature's select committee investigating irregularities in the highways department will meet Sept. 8 to hear charges by Albert Wren (Lib-Lab — Kenora) that Highways Minister Doucett perjured himself before the committee.

Mr. Doucett has denied the charges.

Committee chairman Kelso Roberts (PC — Toronto St. Andrew) said a letter was mailed Tuesday night to all committee members.

The letter said the committee would meet "for the purpose of dealing with a charge made by Albert Wren that . . . the minister of highways did have certain men working on his farm being employees of a contractor for which work he did not pay, contrary to the minister's evidence before the committee . . . June 30."

WITNESSES CALLED

Mr. Roberts said the 11-man committee will listen to evidence from witnesses to be called by the Opposition member of the legislature.

Warrants for six witnesses whose names were supplied last week by Mr. Wren will be issued Thursday.

The six are H. J. McFarland, Picton, Ont., head of the McFarland Construction Company; Edward T. Wride, Toronto, a former McFarland employee; Joseph Szakrajek, Cobourg, and Stanley Valant, Noranda, Que., former laborers for the McFarland Company; I. McNee, Picton, a truck driver; and Leon Kossar, a Toronto Telegram staff reporter.

WON'T CALL FOUR

Warrants will not be issued against four other witnesses requested by Mr. Wren. They are Premier Frost, Mr. Doucett, provincial auditor Harvey Ostnam and Charles Dubin, special prosecutor in the conspiracy trials of three road contracting firms.

Queen's Park officials said these witnesses will all be available if the committee feels they should appear during the hearings.

"Mr. Doucett will undoubtedly be at the committee hearing," said Mr. Roberts. "Mr. Frost said last week that he would 'gladly' appear before the committee."

The committee chairman said he could not tell how long the sessions at Queen's Park would last. "It all depends on what the witnesses have to say," he said.

Baltimore Orioles Just About As Bad As When They Were The Browns

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

Last night's heart breaking 6-4 loss to Oakville at the Fair Grounds leaves the Betas two games down in a best-of-five series in the vitalized-Ontario League semi-finals. The game, one of the most tense witnessed in the local ball yard in years, had the season's largest crowd jived to the pews. In the late innings the drama was so thick it could be cut with a knife. There is, however, no reply to the home run.

• • •

The Betas' all out bid for a second game victory and a 1-1 tie in the series was evident as coach Vern Goyer threw 16 men into the fray, including three hurlers. Burton came on to relieve Wright in the sixth, Kelleher, Pete Jones, Dave Jones and "Buck" Reeves went in in the seventh, and Mulholland and Vern himself came in in the 10th.

• • •

The tense tenth was as dramatic a single inning as any ball game could hope for. Brian Scott's second home run of the game, a blast over the right field fence with Saltsburg aboard, was the crusher. Brown's run was insurance. The impossible seemed possible in the bottom of the 10th as Betas fought back with Vern leading off with a walk and Fitzpatrick beating out a dribbler to third and then taking second as a throwing error. Hewitt, who tripled in the eighth scored on a wild pitch, but Keith MacDonald, who could take out a copyright on hustle, fouled off four pitches before outracing the shortstop's relay for an infield single as Vern scored. It was MacDonald's third RBI, Keith then stole second on a head first slide on a pitchout, but died with Fitzpatrick on base as Gerry Goyer fouled to third and Al Kelleher struck out.

• • •

Scott's two home runs and a single were spaced between two strikeouts as he beat Oakville at the plate with three RBI's and four runs scored. Mark Pollock, who toiled eight innings for a 3-3 tie, was relieved by Ross Paton in the ninth and Paton was given credit for his second series victory.

• • •

Betas are now squarely up against it. They are faced with the unenviable task of winning three straight games if they intend to stay in the playoffs. The third game is slated for the Fair Grounds Saturday night at 8.30. Paton, who chalked up a five hit 12-4 triumph in Oakville's last Saturday night and acquitted last night's game in relief will be Goyer's pitching starter Saturday.

• • •

On the other half of the V-O semi-finals Oshawa Transporters are two games up on Toronto Hocking Burners. They took the first game Sunday in Millen Stadium and the second game at Moss Hockey night. The third game is set for Oshawa, Thursday night.

• • •

Attendance at both Oakville and Oshawa home games is reported to be light. Oakville and Belleville drew the season's largest turnout last Saturday with 400 on hand.

"Oshawa doesn't draw flies at home," said one Oakville player.

SOFTBALL WARS RESUME

Softball wars resume on two fronts tonight as Northern Electric meet Point Anne at the CNR grounds in the second game of a best-of-five series for the Belleville and District Intermediate A crown. Point Anne picked up a 7-4 decision in Point Anne in the first game Monday night.

At the Alemite Field Bill Hurst's Stewart Warner TV's tangle with the Bobcats in the second game of a best-of-seven series to determine a league representative in the OASA Intermediate AA playoffs. Bobcats hold a one game edge on the strength of a 8-5 decision Monday night. Third game in this series will be played at the CNE grounds on Friday night at 6.15.

HE WROTE A NOTE

The regular Carver of these Chips pens a line from Wellington-on-the-Lake to whit: "Perfect holiday weather here. In hand, to date, three pike, two pickerel, a rapacious appetite, one sunburn and a yen to stay here the rest of my life."

Sounds like a fine start for a well-earned vacation.

Lost Thirteenth Straight To Yankees Who Gained Full Game on Cleveland Indians

By REN PELEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Despite the tangle of travel and fans in the stands the Baltimore Orioles are in just as sad shape when it comes to winning games as were the old St. Louis Browns. The players of the change paid off at the box office, but on the ball field almost nothing is different except the uniforms and a few of the faces.

It will take a 50-50 break in their remaining 30 games for the Orioles to finish with as good a record as the Browns compiled in finishing dead last a year ago. And so far the Orioles haven't looked at any time like a .500 ball club.

They lost their 13th straight game Tuesday night, 9-2 to the New York Yankees, who gained a full game on first-place Cleveland. The Indians were scalped 4-1 in a surprise raid by the lowly Philadelphia Athletics and now hold a 4½-game edge over the Yankees. STILL AUTOMATIC

Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Orioles, still talks optimistically. "We may be in last place," Dykes said, "but we've been unlucky. Just one more hit per game and we're in fifth place."

The Orioles have lost 10 games by one run.

Tuesday night, however, it wasn't close after the Yankees took a 3-1 lead in the fourth. Yogi Berra clouted his second homer of the year and New York coasted.

Johnny Groth, rookie who had won only one game, checked Cleveland on four hits and the Indians committed their costly errors. Both came in the third when the Athletics also collected four hits for three runs.

WHITE SOX WIN

Chicago, for only other team with a mathematical chance of winning the American League pennant, defeated Washington 6-0. Billy Pierce turned back Boston 8-7, breaking a six-game winning streak for the Red Sox.

The National League pennant race remained status quo with all three contenders winning. First-place New York beat Chicago 5-1 and stayed four games in front of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who defeated Cincinnati 6-3 and 7½ ahead of Milwaukee's Braves, who defeated Philadelphia 5-1. Pittsburgh edged St. Louis 8-7.

Ruben Gomez pitched a strong six-hitter for his fifth victory and Willie Mays went on an extra-base power spree with two triples and a double for the Giants. The New Yorkers combed Paul Minner for 11 hits good for six runs in winning their seventh in a row.

Brooklyn grabbed a 4-1 lead after two innings, checked a Cincinnati threat that cut it to 5-4 after five, then tied on the Redlegs at Crosley Field with a home-run barrage. Sandy Amoros hit two out of the park. Duke Snider and Carl Furillo hit one each.

Warren Spahn, who lost 8 of his first 18 games, won his seventh in a row at the expense of the Phillies. Bobby Thomson started a game for the first time this season and drove home two runs with a single and a double off Robin Roberts, who suffered his 12th loss. Thomson broke his ankle during spring training after being traded by the New York Giants.

Jack Harshman shut out Washington for the White Sox for the third time this season, giving up just four hits. He also hit a home run and struck out 10.

Boston's effort in the first division was halted, at least temporarily, by the Tigers when Harvey Kuenn singled home Frank Bolling with the winning run off Ellis Kinder in the eighth.

Marlene Only Member of Home Team to Win

REACONSFIELD, Que. (CP)—Britain's Curtis Cup golf team easily downed a Canadian women's squad in exhibition competition Tuesday but couldn't match the methodical stroke of little Marlene Stewart, the Canadian champion from Fonthill, Ont.

Marlene was the only member of the home team to gain a victory in the singles matches and she teamed with Dorothy Herbertson, a tiny Victoria Redhead, for the only win in the doubles.

The British women had little trouble in the other matches as they coasted to a 12½ to 3½ victory over the Canadians. Eight singles matches were played in the morning over the Beaconsfield courses, 15 miles west of Montreal, and four doubles matches in the afternoon. The singles were worth one point each and the doubles two.

AVENGER DEFEAT

Miss Stewart, the Canadian singles victory, Marlene avenged her defeat at the hands of France Andrews in the semi-finals of the British Amateur, Miss Stephens, who won the title in the Amateur, after downing the defending champion, bowed 5 and 2 as Marlene staged another of her amazing comebacks after having early trouble with approach shots and trailing by three holes.

The polished Fonthill star also came through in the doubles to beat off a rally by Miss Stephens and Miss Price, The Canadians led by only one hole going into the 18th but Marlene matched a birdie four by Miss Price to halve the hole and take the match one up.

Canada's half point came when Mrs. J. H. Herbertson and Miss played to a tie with Jeanette Robertson of Scotland in the singles.

In another doubles match Mrs. R. T. Peel and Miss Robertson defeated Mrs. Carter and Ann Sharpe of Fonthill, 5 and 4.

Hepburn Not Enthused Over Gridiron Career

VANCOUVER (CP)—Doug Hepburn, the world's strongest man, said in an interview Tuesday he has not yet decided to abandon weightlifting for a gridiron career.

Nursing an assortment of bruises after two days of workouts with the British Columbia Lions, the world heavyweight weightlifting champion said he would probably "think it over" for a few days.

Hepburn, who has no football experience, started working out with Lions during the week-end in hopes of catching a spot as defensive centre.

"But they still haven't said anything about a contract. Although I'm not even signed, they're using my name for publicity."

Lions president Don Mackenzie said his team was seriously considering Hepburn as player material.

"We're going to give him a try and he looks pretty good," Mackenzie said. "We wouldn't want him to sign a contract unless he showed promise of being able to make the club, but so far he looks good. It will be about a week before we can be certain."

Hepburn played Canadian football toward the end of the Second World War while attending high school.

The 295-pound Vancouver lifter was bruised and sore from his workouts. He figured his back Monday night and doctors have told him to rest for a week.

Doug stands 5 feet 9 inches, and his 295 inches around the chest, his world record for the press is 381 pounds and his record total three lifts is 1,050 pounds.

Oakville Oaks Practically Clinch Playoff Round With Batas

Brian Scott's Second Homer In Tenth Frame Off Bunton Gives Oaks Win by 6-3

Brian Scott's second home run of the game, a two-run blast over the right field fence in the tenth inning, sparked a three-run Oakville rally that gave the Oaks a 6-4 victory over Belleville Batas in a heart-stopping ball game at the Fair Grounds last night.

The win, Oakville's second in a best-of-five series, put them one up for Baseball League semi-final series, gave them a 2-0 lead in games. The third game of the series is slated for the Fair Grounds Saturday night at 8:30.

Scott's homer was a smashing climax to one of the most dramatic ball games played here in years. The season's largest crowd whooped it up until the final out as the Batas fought back in the bottom of the 10th to score a single run and put the tying counter on second with only one out.

Tension started building early as Art Wright and Mack Pollock mowed down the hitters. Brian Scott's home run to right in the second frame was the only run for the first five innings.

Oakville came up with two runs in the sixth on a bunt single by Salvisburg, who took second on McDonald's sacrifice and Baxter singled to centre to score Salvisburg. Both runs scored after a play at the plate. Scott struck out and Brown singled to right to score Baxter.

Art Wright, who had struck out six and walked one, was tabbed Bunton came on to retire the side as Thompson and Pollock fouled out.

Dick Fitzpatrick scored the Batas' first run in the fifth when he singled to left with one out, stole second and came all the way to third as the catcher threw wildly into centrefield. Pettit flied to left but Fitzpatrick remained in close single to left to score Fitzpatrick.

BATAS EVEN SCORE

Batas evened the score in the eighth with Fitzpatrick singling to left with one out. Fitzpatrick smashed a stand up triple to right to plate Fitz. Keith MacDonald fouled off four pitches before smashing a long fly to left. Pettitt raced to the warning track to end after the catch.

Mack Pollock, a diminutive right hander, was lifted in the ninth for pinch hitter, Ross Paton with two on and one out. Paton was intentionally passed and the strategy paid off, when Sacrificer struck out pinch hitter, Dowey.

Salvisburg started Oaks on the road to victory in the fifth with a lead off single to left. Dave Jones made a fine running catch in short centre field on Baxter's blooper but Scott put the game in the bag with his homer to right.

Brown kept the rally alive, when he outwaited Goyer to force on a grounder for an infield single. Bunton walked Thompson and Mulholland was brought in to pitch. He walked Ken Pollock to load the sacks.

Redshaw sacrificed to plate Brown and Ross Paton lined to MacDonald to end the inning.

Vern Lach opened with a blast to lead off the 10th. Fitzpatrick's double single and walks to Scott and both runners advanced on a throwing error to Brown. Oaks third baseman. Pettitt struck out but Keith MacDonald beat out a dribbler short for a single as Goyer scored.

MacDonald went head first into second base to steal cleanly on the games. The third game of the series is slated for the Fair Grounds Saturday night at 8:30.

London Majors Or Elgins Could Finish Third

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Thomas Elgins just wanted to get into the Intercounty Senior Baseball League playoffs. Galt Terriers wanted to get at Brantford Red Sox, and Brantford Red Sox would like nothing better than a crack at Galt Terriers.

Everybody's getting their choice.

To all intents and purposes, the league schedule ended Tuesday night. The only thing left before the first four clubs move into the playoffs is an extra game tonight to decide whether London Majors or the Elgins end up in third place.

ELGINS CLINCH IT

The Elgins clenched a playoff spot Tuesday night by taking one game of a doubleheader against the Red Sox and jumping into a third-place tie with the Majors. The loser of tonight's game in St. Thomas moves into fourth place—but still in the playoffs.

As far as the Terriers and Red Sox are concerned, they didn't care when finished in third or fourth place. They decided at a special meeting Sunday that they wanted to meet each other in the semi-final series. That means one of the hottest teams in the league will be knocked out in the finals all around. London and St. Thomas meet in the other semi-final.

The Elgins defeated Red Sox 4-3 in the second game at Brantford Tuesday night. The Red Sox won the scheduled seven-inning opener 2-1 on Luther Gifford's home run in the 12th.

In two Nickel Belt games, Frood Tigers took fourth and last playoff berth with a 9-3 win over the fifth-place Coniston Red Sox and Garson Greyhounds edged Copper Cliff Redmen 5-4.

CLARKE GETS CREDIT

John Clarke, who relieved starter Max Manning with the bases loaded and one out in the 10th inning, received credit for the Brantford win.

In the second game, the Elgins won it with seven runs. Bruce Bell and Jim St. Louis had circuit clouts with the bases empty in the ninth to break a 3-2 tie.

The loss went to Brantford manager Harry Lyons. He came in from rightfield to relieve starter Jim Clarke in the ninth after Clarke was benched for a pinch hitter. John Ambrose went all the way for the Elgins. He also pitched the last four innings of the first game.

The race was tight. Galt finished with 27 wins and 22 losses, Brantford had 26 victories and 24 defeats and London and St. Thomas made it 25-25. Kitchener Panthers, in fifth place, had 29 wins and 21 losses while Guelph-Waterloo Royals were last with an 18-42 record.

May Place Team At Rochester

MONTREAL (CP) — Managing director Frank Selke of the Montreal Canadiens announced Tuesday the club is "opening negotiations immediately in an attempt to place a farm team in Rochester, N.Y."

The local Triple-A Rochester League club said the proposed team would play "in any league which the Rochester people would like to enter. We have players available for both an American League club, or any team of lower classification."

WITHDRAW LANDAU

LONDON (AP)—Landau, Queen Elizabeth's fine three-year-old colt, was withdrawn Tuesday from the classic Leger at Doncaster Sept. 11. Noel Murless, the Queen's trainer, said a decision has been made whether Landau will fly to the United States to run in the $65,000 Washington D.C. International at Laurel Park, Md., Nov. 3.

Two Canadians Win Second Round Matches

DETROIT (CP)—Two Canadian amateur golf champions swept through the second round of the United States amateur championship Tuesday and into a decisive third round duel today.

Harvie Ward, Jr., of San Francisco, who on Saturday won the Canadian Amateur crown at London, Ont., turned in his second straight victory with a 2 and 1 decision over Jim Vickers of Wichita, Kans.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., twice winner of the Canadian Amateur champion, qualified for a third-round match with Ward by defeating Ray Nelson of Kansas City 1 up.

Two Canadians, both of whom had drawn first-round byes, won their opening contests Tuesday. Doug Silverberg of Red Deer, Alta., defeated Tom Draper of Royal Oak, Mich., and J. Reid Taylor of Dee of Granby, Que., defeated Fernando Mendez of Monterrey, Mexico, 4 and 3.

The runner-up in this year's Canadian Amateur event, Bill Campbell of Huntington, West Va., also advanced to the third round, defeating John Coyle of Springfield, Ill., on the 19th hole.

Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., another former Canadian champ, stayed in the running with a 3 and 2 victory over John Cree of Buffalo, N.Y.

Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., lost only one hole, the first, in eliminating Tim Holland of Rockville Centre, N.Y., 4 and 3.

Today's meeting between Ward and Stranahan will be their sixth in big-time match play competition. Ward holds a 3-2 edge.

Trapshooter Champ

VANDALIA, O. (CP) — Julius Petty of Stuttgart, Ark., Tuesday became the champion trapshooter of the United States from 16 yards.

Petty broke 200 straight targets in the Grand American trapshoot feature to be defending champion Fred D. Waldock of Sandusky, O., and Phil Miller of Reno, Nev., each broke 25 straight in the shoot-off. Among Canadians competing, G.E. McAteer, St. Thomas, Ont., posted 181.

Scarboro, Sodden With Rain, Will Add Two Strikes to Play

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Scarboro's sodden, rain-beaten course, in such shape that it will add two or three strokes to play, today awaited the onslaught of 179 golfers in the first 18-hole round of the $26,500 Open.

Rain-laden thunderstorms, culminating in a deluge of cloudburst proportions, played such havoc late Tuesday that for a time there were fears the opening round has to be delayed. Greens became small lakes, sand traps overflowed and water cascaded down sloping fairways into a small creek that winds through part of the course. Temporary bridges built for the tournament were washed away and the swollen creek slowly subsided.

The early starters today were scheduled to tee off at 7:30 after bird-up time in what promised to be heavy, soggy going. But the hope was so big that some of the better-known players hiked there early starts. The opening call was set for 7:30 a.m., EDT and an hour and 10 minutes later a threesome of Stan Leonard of Vancouver, Wally Ulrich of Rochester, Minn., and Art Wall, Jr., of Pocono Manor Pa., was scheduled to start.

NHL PLAYERS CAUGHT

The downpours Tuesday wiped out the "golf clinics" and ended the National Hockey League golf players' match before time was up. A hastily-arranged plan for resumption of play today was made.

When the rains came Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Elmer Lach of Montreal Canadiens appeared headed for a win. Red Kelly and Dutch Reibel of Detroit Red Wings had finished 18 holes with a best-ball score of 62 and Ed Sandford and Warren Godfrey of Boston Bruins had also completed their round with 86.

Lach and Richard had posted 68 for 16 holes and Ted Kennedy and Bobby Thomson of Toronto Maple Leafs 70. Then they fled as if the ice had suddenly been flooded beneath their skates.

They arrived at the clubhouse and reported they had played for a pow-wow over what was freely called "overtime" and "playoff." It was agreed that Lach and Kennedy would play the 17th and 18th holes for the thrill.

respective clubs.

SOS FROM SNEAD

The rain played hob with practice rounds. Sam Snead, with his eye on the $6,000 top money this week and a fishing trip to New Brunswick next week, sent out an SOS from a small tent at the 10th tee.

The word came via an army telephone line strung about the course for the tournament. A jeep rescued marooned Sammy.

The draw for the first round, with 179 names, has 41 more than the number who started last year in Montreal.

Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., who won about $900 in the last two tournaments on the trail, at Kansas City and Fort Wayne, Ind.—was playing with a new driver and lots of confidence until he was chased by the rain. Kesselring bought the driver a couple of weeks ago and had been "flitting them better."

Ottawa Club May Be Sold To Tampa Men

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A representative of a Florida group seeking an International League franchise for the Tampa area said Tuesday night that Roy Mack of Philadelphia Athletics expressed interest in the Florida offer to buy the Ottawa club.

Phil O'Hara, a former Philadelphia public relations man and now a resident of Tampa, said Mack told him his "hands are tied at the moment" but that he would be glad to talk to him after "Sept. 15 when we know what is going to happen to the big club."

Roy, his brother, Earle, and their father, 91-year-old Connie, Sr., are currently considering several offers for the American League Athletics franchise.

O'Hara said Roy apparently was referring to the possible sale of Ottawa along with the proposed deal should the Athletics' franchise eventually pass out of the Mack hands.

He said he had offered to "let the Mack family" operate the Ottawa club if they agree to sell to the Florida interests.

Hole-in-One Comes Too Early To Gain Prize

TORONTO (CP)—Pete Cooper, veteran golf pro from Tampa, Fla., got an early in firing the second hole-in-one of his golfing career. As a result he missed out on $500.

Cooper, entered in the $26,500 Open, used his pitching wedge Tuesday to card his ace on the Scarboro Club's 100-yard 19th hole. After he landed about three feet past the pin, but its backspin rolled it back into the cup. Cooper had shot the hole-in-one today, Thursday, Friday or Saturday, it would have been worth $500 to him. With exhibition matches out of the way, the first of the four 18-hole rounds of medal play begins today.

After each day's round all competitors get one shot for the hole-in-one at the 19th hole. Pro-rated dropping the ball in the cup on one swing gets $500.

The 36-year-old Cooper just laughed when a spectator jokingly said his shot was worth $500. "Starting tomorrow," he said.

UBC Thunderbirds Want East-West College Playoff

By EROS FASUTTI
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—University of British Columbia Thunderbirds hope to make Canadian football history this fall by staging an east-west college playoff.

The Thunderbirds, only Canadian member of the seven-team American Evergreen conference, have opened negotiations to hold the final at Vancouver's 25,000-seat Empire Stadium either Nov. 20 or 27. The game would be the college version of the Grey Cup classic of professional football.

UBC would automatically qualify as the west's representative, since the school is the only western university playing organized football. Its opponent would be the winner of the western intercollegiate league comprising University of Western Ontario, University of Toronto, McGill and Queen's.

A BIG BOOST

Head coach Don Coryell of the Thunderbirds believes only the playoff would give Canadian college football a "big boost." He is confident that an annual playoff would ultimately lead to the formation of a western intercollegiate league.

UBC last year met McGill at Montreal Stadium in an exhibition in aid of the Canadian Paraplegic Association.

Playing a cross-brand of American and Canadian football, which allowed the Thunderbirds more blocking, the Thunderbirds were defeated 22-6. The two teams play again in Montreal Oct. 9.

Coryell, who starred at halfback for four years at the University of Washington, isn't predicting his team's chances of finishing first in the Evergreen conference this season, being content instead to concentrate on two-or three-year building program.

The sore point of last year's team, says the 29-year-old mentor, is defence, a weakness which caused the Thunderbirds to lose all six of their conference games.

GOOD PASS ATTACK

Offensively, the club held its own on total yardage and even led the league in pass completions, 78 passing gains and completions.

With exactly half of last year's 32 players returning, the Thunderbirds fourth season of conference play have two 2 graduates from the Lutheran College of Tacoma, Wash.

Coryell is confident of having a good defensive club this season.

One of the reasons is Gary Williams, a 185-pound 20-year halfback who played intermediate football in Hamilton last season. In Winnipeg Blue Bombers' camp as a replacement for Jack Hutchinson, now playing for the Ex-Stars in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Charles Williams, the nucleus of UBC's building program consists of captain Bob Ford, who became the first Thunderbird to make all-conference last year, and quarterback Gerry Stewart, third-year medical student who won the team's inspirational award in 1953.

Argos Get Ponton

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four announced today night they have made a deal with Ottawa Rough Riders whereby they get halfback Alex Ponton in exchange for the playing rights to quarterback Carl Crain next year.

The switch gives Argos just what they need to fill their punting gap left by Bob Cook when he retired last year. Steve Karrys took over for Cook but didn't rejoin Argos this season.

Last of Five Former Champs Is Ousted

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

DETROIT (AP)—Top flight golfers, just like the fans, like to talk about the long hitters and there's one player here for the U.S. amateur golf championship who already has been the subject of innumerable locker room debates.

He's Dave Smith, a hulking North Carolina automobile dealer who remained in the tournament for today's third round by grace of luck, long drives and a miserable round by two-time former champion Willie Turnesa.

Smith ousted Turnesa, the last of five former champions in the tournament, by a 4 and 3 margin to go into today's double round of 18-hole matches.

HE BELTS 'EM

When Smith, a six foot, 4¼ inch, 235-pounder, stepped up to the tee on 365-yard first—he is his opening match and belted a drive that stopped only seven yards short of the green, pro Al Watrous cracked:

"If he plays like that he's going to have to move out of North Carolina. There won't be room enough in the state for him to practice."

Spraying his shots all over the Country Club of Detroit course and winning only because Turnesa, a fine match player himself three putted just as badly, Dave just didn't seem to give a hoot.

He was deciding 15th hole, he wandered down an aisle roped out for galleries and wisecracked:

"I've been out here in the rough so often I can't get acquainted with any other there's where it's Green." Then he went up to the green looked at his ball where it nestled 30 feet from the cup and found a four-leaf clover behind it. He sank the putt to end the match and put the lucky clover in his pocket.

Pollard to Play With B.C. Lions

VANCOUVER (CP)—Al Pollard, former U.S. Army and Philadelphia Eagles star, said Tuesday night he has signed for the 1954 season with the Lions when they take on Winnipeg Blue Bombers in a Western Interprovincial Football Union game here Saturday.

He declined to elaborate and coach Annis Stukus said only "no comment."

Lions' president Don Mackenzie said Pollard had admitted to him that he had signed a contract with Eagles in 1953 but, after a dispute with Eagles management, "he thought it had been destroyed." Now the Eagles are threatening legal action to prevent Pollard playing in Canada.

Worth Remembering

We think of parachute-jumping as a modern innovation. It's a fact that back in 1797 a Frenchman jumped successfully from 2,500 feet in a parachute with basket attached. An interesting fact well worth remembering!

Wagoner Likely To Join Lions In Vancouver

OTTAWA (CP)—John Wagoner, released from the Ottawa Rough Riders Tuesday after six years as workhorse of the team's front line, said he hopes to stay in Canadian football this season with the British Columbia Lions.

The 31-year-old farmer from Gibsonville, N.C., said he has been given to understand the Vancouver club is interested in obtaining a Canadian-American player — one who is no longer considered an import.

He added, however, that he hasn't approach the west coast club himself. The three-day period in which other Big Four clubs can pick him on waiver.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Ezzard Charles has never felt at ease in the company of boxing writers. While trying to interview the big Negro fighter you always have the feeling he is holding himself rigidly in check, saying as little as he can without actually offending those who were trying to bring his thoughts.

This is understandable to some extent, for Ezzard has been given some rough goings-over on the sports pages from time to time for his failure to fight up to expectations.

It is from one of these that we have received a report on what the challenger is thinking as he trains for his second shot at Rocky Marciano Sept. 15 in Yankee Stadium. This is what Ez said in his friend:

"I feel great, better than the last time. You've either got it or you haven't. I had it the last time but I didn't use enough of it. I didn't take advantage of my breaks. When I hurt him I let him get away. It will be different this time.

CONFIDENT OF KNOCKOUT

"I've made up my mind it won't go 15 rounds. I've never made predictions or boasted about what I could do in the ring, as you know. I was confident I could beat him the last time, and now I'm more confident I can knock him out.

"Always before there was too much time. Time back, but it can kill, too. When Joe Walcott took my title away in Pittsburgh in 1951 I wanted to get right back at him, but Joe made me wait almost a year. Have you ever waited for something, not knowing whether it's ever coming off? With Joe there was no telling. Anyway, I waited and worried too much, and by the time I thought him again I was like an amateur. I had no zing, no pep.

"Now I had to wait some more. More time to waste, more time to kill. You keep fighting but you don't know where you're going. I wanted that title back. I would have fought for nothing to get it. But I had to wait through the Walcott-Marciano fights, and when Roland LaStarza got the next chance I was disgusted. I wanted to quit, but my managers wouldn't let me.

ONE OR THE OTHER

"Finally I got my fight with Marciano. It was one of the best, and even if they gave him the decision I have no excuses. I still think I won it. But if I had fought him in February or March instead of June I would have knocked him out. . . .

"I'm working for only one king or fight. I'll either knock him out or get flattened trying. I know now I can match my punch with his. My left hook is as good as his. I will set him up with a left hook and he's an easy target for a straight right.

"You only make mistakes when you're too cautious. I have no more time for caution. This is my last chance and I know it."

AT THE BELLE—Left, Donna Corcoran and her pet colt provide excitement and heart-warming humor in "Gypsy Colt," story of a horse and his heroic devotion to his young mistress. Ward Bond and Frances Dee are also featured in the exciting color story. Cornel Wilde and young screen discovery Mary Murphy in a romance with the top stars of show business "Main Street to Broadway", double treat starting today at the Belle Theatre.

AT THE CAPITOL — A tense moment from Republic's thrilling drama "Johnny Guitar" shows star Joan Crawford fighting a losing battle. The Trucolor production opens on Thursday at the Capitol Theatre for its first Belleville showing. On the same program the army comedy "Hayfoot" starring William Tracy and Joe Sawyer.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Experts have enjoyed poking fun at mama and papa bidding. This is a brazen admission of their own inaccurate count. Because a pair is guessing at some contracts without mama-papa bidding.

They call it mama-papa bidding when a pair goes one spade, two spades, three spades, four spades. According to the scoffers, this mamby-pamby reach in the game is a boon for the comic strips.

Instead of being funny it is a serious way of showing exactly what tricks are in each hand. By other methods too many goals are uncertainly determined by guess and by gosh.

Some hands do not lend themselves to immediate jumps that show all the tricks in one bid, or all the additional tricks in a second bid. And that goes for both opener and partner.

There was this tournament deal:

NORTH
♠5 5 4 3
♥9 7 4
♦A Q 5
♣K 8

WEST
♠K
♥5 2
♦J 10 9 6
♣10 6 5 4 3

EAST
♠Q 8 2
♥A 8
♦K 8 3 2
♣J 9 2

SOUTH
♠A J 10 6 3
♥K Q 10 6 3
♦7 4
♣A Q 7

South	North
1 Heart	2 Hearts
3 Hearts	4 Hearts

An opener shows five tricks. A single raise by responder shows three tricks. Each raise by either shows another trick. Thus does south show his six and north his four to reveal their hands.

Of course, others could reach the same goal by a vulgar display of virile bidding. And such wrong methods might reach the same end. But only because the right method puts it there too.

North would be wrong if his first response was three hearts. This would be a jump that signals enough for game without anything more in south. Only a chump would assume south always has more.

All the tables except one made the four heart contract. Be an opponent and tell the way one table defeated it.

General Manager Of Reds Denies Toronto Story

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto syndicate has been negotiating for the Cincinnati Reds' baseball franchise "for some time," Vince Reid, chairman of the civic stadium committee, said Tuesday.

"If a major league-size stadium is available, this group of Toronto businessmen can have the franchise within hours," he told the harbor commission, owners of Maple Leaf Stadium.

Jack Kent Cooke, owner of the International League Maple Leafs and of which Reid is a director, denied any knowledge of negotiations with the National League team.

Gabe Paul, general manager of the Reds, in a telephone interview from Cincinnati, denied that any negotiations were taking place.

"Someone's been smoking marijuana," he said.

AT THE McCARTHY THEATRE

Seven Hollywood Studios Vied For Handsome Gregory Peck

Seven cities claimed Homer, and seven major studios claimed Gregory Peck. This would seem to make the ancient Greek poet and the contemporary American actor all even. Actually, though, on closer examination you've got to give Peck a little bit of an edge in overall desirability. The seven cities waited until Homer was famous before quarreling over him: the seven studios vied for Peck's services before he had "even made a single movie."

These days, Greg Peck is a freelance, but the conditions of his desirability have not changed. Everybody still wants him. However, he chooses his own pictures, and is under contract to no single studio. His latest choice, incidentally, is "Man with a Million," opening on Thursday at the McCarthy Theatre through United Artists release.

Exactly ten years ago, Gregory Peck had appeared with some minor distinction in a number of Broadway plays. Hollywood, numb to his existence up to that point, decided suddenly that it must have him, and the panic was on. Warners, Twentieth Century-Fox, Paramount, RKO, David O. Selznick and M.G.M. all put in fervid bids for his services.

When all the tumult and the shouting had died down, Greg was split up into segments like a pie. A piece of him belonged to each of four different studios, and he was committed to making fourteen pictures. Nobody was disappointed inside of one year and two pictures, he was the biggest thing in pictures, and he's remained pretty much that ever since.

The object of all this attention was born in La Jola, California. After completing his education at the University of California, he headed East for New York and a crack at Broadway.

His Broadway debut was in "Morning Star," in 1942, and was followed by such plays as "The Willow and I," and "Sons and Soldiers."

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY, AUG. 26, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — The influences hold a restraining hand over needless moves; warn against carelessness, especially in finance; caution 3-p.m. conditions grow better, particularly for personal affairs, romance.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Not entirely encouraging for investments, business expansion unless previously planned — and even then be sure you are right. Risky schemes taboo. Take time out for family, children's interests.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — A fairly lucrative period for new propositions, merchandising of commodoties, for matters pertaining to travel, visiting; also handling groups of people on vacation. Be consistent, upright.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Take all propositions under advisement; study thoroughly before acting. Cashiers, brokers, lawyers, you handling securities, be careful. Transactions involving money should be thoroughly understood.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — There are tendencies now toward irritability, a reluctance to cooperate. Listen to sound advice. Give others' kind suggestions consideration, attention; they may lead to valuable leads. Haste makes waste.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — You can, by taking things calmly, concentrate on important issues, and manage any undertaking within reason. Be alert, not overly conservative, and you can unlikely turn in a good record.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra) — An active period, good for about effort in new propositions and routine activities. You will attain more by maintaining a steady, unhurried tempo, seasoned with common sense. Make the most of opportunities.

October 23 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Have plugging now but be ready to change methods, plans at short notice. You may find some unfriendly situations during the a.m. but don't let outside pressures disturb you.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—A resolute attitude will carry you through this somewhat uncertain day. There may be confusing conditions between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. Remain calm, alert, use common sense. Not an unfavorable day.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Ignore rumors, nonsense and squabbles — and you'll have more time for the better things of life. Never trouble trouble and it won't trouble you. Be happy.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—A progressive day for you who will do a little extra thinking and go out of your way to be appreciative, interested in others' problems. Be selective in all matters, keep standards high.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Give thanks for your good fortune, health, happiness, freedom. Spread good will; you'll receive reward. Heart interests favored.

YOU BORN TODAY are Virgoans ruled by Mercury. You have exceptional talents and fine characteristics; can win success and recognition. You are loyal, faithful to a trust and to family; devoted to high ideals, principles; you are courageous in the cause of right and will always sacrifice for your loved ones. You excel at writing. In music, acting, public speaking; also have mechanical skill. You may be too exacting at times, also too conservative. Birthdate of Sir Robt. Walpole, Eng. statesman.

Boys and Girls Same Everywhere Says Traveller

MONTREAL (CP) — A 16-year-old Canadian girl returned home Tuesday from a seven-week tour of Europe with the conviction that "boys and girls are the same everywhere."

Bryna Gordon of Montreal was one of five girls who represented the Canadian Junior Red Cross at a 10-day International Red Cross study convention at Flamslatt, Sweden.

Later she visited Norway, Denmark, France, Switzerland and Britain.

Some 130 Junior Red Cross delegates from 31 countries attended the camp meeting.

"The Canadian team held a handicraft display of Indian beads, weaving," said Bryna. "In addition we learned a lot of European folk dances and showed the other kids how to do the square dance."

Bryna, who plans to take up occupational therapy at McGill University following high school, leaves Montreal again Friday for Toronto where she will attend a Junior Red Cross tea for Princess Alexandra, now touring Eastern Canada with her mother the Duchess of Kent.

COUNT STORMS' COST

PARIS (Reuters)—Western Europe today counted up the cost of a week-end deluge which wrote a disastrous ellipse to one of the rainiest summers in years. The freak storms Saturday and Sunday hit hardest in Switzerland, southern France and northern Italy, killing at least three persons and leaving a trail of floods, landslides and ruined crops.

Soviet Union To Field Team Of 74 Men, Women

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—Russia unveils today the results of two years of dedicated, almost military-like drive, to rival the United States as the dominating world power in the 1956 Olympic track and field.

The scene is Tony Neufeld Stadium, site of the European athletic championships to which 928 track and field stars from 28 countries have been drawn.

The five-day games open at 10:30 a.m. EDT with a ceremony reminiscent of the Olympic contests.

The Soviet Union will field a team of 74 men and women. The men appear almost certain of three championships. The women may run off with every title and should place one, two, three in many.

POLITICAL TINGE

Track and field may be a mere pleasant pastime to some Westerners but to Russia athletics have a political tinge and totalitarianism the capitalist world has its place in the cinder track as well as in the tractor factory."

These European championships could turn into an Iron Curtain triumph in sports.

Czechoslovakia is bringing a squad headed by the great Emil Zatopek, world record holder at 5,000 and 10,000 metres as well as a host of other distances.

The Hungarians started an excellent chance of winning the hammer with Olympic champion Gyula Csermark, the discus with Ferenc Kilc and the broad jump with Odon Foldessy. Their 1,500-metre man, Sandor Rharos, could upset Britain's four-minute miler, Roger Bannister.

SPORT IN BRIEF

ANTONELLI LEADS

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Giants, well-represented among the National League earned-run pitchers during the last five seasons, are likely to produce another one this year in Johnny Antonelli, experts predict.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press disclose that the 24-year-old southpaw tops the National league in earned-run effectiveness with a 2.41 average. If he maintains his supremacy, he will become the fourth Giant pitcher since 1949 to capture ERA honors; posting an 18-3 won-lost record he has allowed 54 earned runs in 202 innings.

15,000 Inco Employees Offered Wage Hike by Board

TORONTO (CP) — An Ontario government conciliation board today recommended increases of from 2½ cents to three cents an hour for more than 15,000 employees of International Nickel Company of Canada, plants at Sudbury and Port Colborne, Ont.

The report, released here by provincial labor minister Dana Porter, recommended that the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' union accept other benefits offered by the company during negotiations for a new contract.

The three-man board was under the chairmanship of W. J. Roach, C. R. Bigelow represented the company and K. C. Woodsworth represented the union. The report was signed by all three.

The union negotiated with the company for a new contract on behalf of 14,000 hourly-rated employees at Sudbury and some 1,500 more at Port Colborne.

During the negotiations the company offered a two-cent-an-hour across the board increase in addition to shift premiums, four weeks' vacation with pay for men with 25 years' service and agreed that company absorb one-half of the cost of Blue Cross medical service at Sudbury and two-thirds of the cost of Blue Cross service at Port Colborne.

In addition the company offered an increase of two cents an hour to employees previously classified as junior stope bosses and an increase to $1.96 an hour from $1.81 an hour for pillar leaders.

The board recommended that the union accept all the benefits offered by the company except the two-cent-across-the-board general wage increase.

In the matter of wages it recommended that the present hourly wage rates be increased for the period June 1 to Nov. 1 of this year by 2½ cents an hour and that for the period from Nov. 1 to May 31 next year the increase be three cents an hour across the board.

Game Preserve Planned in Marsh

BRANTFORD (CP) — A Crown game preserve of 3,500 acres will be established on a part of the Luther Marsh, well-known haunt of duck hunters in the upper Grand River Valley, E. F. Robinson, secretary of the Grand River Conservation Commission, said Monday.

The preserve will be in the northern part of the townships of East and West Luther, including the dam at Luther Marsh and extending north to the hamlet of Monticello.

Remainder of the lake area will be open to the public, subject to department of lands and forests regulations.

A CLEANUP

DETROIT (AP) — Workmen cleaned out a wishing well at the Detroit Institute of Arts Monday and found $1,200.07 in small change. The well was placed in the lobby several years ago when institute officials sought to discourage visitors from tossing pennies in a fountain exhibit. The money will be used to purchase new exhibits for the museum.

ROUGH RIDES

Although present tires antedated automobiles, solid rubber was used at first on wheels.

Weed of the Week

Bedstraw, Once Ornamental, Now Farm Land Pest

Once imported as an ornamental or garden plant, Bedstraw (Rubiaceae) is now rated as a very persistent killer of desirable plant life, reports the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. With over 1250 genus and 5,000 species Bedstraw has become an often encountered weed in many parts of Ontario.

According to the officials of the Crops Branch the "Northern" species is by far the most common with White Bedstraw following closely on its heels. Originally a tropical part only a few species have, fortunately, become established in Ontario. It is usually found on roadsides and in pasture areas.

The Northern Bedstraw is a woody plant, a native perennial, with square stems, linear, lance-shaped leaves, in whorls of four. This plant has compact panicles of small bright white flowers. The small seeds, greyish in color are covered with fine hairs. It is very persistent and will take over, killing out other weeds and all vegetation.

It will not stand good cultivation but will appear in hay fields after the second year, forcing farmers to plow up and conduct a short rotation. When found in hay the cattle show a dislike for it as fodder. For small patches, a soil sterilant is recommended but the repeated use of 2-4-D has cleaned our roadsides of this persistent plant. Look for a more permanent plan to destroy it before it spreads or becomes established.

2 Peterborough Barns Destroyed

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Two violent electrical storms which struck about seven hours apart today left two barns destroyed by lightning.

Shortly after midnight, a large barn, the season's crop of grain, an expensive registered bull and two calves, owned by William Crowley, about eight miles south-east of Peterborough, were burned. Loss was set at some $10,000.

Later lightning struck a huge L-shaped barn, belonging to William Wilson, Dartford, about 20 miles southeast of Peterborough, levelling it and an attached hen-house and consuming more than 2,000 bales of hay.

Neighbors, directed by the hired man, removed 20 head of cattle and a tractor from the barn, but 28 pigs, a milking machine and cream separator were destroyed. Mr. Wilson was away at the time.

Crossings Take Heavy Toll

OTTAWA (CP)—One out of every two persons killed in a railway accident in 1952 died at a highway crossing.

The bureau of statistics reported today that 133 out of the 185 deaths last year occurred at unprotected crossings.

At the end of 1952, 71.1 per cent of urban crossings and 93.5 per cent of rural crossings in Canada were unprotected.

There were 375 fatalities in 1952, up from 362 in 1951.

Flash Bulb Explodes But Duchess Not Hurt

QUEBEC (CP) — A photographer's flash bulb exploded about 15 feet away from the Duchess of Kent Monday but none of the flying glass touched her.

The duchess had just finished inspecting a guard of honor at the Quebec Veterans' Hospital and was mounting the steps of the hospital when a loud bang rent the air.

Startled, the duchess rubbed one side of her face but immediately recovered her poise to begin her visit of patients.

Woman's Visits To Valentino's Crypt Cease

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The woman in black appeared dressed in white at the crypt of Rudolph Valentino and said she will cease the annual visits she has been making since 1926.

Ditra Flame was present Monday as memorial services were held for Valentino at Hollywood cemetery chapel.

"This is my last visit to the shrine," she said, adding that a promise made to a friend 28 years ago had been fulfilled.

Each year Miss Flame, dressed in black, would appear at the memorial services, place red roses in two vases and help conduct the services for the Latin lover of silent movie days.

U.C. Will Ask Higher Pensions

TORONTO (CP) — Commissioners will be asked to approve recommendations dealing with increased pension benefits for ministers and their dependents at the general council of the United Church of Canada meeting in Sackville, N.B., Sept. 15 to 24.

Church spokesmen here said today a new pension plan will be considered with benefits based on 1¼ per cent of minister's assessable salary in any calendar year. Present and future ministers would be eligible for benefits.

Mother Tossed Six-Weeks-Old Girl Into Lake

BRAINERD, Minn. (AP) — A distraught mother told police she reported her six-weeks-old daughter missing, early today said she threw the child into a lake near the family's home.

Sheriff Roy Wicklund said Mrs. Archie Sanders could give no reason for tossing tiny Janet Ruth, apparently alive, into Pelican lake. She first reported that she and two older daughters awoke from an afternoon nap Wednesday to find the baby missing from her crib.

Wicklund said the mother still was in semi-hysterical condition. Officers questioned her but failed to get a rural crossroads store, where she had gone after reporting the child missing.

Sanders, a carpenter, said he could see nothing in his wife's action. He was absent at work when she reported the child's disappearance and the excitement came about nine hours later.

Witnesses Ruled Not a Religion By Quebec Court

ROUYN, Que. (CP) — Mr. Justice Eugene Marquis of the Quebec Superior Court, Wednesday ruled that the belief shared by Jehovah's Witnesses cannot be considered a "religion or a religious denomination."

The judgment, delivered three months after what was considered a "test case" was heard, ends a three-year struggle between Jehovah's Witness follower Paul Emile Boucher and the Roman Protestant school board.

Mr. Perron claimed the board had refused to admit his three minor children to the school and asked $1,000 damages. The court, in dismissing the case, ruled it was "ill-founded." The plaintiff will pay costs.

Mr. Justice Marquis said the plaintiff "is a member of a sect known as Jehovah's Witnesses, whose object is to differentiate from Catholicism, Protestantism and Judaism and opposed to all other religions and it cannot be considered as a Protestant religion."

In presenting Mr. Perron's case, W. Glen Howe, a Toronto lawyer and himself a Jehovah's Witness, said that Protestants "are in a broad sense opposed to Christianity with the Roman Catholics." He emphasized that Jehovah's Witnesses were "definitely Christians."

Born and baptized a Roman Catholic, Mr. Perron renounced that faith in 1950. Difficulties arose when he tried to enter his children into the Rouyn Protestant school in September, 1952. The board refused them entry and the same was the case after he had served the Roman Catholic commission with a notice of dissent in September, 1953. The trustees claimed the notice did not state clearly that the Jehovah's Witness belonged to any religion.

$100,000 Fire At Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Fire Wednesday caused an estimated $100,000 damage at a Steinberg's Limited store in downtown Montreal before being brought under control.

About 40 employes and shoppers in the store when the blaze started fled out without panic according after the alarm was sounded.

Fire officials said the entire food stock in the store was lost. Manager H. K. Pepper said about $10,000 in cash was destroyed.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP)—Synopsis: Cold air now covers all of Ontario and temperatures this morning show a marked drop from Wednesday morning. A number of points across northern sections of the province had frost early today and it was the coldest spot at 27. This cold dry air mass will control the weather over Ontario today and Friday.

DUCHESS OF KENT, DAUGHTER NOW ON WAY TO TORONTO

Few Montrealers Saw Royal Party

MONTREAL (CP)—The Duchess of Kent and Princess Alexandra left by train for Toronto at 10:15 EDT this morning after spending the night in Montreal.

But few Montrealers saw the royal party. They stayed on board their special car, which was run on to a siding at Central station long-street level.

Special precautions were taken to prevent the royal visitors from both had a peaceful sleep. Even before the long blue coach eased to the platform, police stepped on the massive 30-storey Canadian National hotel, which would be built atop the site.

RCMP and CNR police patrolled the platform where the royal coach was parked and plain-clothesmen circulated through the busy station, ready to turn away the curious.

No one was permitted on the platform.

LEAVE FOR TORONTO

Their three-coach section, including the governor-general's private car, was coupled by the the duchess and her 11-year-old daughter, was to be hitched on to the Toronto train at 10:15 a.m. EDT.

In Toronto they will be met by Lieutenant-Governor Breithaupt of Ontario, Premier Frost and premier-designate Saunders and general manager Hiram McCallum of the Canadian National Exhibition. They are due to arrive at 6:25 p.m. EDT.

Friday they open the exhibition.

Most of the royal party, including maids and equerries, stayed aboard the train.

Here a spokesman for the party said:

"We arrived in Montreal so late, and are leaving so early in the morning, it would only have caused confusion if everyone had moved to a hotel.

"PASS THROUGH QUIETLY"

Outside the station a crowd began back to Montreal for an official visit Sept. 8, and preferred to pass through quietly on the way.

The quiet arrival of the royal party was in sharp contrast to their departure from Quebec when 1000 persons including the governor-general himself, premier Duplessis and other officials gave a good-bye.

The duchess and princess Wednesday quietly commemorating the 12th anniversary of her husband's death in an air crash, stood on the rear platform to bid Quebec farewell.

Two Will Seek Premier's Post in Nova Scotia

HALIFAX (CP)—Premier Harold Connolly and Attorney-General Malcolm Patterson said Wednesday night they will be candidates in the Nova Scotia provincial election at a Liberal convention here Sept. 10.

Mr. Connolly, who assumed the premiership as "temporary chairman" after the death of Premier Angus L. Macdonald, had hitherto not committed himself to say that he wasn't dealing himself "in or out."

SCHOOL SAVED

NORTH BAY (CP) — Firemen fought a stubborn blaze in the coal storage basement of a public school here Wednesday while scores of children looked on. Many long faces were seen when firemen confined damage to the basement.

21 Taken Ill On Plane Trip

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Twenty-one persons, including 19 passengers recently on a Northwest Orient airliner, were taken suddenly ill on a flight from Manila and were removed from a Northwest Orient Airlines plane here Wednesday night.

The airliner left the plane left for Seattle with remaining passengers but returned here because some crewmen were ill.

A hospital attendant said preliminary diagnosis indicated food poisoning.

British Admiralty States Russia Making Herself Sea Power Again

LONDON (CP)—Russia is acquiring a navy capable of convincing the Russian people that they are a sea power again and able to deal with any naval opposition that may be offered an admiralty report said Wednesday night.

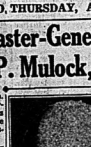
A massive construction campaign probably will boost Russian naval strength to 500 submarines and 4,000 planes within two or three years, the admiralty added.

Armament of the first-growing fleet probably will include latest atomic weapons, offensive and defensive guided missiles, greatly-improved long range torpedoes and mines with complete anti-sweeping devices, the admiralty appraisal said.

The report estimated that Russia will spend $12,000,000,000 rubles since 1945 on building up its navy and that this is about half of Russia's total defence expenditure is probably still earmarked for "undiminished" naval expansion.

It predicted that total Russian naval strength by 1957 would comprise 30 cruiser, 150 destroyers, 500 motor torpedo boats, 1,000 mine sweepers, 300 escort vessels and numerous patrol and landing craft, in addition to the 500 submarines and 4,000 planes.

Former Postmaster-General, Hon. William P. Mulock, Dies



HON WILLIAM P. MULOCK

NEWMARKET, Ont. (CP)—Hon. William Pate Mulock, postmaster-general of Canada for six years and 57-year-old grandson of the late Sir William Mulock, died Wednesday.

Mr. Mulock, in ill health for several years, died after a heart attack at his farm home near this town 30 miles north of Toronto.

He retired from politics in 1945 when he suffered an attack of pneumonia. He had been postmaster-general since 1938 and a Liberal member of Parliament for York North since 1934.

While in charge of Canada's mails during the Second World War he directed mail-delivery service to Canadian troops at overseas bases overseas. His political career roughly paralleled that of his grandfather Sir William who was postmaster-general from 1896 to 1905.

He was educated at Toronto and called to the bar after graduating from Osgoode Hall there.

Col. Mulock served as lieutenant in the Canadian Expeditionary Force in Siberia during the First World War. He was also an honorary, lieutenant - colonel with the Irish Regiment of Toronto.

SERVED 5 TERMS

Col. Mulock took active interest in the problems of First World War veterans and for several years served as president of the Veterans' Association of York North.

He entered federal politics in 1930 when he was defeated in the general election by the Conservative candidate for York North. When the sitting member, T. Herbert Lennox died in 1934 Col. Mulock won the by-election with a record majority. He retained his seat in the 1935 and 1940 general elections.

When Col. Mulock entered Prime Minister Mackenzie King's cabinet as postmaster-general at the age of 38, he was the youngest cabinet minister at Ottawa.

On Dec. 23, 1915, he married Kathleen Eleanor, daughter of the late Hon. Frederick Dalton, County Court Judge, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. His widow and two sons, William Clarkson Mulock, of Ottawa, and Thomas Homan Mulock, of Newmarket, survive. Mrs Thomas Homan Mulock was formerly Joyce Morton, daughter of Mrs. Gerald A. Morton, of Belleville.

Stolen Trailer Recovered, Part of $98,500 Load Gone

TORONTO (CP) — A tractor-trailer was stolen with its load of $98,500 worth of cigarets at the Smith Transport Co. yards Wednesday but was found a few hours later at nearby Streetsville. Part of the load had been removed.

Police said four men are involved in the robbery.

Provincial police discovered the robbery when he left to start his run. Earlier he had driven at the company offices, taking the truck into the yard but leaving the trailer outside the gate.

Mrs. F. J. O'Connell of Streetsville, who heard a broadcast describing the stolen vehicle, called police to say she had seen a truck entering a local park.

Park superintendent Matyas Mulvihill told police two men showed him a pile of cartons in a group of trees and offered him $300. If he would say nothing.

Later, Mr. Mulvihill said, a truck and car arrived and the two men and the two others began loading the cartons. After the vehicles left Mr. Mulker said one of the men remained behind and followed him around all day, preventing him from calling police.

Police said the thieves took 196 of the 616 boxes in the truck. They said the loot may be worth around $28,000.

Vietminh Free Few Captives As Agreed Deadline Arrives

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) —The deadline for exchanging all war prisoners in North Viet Nam arrived today with only a small fraction of French Union troops freed by the Communist-led Vietminh.

Reliable informants said the French, in a memorandum to the international armistice commission, blamed the Vietminh for the unhurried pace of the exchange delay but indicated willingness to extend the deadline.

The French said Wednesday they had released 16,974 prisoners. Earlier unofficial estimates said they had held about 20,000 in the north.

The French said the Vietminh had released only 2,570 French Union prisoners before the exchange started the defence ministry in Paris estimated the Vietminh held a total of 28,000 prisoners.

Among those still to be released is Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, commander of the French garrison at Dien Bien Phu.

Polio Kills Girl Visiting Canada On Fishing Trip

OIL CITY, Pa. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Price of Oil City were stricken Wednesday with the death of their daughter, Linda Jean, 9, who had accompanied her grandparents on a fishing trip to Canada.

Their seven-year-old son Charles, had just contracted polio. A relative called the distraught couple and told them Linda Jean was dead. She had been suddenly stricken with the disease shortly after arriving in Barrie, Ont.

Charles was taken to hospital for spinal treatment. He is reported in serious condition.

Untouchables' Leader Assails Nehru's Policies

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The leader of India's 60,000,000 untouchables criticized Premier Nehru in Parliament today for his insistence that co-existence with the Communists is necessary and for his "hostility" toward the United States.

B. R. Ambedkar, Nehru's minister of law until he broke with the prime minister a year ago, spoke up in a foreign policy debate which Nehru had launched with a call for the world to accept peaceful co-existence with the Reds as the "only alternative" to a world war.

This principle, said the leader of India's lowest caste, had been "adopted without much thought by the prime minister."

The former cabinet member said Nehru has a "certain hostility" toward the United States and shows "repugnance" at anything suggested by America. This, he asserted, is one reason Nehru is against the U. S. proposed Southeast Asia Treaty Organization pact, adding that the prime minister also has "certain reaction."

"The keynote of our foreign policy is to solve the problems of other countries, but not our own," Ambedkar said.

Supported by the debate Nehru found himself in the unusual role of defending the United States when he told Communist questioners he does not believe the American sending of war materials and arms to the Portuguese Indian settlements India wants to take over.

TRIPLE KOREAN JET ACE KILLED ON TEST FLIGHT

Plane Crashes on Desert Near Air Force Base

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Death on a routine test flight has ended the spectacular career of Capt. Joseph McConnell Jr., the United States leading jet ace.

The 32-year-old pilot, credited with downing 16 MiGs in Korea, was killed Wednesday when his F-86 Sabre jet crashed on the Mojave desert, 12 miles northeast of Rogers lake.

His body was found beside his ejection seat, half a mile from the shattered plane. Evidently was his unopened parachute. An air force spokesman said apparently he had ejected himself from the plane at low altitude.

Flight Capt. McConnell had radioed that he had lost control of the plane partially, but thought he could make a landing on the dry lake bed. Soon thereafter he reported he had lost the plane's canopy. He was advised to bail out. Edwards field officers said he probably stayed with the plane too long.

McConnell, who said his premature grey hair came from being the father of three young children, got not from his flying served as a bomber navigator during the Second World War, the later took flight training.

After the Korean battle out in Korea he, repeatedly requested combat duty despite being told he was too old. His request finally was granted and he became an ace in just 10 days last year.

NAMED AFTER WIFE

He named his sabre "Beauteous Butch," nickname for his wife, shot down his first MIG-15 Jan. 14, and his fifth Feb. 19.

After downed his eighth, his Sabre was hit by cannon fire at 40,000 feet near the Manchurian border. With the plane smoking and developing only half power, he glided toward friendly lines. Finally he bailed out over the Yellow Sea and was picked up from the frigid water.

Then on April 24 he racked up his 10th and 11th MiGs in the 14th and 15th.

Today's flight him the first triple jet ace. That afternoon he knocked down his 16th. The 17 and 18th he downed May 18 and ordered high home with the comment that he was "running out of ammunition" — than—dead." The plane he flew Wednesday was a modified version of the F-86F he used in Korea.

Just before he left Korea he was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross and Silver Star and decorated by Syngman Rhee, president of South Korea. When he arrived in the U. S. he was congratulated by President Eisenhower at the White House.

Buffalo Teen-Agers Stage Pitched Battle

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Police arrested 39 teen-agers early Wednesday night following a pitched battle between two neighborhood gangs that left 15 involved more than 60 youths.

Police said the gangs met near the intersection of Genesee street and Fillmore avenue, jamming late evening traffic.

A paring knife, home made brass knuckles and a hatchet were found at the scene, police said. Knives were used in the violence.

Authorities said the violence flared up when one of the gangs brought to end the invasion of its "territory" and the dating of its girl friends by the rival gang.

Calls Attlee's Pilgrimage to China 'Most Astonishing Since Marco Polo'

LONDON (Reuters)—The London Daily Express says today the visit of Clement Attlee and the British Labor party goodwill mission is the most astonishing pilgrimage to China" since Marco Polo.

"Not since Marco Polo came back from the court of Kublai Khan has there been a more astonishing visit to China than the Attlee mission," the independent newspaper comments in an editorial.

"Marco Polo dealt in wonders. The Socialists deal in blunders.

"No sooner had they set foot on [illegible] than Chou En-lai used the opportunity for a tirade against American protection of Formosa.

"There is no record that Polo ever answer back, not even from the correspondent of their own party's newspaper.

"The conduct of the Attlee pilgrims is the spectacle of surrender to the Anglo-American alliance and profoundly disturbs relations with the dominions."

The independent Times says it is "a most astonishing pilgrimage" who "will not have liked totalitarianism any more for having seen it in the raw."

"We have been told a number of things that their hosts in the communist countries have said to the Labor party delegation.

"We do not yet know what Mr. Attlee said to them. Nor do we yet know what he listened to or to his colleagues in the Labor party, for publication to the world when he gets back.

"Until then, we may well suspend judgment. . . ."

Destroyer Flotilla In Korean Waters Will Be Withdrawn

Canada Kept Three Ships In Korea Since July, '50

Stolen Watch Is Recovered From Squirrel

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) — A squirrel stole a boatworker's wrist watch and hid and refused it to the owner two days later.

Allen Langel left his watch on a woodpile while chopping wood a few days ago. When he finished the watch had disappeared.

"Two days later I was working on a cabin and noticed a chipy squirrel sitting 100 yards away on an old spruce stump. Curiosity got the best of me, my wrist watch," Alex swung an ax at the squirrel, which dropped the watch and scampered up a tree.

The watch was still running.

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada in all likelihood will begin withdrawal of its destroyer flotilla in Korea in the next few months, defence officials said today.

They were commenting on a Washington report that the U. S. navy is cutting down its Pacific fleet now that fighting has stopped in Indo-China as well as Korea. A U. S. battleship and four destroyers already have been withdrawn.

Canada has maintained three destroyers in Korea since July, 1950, soon after the outbreak of the Korean war.

Last week, it was announced that Canada will withdraw about two-thirds of its 6,000-man infantry brigade in Korea. Hundreds of soldiers are expected to be back home by Christmas.

Altogether, eight Canadian destroyers participated in the Korean war, some of them doing two or three one-year tours of duty.

The destroyers now are changing shift in Korea. The Huron and Athabaskan are due to relieve the Cayuga is remaining, for the present at least.

Defence officials said plans were in train for withdrawal of the Canadian destroyers once the U. S. started to cut down its naval forces in the Korean theatre.

It is not yet decided exactly when the withdrawal will start or how many destroyers will be brought home.

Canadian warships in Korea have spent nearly 700 days on patrol, convoy and bombardment assignments and fired more than 5,000 rounds of four-inch ammunition. Three men were killed when the Iroquois was hit by a Communist shore battery and three others were lost overboard.

Textile Workers Offer to Take Cut in Wages

MILLTOWN, N. B. (CP)—Textile workers here volunteered Wednesday night to take a cut in wages in a last-ditch effort to save their mill. The union executive of Nashwaaksis Textiles, Ltd., agreed to make "reasonable sacrifices" if the remaining 200 mill hands would be enabled the St. Croix mill to keep open.

It was learned also that the town council of Milltown is ready to help in any attempt to save the mill. The community's only industry is scheduled to shut down in about three weeks, and the working force is being pared steadily.

An authoritative source said the town will likely offer a tax-free concession to Textile Sales, Ltd., the mill's owner, with the provision that the company guarantee that the mill keep open for at least one year.

The town has been receiving about $50,000 annually in taxes from the plant.

HAMPER FIREMEN

SIMCOE, Ont. (CP) — Two district fire chiefs are tired of vehicles obstructing the path of a fire by throngs to fires. Fire chiefs Stan Secord of Windham township and Clare Trench of Waterford requested county police to take action against offending drivers in future.

Brazilian Police Crack Down On Communists

By ROMAN JIMENEZ

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Police cracked down on the outlawed Communist party today after 48 hours of riots and demonstrations touched off by the suicide of President Getulio Vargas.

Amid increasing evidence the Reds played a strong hand in sparking the riots, aimed in part against the United States, more than 100 Communists were under arrest. Some reported expelled—officially of burning a police car.

Copies of Imprensa Popular, the Communist newspaper, and its offices openly despite the ban on the party, were seized by police in Rio de Janeiro. The newspaper headlined its account of Wednesday's demonstrations: "Down with Americans," Rio residents shook indignantly at the words.

MINISTER WANTED

Joao Cafe Filho, the new president, has been unable so far to fill the ticklish job of finance minister. The politico-industrial government he inherited. He conferred with individual ministers and held a cabinet meeting.

After 71-year-old Vargas ended his life with a bullet through his old friend Oswaldo Aranha, former United Nations Assembly president and foreign minister, a cabinet minister along with the rest of the cabinet, resigned. He had been mentioned as a candidate in the 1955 presidential elections, had been ousted from the cabinet months to steer Brazil through a financial crisis. Inflation shortage caused mainly by declining coffee exports.

CONVICTED IN THEFT

KITCHENER (CP) — Leonard Shot, 20, of Brantford was convicted Wednesday of breaking and entering and theft. He was charged with stealing a safe containing about $700 from the Simpsons-Sears mail order office. He will be sentenced Sept. 1.

BATAS PREPARE FOR OAKVILLE GAME

The Belleville Batas will hold a practice session at the Exhibition Park tonight at 8.30 it was announced this morning. The Batas are faced with elimination in the W.O.B.L. playdowns if they drop one more game to Oakville but Vern Geyer hopes to have his boys at their peak for the Saturday evening tilt here.

MINOR DAMAGE TO OLD SHED

City firemen were called to the corner of Willard and Brock streets yesterday where an old shed was ablaze. Minor damage was caused to the shed before firemen were able to extinguish the blaze.

A second alarm answered by firemen was to Canniffton where a grass fire was burning in the vicinity of the bridge.

ENGINEER THANKS MOTORISTS, POLICE FOR CO-OPERATION

Appreciation of the city engineering department for the co-operation shown Wednesday afternoon by motorists who might have been temporarily delayed during oiling operations on Front street, was expressed today by City Engineer Charles Mott.

"Motorists gave us every co-operation" stated the city engineer, "and city police did a really efficient job in directing traffic during the time when oiling was in progress."

Mr. Mott noted that Pinnacle street from Bridge to Dundas would be resurfaced with oil and stone cost today.

PROPERTY DAMAGE CLOSE TO $600

Damage amounting to close to $600 resulted yesterday in a two car collision at the corner of Queen street and Foster Ave.

Orval C. May, 34 Dunbar street, was driving west on Foster Ave. when his car was in collision with a car eastbound on Queen driven by Doug H. Marshall, 86 Station street. Damage to the May car amounted to about $350 and to the Marshall car, $200.

Peaches Centre Buying Interest On Local Market

Brisk buying interest was centred on peaches on this morning's mid-week market. Only one dealer offering the fruit his supply being a heavy one selling at 75-85 cents a six-quart basket.

Corn prices varied with quality, ranging from 35 cents up to 50 cents, steady price since it first was offered, while tomatoes, in abundant supply, remained at 50 cents a basket, 25 cents a quart. Cucumbers sold steadily at $1.50 a basket for gherkins, 75 cents for dills and 50 cents for slicers. Marrows were 5-20 cents, while green peppers sold upwards from three for 10 cents. Beans were 15 cents a quart and cabbage 10-15 cents. Potatoes continued at 65 cents a basket while lettuce sold at two for 25 cents. Rubbard squash was 10-40 cents, and red plum 10-20 cents. Carrot and beets were 10 cents a bunch, three for 25 cents. Spring onions were five cents and Spanish 15 cents.

Large home boxes of green gages brought 30 cents, while a light offering of pears sold at 60 cents a basket. Some late raspberries lingering past their season sold promptly at 25 cents a basket, and celeopes were 15-35 cents and melons sold from 15-75 cents according to size. Pumpkins were 10-20 cents.

Gladioli continued to dominate the offering of blooms making $1 a dozen, 50 cents a bunch. Asters were 50 cents a bunch, while similar blooms bringing 25 cents.

Eggs were 32 cents for Grade A large.

Super-Charged Cars Feature Wednesday Races

Modified stock cars, supercharged sedans and the stock car skidway, souped it up at the Fairgrounds last night in a rough and exhibition bouts to highlight the sport's return to Belleville after a two-week vacation to make way for the annual Fair.

Larry Arnold of Napanee came up from a win in the second qualifying heat early in the evening to win the feature event from Tony Blake, second, and Goldie Goldfinch, third, both of Napanee.

Results: first qualifying heat, Tom Holland, Belleville, Clare Johnson, Belleville, Bud Wood, Kingston. Second heat, Larry Arnold, Napanee, Dusty Sandford, Belleville, Goldie Goldfinch, Kingston. Modifieds, first exhibition: Ernie Lindsay, Kingston, Bruce Swain, Kingston, Early Handley, Cherry Valley. First semi-final, Ted Broad, Belleville, Tony Blake, Kingston, Ernie Perrin, Belleville. Second semi-final, Bud Wood, Kingston, Tom Holland, Belleville, Goldie Goldfinch, Kingston. Second modified exhibition, Earl Handley, Cherry Valley, Bruce Swain, Kingston, Ernie Lindsay, Kingston. Feature bout, Larry Arnold, Napanee, Tony Blake, Kingston, Goldie Goldfinch, Kingston.

Black Memorial Trophy Won By Belleville Pair

Nine mixed doubles rinks from the Belleville Bowling Club went to Peterborough for the Black Memorial tournament on Wednesday afternoon and Miss Margaret Harbaton and W. B. "Skit" Vandervoort as skip came home with the trophy and first prize. To say that the winning pair are delighted with their success and the local bowling club about their victory would be putting it mildly. It was the first time the trophy has been brought to Belleville.

There were ninety-six rinks entered in the tournament, Black Memorial tournament on Wednesday afternoon and Miss Margaret Harbaton and W. B. "Skit" Vandervoort as skip came home with the trophy and first prize. To say that the winning pair are delighted with their success and the local bowling club about their victory would be putting it mildly. It was the first time the trophy has been brought to Belleville.

There were ninety-six rinks entered in the tournament, the players being drawn from every section of the Province and in the 1953 tournament the best of bowling must be displayed on practically every shot. Those who were in attendance from the local club stated the greens were in perfect condition the hospitality was superb and a most enjoyable day was spent in the Liftlock City.

Besides Miss Fairbairn and Mr. Vandervoort's win Gordon Watkin and his mother Mrs. George Watkin won three games while Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller won two games to get in the prize money and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith won in the one-game high class. Others to make the journey were Mrs. Charles A. Reid and J. W. Carlyle, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Vince, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Edwards Mr. and Mrs. Clare Gerald Fairbairn and his mother Mrs. Charles L. Hyde.

The winning rink scored a 23-10 win over McMillan of Toronto in the first game and in the second game took McInnis of Toronto into camp 19-6. The rink that gained the winners were down 7-3 at the tenth end but got a six-ender and went on to win 13-8. Bruce Miller and his wife lost a heartbreaker to Peacock of Peterborough in their third game. Bruce was up four shots going home but a bad end allowed his opposition to tie the game up and he lost in the extra end by a single shot. Jerry Hyde and his mother also had a tough one. After winning the first two games handily the third game went on the last end and the Belleville pair lost on the extra end.

Many Sports Model Cars Pass Through City

The casual observer must have thought that they were being besieged by sports car enthusiasts this morning as one racy looking model after another rolled along the highway route.

Actually one of the drivers did, in a brief stop at the city, was learned the cars were en route to Buffalo, N.Y. where they would take part in the International 1,000-mile tests, whatever that means.

Most of the sports models carried either New York or Pennsylvania licences and bore large numerals on the sides. Altogether four of the cars were scheduled to pass through the city, it was stated.

Cartage Assoc. Denies Charge By Sen. Davies

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Cartage Association Wednesday denied a charge made earlier this year by Senator W. Rupert Davies that a "comradeship" existed between police and truck drivers which unduly favored the truckers.

Association spokesman Clifford Howard told the Ontario legislature's select committee on highway safety that "if anything, we feel truckers are singled out for special treatment by the police."

Committee Chairman W. P. Nickle (PC — Kingston) said he agreed with the charge, made in a letter released by Senator Davies May 21.

"Do you question the integrity and sincerity of the senator?" asked Mr. Nickle.

"No, but public opinion has been inflamed by his charge and we don't know how or why the letter containing the charge was released," Mr. Howard replied.

Mr. Nickle said: "You have both had your say. We will give your remarks the same consideration as the senator's."

Police Court

Convicted on a charge of breaking and entering a Hillcrest Home, Roy Pringle, Shannonville, and Robt. Smart, no fixed address were given 18th terms by Magistrate T. Y. Wills in police court this morning. Pringle was sentenced to two months, and Smart to one month in the county jail.

Gordon Cooper, Hillcrest, was convicted of a charge of obstructing a police officer and was given suspended sentence.

Communism Is Denounced By Churches as 'False Hope'

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—A report denouncing communism and the road to the "totalitarian dictatorship" and making some criticism of democracies, too, awaited action by Christian leaders today.

The report was discussed by delegates to the assembly of the World Council of Churches Wednesday in afternoon and evening sessions.

The 51-page document concerns the main theme of the convention, "Christ—the hope of the world."

Some who joined the debate stated it didn't lay enough stress on the teachings of Christ.

Others contended it didn't place sufficient emphasis on the possibility of achieving justice, with Christ's aid, in this world.

And some figured it didn't go far enough in condemnation of communism as a "false hope."

HITS FALSE DOCTRINES

Archbishop Michael, of New York, head of the Greek Orthodox church in North and South America and one of the six new presidents of the council, asserted:

"False doctrines which are mentioned in the report, especially that of communism, threaten the whole of human existence. All of these do dominate life.

"It is this aspect of false hopes with which the church is primarily concerned."

The "main theme" report was placed before the assembly by a co-ordinating committee. Submitted with it was a statement from the co-ordinating group in the nature of a report on its work and its findings.

Delegate after delegate quibbled over a word or suggested a change in phraseology of the report on the statement.

VOTE LET OFF

The night session ended without a vote. No time was set for renewal of debate and a decision.

A 10-page section of the "main theme" report is devoted to forms of totalitarian gatepostulates and movements.

Under communism, it sets forth, "happiness, justice and love are no longer possible; and man in the class struggle is no longer truly man."

The report says democracy is founded upon "Christian tradition" and in its basic beliefs is a "child of centuries of Christian belief and Christian compassion."

Supreme Court Grants Increases To Some in Will

TORONTO (CP)—The Supreme Court of Ontario Wednesday granted a three-fold increase in the annual annuity payments to 11 grandnieces and grandnephews of the late William H. Wright, mining financier and founder of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

Annual payments to the descendants, all under the age of 25, were increased to $1,800 from $600.

Mr. Justice G. A. Gale said Mr. Wright "must have been in complete ignorance as to the cost of rearing a child to the standards which he undoubtedly had in mind for his beneficiaries; it is quite obvious that he miscalculated in some way."

The court rejected a motion for an increase in annuity payments to Mrs. Frances Eliza Hargreaves, 82, Mr. Wright's sister, and her three children because "their respective ages hardly reduce or perhaps eliminate their chances of greater participation in the estate."

Mr. Justice Gale said that "except in special circumstances and on rare occasions, the court will not attempt to rewrite a man's will or re-adjust a trust settlement."

Adenauer Drives Germany To Ruin Says Turncoat

German Reds Triumphantly Air West German's Views

Mother Tossed Six-Weeks-Old Girl Into Lake

BRAINERD, Minn. (AP) — A distraught mother who first reported her six-weeks-old daughter missing, early today said she threw the child into a lake near the family's home.

Sheriff Roy Wickland said Mrs. Archie Sanders could give no reason for tossing the infant Ruth, apparently alive, into Pelican lake. She first reported that she and two older daughters awoke from an afternoon nap Wednesday to find the baby missing from her crib.

Wickland said the mother told him in semi-hysterical condition. Her statement came at her father's rural crossroads store, where she had gone after reporting the child missing.

Sanders, a carpenter, said he could not explain his wife's action. He was absent at work when he reported the child's disappearance. Her statement came about nine hours later.

BERLIN (AP)—A West German Parliament deputy from Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party, who defected to the Communists a week ago, told an East Berlin press conference today he fears the Adenauer government "with American prodding" is driving Germany toward war and ruin.

The Communist eastern government triumphantly presented former parliament deputy Karl Schmidt-Wittmack at the international press conference in the Soviet sector today, just as they did former West German security chief Otto John on Aug. 11.

The 60-year-old Schmidt - Wittmack, who was deputy chairman of Adenauer's CDU party in Hamburg, crossed into the east just a week ago with his wife and daughter.

West German authorities have ruthlessly admitted that a member of key parliamentary committees on German rearmament and Western anti-Communist work in the East, he could betray many secrets to the Reds. Instead, he fled, he emptied his office files. Speaking for hours, several hundred foreign and German correspondents in the Soviet sector press headquarters, Schmidt - Wittmack echoed many of the anti-Adenauer and anti - American sentiments voiced two weeks ago by John in his public unveiling.

However, he also lauded the suavity and command with which John spoke. Schmidt - Wittmack raced through passages of his prepared speech as though in a hurry to get it through, mumbling inaudibly at times and slurring his words.

RIDICULES CHANCES

He said Western charges that he had been a trailor are "ridiculous" because his father is a leading German and to work for German unity.

He assailed what he called the Western goal of rearming Germans as the "greatest scandal. And he asserted these are the Allied-Adenauer plans:

1. West German rearmament will go ahead whether inside the European Defence Community or outside it.

2. The plans have already been drawn up for army, navy and air force by a committee headed by Gen. Adolf Heusinger, chief commander in chief of the North Atlantic pact forces in Europe. Gen. Adolf Heusinger, veteran German officer who is Adenauer's top military adviser.

3. The Gruenther-Heusinger committee has set 1957 as a target date to set in operation the new German military machine.

Attacking EDC, Schmidt - Wittmack said he had concluded that it would "inevitably be the instrument" for Germany's eventual destruction in a new war.

Witnesses Ruled Not a Religion By Quebec Court

ROUYN, Que. (CP)—Mr. Justice Eugene Marquis of the Quebec Superior Court, Wednesday ruled that the belief shared by Jehovah's Witnesses cannot be considered a "religion or a religious denomination."

The judgment, delivered three months after what was considered a "test case" was heard, ends a three-year fight between Jehovah's Witness follower Paul Emile Perron and the Roupn Protestant school board.

Mr. Perron claimed the board had refused to admit his three minor children to the school and asked $1,000 damages. The court in dismissing the case, ruled it was "ill-founded." The plaintiff will pay costs.

Mr. Justice Marquis said the plaintiff "is a member of a sect, known - as Jehovah's Witnesses, whose religious belief is quite different from Catholicism, Protestantism and Judaism and opposed to all other religions; it cannot be considered as a Protestant religion."

In presenting Mr. Perron's case, W. Glen Howe, a Toronto lawyer and himself a Jehovah's Witness, said that Protestants "are in a broad sense those who disagree with the Roman Catholics." He emphasized that Jehovah's Witnesses were "definitely Christians."

Born and baptized a Roman Catholic, Mr. Perron changed his faith in 1950. Difficulties arose when he failed to enter his children into the Roupn Protestant school in September, 1952. The board refused their entry and the case was the case after he had served the R.C. separate school with a notice of dissent in September, 1953. The Protestant claimed the notice did not state clearly that the Jehovah's Witness belonged to any religion.

$100,000 Fire At Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Fire Wednesday caused an estimated $100,000 damage at a Steinberg's Limited store in Montreal's Montreal Island.

About 85 customers and employees in the store when the blaze started fled out without panic seconds after the alarm was sounded.

Fire officials said the entire food stock of the store was lost. Manager H. Kreiger said about $10,000 in cash was destroyed.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP)—Synopsis: Cold air now covers all of Ontario and temperatures this morning show a marked drop from Wednesday morning. A number of points across northern sections of the province had freezing and a hitter the coldest spot at 27. This cold dry air mass will control the weather over Ontario today and Friday.

DUCHESS OF KENT, DAUGHTER NOW ON WAY TO TORONTO

Few Montrealers Saw Royal Party

MONTREAL (CP)—The Duchess of Kent and Princess Alexandra left by train for Toronto at 10:15 EDT this morning after spending the night in Montreal.

But few Montrealers saw the royal party. They stayed on board their special car, which was run into a siding at Central station before street level.

Special precautions were taken throughout the night to ensure that both had a peaceful sleep. Even the Ritz Carlton hotel, next door, was closed to the public.

The Communist eastern government triumphantly presented former parliament deputy Karl Schmidt-Wittmack at the international press conference in the Soviet sector today, just as they did former West German security chief Otto John on Aug. 11.

21 Taken Ill On Plane Trip

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) Twenty-one persons, including 19 exchange students from the Orient, were taken suddenly ill on a flight from Manila and were removed from a Northwest Orient Airlines plane here Wednesday night.

The airline said the plane left for Seattle with remaining passengers but returned here because some complained of illness.

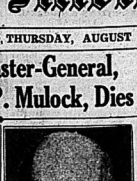
A hospital attendant said preliminary diagnosis indicated food poisoning.

British Admiralty States Russia Making Herself Sea Power Again

LONDON (CP)—Russia is acquiring a navy capable of controlling the Northern Ocean, if they are a sea power again and will deal with any naval opposition that may be attempted, an admiralty report said Wednesday night.

A massive construction campaign probably will boost Russian naval strength to 500 submarines and 4,000 planes within two or three years, the admiralty added.

Armament of the fast-growing Russian fleet may include guided atomic weapons, offensive and defensive guided missiles, greatly-improved long range torpedoes and



HON WILLIAM F. MULOCK

Former Postmaster-General, Hon. William P. Mulock, Dies

NEWMARKET, Ont. (CP)—Hon. William Pate Mulock, postmaster-general of Canada for six years and 33-year-old graduate of Osgoode Sir William Mulock, died Wednesday.

Mr. Mulock, in ill health for several years, died after a heart attack at his farm home near this town 30 miles north of Toronto.

He retired from politics in 1945 when he suffered an attack of pneumonia. He had been postmaster-general since 1926 and a Liberal member of Parliament for North since 1934.

While in charge of Canada's mails during the Second World War he directed mail-delivery service to Canadian troops at fighting bases overseas. His political career ran roughly parallelled that of his grandfather Sir William who was postmaster-general from 1896 to 1905.

He was educated at Toronto and called to the bar after graduating from Osgoode Hall there.

Col. Mulock served as lieutenant in the Canadian Expeditionary Force in Siberia during the First World War. He also was an honorary lieutenant - colonel with the Irish Regiment of Toronto.

SERVED IN SENATE

Col. Mulock took active interest in the problems of First World War veterans and for several years served as president of the Veterans' Association of York North.

He entered federal politics in 1930 when he was defeated in the general election by Agar Adamson, a candidate for York North. When the sitting member, T. Herbert Lennox died in 1934, Mulock won the by-election with a record majority. He retained his seat in the 1935 and 1940 general elections.

When Col. Mulock entered Prime Minister Mackenzie King's cabinet as postmaster-general at the age of 36, he was the youngest cabinet minister at Ottawa.

On Dec. 22, 1910, he married Kathleen Eleanor, daughter of the late Hon. Frederick Johnston, County Court Judge, Sault Ste. Marie. Col. His widow and two sons by this Johnston Mulock, of Ottawa, and Thomas Homan Mulock, of Newmarket, survive. Mrs. Thomas Homan Mulock was formerly Joyce Morton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Morton, of Belleville.

Stolen Trailer Recovered, Part of $98,500 Load Gone

TORONTO (CP) — A tractor-trailer was stolen with its load of $98,500 worth of cigarets at the Smith Transport Co. yards Wednesday but was quickly recovered later at nearby Streetsville. Part of the load had been removed.

Police said four men were involved in the robbery.

The truck driver discovered the robbery when he left to start his run. Earlier he had driven up to the company offices, taking the truck into the yard but leaving the trailer outside in a gate.

Mrs. P. J. O'Connell of Streetsville, who heard a broadcast describing the stolen vehicle, called police to say she had seen a truck entering a local park.

Park superintendent Matyas Mulligan and two men showed him a pile of cartons in a grove of trees a short distance away, but he would say nothing.

Later, Mr. Muller said, a truck and car arrived and the two men and the two drivers began loading the cartons. After the vehicles left, Mr. Muller said one of the men remained behind and followed him around all day, preventing him from calling police.

Police say the thieves took 166 of the 616 boxes in the truck. They said the loot may be worth around $28,000.

Vietminh Free Few Captives As Agreed Deadline Arrives

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) —The deadline for exchanging sick and prisoners in North Viet Nam arrived today with only a small fraction of French Union PoWs returned by the Communist-led Vietminh.

Reliable informants said the French, in a memorandum to the international armistice commission, blamed the Vietminh for the exchange delay but indicated willingness to extend the deadline.

The French and Vietminh say they had released 16,974 prisoners. Earlier unofficial estimates said they had held about 20,000 in the war.

The French said the Vietminh had released only 2,570 French Union prisoners. Before the exchange started the defence ministry in Paris estimated the Vietminh held a total of 28,000 prisoners.

Among those still to be released is Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, commander of the French garrison at Dien Bien Phu.

Polio Kills Girl Visiting Canada On Fishing Trip

OIL CITY, Pa. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Price of Oil City were worried Wednesday about the health of their daughter, Linda Jean, 9, who had accompanied her grandparents on a fishing trip to Canada.

Their seven-year-old son Charles, had just contracted polio. A relative called the distraught couple and told them Linda Jean was dead. She had been suddenly attacked by the disease shortly after arriving in Barrie, Ont.

Charles was taken to hospital for specialized treatment. He is reported in serious condition.

Untouchables' Leader Assails Nehru's Policies

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The leader of India's 60,000,000 untouchables criticized Prime Minister Nehru in Parliament today for his inadequate co-existence with the Communists is necessary and for his "hostility" toward the United States.

B. R. Ambedkar, Nehru's minister of law until he broke with the prime minister three years ago, spoke up in a foreign policy debate which Nehru had launched with a call for the world to accept peaceful co-existence with the Reds as the "only alternative" to a world war.

This principle, said the leader of India's lowest caste, had been "adopted without much thought by the prime minister."

The former cabinet member said Nehru has a "curious hostility" toward the United States and shows "repugnance" at anything suggested by America. This, he asserted, is the reason Nehru is against the U. S. proposed Southeast Asia Treaty Organization pact. Adding that the prime minister also fears Russian reaction.

"The keynote of our foreign policy is to solve the problems of other countries, but not our own," Ambedkar said.

Earlier in the debate Nehru found himself in the unusual role of defending the United States when he told Communist questioners he does not believe Indian politicians are sending or will send arms to the growing Indian separatist movements. Nehru wants to take over.

TRIPLE KOREAN JET ACE KILLED ON TEST FLIGHT

Plane Crashes on Desert Near Air Force Base

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Death on a routine test flight has ended the spectacular career of Capt. Joseph McConnell, Jr., the United States leading jet ace.

The 32-year-old pilot, credited with downing 16 MiGs in Korea, was killed Wednesday when his F-86 Sabre jet crashed on the high desert 13 miles northeast of Rogers lake.

His body was found beside his ejection seat, half a mile from the shattered plane. Nearby was his unopened parachute. An air force spokesman said apparently he had ejected himself from the plane at low altitude.

During the flight McConnell had reported that he had lost control of the plane partially, but thought he could make a landing on the dry lake bed. Soon thereafter he reported he had lost the cockpit canopy. He was advised to bail out. Edwards base officers said McConnell replied that the plane too long.

McConnell, who said his premature grey hair came from being the father of three young children, was the first jet ace to be served as a bomber navigator during the Second World War and later took flight training.

After the fighting broke out in Korea he was assigned to jet fighter combat duty despite being told he was too old. His request finally was granted and he became an ace in just 30 days last year.

NAMED AIR ACE

He named his sabre "Beauteous Butch," nickname for his wife, patrol, convoy and bomber escort assignments and fired more than 40,000 rounds of fast-inch ammunition. Three men were killed when the Iroquois was hit by a Communist shell. Soldiery and three others were lost overboard.

Textile Workers Offer to Take Cut in Wages

MILLTOWN, N. B. (CP)—Textile workers here volunteered Wednesday night to take a cut in wages to help textilcrs elsewhere keep their jobs. The union employees of Textile Sales, Ltd., agreed to make "substantial sacrifices" if the reduction in operating costs would help the company keep the mill open.

It was learned also that the town council of Milltown is ready to make an all-out attempt to save the mill. The company says the industry is scheduled to be shut down indefinitely and the working force is being pared steadily.

An authoritative source said the town will likely offer a tax-free holiday to encourage buying. But for one year, with the provision that the company guarantees that the mill keep open for at least that long.

The town has been receiving about $50,000 annually in taxes from the plant.

Stolen Watch Is Recovered From Squirrel

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) — A squirrel stole a bushworker's wrist watch and returned it to the owner two days later.

Alex Languf left his watch on a woodpile while chopping wood a few days ago. When he finished the watch had disappeared.

"Two days later I was working on a chain saw and noticed a tiny squirrel sitting 100 yards away on an old spruce stump. Clutched in his paws was my wrist watch."

Alex swung an axe at the squirrel, which dropped the watch and scampered up a tree.

The watch was still running.

Brazilian Police Crack Down On Communists

By ROMAN JIMENEZ

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Police cracked down on the outlawed Communist party today after 48 hours of riots and disturbances touched off by the suicide of President Getulio Vargas.

Amid increasing evidence the Reds had played a strong hand in sparking the riots, aimed in part against the United States, more than 100 Communists were nabbed or arrest. One was accused specifically of burning a police car.

Copies of Imprensa Popular, the Communist newspaper which publishes openly despite the ban on the party, were seized by police in 10 cities of Brazil. The newspaper headlined its account of Wednesday's demonstrations: "Down with Americans." No residents shout indignantly in streets."

MINISTERS WAIVED

Joao Cafe Filho, the new president, cast about for someone to fill the job of finance minister in the inflation-plagued government he inherited. He conferred with Brazilian bankers and scheduled a cabinet meeting.

Vargas' suicide climaxed a long his life with a bullet Tuesday, his old friend Oswaldo Aranha, former Brazilian National Security president resigned as finance minister along with the rest of the cabinet.

Aranha, who has often been mentioned as a candidate in the 1955 presidential elections, has been seeking in the last few months a clear Brazil through a dire foreign exchange shortage caused mainly by declining coffee exports.

CONVICTED IN THEFT

KITCHENER (CP) — Leonard Short, 20, of Brantford was convicted Wednesday of breaking and entering and theft. He was charged with stealing a safe containing about $600 from the Kitchener Auto Mart mail order office. He will be sentenced Sept. 1.

Calls Attlee's Pilgrimage to China 'Most Astonishing Since Marco Polo'

LONDON (Reuters)—The London Daily Express says today the visit of Clement Attlee and the British Labor party goodwill mission is the most "astonishing pilgrimage to China" since Marco Polo.

"Not since Marco Polo came back from the court of Kublai Khan has there been a more astonishing pilgrimage to China than that of Mr. Attlee and his colleagues," said the Express in an editorial.

"Marco Polo dealt in wonders. The Socialists deal in blunders.

"No sooner had they set foot on Chinese soil than Chou En-lai used the opportunity for a tirade against American policy in the Far East.

"There is no report that they ever answer back, not even from pained judgment. . . ."

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada in all likelihood will begin withdrawal of its destroyer flotilla in Korea by the next few months, defence officials said today.

They were commenting on a Washington report that the U. S. navy is cutting down its Pacific fleet now that fighting has stopped in Indo-China as well as Korea. A U. S. battleship and four destroyers already have been withdrawn. Canada has maintained three destroyers in Korea since July, 1950, a month after the outbreak of the Korean war.

Last week, it was announced that Canada will withdraw about two-thirds of its 6,000-man infantry brigade in Korea. Hundreds of soldiers are expected to be back home by Christmas.

Altogether, eight Canadian destroyers participated in the Korean war, some of them doing two or three one-year tours of duty.

The destroyers now are changing shift in Korea. The Huron and Iroquois are on their way out to the Canadian station at Esquimalt. The Cayuga is remaining, for the present at least.

Defence officials said plans were drawn up some time ago for withdrawal of the destroyers, because the U. S. started to cut down its naval forces in the Korean theatre.

It is not yet decided exactly when the withdrawal will start or how many destroyers will be brought home.

Canadian warships in Korea steamed nearly 750,000 miles on patrol, convoy and bombardment assignments and fired more than 40,000 rounds of four-inch ammunition. Three men were killed when the Iroquois was hit by a Communist shell. Sixteen others were lost overboard.

Peaches Centre Buying Interest On Local Market

Brisk buying interest was centred on peaches on this morning's midweek market. Only one dealer offered the fruit his supply being a heavy one consisting at 75-85 cents a quart basket.

Corn prices varied with quality, bringing from 35 cents up to 50 cents, steady price since it first was offered, while tomatoes, in abundant supply, remained at 50 cents a basket, 15 cents a quart. Cucumbers sold steadily at $1.50 a basket for gherkins, 75 cents for dills, and 50 cents for slicers. Marrows were 5-20 cents, while green peppers sold upwards from three for 25 cents, ranging at 15 cents a quart and cabbage 10-15 cents. Potatoes continued at 45 cents a bushel basket. Beans sold at two for 25 cents. Hubbard squash was 20-60 cents and egg plants 10-20 cents. Carrot and beets were 10 cents a bunch, three for 25 cents, during onions were five cents and Spanish 15 cents.

A few quart boxes of green gages brought 25 cents, while a light offering of pears sold at 80 cents a basket. Some late raspberries lingering past their season sold promptly at 60 cents a quart. Canteloupes were 15-25 cents and melons sold from 15-75 cents according to size. Pumpkins were 10-20 cents.

Gladioli continued to dominate the offering of blooms making $1 a dozen, 50 cents a bunch. Asters were 25 cents a bunch, while dahlias blooms bringing 25 cents.

Eggs were 32 cents for Grade A large.

Black Memorial Trophy Won By Belleville Pair

Nine mixed doubles rinks from the Belleville Bowling Club went to Peterborough for the Mack Memorial tournament on Wednesday afternoon and Miss Margaret Fairbairn with W. D. "Skit" Wardevoort as skip came home with the trophy and first prize. To say that the winning pair are delighted with their success and the local club happy about their victory would be putting it mildly. It was the first time the trophy has been in competition since 1951.

There were ninety-six rinks entered in the tourney the players representing clubs every section of the Province and to win this handsome trophy the best of bowling must be displayed on practically every shot. Those who were in attendance from the local club stated the greens were in perfect condition and the hospitality was superb and a most enjoyable day was spent in the Littlock City.

Besides Miss Fairbairn and Mr. Vandervoort's win Gordon Watkin and his mother Mrs. George Watkin won three games while Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller won two games to get in the prize money and Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Smith won in the one-game high class. Others to make the journey were Mrs. Charles A. Mott and J. W. Davison Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Vine Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Edwards Mr. and Mrs. Clee Colling Gerald B. Hyde and his mother Mrs. Charles L. Hyde.

The winning rink scored a 23-10 win over McMillan of Toronto in the first game and in the second game took McInnis of Toronto into camp 19-6. In the third game the winners were down 12-4 at the tenth end but got a six-ender and went on to win 18-12. Miss Fairbairn and his wife lost a heartbreaker to Peacock of Peterborough in their third game. Bruce was up four shots going home but a bad end allowed his opposition to tie the game up and he lost in the extra end by a single shot. Jerry Hyde and his mother also had a tough one after winning the first two games handily the third game was tied on the last end and the Belleville pair lost on the extra end.

Many Sports Model Cars Pass Through City

The casual observer must have thought the city was being besieged by sports car enthusiasts this morning as one racy sports model after another rolled along the highway route.

Inquiring one of the drivers who had stop at a stop light was learned the cars were on route to Buffalo, N.Y. where they would take part in the International 1,000-mile teats, whatever that means.

Most of the sports models carried either New York or Pennsylvania licences and bore large numerals on the door sides. Forty-four of the cars were scheduled to pass through the city, it was stated.

Obituary

MRS. EVELYN R. (McCREARY) FINDLAY

(Pittsburgh, Penn., Belleville)

Mrs. Evelyn Findlay, wife of Dr. William Findlay of Pittsburgh, Penn., died at her home in that city Wednesday evening after an illness of several months' duration.

The late Mrs. Findlay, who was in her 58th year, was born in Northport, Prince Edward county, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mills. She was educated at public and high schools in Picton and graduated in nursing from St. Luke's Hospital in Ottawa, now Ottawa Civic Hospital.

She was twice married, her first husband being the late Dr. Russell McCreary of this city who died in 1938, and of this marriage she leaves two sons Dr. Robt. Douglas McCreary of Bradford, Penna., and John Beatty McCreary of Columbus, Ohio.

In 1944 she married Dr. William Findlay and since then she has made her home in Pittsburgh.

Surviving besides her husband are two sisters, Mrs. H. (Elva) Minaker, Kingston; Mrs. R. (Hazel) Mitchell, New Westminster, B.C., and Mrs. A. (Eileen) Charles Carrol and Betty Carter Howard Mills of Northport, also survives.

Interment is being made in Pittsburgh.

Cartage Assoc. Denies Charge By Sen. Davies

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Cartage Association Wednesday denied a charge made earlier this year by Senator Wilbert Davies that a "comradeship" existed between police and truck drivers which could lead to abuses of the truck.

Association spokesman Clifford Howard told the Ontario legislature's select committee on highway safety that "if anything we feel truckers are singled out for special treatment by the police."

Committee Chairman W. P. Nickle (PC — Kingston) said he agreed with the statement and read a letter released by Senator Davies May 21.

"Do you question the integrity and sincerity of the senator?" asked Mr. Nickle.

"No, but public opinion has been inflamed by the charge and we don't know how or why the letter containing the charge was released," Mr. Howard replied.

Mr. Nickle said: "You have both had your say. It will give your remarks the same consideration as the senator's."

Police Court

Convicted on a charge of breaking and entering at Hillcrest Estates, Roy Pringle, Shannonville, and Robt. Smart, no fixed address, were given jail terms by Magistrate T. Y. Wills in police court this morning. Pringle was sentenced to two months, and Smart to one month in the county jail.

Gordon Cooper, Hillcrest, was convicted of a charge of obstructing a police officer and was given suspended sentence.

Communism Is Denounced By Churches as 'False Hope'

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—A report read to the assembly denounced communism and the trend to "totalitarian dictatorship" and making some criticism of democracies, too, swatted action by Christian churches.

The report was discussed by delegates to the assembly of the World Council of Churches Wednesday in afternoon and evening sessions.

The 51-page document concerns the main theme of the convention, "Christ—the hope of the world."

Some who joined the debate stated it didn't lay enough stress on the second coming of Christ.

Others contended it didn't place sufficient emphasis on the possibility of achieving justice, with Christ's aid, in this world.

And some figured it didn't go far enough in condemnation of communism as a "false hope."

HITS FALSE DOCTRINES

Archbishop Michael, of New York, head of the Greek Orthodox church in North and South America and one of the six new presidents of the council, asserted:

"False doctrines which are mentioned in the report, especially that of communism, threaten the whole of human existence. All of these dehumanize life.

"It is this aspect of false hopes with which the church is primarily concerned."

The "main theme" report was placed before the assembly by a co-ordinating committee. Submitted with it was a statement from the co-ordinating group in the nature of a report on its work and its findings.

Delegate after delegate quibbled over a word or suggested a change in phrasing of the report on the statement.

VOTE PUT OFF

The night session ended without a vote. No time was set for renewal of debate and a decision.

A 10-page section of the "main theme" report is devoted to forms of contemporary governments and movements.

Under communism, it sets forth, "happiness, justice and love are no longer possible; and man in the class struggle is no longer truly man."

The report says democracy is founded upon "Christian tradition" and in its basic beliefs is a "child or step-child of Christian belief and Christian compassion."

Supreme Court Grants Increases To Some in Will

TORONTO (CP)—The Supreme Court of Ontario Wednesday granted a three-fold increase in the annual annuity payments to 11 grandnieces and grandnephews of the late William H. Wright, mining financier and founder of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

Annual payments to the descendants, all under the age of 25, were increased to $1,800 from $600.

Mr. Justice G. A. Gale said Mr. Wright "must have been in complete ignorance as to the cost of rearing a child to the standards which he undoubtedly had in mind for his beneficiaries; it is quite obvious that he miscalculated in some way."

The court rejected a motion for an increase in annuity payments to Mrs. Frances Eliza Hargreaves, 75, Mr. Wright's sister, and her three children because "their respective ages materially differ and perhaps eliminate their chances of greater participation in the estate."

Mr. Justice Gale said that "except in special circumstances and on rare occasions, the court will not attempt to rewrite a man's will or re-adjust a trust settlement."

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market moved slightly higher with heavy forenoon trading today in a reversal of the lower trend of the last two sessions.

First-hour volume came to more than 800,000 shares. Uraniums and other low-priced mining issues got most of the action.

Industrial gains balanced losses. Financial institutions eased but most other industrial groups were mixed. Banks eased after Wednesday's strength.

Base metals climbed narrowly but gains were small. Western oils and golds moved up in fairly heavy turnover but no issues made fair-sized gains.

Uraniums eased. Willroy featured Manluowadge issues in a continuing sharp climb.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP)—Demand was good for good to choice slaughter cattle at the Ontario stockyards today. Other grades were very slow. Receipts: Cattle 140; calves 20; hogs 250; sheep and lambs 135; holdover from Wednesday 1,100 cattle.

Choice steers 21-22; one load at 22.25; good steers 20-21; a few good heavy bologna bulls at 15 a hundredweight; good stockers 18-19; calves steady at 22-24 for good to choice vealers; mediums 10-20.

Hogs steady at 28.50 for grade A; 27.50 for B1. There were 376 hogs out Wednesday at 26.75; low 19-19.50 a hundredweight dressed.

Lambs steady at 22.50 delivered by truck for good ewes and wethers; bucks discounted $1 a hundredweight; common to medium lambs 15-20; good light sheep 8-10; common sheep sold downward to 4.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP)—Butter print prices were quoted here today at 58-59½. Churning cream prices were unchanged.

The egg market was firm on grade A with a fractional increase. Receipts were light. Other grades steady.

Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture: Eggs, in fibre cases, graded: A large 50; A medium 37; A small 29; B 31; C 24. Wholesale to retail: A large 55; A medium 43; A small 34; B 36; C 29.

Butter solids: Ont., first grade, tenderable 58; non-tenderable 56½-57.

'Batting' Average Of OPP Officers Exactly Zero

The "batting" average of Ontario Provincial Police officers was exactly zero this morning when they failed miserably in their efforts to oust a bat, which had strayed into police headquarters during the night.

Brooms came into action when the bat was spotted but the wily winged creature successfully dodged and flitted out of reach about the office.

Finally city dog catcher Charles Thorn was called in. Mr. Thorn proved himself a bat catcher as well as a dog catcher and the police office, staff was able to get back to routine.

DOME COACHES SHOWN

TORONTO (CP)—Train passengers took a spin Tuesday in one of the new scenic dome coaches on a demonstration run from Toronto to Gali. The 36 stainless-steel cars are expected to be in use on the Canadian Pacific Railway's 15 transcontinental trains by next spring.

Mother Beats Baby to Death

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—A 3½-year-old girl was reported near death in hospital today and police said her mother admitted beating the baby with a claw hammer.

Police quoted the mother as saying she hammered the child on the head and body Wednesday night because she wanted to "offer the baby to God" rather than let her husband have the child.

The mother, Mrs. Maxine Gilbertson, 26, was separated from her husband, Grover, police said. Their daughter, Angela, suffered skull fractures and severe lacerations on her face and body.

Floating Bridge Bids Are Asked By Authority

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York state power authority has asked for bids for construction of a temporary floating bridge from the mainland to Barnhard Island for the St. Lawrence power project.

An authority spokesman said a permanent bridge will be installed, but could not be completed in time for next summer's construction season.

Therefore, he said, a heavy floating bridge will be built, with a steel superstructure being carried by car floats. Bids for the superstructure work are to be opened Sept. 11. The permanent bridge is expected to be completed by the end of 1955.

The St. Lawrence project is being built jointly by New York and Ontario.

WHAT MAYORS DISCUSS

WINDSOR (CP)—The Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, meeting here Aug. 29 to Sept. 2, will deal with seven major topics. Housing, civil defence, assessment, labor relations, education, building and unemployment will receive time during business sessions.

No Sanctuaries Like Yalu River Knowland Says

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Senator William F. Knowland, majority leader in the Senate, said Wednesday, "There will be no more Yalu river sanctuaries" in fighting Communist aggression under revised United States' foreign policy.

The reference was to the Yalu river border between North Korea and Red China, beyond which Allied planes could not attack during the Korean war.

"Communist aggression against nations with whom we have treaty obligations will be met with all the force at our command," the senator said:

"Allies who expect assistance must be prepared to render assistance in the common defence.

"Mutual aid in collective security is no longer to be a one-way street whereby we shoulder 90 per cent of the manpower and resources and have our operational hands tied by those who want to veto our winning a victory."

Motor Vehicle Registrations Up 9 P.C. in 1953

OTTAWA (CP)—The pedestrian seems to be disappearing in Canada.

The bureau of statistics reported today the number of motor-vehicle registrations rose almost nine per cent in 1953. There was one vehicle registered for every 4.3 persons, compared with one for every 4.6 in 1952.

Registrations rose to a record total of 3,429,706 in 1953, a boost of 273,882 over 1952.

Passenger car registrations in 1953 totalled 2,513,734, an increase of 217,310 over 1952. There is now one passenger car for every 5.9 persons, up from one for every 6.3 persons in 1952.

Commercial registrations in 1953 totalled 875,275.

Total registrations increased at a faster rate than the population in all provinces.

Charges Will Be Heard at Meeting Of Association

TORONTO (CP)—Charges that improper means were used to nominate Wilson Woodside as a federal Progressive Conservative candidate for Trinity riding in Toronto will be heard at a special meeting of the riding association executive.

The charges were made by defeated candidate Stanley Frolick.

In a letter to riding association president Gordon Mitchell, Frolick claims the credentials issued to nomination delegates were twice the number of paid-up members, that some of the qualified supporters were prevented from voting, that others living outside the riding voted, and that some of them used fictitious addresses.

DO IT YOURSELF TREND

Last year, according to a recent magazine article, 75 per cent of all the paint used in the United States was applied by amateur decorators. These same amateurs hung 60 per cent of all wallpaper bought, laid half the asphalt tile purchased and, eleven million amateurs worked on 600 million square feet of plywood with 25 million power tools.

Almost certainly the same trend was present in Canada. Why?

The magazine article in question referred to the "do-it-yourself" trend as "the new billion-dollar hobby." It is doubtful whether this is an accurate description. Some of the amateur carpenters, painters, paperhangers and tile-layers were unquestionably true hobbyists, enjoying their work and doing the job as much for the fun of the thing as for the results obtained. But the great majority of these people, we suggest, did the jobs themselves not because they enjoyed the tasks but because they could thus save money.

A popular explanation is that painters, carpenters and paperhangers are pricing themselves out of work. This may be the truth—but it is scarcely likely to be the whole truth. After all, their prospective customers have enjoyed wage increases, too.

Perhaps one reason why more amateurs today were willing to risk the price of the materials they purchase by doing the job themselves is because their materials represent a smaller percentage of the total cost of the job than they did formerly. It may be objected that this is just another way of saying that the price of labor is too high, but this is not necessarily true. The price of the paint required to redecorate a room may today represent a smaller proportion of the average man's weekly wage than it did a couple of decades ago.

The development of special tools for the amateur almost certainly has been one of the causes, as well as one of the results, of the "do-it-yourself" trend.

Probably one of the main reasons for this trend, though, is the eight-hour day and the five-day week. With more leisure time, homeowners are now able to undertake tasks which, formerly, would have been too time consuming.

Finally, we should not overlook the fact that it is possible, nay decidedly probable, that much of this amateur work does not represent a decrease in demand for the services of carpenters, painters and decorators. When wages were lower, and working hours longer, these home improvements would have remained mere dreams and never have been undertaken. The so-called "hobbyist" is not cutting into the field of the professional so much as he is providing a new, and an important, market for paint, wallpaper, asphalt tile, plywood and tools of various descriptions.

BIRDS SAY FALL IS NEAR

Fall draws near.

One may ignore the sere leaves, speckling the trees with premature brown blotches. Drought can be blamed for that.

There can, however, be no successful disputation with the judgment of the birds. Autumn day fall is near.

The other night, against the pale blue background of a clear sky, swallows were sweeping in their pursuit of their supper, displaying unusual activity. One was reminded of the remark in Gilbert White's classic on the books, that fall in southern lands sees a strange uplift of life akin to that which temperate climes know in the spring of the year, and wondered whether Gilbert Heyward was correct in limiting this quickened pulse-beat of nature to the southland.

Then, out of the northern sky poured confirmation that in Canada, too, wildlife greets the shortening days with increased activity. A black cloud resolved itself into a group of redwing blackbirds, plunging toward their night's lodging in the rushes along the shore of the Bay of Quinte. The flock seemed a little larger than usual.

And suddenly the sky was alive. Big platoons sweeping forward, one after the other, in long, wavering line, a mile or more wide. Not all appeared to be black-birds. Some flew steadily, but others soared and dropped in undulating movements. Strange and intricate manoeuvres were executed. The head of one flock would come suddenly changed direction right, travelled a few feet, then continued its course, just as if it had dodged an invisible fence across the sky. The rear flock, upwards along the line, brought amazing evidence that every bird had altered course at the same instant, much too uniformly for each bird to have copied the action of the one in front.

Across the sailing sky, the birds still pushed southward. Of what use are their multitudes? Soon, it is true, they will serve some slight purpose, bringing warning to the hunter in his blind that within an hour or so the evening flight of ducks will be dropping out of the skies. But even as a warning signal to the hunter, the redwing blackbird is not an unmitigated blessing. The hidden sportsman sometimes finds the dilemma of exposing himself to frighten a roosting blackbird or trusting that the next flock of black ducks will see nothing strange in the sight of a small bird perched on the head of a decoy.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy of this city, when angling from the waterfront dock yesterday and using a homemade net, caught and after a great struggle, landed a large carp which weighed close to 18 pounds. A short time after he also landed a smaller one. For years local professional fishermen have argued that carp, which are said to be the smartest fish that swim, could not be induced to bite on a baited hook. Ed. Kimberly seems to have proved that they will do so.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Veniveras have returned home after visiting friends in N.Y. and the Century of Progress Exhibition in Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Fred Lawrence, Frankford, was a recent guest of Mrs. William Kent, Catharine St.

Miss Irma Panter, B.A., gave a delightful party at her summer home at Redneersville on Friday evening, in honor of Miss Irene Holmes, who has been her guest this summer.

Mrs. Helen (Hunt) Allen, of Pittsburgh, Pa., played two delightful violin solos at the service in Bridge St. Church on Sunday morning. Mrs. Allen, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. V. P. Hunt of this city, is first violin in the Pittsburgh String Orchestra and has travelled extensively with Chautauqua entertainers.

Frenchman Thought Fas?

(Listener)

"During the Nazi occupation of France," said Mervyn Jones in a Home Service talk, "the story goes that four people were travelling in a railway compartment—a German officer, a pretty girl, a German officer, and an old woman.

The train plunged into tunnel, and the sound of a hearty slap was heard, followed by a hearty kiss. The old woman thought: "There's a German officer who has taken a man kisses her, and she slaps his face." The girl thought: "I am glad the German got his face slapped, but why did he kiss the old woman instead of me?" The German thought: "Here's a fine thing — a Frenchman kisses his girl, and she slaps my face."

The Frenchman thought: — "That came off very nicely: I kiss my own hand and give the German a slap on the face."

Demonstrated Fire Insurance

(Sydney Post-Record)

Most embarrassed insurance agent alive at the moment could be the one in Sydney who accidentally started a fire at the moment a husband and wife were signing on the dotted line a policy he had sold to them. It was fire insurance on the household goods A couch in the room went up in flames after the agent hurriedly dropped a cigarette on it. This might be described as a spectacular demonstration of how fires too often are caused. Expertly performed, but the insurance company won't thank the agent for it. The news item, described it as "the fastest action insurance in history."

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

A LADDER TO HEAVEN

There is a story in the Book of Genesis of the dream of young Hebrew, Jacob, fleeing from the wrath of his brother Esau and spending the night near Bethel, with the cold, stony ground as his couch. He had a dream, "and, behold, a ladder set up on the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven; and, behold the angels of God ascending and descending on it."

When Jacob awoke from his dream; he realized that his life had been guarded and supported with a new hope and power. This was God's way of telling him that there is a definite communication going on between earth and heaven, and between and earth. The word "angel" means "messenger". Messengers were going up to heaven, taking petitions from men to God. Angels were coming down the ladder, bringing help from God to men.

This may seem to many a naive story, but it is the embodiment of one of life's greatest truths. We wend our ways through this perplexing life and sometimes it seems there is nothing in life but its bewildering ways and byways. Yet over it all presides God—not a God of fury, wrath, vengeance, but a God of loving help and grace. Our desires go up to Him; His gracious responses and deliverances come down to us.

Think this over today.

Letters to the Editor

Refuses to Be Gloomy Over Outlook for 1984

Editor,
The Ontario Intelligencer.

That was quite a story by your contemporary (Wall Street journal) dealing with "More People—More Food," and based upon a 60-page study by the United Nations Department of Social Affairs. The following somewhat grim picture registered in this rural mind: "The authors predict a world population of four billion people in thirty years. Since all these people will eat—or want to—there will be food enough to go around by 1984, a rather gloomy year at best, George Orwell predicted."

Somehow I was attracted to your New York contemporary's robust faith in the year 1984, as has often happened before, prove "the predictors" to be wrong. It reminded me of the fears of starvation by Malthus as to "mouths multiplying geometrically and the food only arithmetically"; also the whole-some counter challenge in the following century by the late philosopher: "Civilization mounts and climbs. Malthus forgot to say that the human race has a way of taking, in political economy, and that the augmenting waste of society would be met by an augmenting power of invention." (Sage of Concord, 1845).

These large affairs are, of course, beyond the horizon of my mind; but I have always keenly aware that it is notoriously dangerous to send the mind too far forward in 30 years ahead. An instance of this occurs to me, when a brilliant British statesman somewhere in the 1800's (Sir William Crookes) foresaw a famine for the whites about the third decade of the present century. By the time the 1930's had rolled to the end, he asserts, as you know, we were up to our ears in wheat—"32-cent wheat in '32" tells the facts. I am satisfied that, if we can safely by-pass the menace of war, the twin principles of brotherhood and co-operation will make possible a much longer annual 2 billion people in 1984 than among the 2½ billion in 1954.

Finds Editors Nasty People

(Nanion News)

Editors are occasionally asked why they don't write more critical censorious articles; they are often taken to task for not writing articles on political governing activities which would make everybody happy; they are frequently criticized for being critical.

Editors have a very bad time of it and if they make them cranky. They start out crusty and cranky and continue that way. Begin as peevish people and finish as splenetic; they are moody, nervous, irritable, and considerably savage. It is all the fault of the thousands of people around to right of the typewriter.

If ever you examine one carefully you will find that there are very few synonyms for benevolence. Nearly all times have fewer synonyms for words of love as there are words for hate and allied words, such as envy, resentment, irascibility and sullenness. Never once can we think that there is more scope in the English language for being disagreeable than there is for shedding love and light.

Besides, editors are professionally disagreeable, captious and blunt; they are given to contradiction and general orneriness.

Wants Attlee To Visit U.S.

(Christian Science Monitor)

In all seriousness The Christian Science Monitor would propose that either President Eisenhower or the leaders of the opposition party or both should invite the leaders of the British Labor Party who are now in China to return to Britain by way of the United States.

Mr. Attlee of course, has been in the United States before. But we believe Mr. Aneurin Bevan, left-wing leader and sharp critic of the United States, has never visited the United States.

In government circles, among opposition leaders, and particularly among the leaders of American trade unionism, these British delegates would find information a welcome, and a concept of freedom and interest exceedingly pertinent to the crucial evaluations the British travellers seek to make.

Not possibly political etiquette might prevent the Eisenhower administration from officially inviting members of the opposition in the British Government in Parliament. But surely nothing need prevent American leaders such as Senator Walter George or Senator Lyndon Johnson from encouraging the British laborites to visit Washington.

And surely both the inviters and the invited would find the visit illuminated by the cross-country spin opportunities to serve both as a relaxation from controversy and (3) the entire free world's political needs.

For example, an American visit would be useful to Mr. Bevan with his intimate knowledge of the most frequent critic in Britain's Labor Party, Mr. Bevan is probably aware that the danger of rabies being far greater and more serious than any it exists in Britain. But for exposures other than bites—such as handling, playing with or being licked by a dog that may or may not have had a rabies—or rabiphobia, (I spell rabi-es because it is a three syllable word, with the accent on the ray and the third rhyming with "see").

Wanted Attlee To Visit U.S.

(Christian Science Monitor)

In all seriousness The Christian Science Monitor would propose that either President Eisenhower or the leaders of the opposition party or both should invite the leaders of the British Labor Party who are now in China to return to Britain by way of the United States.

Mr. Attlee of course, has been in the United States before. But we believe Mr. Aneurin Bevan, left-wing leader and sharp critic of the United States, has never visited the United States.

In government circles, among opposition leaders, and particularly among the leaders of American trade unionism, these British delegates would find information a welcome, and a concept of freedom and interest exceedingly pertinent to the crucial evaluations the British travellers seek to make.

Not possibly political etiquette might prevent the Eisenhower administration from officially inviting members of the opposition in the British Government in Parliament. But surely nothing need prevent American leaders such as Senator Walter George or Senator Lyndon Johnson from encouraging the British laborites to visit Washington.

And surely both the inviters and the invited would find the visit illuminated by the cross-country spin opportunities to serve both as a relaxation from controversy and (3) the entire free world's political needs.

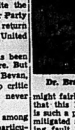
WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE



Dr. Brady

Here we go again, folks—all the doctors out of step but Brady. Well, not quite all of them, maybe, but at least the public thinks so, with them, when such righteous indignation when I bring these things to the attention of the public that the unsophisticated reader might fairly and reasonably infer that this Brady (if there really is such a person) must be an unmitigated so-and-so, always finding fault, always criticizing, always warning the public against the devices practiced and the false pretensions made by charlatans. No wonder the business men of medicine, both the big ones within and the little ones with the A M A hate—and this reminds me, just while groups or clique of doctors would conceivably use the name "M A Hate," to foist their propaganda! Next time a near-doctor tells you that Brady is a crackpot, ask the liar to identify the group, clique or organization that so uses my name.

As long as terrorists run public health departments, I shall continue teaching the truth about ra-bi-es or hydrophobia.

After 30 years of practical experience. Dr. T. F. Sellers, Georgia Department of Public Health, was convinced that it is not hydrophobia (fear of water) but rabies (morbid fear of ra-bi-es) "which constitutes the major and most troublesome problem to the practicing physician and health officer." Dr. Sellers still considered the administration of antirabic vaccine to persons actually bitten by animals the best treatment of known or suspected to be rabid. Statistically, the danger of rabies being far greater and more serious than any it exists in Britain. But for exposures other than bites—such as handling, playing with or being licked by a dog that may or may not have had a rabies—or rabiphobia, (I spell ra-bi-es because it is a three syllable word, with the accent on the ray and the third rhyming with "see").

Of 7 cases of paralysis from Pasteur treatment in Georgia 4 terminated fatally, statistically-ally Dr. Sellers noted that in a period of 23 years a total of 50,000 received so-called Pasteur treatment to prevent ra-bi-es in Geor-gia. Of the 50,000 persons 23 died. The death rate was nearly 16 times higher in persons bitten on the face than in persons bitten on hand or arm and there was only on fatality in 10,000 bitten on body or lower extremities.

Dr. George A. Denison and Dr. J. D. Dowling, Jefferson County Health Department, Birmingham, Ala.—"the rabies capital of North America and possibly of the civilized world"—reported that in a period of 17 years in Alabama 13,847 persons were given antirabies vaccine and 48 persons died of rabies. Of the 48, 33 were judged to have received prompt and adequate (Pasteur) treatment. "The persistence with which fatalities continue to be annually distributed among the treated and untreated affords reason for mild speculation," observed Drs. Denison and Dowling.

The Alabama authorities further comment on the fact that although there are more than half as many Negroes as Whites in Alabama, and the Negroes probably have as many dogs per family, 75 per cent of the cases reported by Alabama health authorities are Negroes. The satisfactory explanations from the solons who always know on which side their bread is buttered.

Drs. Denison and Dowling concluded that "there appears to be little relation between mortality from rabies and the administration of (Pasteur) "vaccine." That seems reasonable—to me. But I am not in public health and medicine know better. They do not. But I do not like the fact of me how they know, but there it is, and woe betide any one who ventures to question the statement.

Finally, the Birmingham authorities concluded:

"1. Rabies is primarily a dog-control problem, regardless of its prevalence/among dogs. It should therefore receive the most efficient morbidity or mortality among human beings in the region (the whole capital of North America) "to allow its classification with other less stable problems of importance.

"2. If rabies were as easily controlled in man as it is commonly supposed, it would in Alabama number one of the leading causes of death. Instead, it continues to be a very rare disease."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LEARN TO BE STILL

There are people—all too many —who just can't stay still a minute. They have got a tic in their fingers, keep time with their toes, or, move from one thing to another, never knowing exactly what they want. If they were to relax for five minutes it would be agony for them!

Yet stillness is one of the great laws of life. We need mental, emotional and physical forces by learning to be still, to relax and rest.

The finer the engine is the more careful attention it requires. It has to get its proper oil when it runs silently and smoothly. The same with the human machine. When you hear a man or woman who sits quietly, you feel restful. In deep thought, as may be the case, you know that there is a gathering of power.

Nothing is more important to the health than to conserve one's nervous forces. The trainer of athletic knows this and so for those under his care he insists upon rest, lots of sleep, and freedom from excitement. There is great stress upon relaxation. And so every permitted if he can help it.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

One of my neighbors, returning home alone at night, was petrified, on turning his car lights to, to find himself face to face with a burglar.

The intruder was carrying a small iron crowbar about twenty inches long, with which he had pried open a window for entrance.

"Sit down!" gritted the burglar, indicating the chair in the hallway.

The householder sat down.

"Don't you dare move!" threatened the burglar in a low voice. "Stir even a finger and the housekolder," he pollowemen, is last seeing in the back door from the garden at the rear of the house. My wife is out on the front steps, picking up some papers . . ."

"Shut up!" hissed the burglar.

A motor car went noisily past, drowning other sounds.

"If you try the back way," believed the householder, "the cop's got you. If you go the front, my wife screams, and the cop comes around the drive at fast you wouldn't get five jumps."

"Shut up!" stammered the burglar. "Don't put the light!"

The householder stood up and reached with his hand for the light switch. With his right, he swung the chair up, and, challenged he had grappled, face high for the intruder. Down went the burglar. The householder held him there, while the citizen jumped, 160 pounds, three times on his prostrate body, impressing it was a terribly sick burglar. He pulled back away in an instant.

"You know," said my neighbor, "I spent four years in the army, and was in the war, but I never got within a mile of any Germans . . ."

Three Candidates In Running For TLC Presidency

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP)—A youth movement takes over today at the head of Canada's oldest and biggest central union body, no matter who wins the presidency of the 590,000-member Trades and Labor Congress.

The three leading candidates for the most influential post in Canadian labor are all in their forties. President Percy R. Bengough, stepping out after 12 years in office, is 71.

Whoever wins will team up as half of the youngest one-two combination in the history of Canada's two big congresses. The second-highest full-time job in the congress, general secretary-treasurer, is held by 39-year-old Gordon Cushing, who will be re-elected in this afternoon's convention balloting.

Gunning for the top spot are Claude Jodoin, 41, of Montreal, Allister F. MacArthur, 43, of Toronto and R. K. (Bob) Gervin, 46, of Vancouver.

The overnight betting odds appeared to favor Jodoin but supporters of all three men were pulling on strong last-minute drives among delegates. Backers of Jodoin, who has the tacit support of Bengough, and of MacArthur, who is looking for the big block of Ontario votes, were particularly cheerful.

CASH ON THE LINE

With supporters laying cash on the line for their choices Wednesday night, a late unofficial canvass of the betting ran this way:

Jodoin, odds on at four to five; MacArthur, six to five against; Gervin 10 to 1 against.

Jodoin workers were looking for a win on the first ballot, and were expressing hopes of capturing as many as 300 of the approximately 690 delegates who had registered at the last count.

MacArthur strategists expected him to be running second to Jodoin on the first ballot but to overtake him on a second ballot in the expectation that, with the low man rounded out, Gervin votes from the west would switch largely to their man.

NEW TOURNIQUET

A new medical tourniquet which may help reduce the number of deaths in warfare has been developed by the defence research board. Made of black rubber, the tourniquet can be applied by the wounded person himself and requires no knowledge of pressure points. Cowie, a chemical engineer who helped develop the tourniquet, demonstrates its use to Mrs. Joyce Acton, a laboratory technician at Otawa. (CP Photo.)

Group Ownership Of Newspapers Said Dangerous

TORONTO (CP)—The concentration of any major portion of the press in the hands of a few individuals "carries the seeds of thought control," W. B. Sawdon, president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, said Wednesday.

Speaking to delegates at the 35th annual convention, he said that of the 81 daily newspapers in Canada with a circulation in excess of 5,000, more than one-quarter are under group ownership and "should be cause of concern to everyone."

"Others are directly or indirectly controlled by individuals whose first interest is in endeavors far removed from the newspaper world. A publisher's first and only loyalty must be the best interests of his readers."

When a great part of the press is controlled by a few persons, he said, freedom of thought is in danger. These persons were usually interested in commercial gains only. They did not adhere to newspaper ethics or duty to their individual community.

VISHINSKY ARRIVES

NEW YORK (AP)—A smiling, affable and somewhat coy Andrei Vishinsky arrived from Russia Tuesday with the "hope that the American press, radio and other organizations will support the efforts of all honest men in their struggle for peace." The chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations, his wife and daughter were passengers on the Queen Mary.

Want Council Members Granted Lost-Time Pay

ST. THOMAS (CP)—The Ontario Municipal Association decided Wednesday members of municipal councils should be granted an extra allowance in addition to their annual stipends and travelling expenses.

The association will petition the provincial government to amend the Municipal Act so that councillors can be compensated for the time and money lost from their normal occupations while on municipal business.

A Timmins resolution asked for legislation to permit operation of joint police and fire departments; a second asked for the establishment of a central registry of stolen cars.

Some Casual Visitors Get In To Have Chat With St. Laurent

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent is interested in and curious about people, and thereby hangs a number of untold tales about visitors who get in to see this busy man.

The job of running the Canadian government has grown so complex that prime ministers of recent years have little time for receiving casual visitors.

But there is a steady demand—about 15 requests a week on an average—from people who want an audience with the prime minister. Only about three or four are granted each week.

This does not take in to account his cabinet colleagues, branch heads and political workers.

SECRETARY IS DISCREET

Pierre Asselin, 43-year-old private secretary to Mr. St. Laurent knows some good stories about those who leap the barrier only because they are lucky and the prime minister is interested in people.

But he won't talk about these stories. It is Mr. Asselin's job to keep down the number of audiences in a tactful way.

He does this by interviewing the applicants personally or by telephone or letter, attempting to direct them to other less overworked ministers who probably are the ones that should be seen in any case on a particular problem.

When the applicant is a plain curiosity-seeker, a crank or some slick operator with an idea to sell, the turn-down is not so difficult.

Not unless it happens, as it has on occasions, that the prime minister chances to walk into the anteroom at the moment of discussion.

P.M. TAKES OVER

Then occurs one of those incidents which Mr. Asselin does not like to discuss. The importuning visitor is sometimes greeted by the easy-going prime minister and invited in for a chat. No harm is done and the prime minister probably makes a friend even if the value of the friendship may be negligible.

But there are times when Mr. Asselin follows a hunch and sets up an interview with a perfect stranger.

Recently a United States tourist got in to see Mr. Asselin and told him, frankly, that he would like to have the honor of meeting the prime minister.

It was not one of those hard-pressure days and Mr. Asselin arranged a meeting. A few minutes later the tourist left, beaming.

"Wait until I tell the folks back home about this—they'll never believe it," he exclaimed.

Congress Wants Immigration Under Board

REGINA (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, critic of federal immigration policy, urged Wednesday that administration of immigration matters be placed under a government-labor-management commission.

The TLC's national convention adopted a resolution blaming last winter's post-war unemployment largely on cold-weather immigration and criticized "unplanned" immigration policies.

It said immigration programs should be planned in relation to national development requirements which could best be done through the department of labor.

Guests were present from Kenmore, Ottawa; Winchester, Toronto; Belleville, Whitney, Bancroft, Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald will reside at Cornwall Ontario.

HENRY—TOWNES

HASTINGS—At the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Henry, Hastings the marriage took place on Saturday, August 21st, of Donna Marylne Townes of Trenton, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Townes, to their only son, Louis Cecil Herbert Henry of the RCAF. The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. R. Jay Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. O. Ward, of Trenton, the bride was wearing a white organ suit with pale pink accessories and corsage of pink roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Wanda Townes of Trenton, who was dressed in white floch voile and wore white accessories and pink carnations.

The groom was attended by Mr. Ronald Lockhart.

A reception followed in the Sunday school parlor of Trinity United Church, Hastings. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Lisle, received wearing navy sheer with a mauve hat and corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother wore navy sheer with a blue hat and corsage of pink carnations.

After a short honeymoon, the couple will be in Trenton, where the bridegroom is stationed.

YAKE—REEVE

Gladioli and ferns formed a pretty setting in Christ Church, Belleville, on Saturday, August 21st, at 3.00 p.m., for the marriage of June Edith Reeve, of Belleville, Ontario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Reeve to Gordon Paul Yake, of Napanee, son of Mrs. John Hall Yake, and the late Mr. Yake. Archdeacon F. B. Gossgrave, rector of the church, officiated.

Mr. John Croyden Withers, organist and director, furnished the wedding music, and accompanied the choir of six boys who rendered "O Perfect Love". Given in the bridal party entered the church; "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony a Psalm during the ceremony; during the signing of the register, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," and during the recessional, "Wedding March."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. William H. Reeve, the bride wore a lovely gown of embroidered nylon marquisette over tulle, fashioned with fitted strapless bodice and matching jacket. Her veil of nylon tulle was held in place by a crown of orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade of red roses.

Miss Joanne Gibbon, of Belleville, as maid of honor, wore a ballerina length gown of navy nylon sheer with white accessories, and carried a crescent bouquet of pink and white flowers.

Miss Lulu McQuaid, sister of the bride and Miss Melrose McKinley, of Picton, the bride's attendants, were sky blue nylon over taffeta with matching gloves and hats. They carried nosegays of white and yellow mums.

Mr. Alex Tait, Jr., Wellington, was groomsman and ushers were Messrs. Leon McQuaid, brother of the bride, and Murray Vandi, Wellington.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother wearing powder blue dress with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose navy blue with navy accessories.

For travelling, the bride chose a blue silk linen dress with white accessories and pink corsage. Following a honeymoon to points east, the happy couple will reside at R.R. No. 10, Picton.

Weddings

MACDONALD—GILES

St. Andrew's United Church, Coe Hill, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday, August 14th, at 2.30 p.m., when Phyllis Emily Giles, youngest daughter of Mrs. George Giles, and the late Mr. Giles became the bride of Ralph Ferguson MacDonald of Kenmore and Mr. and Mrs. George MacDonald. The church was prettily adorned with baskets and sprays of multi-colored gladioli; while other summer flowers, decorated the altar forming a lovely background for the ceremony at which the Rev. Leslie Beatty officiated.

Traditional wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Johnson and the guest soloist Mr. Reginald Peters of Peterborough, sang "The Wedding Prayer," previous to the processional; "My World", during the signing of the register and "I Will Walk Beside You" during the wedding dinner.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Burt Giles, looked charming in a floor-length bridal gown of white nylon lace and net over satin with border of Chantilly lace. Her three-quarter length veil was caught by a pleated circlet, and she carried a white Bible, the gift of her bridegroom, and a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Margaret Wilson, of Bancroft, was bridesmaid, wearing pale blue net over taffeta, and carrying a hand bouquet of summer flowers.

Misses Deborah Boff of Toronto, and Cynthia Burrowes, of Belleville, little flower girls of the bride, were demure and pretty flower girls, dressed in pink organdy, and carrying bouquets of summer flowers.

Mr. Eric MacDonald, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, while Mr. Donald Giles, and a friend of the bridegroom, acted as ushers.

Many pictures were taken in the church and on the church lawn. The wedding dinner was served by the W.A. in the church hall which was prettily decorated with pink and white streamers and wedding bells. Sixty-five guests were present. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake.

Premier Predicts Women Will Be Elected to N.B. Legislature

SACKVILLE, N.B. (CP) — New Brunswick women will be elected to both the legislature and House of Commons in "the days to come," Premier Hugh John Flemming predicted in an address here. He spoke at a special convocation marking the 100th year of education of women at Mount Allison University.

At present New Brunswick is represented in the Senate by Mrs. Muriel McQueen Fergusson of Fredericton. Well-known in the public life of the province, Senator Fergusson was appointed to the Upper Chamber last year.

Mr. Flemming's prediction, Premier Flemming said, "Perhaps we have not progressed as far or as rapidly as in other countries in giving women a larger share in political and business life . . . If not, the time is rapidly approaching when we will."

INFLUENCE OF WOMEN

Mr. Flemming added with a chuckle: "Let us hope they will have the proper political philosophy."

Possibly most men are inclined to underestimate the tremendous educational influence of women, the premier said. In totalitarian countries the leaders of modern propaganda were used to train the young in the moral basis of philosophies with this "tremendous power" of indoctrination vested in the hands of a small group of rulers.

In free countries this power to indoctrinate youth is held by women almost exclusively. Theirs is the power and theirs is the awe-inspiring responsibility to largely establish the moral bases and ideas of truth and justice through which a free society may properly continue."

In today's complex world, he continued, the simple relationship of mother to daughter by which women were educated down through the centuries can no longer be expected to equip women to assume the immense responsibilities indicated.

DEEP IMPLICATIONS

"But it would be well to remember, Premier Flemming said, that co-education has "deeper, broader implications than mere sit-side-by the creation of better personal opportunities."

Fundamentally, the question of co-education was coupled with the problem of the survival of a free world, since "every human generation is its formative years is under the control of womankind."

Women would continually be developing new talents and abilities. In New Brunswick there were increasing demands for trained nurses, office workers and employees at all three levels of government, the administration hoped that improvements in the provincial service would serve to provide more and better positions, so that New Brunswick girls will remain in Canada in the task of building our province and our nation."

Fashion Flashes

High styling makes a mouton coat a wonderful budget buy for college or career girls. Pearl gray mouton is shown with a smart 30-inch boxy coat, made elegant by silk braid borders on big patch pockets.

A big help for a pleasant evening is a dress that is distinctive yet not overdone, and is easy to wear. For dinner and theatre and dancing, one house has done in black net over satin in huge, wide shoulder capelets framing the deep, tapering neckline. A ready bow is tied at the centre side of the domed skirt towards the hem.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carson Marks 83rd Milestone

Mrs. Elizabeth Carson of Crookston, recently celebrated her 83rd birthday with 30 of her close relatives present, including her two daughters, Mrs. Isaac Wannamaker, and Mrs. Morley Craig with their husbands, and her son, Mr. Albert Carson, and his wife, all of Bellleville.

Also present were her grandchildren, Mrs. George Dalnard, and Mr. Dalnard; Mr. Charles Wannamaker and Mrs. Wannamaker; Mrs. John Wannamaker and Mrs. Wannamaker, Mr. Carl Wannamaker and Mrs. Wannamaker, and Miss Barbara Wannamaker, all of Belleville; Miss Bernic, Horner, of St. Catharines, Mr. Percy Wannamaker and Mrs. Wannamaker, of Crookston, and Mrs. R. J. Brennan and Mr. Brennan of Kingston.

Twelve great grandchildren added to the entertainment, and two were unable to attend.

Mrs. Carson is enjoying the best of health and looking forward to more years of happiness.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

SHE MUST LEARN HER LESSON ABOUT READY-MADE THANK-YOU CARDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I need your help, please! For apparently I've committed a serious social error, my new husband is distressed about it, but I do hope you can guide me as to what I can do, if anything, to make up for it. Mr. husband and I have been married only three months, and last week-end was the first one we have been invited to spend with friends. These friends are new to me, but long-time friends of my husband and his family. So of course I wanted to make a good impression. Instead, of the bad impression I apparently did make. The day after our return I sent them a thank-you note, a printed card-of-thanks-for-a-visit. When I told my husband that evening what I had done, he said he was horrified and that I should have known that it would be terrified at my doing such an "ignorant" thing. that I should of course have written a real bread-and-butter letter, that I should have had to let him write it if I couldn't. Was what I did so wrong. Mrs. Beeckman? My husband just won't discuss the subject with me any more, and I just can't tell you how I'd welcome your advice. Most of all I'd like to know if there is anything, any kind, at all, that I could do about it now.

—Perplexed

Let's face it . . . your husband was entirely right in being disappointed and bothered by what you did. But dry your tears and make his confusion: Never, never send a ready-made card of thanks of any kind, to thank for a visit to thank for a present of any kind, to thank for a message of any kind. The gesture of thoughtfulness to you (or to you and your husband) reach for your personal letter-paper or note-paper or plain white note-paper and, in your own words write a thank-you note, sincere, enthusiastic, as charming as possible.

What can you do to try to correct your error now? My suggestion is that you choose at once for your hostess (or for the family) a carefully thought-out gift, and send it with a note of appreciation for the visit you and your husband had with them. Don't, please, even mention the printed thank-you card — the less said about this, the sooner mended — but make your note so charming they will not remember (we hope) the misguided card. (For your husband's reassurance, be sure to read your note to him before you mail it, and perhaps say something like this, to break his silence: "Dear sir, please forgive me for sending the thank-you card—I promise never to do this again. Now, I'd like to send the gift to the hostess, and enclose the note-of-thanks if you approve of what I've written.")

SECRETARY PROCEDURE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I've just landed a fine position as secretary to a very important and popular gentleman, and I want to be very sure about my business manners. He has his own private office, and often, when he is dictating to me, he receives personal telephone calls. I never know quite what to do. I've tried not to listen to the conversation, I've tried looking into space or at the ceiling, but I don't feel comfortable. Now I wonder if it wouldn't be best for me to leave the room until he has finished on the telephone. What is your suggestion?—Secretary.

You might follow the direct approach and ask your employer what he prefers to have you do, "as you were" until he finishes speaking on the telephone, or leave the room until he summons you back. Or the more indirect approach: rise and start to leave the room, then he may signal to stop your going, or just let you go and summon you back when he finishes talking on the telephone.

MOTHER'S ENGAGEMENT RING AS DAUGHTER'S ENGAGEMENT RING?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm a young widow and my only child a daughter, has recently become engaged, and the announcement is to be made in about a month. My engagement ring is a particularly beautiful diamond, and my daughter has always been most enthusiastic in her praise for its beauty and for the sentiment. As it will eventually be hers, of course, I should very much like to give it to her now, my engagement ring as her engagement ring. Would this be proper? (I haven't spoken to her about it yet.) —Mother.

This is not so much a question of propriety, as it is of personal feelings. First you must find out from your daughter, how she would feel about it, and if she is inclined toward the idea, have her talk it over with her fiance. He is really the one most concerned, as customarily it is the fiance who provides the engagement ring. If you three are of one accord about this plan, that's all that matters.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

SHOULDERS SHOULD HAVE AN EASY POSE

Do you know that the way you carry your shoulders can give an onlooker an unfavorable impression? It is a fact. The girl who lets her shoulders fall forward and looks slouchy is not necessarily a slouchy person. She may have an orderly mind, attend to her manners in an orderly fashion; she just has not developed pride of appearance.

The stiff, rigid pose, with shoulders far back, is not necessarily indicative of the frigid, touch-me-not type, yet it suggests haughtiness and aloofness. With this attitude the body loses softness and grace.

Girls with the forward pose, apparently, are just too lazy to keep the spinal column extended, to lift the chest, to stop tightly. This state of affairs is ruinous to pretty figure. The upper portion of the back will be rounded. Time will accent it as it does all anatomical defects, unmercifully. For time is never on the side of beauty.

Unless the chest is lifted and shoulders have an easy pose breathing will be shallow. Shallow breathers seldom have healthy complexions. Nutritious food may slow up because of lack of oxygen. So it is that a single beauty liability may result in several ugly by-products.

Some young ladies who like to appear "arty" and sophisticated have a way of hunching their shoulders, pushing them up in their cost collar; when they walk. This habit causes muscle strain that is often reflected on the countenance.

Shoulders should be free and easy. They should not be lifted, thrown forward or back, but should be held in the posture intended them to be, in a normal position. With the correct pose, there will be no evidence of collar bones.

Sometimes the muscles of the shoulders are tight and muscle bound. In that case, corrective exercises will be helpful. Stand tall chest high, tummy flat. Bring hands above the head, clasping the backs together. This is a sort of winging motion. Use lots of muscle pull.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HIS WIFE CONSTANTLY RUNS TO HER MOTHER FOR ADVICE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

What do you think of a wife who let her mother lead her married life for her?

My wife and I are constantly quarrelling because, no matter what I say or what I do, my wife is always running to her mother to ask here what to do about it.

I am a hard-working man who loves his family—we have three small children—and would like to enjoy happy family life, but the way things are, it seems to be impossible.

Does it make any sense for a girl to marry and then act as though she were still a teen-ager who has to ask her mother everything before doing it, or am I wrong?

Dear Bob:

It would say it made no sense at all for a married woman to act the way you say your wife behaves. If you are a kind, considerate husband and father, who makes every effort to take care of his family as he should, you have a perfect right to be master in your own home. Not a dictatorial one, of course, nor one who has to say everything going his own way, but, in the last analysis, one who takes proper responsibility for seeing that things go as they should in his family.

If at all possible, I would think the best thing for you to do would be to move somewhere that would make it necessary for you to move your family so far away from your mother-in-law that your wife would keep going to her. Why don't you give this some thought?

On the other hand, if it is completely impossible for you to change your work and move somewhere, then you had better tell your wife kindly, but very firmly, that it is up to her to choose who she wants to be with, you or her mother, but that she can't take orders from her mother if she is going to live with you.

...Better Let Your "Confirmed Bachelor" Go His Own Way.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

At 27, I am engaged to a fellow 34 who is a confirmed bachelor. We were planning on a fall wedding, but all summer long he has seemed to have more interesting things to do than to come and see me. For example, he goes off every weekend with his men friends on fishing expenditions, and if I ever suggest that he might give up one of these weekends to spend it with me he says he doesn't want to be bossed by any woman.

What do you think of all this? —P. C.

Dear P. C.:

In my mind, a "confirmed bachelor" of this man's type is an extremely poor matrimonial risk. Apparently he is too used to living for himself alone to have any idea of making sacrifices for anyone. If you were to marry him, I doubt if you would ever have the happy companionship together that marriage should bring.

If I were in your place, I would hand back his ring fast.

Blue Mountain Crippled Children's Camp

By Mary Moore

"Rae" and "Lee" they are known as—the two hard-working kitchen directors at the Blue Mountain Crippled Children's Camp—and the children regard them as a sort of walking manna when they are about the spacious grounds.

"What's for dinner, Rae?" or "When do we have pancakes again, Lee?" is a typical greeting.

Rae chuckles and replies,

"That's a secret!" or "It takes too many pancakes to feed so many!"

But she's so glad that she has pleased them with the pancakes that the next week they do turn up again for supper, this time "just for the kids." At the time of our visit seventy-two young boys were in camp with seventy-eight staff members to care for them.

The Blue Mountain camp-site, in a gorgeous location near Collingwood, is one of five in Ontario supported by the Easter Seal Fund and dedicated to the care of handicapped folk. From mid-June to mid-September camps comprised of boys then girls, young and old, are entertained, provided new interests, new health, new hope in living. We share them. Miss Helen Wallace of Toronto, is Camp Director, and Catharine Aitchison of Essex, is senior nurse. Catherine was our gracious and cheerful guide on the tour, which lifted at the cook-house, a glorified one in this case, and the home of Rae and Lee.

Miss Rae, the chief of the kitchen, and her assistant, Miss Lee, of Stratford, out of their wealth of experience with appetites, some good and some poor, passed along to us some of their sure-fire recipes for large groups. Save them for if you ever have big church suppers or picnic crowds to cater to, they'll come in very handy.

The loving care with which the children are fed is demonstrated by the way fish is served. Fresh caught whitefish is baked, then cooled enough to flake and every last bone may be removed, for it is obvious that the hazard of swallowing a fish bone just cannot be added to the existing handicaps. Rae and Lee say their kitchen staff go through this tedious routine as philosophically as the children's own mothers would.

Late this spring you may remember that a mother wrote to me saying that she and a neighbor had accepted a request to be cooks for a summer camp for Boy Scouts. Could the many above two summer camp cooks have written to me saying they were trying their hands at the fore-bidding task and would be glad of more help.

So when I asked Rae what were the two most popular dishes that she and Lee glanced at Lee and said "I suppose it's the Meat and Potato Dish and the Fruit Sconse" and Lee agreed.

The amount below for the Meat and Potato Dish will serve nine. Multiply it by six to serve fifty.

Rae says that when you have a small family it is wise to make up this amount for it holds hot without any fuss (just wrap in their camp) or reheats without changing the delicious flavor.

MISS RAE'S MEAT AND POTATO DISH

(For 9—multiply by 6 to serve 50)

One and one-half lbs. hamburg, 3 lbs. peeled sliced potatoes, 1 sliced large onion, 1 10-oz. tin condensed tomato soup diluted with a 10-oz. can of water salt and pepper to taste. Arrange in a large casserole alternate layers of the meat and vegetables, sprinkling them with salt and pepper as you go. Pour over the diluted soup. Bake 2 hours at 300 deg. F. If multiplied by 6 to serve 50 bake larger pans 3 hours.

RAE'S FRUIT SCONES

Five 32-oz. quarts flour, 3 cup baking powder, 1-2 cup salt, 6 cups sugar, 5 cups shortening (Rae likes lard best), 5 lbs. raisins 10 eggs beaten and added to about 3 quarts milk. Sift first four ingredients and work fat in with fingers. Add raisins. Divide in three parts. Add about 1-3 of the egg-milk mixture to one to make a soft dough. Roll and cut in 4-inch squares, then triangles. Moisten and roll out next two portions the same way. Bake at 350 to 375 deg. F.for 125 scones.

CONSCIENCE, MONEY

Mother's Helper

A CUP or so of ordinary dry cereal is a child's delight. Mother may make a world of difference in his manners at bed time. It forms an interesting coating on his chin, and helps conceal hand mark. (Ask your local dept. if there's an assorted child's cup-collection.)

KILLED ON DARE

HEALDSBURG, Calif. (AP)—On a dare from friends to jump 30 feet into the Russian river here, airman Eugene R. Farrell, 19, of Endicott, N. Y., Tuesday climbed a 30-foot bridge girder and posed aloft. He appeared to have lost his nerve. Someone shouted: "You're yellow!" and Farrell prepared to dive. Instead he lost his footing, fell to the bridge pavement, and died without regaining consciousness.

Pouring Tea Can Become Trying Occupation for Politician's Wife

By PEGGY THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Pouring tea can become a trying occupation for a politician's wife.

That's the verdict of the wife of Canada's minister of justice. Mrs. Stuart Garson has had lots of experience since her husband went into politics back in the 1920s as a member of the Manitoba legislature.

However, when he was appointed premier in 1943 Mrs. Garson adopted some sage advice—never start pouring tea at social functions staged by numerous organizations.

"There were dozens of them and tears every day," she said in an interview. "Since I couldn't accept one and refuse another, I'd have been spending most of my life with a teapot in my hand."

HAS BUSY TIME

Mr. Garson came to Ottawa as justice minister in 1942 and his wife still finds life rather hectic although the tea-pouring menace is not so great.

She is president of the Parliamentary Wives' Association and has served on the executive of several Liberal organizations. She also belongs to a reading group which she describes as her only hobby.

"I don't get a chance to do much reading, although I try to learn some French," she said. She is attending classes in conversational French.

Her interest in French started some years before her marriage. She and a friend left their homes in Winnipeg for a European vacation. They spent some time in France, attending a few classes at the Sorbonne.

Two years ago Mrs. Garson and her husband were back in Paris. Old acquaintances were renewed.

"I saw my old landlady and several of the students I had known some 30 years ago. I was surprised to find them still there, after the war and everything."

MUSICAL FAMILY

Music is the favorite pastime in the Garson household. The home was built more or less to their own design and furnished in comfortable, easy manner.

"I don't like extremes in furniture," she explained.

A piano nestled in one corner of the living room is played by Mr. Garson and Marjorie, 14, and Eleanor, 12.

"Sometimes I try to play the violin," she mused. "I hadn't played it for years until lately my daughter Marjorie persuaded me to get it out."

NEW PROOF THAT MILLIONS CAN END THE NEED FOR LAXATIVES

—find relief from constipation this safe, natural way—without the injurious effects of repeated laxative use.

With all the progress of medical science over the past 30 years, authorities say there is no longer any reason why irregularity should be our most widespread human malady.

Nor is there any reason for developing the habit-forming use of harsh laxatives—of doing with one preparation after another in the vain hope of finding, in some potion or pill, the "secret" of lasting relief.

Long-continued study of the problem has shown that one of the most common causes of irregularity is lack of bulk in the diet. And when this is the case, the common-sense correction is to be found not in the drug store but in your food store!

IT HAS LONG BEEN A MEDICALLY RECOGNIZED FACT THAT NATURE HAS PROVIDED, IN THE NATURAL FOODS MEN WERE INTENDED TO EAT, ALL THE ELEMENTS NECESSARY FOR THE LIFE-LONG AVOIDANCE OF COMMON CONSTIPATION.

One of these elements is natural fibrous bulk, or vegetable cellulose, which normally and naturally aids the rhythmic process of elimination.

In no natural food is this natural bulk so ideally found as in the outer layers, or bran, of the whole wheat kernel which, as you know, is lost in modern milling.

Because of the known value of bran in promoting regularity the Kellogg Company has produced a complete, whole bran—with nothing taken away to lessen its effectiveness—and under the name of Kellogg's All-Bran, the natural laxative bran. How effective is All-Bran? This has been demonstrated in a series of systematic clinical studies reported in leading medical journals.

In one study, 135 people with known delayed bowel function were given one ounce of All-Bran daily for one week. They were studied clinically and with X-ray with tests made before, during and after they ate the All-Bran.

OF THE 135 PEOPLE, 107 SHOWED DEFINITE CLINICAL IMPROVEMENT IN JUST 7 DAYS.

IN A FOLLOW-UP STUDY, BETTER THAN 6 OUT OF EVERY 7 PATIENTS WHO WERE GIVEN ALL-BRAN IMPROVED.

The greatest advantage of All-Bran is that it corrects the cause of irregularity due to insufficient bulk. Chemical or drug-type laxatives, on the other hand, are intended only for overnight relief of a temporary stoppage.

When people use these products habitually—in a way that laxative makers never intended—they punish their digestive system in a way that nature never intended. Instead of correcting the cause, they often actually make their condition worse.

If you think you must take a laxative preparation occasionally, do so. But do it wisely. Read the instructions completely. AVOID EXCESSIVE USAGE. But there is a way to avoid taking drug-type laxatives and to have your confidence on nature if lack of bulk in the diet is your trouble. Just eat daily a one-ounce serving of All-Bran for breakfast and drink plenty of water.

This All-Bran plan has helped millions to re-establish and to maintain healthful regularity. Why not you?

SHANNONVILLE

Former Resident, Wife, Appointed To Indor, India

SHANNONVILLE — A former Shannonville resident, Rev. John A. Lougheed, and Mrs. Lougheed, were designated as missionaries to India, at Pelly Church, Sask.

Mr. Lougheed had been appointed by the Board of Overseas Missions of the United Church of Canada as a professor to Indor College in India. Mrs. Lougheed will serve as nurse. They will sail in September for their new field of service, with their two sons, Richard and Peter.

PRESENTATIONS

At a supper meeting in the community hall, held in their honor, Mrs. Lougheed was presented with travelling gifts by the ladies of her group in the Pelly congregation.

At a special service in the church a beautiful Geneva gown was presented by Rev. J. M. Spence, on behalf of Mr. Lougheed's parents, Rev. A. W. and Mrs. Lougheed, of Port Hope, Ont. They were also presented with other gifts at this service.

Mr. and Mrs. Lougheed will be greatly missed by those who have come to know them in the past two years of their ministry in Pelly.

Mr. Lougheed is a son of Rev. A. W. Lougheed, a former United Church minister on Shannonville circuit, who has now retired and is living in Port Hope.

SHANNONVILLE — Mr. Guy Landon, of Timmins, was a recent guest of his sister, Mrs. Leon Fritz and Mr. Fritz.

Miss Dorothy Dowdell is vacationing in Hamilton and Toronto.

Mrs. Frank Doxtator and Mrs. Fred Barlow spent Tuesday afternoon and evening with Mrs. Andy Reid on the front of Thurlow.

Mr. and Mrs. Tlirle Hedden and Marie of St. Louis, Missouri, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Little, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Juby.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse First, of Perriston, Mich., spent a few days visiting relatives and friends here.

Mr. James McFarlane is seriously ill, following a major operation in Kingston General hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gedden, Desoronto, spent the tea hour with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Stratton, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ogden, Patty and Stephen, have returned home from a vacation with relatives in Nova Scotia.

Those present at a family gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Wescott on Tuesday evening were, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Liddle, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Liddle and Mrs. Rex. Chaplin, Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Liddle, Ralph and Ronald of Port Huron, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doxtator accompanied Mr. Dick Cranston and Mr. Andy Cranston, Belleville, to Ottawa and Rempiville, and spent a couple of days visiting relatives there.

Miss Gail Juby is on a vacation with her grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Juby, at a cottage near Smith Falls.

Friends of Mrs. William F. White will be sorry to hear she is a patient in Kingston General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sherry, Belleville, were tea hour guests on Friday evening of Mrs. Charles Kurl.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Doolittle, and Adrienne, Belleville, spent an evening recently with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Juby.

Mr. Stanley MacDonald is in poor health at the present time.

Minto

Effects of Cold, Wet Spring, Adverse Summer Conditions Now Apparent in Labor Force

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The effects of a cold, wet spring and adverse summer growing conditions in many parts of Canada this year are becoming apparent now in the harvest labor force.

With some exceptions, crops are below last year's yield. In many areas, slow growth has pushed harvesting beyond last year's dates, and farmers fear fall frosts may further lower the yield.

A smaller labor movement, especially between provinces, will be seen this fall for two main reasons — crops will not be as heavy and many areas will use prospective harvest helpers to alleviate local unemployment problems.

MECHANIZATION A FACTOR

The swing to mechanization on Canadian farms has further reduced the demand for unskilled labor. Help mainly in demand is experienced combine operators, truck and tractor drivers. There is little demand for ordinary harvest labor.

On the other hand, the national employment office in Ottawa reports an ample supply of farm labor, more than has been available for some years.

About 1,500 harvesters will move into the prairie provinces if present crop estimates do not change, or 200 less than last year. Alberta has asked for 750 men, Saskatchewan, 500, and Manitoba 250.

The reduction is chiefly due to the situation in Saskatchewan, the largest grain-producing province. Ottawa reported. Much of the crop in the northeast section of the province was spoiled by rust, and the provincial government is planning to move men and equipment from that area to other parts of the province as they are needed.

Wages in the three prairie provinces will average about $7 to $8 a day for field workers, with experienced and skilled workers making considerably more.

HARVESTING DELAYED

Because of the late spring seeding, farmers generally are not asking for help until about Sept. 7, although employment offices have asked workers to arrive about Sept. 1. Manitoba reports some scattered harvesting already in progress, and expects it to be general by the beginning of the month.

Harvesting is expected to be spread over a longer period than usual, because of staggered spring planting.

British Columbia reports it has a large reservoir of labor available, made up chiefly of workers from completed construction projects.

Much of the Okanagan fruit harvest during the last two weeks of September will be gathered by women and students. Pay will be slightly less than last year.

Ontario farm employment officials report that about 750 workers will come into Ontario to help with the harvest, about 100 more than last year. Of these, about 250 will come from the Maritimes and 500 from the west.

SLIGHT SURPLUS

Many come into Ontario regularly to work on the tobacco crop, and this year officials report a slight labor surplus in southeast Ontario.

Quebec reports that demand for farm labor so far has been slight, but officials expect it to pick up when the harvest season develops in a few weeks.

Employment service officials in the Maritimes report no outside help will be brought in. Local facilities for meeting farm labor needs have increased, and this coupled with reduced demands for help for other parts of Canada, will assure enough workers for present estimated needs.

The two major crops requiring harvest laborers are apples and potatoes. Weather conditions during the next month will decide the condition of the potato crop, and how many workers will be needed. If the weather remains favorable, the requirements are expected to be the same as in 1953.

A brighter picture was painted for apple crops in Nova Scotia's Annapolis valley than in 1953. With hopes for a large crop, it is expected that 300 or 400 pickers will be required. They will be drawn from local sources.

Many Attend Wildwood Open Air Concert

RYLSTONE — Another wildwood concert was held at Mr. Bourse's picnic grounds at Crowe River Bridge, on Sunday evening with a still larger crowd than at any previous concert. The theme song, "Church in the Wildwood," and the welcoming words from the Institute president, Mrs. Wilfred Spencer, and the picnic grounds' operator, Mr. Bourne, were the opening exercises for the following program, which was collected by the Seymour East Women's Institute.

Selections by the Campbellford Citizens' Band, "O Canada" "Manhattan Beach," "The Lord Is My Shepherd," "Onward Christian Soldiers" "Entry of the Gladiators," "Abide With Me," "Sun of My Soul," "March Lorraine," "Faith of Our Fathers," and "Bombastia."

Piano-accordion solo, "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise," by Gerald Taylor, of Wellman's Corners. Encore, "Nearer My God to Thee."

Community singing led by Fred W. Barnum, "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross," and "Bringing in the Sheaves."

Vocal duets, "Come Holy Spirit," by Patsy Wallace and Mrs. Ross Hart, of Wellman's Corners. Encore, "Whispering Hope."

Violin and guitar duet, "Standing in the Need of Prayer," by Lula Belle and Arn-it Matthews, of Wellman's Corners. Encore "Red River Valley."

Group singing under the direction of Mrs. Ernest Irwin, Junior, "Jesus Bids Us Shine," led by Barbara Watson and Verne Reid, of Petherick's Corners. Intermediates, "Pack Up Your Troubles," led by Messrs. Gordon Osbourne, Gerald and Roy Fry, Bob Tinney and Eldon Petherick all of Petherick's Corners; Seniors, "Softly and Tenderly," led by Ernest Sloffett, of Campbellford.

Violin and harmonica duet, "Living For Jesus," by Don Chambers and Leslie Billen of Burnbrae. Encore, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus"

Selections by Campbellford Citizens' Band, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," "Song of The Brave," "Beautiful Garden of Prayer," and Colonel Bogey's March.

"God Save The Queen."

Many thanks are due to the Turnabout Elevator Company, of Tarcoola, who so graciously loaned the loud-speaker and microphone equipment to Mr. Bourne, thereby helping to make the concerts a success.

Next Sunday, August 29, is expected to be the last concert of the season, and it is hoped to again have a good turnout. Anyone having suggestions or numbers for the program is asked to contact, any of the committee, Mrs Ernest Irwin, Mrs. Don Kerr, Mrs. Ellis Jones or the president, Mrs. Wilfred Spencer.

Glace Bay Shopping for New Industries to Help Offset Worsening in Mine Industry

By IRVING C. WHYNOT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP)—This Cape Breton town, where coal is an allegiance, is shopping for new industries to help offset any worsening in the mining industry.

As Canada's largest coal town, Glace Bay lives—and could die—with the coal industry. The situation is brighter than it was a year ago, but still not good.

The coal pits which give 5,000 of the town's, 7,000-man working force their pay cheques are in bad times, and the miners have been told there may be worse to come.

CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY

President Lionel Forsyth of Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, which operates all Glace Bay mines, says the industry is on the brink of disaster. A joint government-company campaign is already underway to woo laid-off miners away from oil and other fuels back to coal.

The drop in consumption on the domestic market, plus stiff competition from the United States and the inroads of oil, are the main problems facing the industry.

An advisory board of trade under president Nathan Siegel is hound ing government and business heads looking for anything and everything that may be brought to Glace Bay to supply jobs.

The board's industrial development committee is working to survey the town's possibilities and to advertise them.

SECONDARY INDUSTRIES

Among other things, they say furniture, clothing, hats and caps, boats, toys and games and plastic goods could be produced here economically.

The fishing industry is being investigated for possible expansion, and the board is after the government to modernize its harbor.

"We plan to set up a corporation which will undertake not only the creation of new industries but the reinforcing of old ones," says Mr. Siegel.

"Funds will be raised to establish and maintain an organization headed by a competent industrial engineer. His task will be to survey the potentialities of the area; then sell these advantages to industries looking for factory sites."

HISTORIC AREA

Glace Bay actually is a collection of coal-blackened communities sprawling across the southeast edge of the island of Cape Breton. It covers an area half as big again as Halifax although the capital city is four times Glace Bay's 25,500 population.

French soldiers named the town in 1720 because of the ice in the harbor. When the French were driven from the fortress of Louisburg, the town remained almost deserted until the 1780's when Scottish immigrants arrived and started working the deposits discovered by the French.

Some became miners but it wasn't until a Boston firm under Henry Whitney bought out the pits in 1893 that coal became big business. He organized the Dominion Coal Company and boasted he could hoist 3,000,000 tons of coal a year for a thousand years. He wasn't far wrong. Today the town ships out about 2,500,000 tons a year.

Coal brought thousands of men into the area and the 'Bay became a boom town.

TROUBLED GROWTH

The pains of growth were compounded by labor strife and it wasn't until 1925 that relations between the company and miners reached a point of mutual respect and peace. And although there have been strikes since then—some of them bitter—the pattern has been for better conditions, more pay and closer co-operation and understanding.

But trouble struck the pits again in 1931 when the company warned that some mines were losing money and would have to close if production wasn't increased.

By early 1933, because some mines were closed and others shut down to permit mechanization, employment was sharply felt. At the peak 12,500 Glace Bay miners were out of work—more than 20 per cent of the town's working force.

Business slumped and merchants who had long carried idle miners on credit, hung out "cash only" signs. Then, slowly, the pits came back to life and for the most part there have been only minor layoffs.

FUTURE PROBLEMS

But Glace Bay faces an uncertain future.

Mines Minister Patterson says that "market trends and forecasts imply strongly a serious curtailment of our coal mining operations.

"Unless we rally to this cause the closing of mines and general curtailment of industrial activity will remove the basic income of some 20-25,000 people."

The company hopes increased mechanization — including new mechanical miners which can dig eight tons of coal a minute—and increased sales activity will bring the industry through the crisis.

Other hopes for the future include experimental work on a coal-burning gas turbine and the campaign in regain the domestic heating market for coal.

Immediate aim of the drive is to stop the inroads of oil and, if possible, reverse the trend.

But all this is a slow process, and mechanization means less jobs. And that's why Glace Bay wants more secondary industries.

Mr. and Mrs. George Carpenter, of Toronto, visited Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Mumby, over the week-end.

Need More Umberallas

LONDON (AP)—Britain is facing the prospect of one of the worst harvests in years.

So much rain has poured on this island during the summer that umbrella factories are far behind the demand.

Acre upon acre of green wheat is lying flat on the soddon earth with little or no hope of recovery.

The canning industry has seen its soft fruit pounded until its losses are estimated in millions of pounds.

Algonquin Park Museum Attracts Many Thousands

ALGONQUIN PARK—"Fantastically beautiful", a "credit to any state or province," and "never seen anything like it in all our travels," are a few of the comments of tourists travelling through Ontario's Algonquin Park and seeing the Nature Museum, first opened last year and now visited by thousands of sight-seers every day. And the Museum, aside entirely from its interior, is beautiful. Designed by the Department of Public Works, it stands on a tree-surrounded eminence overlooking Found Lake, adjacent to the highway which runs across the south end of the 2,700 square mile park. It is situated mid-way between Cache Lake, park headquarters, and Smoke Lake, where the Department of Lands and Forests explains hatchery (also a famous sight-seeing spot) is located. Deer walk on and across the highway and with complete equanimity, accept handouts from visitors in cars. The visitors, of course, must not stop their cars on the paved roadways.

The Museum contains specimens of the Park's flora and fauna. It also has a small theatre in which Park specialists of the Department of Lands and Forests show motion pictures of fish and wildlife activities and lecture on Park history and kindred subjects. One wing of the building is devoted to birds—and visiting ornithologists spend more time there than anywhere else. The birds, mounted in cases, are shown in their natural habitat, with painted backdrops depicting swamps, hills, trees. There are specimens of the many birds in the Park, ranging from the tiny field mice or the squirrels, owlets, chipmunks.

Another wing specializes in the fish, ranging from the lordly speckled trout to the lowly pumpkin seed. Turtles and snakes are also featured, along with the information that there are no poisonous snakes in the whole Park.

The Museum is open from 10 to 6 daily and there is no charge for admission.

West Huntingdon

WEST HUNTINGDON.—The Endeavour Class held its regular monthly meeting at Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cooke's home on Thursday evening with a good attendance of members present. Mr. H. R. Burke led in a lively singsong of old fashioned hymns. Mr. Alex McCurdy presided and conducted the Scripture reading. Arthur Wilson offered prayer. Mr. and Mrs. Hudson contributed a duet. Mr. Phillip Carr gave a reading.

Mr. Kenneth Stewart, of Lakefield a former member of the class, was the guest speaker and brought an inspiring message using as his subject, "Youthful Ministeries."

Arthur Wilson presided over a quiz when each member was asked what was the most interesting part of Mr. Stewart's address.

Following the business period and benediction, Mrs. Cooke served refreshments and Mr. H. R. Burke voiced the appreciation of the class to Mr. and Mrs. Cooke.

Mr. Clayton Wright returned home from the Belleville General Hospital, on Sunday, much improved in health.

Mrs George Ashley and Anne, spent a day, recently, with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grills of the 2nd of Thurlow.

Mr. Orval Ashley of Belleville, spent a day recently with Mr. and Mrs. James S. Wilson.

Mr and Mrs. Ross Sprague of Big Island, were Friday guests of Mrs. George Baragar and Mr. and Mrs. John Moorcroft.

Mrs. Judy Wood, of Ivanhoe, spent a few days with her cousin Anne Ashley.

Mr and Mrs. Goldie McInroy and Mr. and Mrs. John McInroy attended the funeral services of the late Richard Graham of Elmvale, on Saturday. Much sympathy is extended to the parents, Mr. and Mrs Marvin Graham. Mrs. Graham was a former resident here, being Miss Geraldine McLeaming, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Goldie McInroy. Richard was two years old and was killed when struck by a milk truck.

Mr. Angus Hannis and Mr. Harold Robinson, of Belleville, representing the Gideons, had charge of the United Church service on Sunday morning as it were dinner guests of Sarah and Arthur Wilson

Mr. and Mrs Kenneth Wright, of Belleville, were Sunday evening guests of Mrs. William Bray.

Mr and Mrs. Desmond Gunning and daughter, of Batawa, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs Mac Sarles.

MAN ASPHYXIATED

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP) — Frank McMillan, 52, of Lindsay, was asphyxiated Tuesday when fire gutted a summer cottage at Pleasant point on Sturgeon lake, eight miles north of here. His body was found in a bedroom by Lindsay firemen.

13 KILLED IN BUS

RAWDON

Mrs. J. Mulheron To Attend World Church Meeting

RAWDON.—Mrs. John Mulheron, of Rawdon Methodist Church circuit, is a delegate to part of the sessions of the World Council of Churches at their second world assembly at North Western University, Evanston, Illinois.

Mrs. Mulheron left Belleville by train on Tuesday evening, August 24th and attend the sessions until the closing ceremony on August 31st. Mrs. Mulheron's brother, Rev. Dr. John Marsh, M.A., Ph.D., Mansfield College, Oxford, England, is presenting special lectures at this assembly.

Following the sessions, Dr. Marsh has an assignment of lectures in New Jersey and then he plans to visit at the home of his sister, the fifth Lincoln, arriving in Stirling on September 8th.

It is understood that Professor Marsh will be guest minister on Rawdon circuit on Sunday, September 12th, at the three appointments.

Madoc

MADOC W.M.S.

MADOC — The Women's Missionary Society of Trinity United Church, Madoc, were privileged to have as their guest, Mrs. Small, a former missionary to China for over 40 years, when they met at the summer home of Mrs. Frank Dafoe, Moira Lake. Mrs. Albert Empey was in charge of the meeting due to the absence of the president, Mrs. Carmen.

After the business period was concluded, Mrs. Empey offered prayer for the missionary, Miss Yeadon and then, on behalf of the members, welcomed Mrs. Small to the meeting.

Miss Holmes, supply secretary, gave a splendid report of the layette that had been sent out and reminded the members that a bale would be prepared and sent out this fall.

Mrs. P. H. Nayler conducted the worship service, making use of parts of the book, "Making A Go of Life" and concluding with the hymn, "God Sees The Little Sparrow Fall." At this time Mrs. Small spoke briefly on how the hymns had been translated in Chinese.

Mrs. E. Burnside lead the prayer, using [illegible] book, "India and the Awakening" by Eleanor Roosevelt. Pictures were also shown of the Roosevelt home in Hyde Park. Mrs. Empey reviewed the program of the school for leaders to be held at Whitby and Mrs. Small closed with prayer.

Mrs. Moore extended to Mrs. Dafoe words of appreciation for her hospitality. An enjoyable social hour followed.

EASILY IDENTIFIED

WINNIPEG (CP)—How the illiterate portion of the electorate in India casts its vote was explained here by Rev. K. I. Koshy, Anglican missionary. For the Congress party they put their vote in a yellow box; for the socialists pink, and for the Communists red.

Wellington

W.I.

WELLINGTON — The regular meeting of the Wellington W.I. was held recently with 22 members and a few visitors in attendance in the town hall.

Due to the uncertainty of the weather, the annual picnic supper was cancelled.

Mrs. C. Ellis presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Wood.

Letters of appreciation were read from Mrs. Tice and Mrs. Halloran. Bills were presented and the same moved to be paid. The birthdays for July and one member who missed July and one for August were saluted as they dropped in their contributions.

Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Bovay were hostesses for the evening.

Mrs. Jackson gave the current events and then called on each member to give a short item, which they all did. Mrs. Harris displayed a real nice photograph taken by the Department of Highways of the group of ladies who were dressed in old time costumes when the new ferry "The Quinte Loyalist" was christened. This is to be placed in the Tweedmuir history book. Two members, Mrs. W. Jackson and Mrs. W. Callow are in the picture.

Mrs. A. Ogilvy read the poem of the month, "The Harvest Apple Tree" and "Goes to Church." A piano solo by Miss Mary Marvin was enjoyed by all.

A contest was put on by Mrs. Jackson with Mrs. Durant being the winner of the lovely prize. A bag of jelly beans had everyone guessing how many beans the bag held with little Miss Lyla Adams guessing the correct number. Tickets were then sold on a lovely lace edge pansy hankie made and donated by Mrs. Ellis Durante. The hospital fund was $3.40 richer by this. Mrs. Laura Wight held the lucky ticket.

Collection for the evening was $2.40. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pierce and daughter, Marjorie, of Stouffville, were Saturday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marvin. They were on their way home from Cornwall and just stopped in town for a few hours. Mr. Pierce was a former principal of the W.C.S. He has spent the past five years in Stouffville and now expects to go to the North Collegiate in Oshawa the beginning of September.

Mrs. William Yandt and Blaine spent a couple of days with her brother, Mr. Jack Hubbs at Cavan, last week.

Miss Nettie Post and Miss Mildred [illegible] are spending some time at the Post cottage here.

Miss Carolyn and Nancy Hubbs of Gore, are spending a week with their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William Yandt.

Murray Yandt held one of the lucky consolation tickets at the Elks' picnic on Sunday and won an electric alarm clock.

Mrs. Susie Down and Wanda, Mrs. Leonard Bryant and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dolly and Donnie attended the baseball game at Stouffville on Wednesday night. After the game, Mr. George Pierce a former Wellingtonian invited them to his home where Mrs. Pierce served refreshments before they left for home.

Mr. George Chute of Long Island, New York, spent the week-end with Mrs. Crawford and Miss Eleanor Crawford.

On Sunday, Mrs. E. Durant entertained Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey of Galt, Mrs. Ive Weir of Toronto and Mrs. Ellis Durante at supper to bring Mrs. Flora Durant's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyn Dorland and family are spending their holidays at their cottage here.

Mrs. Cory Harriss is spending this week in Buffalo, N.Y., the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Mercy.

Mrs. Clinton Calnan, of Belleville, entertained the past matrons club at her cottage on the bay front. About ten ladies from Wellington attended and enjoyed a pot-luck supper.

Mrs. Cyril Short, of Toronto, is the guest this week of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Hubbs and family of Toronto are the guests this week of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Hubbs. Mrs. Don Hubbs was soloist at the United Church on Sunday morning.

AIRMEN ESCAPE

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Two RCAF officers escaped injury Tuesday when their jet aircraft blew both tires as the plane landed at the RCAF station here. Flt. Lt. Keith Bell of Trenton, the pilot, said he felt one tire blow just as he touched down and when he applied the brakes the other tire burst. The plane skidded into a nearby field.

Plant-Withering Rust Sharply Cuts Canadian Wheat Crop With Durum Being Hardest Hit

WINNIPEG (CP)—Plant-withering rust which has sharply cut this year's Canadian wheat crop has hit hardest at durum wheat in a wide belt of the Canadian prairies and North Dakota, One authority has estimated the average loss at 65 per cent.

Durum is the grain used in macaroni and for months it has commanded top price and marketing priority in western wheat. Top grades bring $2.70 a bushel at the Lakehead compared with about $1.70 for bread wheat.

These points, along with the fact that durum deliveries are not restricted by any quota, led many western farmers to increase durum acreage this year. Western acreage has been estimated at 750,000 against 450,000 last year. Total Canadian wheat acreage is 23,437,-000.

ESTIMATE LACKING

No estimate has been made of this year's Canadian durum yield but farmers delivered about 7,000,000 bushels last year. Last year's durum crop in the U.S. was cut by rust to 12,900,000 from an initial-pated 39,000,000. The rust infestation is bad there this year.

Dr. F. J. Greaney, director of the Line Elevators farm service, said following a 4,000-mile field trip through the southern prairies that rust losses in Canadian wheat will be the worst since 1935 when the crop was cut by 87,000,000 bushels. Rust had struck in southern Manitoba, southeastern Saskatchewan and a belt 75 miles wide through Saskatchewan. In these areas, durum wheat would suffer more than bread wheat—the major crop.

"Some durum fields will be almost completely destroyed by stem rust," he said.

"Losses to durum wheat throughout southern Manitoba and southeastern and south-central Saskatchewan will be little different from those in North Dakota, where it is reliably estimated the 4 m a g e from stem rust alone will average at least 65 per cent.

"The durum variety Golden Ball is standing up extremely well under this year's epidemic of black 1351 stem rust," he said. "Although Golden Ball will probably grade above 3 Canada western, it appears to possess high resistance to stem rust, and considerable resistance to leaf rust as well. Golden Ball will yield well this year."

Dr. Greaney said durums west of Swift Current and in southern Alberta were resisting rust fairly well and there were prospects of a "pretty fair crop." The situation got progressively worse east of Swift Current.

HARVESTING STARTED

Harvesting is becoming general in south-western Manitoba and first samples of grain are reaching Winnipeg.

Manitoba Pool elevators reported that early durum samples indicated the great bulk is grading 4 C.W. amber durum and lower and is therefore not suitable for the needs of macaroni manufacturers.

Dealing with the general rust picture, the Canadian Pacific Railway said reports of rust infection were received last week from 114 points in Manitoba, 292 in Saskatchewan and 18 in eastern Alberta.

Canadian National Railways said deterioration due to leaf -rust is becoming more evident each week in large areas, chiefly in Saskatchewan.

Reports of milling companies also told of widespread rust infection and failure of some durum varieties.

Following is an estimate by Cargill's Canadian Institute of the West's durum acreage this year with last year's estimates in brackets: Manitoba 200,000 (70,000); Saskatchewan 550,000 ($70,000); Alberta 100,000 ($3,000).

Professor Fully Approves Plan 'More Homework'

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto university professor believes high school students should have "a lot more" exams and homework.

Prof. F. A. Hare, registrar at Victoria College, University of Toronto, said Wednesday he fully approved a plan in Trois-Rivieres, Que., under which high school students would be kept for a couple of hours after school to complete their homework.

School officials there said the plan is being tried because the pace of modern living, especially watching television, has cut into the time students should put into home studies.

Prof. Hare said most students are inadequately prepared to face university exams because they don't get enough practice in high school. "They don't know how to study, he said.

J. C. Evans, registrar of Toronto University, said the Trois-Rivieres plan "might be desirable in terms of the students' academic life, but just think of letting loose thousands of Toronto high school students with no work to keep them busy."

ESCAPES INJURY

GUELPH (CP) — Robert Burns Barnett escaped injury Wednesday when he leaped from his tractor as it was struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway train near the Ontario Agricultural grounds. The tractor was wrecked.

Trades, Labor Congress Endorses No-Raiding Pact

REGINA (CP) — The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada took a step in the direction of amalgamating Canada's major labor forces Wednesday by endorsing a proposed no - raiding agreement with the Canadian Congress of Labor.

The pact, a history-making one for Canadian labor is yet to be approved by the CCL but is expected to get the signature of that congress at its national convention in Toronto late next month.

As approved almost unanimously by 65 TLC convention delegates, it would bind the two central labor bodies—the TLC with 300,000 members and the CCL with 375,000—not to do any membership raiding between the two congresses directly chartered to them and would apply to affiliates or autonomous unions against raiding.

Hammered out in recent weeks by top officers of the two congresses, the armistice follows along the lines of a peace treaty signed earlier this year between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, the United States counterparts of the TLC and CCL.

IRON OUT DISPUTES

It sets up procedures for ironing out jurisdictional disputes between unions of each congress, with the final decision as between any two unions going to an umpire chosen jointly by officers of the two congresses.

The individual unions apart from congress-chartered ones, including the big international groups, the other would become operative only when the union itself signs it.

Most of the autonomous unions in the TLC have indicated they go along with the no-raid agreement. The two major dissenters—among the TLC's largest unions—are the Teamsters Union and the Teamsters Union, which also refused to let the AFL-CIO liaison in the U.S.

SECOND BIGGEST

The Carpenters, with about 40,-000 members, constitute the TLC's second-largest union, following Ottawa president Percy R. Bengough's 45,000 Machinists. He was with van.

On the CIO-CCL side, the United Steel Workers of America have refused to go along with the no-raid principle in the U.S. The Steelworkers claim for the position of Canada's biggest union with the United Auto Workers, also CIO-CCL, which already has an individual no-raiding arrangement with the TLC's Machinists.

Labor bodies in this country outside the orbit of the proposed agreement include the 100,000 member Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor in Quebec and the independent Brotherhoods of the railway running trades, which have about 40,000 members.

Newfoundland Dogs Fast Disappearing in Country

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Burly good-natured Newfoundland dogs, this island's most famous export, are fast disappearing from Newfoundland and one of the world's best-known breeders says it is because of federal registration regulations.

Only five thoroughbreds are left here, compared with 30 in 1949 when five breeders exported more than 100 pups a year, Harold Macpherson, well-known Newfoundland merchant, doesn't think the industry will recover until regulations are revised.

On his 13-acre "Westerland" farm near here Mr. Macpherson keeps two female dogs along with his favorite, affectionately-called "Captain Bob Bartlett." Not far away, at the Glenmire kennels, Hugh Baird has two more thoroughbreds.

HARD ON DOGS

Before Confederation, when Mr. Macpherson's "Westerland Seigar" was pictured on Newfoundland's 14-cent stamp, registering the dogs was a simple process, all done on paper. Today, however, the pups must be either tattooed or nose-printed.

Mr. Macpherson thinks tattooing is cruel and he says Newfoundland dogs are not suited for nose-printing because they "shrink too much."

Mr. Macpherson has already asked Agriculture Minister Gardiner to exclude the animal from these regulations.

March has been written and told about the brave Newfoundland dog and most of these stories are known by Mr. Macpherson who has been breeding the dogs for 30 years. Many of the stories come to Mr. Macpherson from people who bought pups from him.

The big animals are fearless in water and know the ability to save humans from drowning. They also pull sleighs, retrieve birds, guard children, and herd sheep and cattle. They've never been known to attack without provocation.

CANINE ARISTOCRATS

Artist Edward Lansdeer painted the Newfoundland as "a distinguished member of the humane society." Robers Burns described his Newfoundland as "an aristocrat among dogs."

In his booklet, "The Newfoundland Dog," Mr. Macpherson described the animal as "a dog of great beauty, dignity and benevolence of character, the eyes showing an almost human understanding."

Unrivalled as a water-dog, the Newfoundland is assisted by the oily nature of its dense, "cralpin" coat and by its partly webbed feet. Usually the coat is black, but it may be bronze or black and white. The average height is about 27 inches, the average weight about 150 pounds for dogs and 110 to 120 pounds for bitches. Some dogs weigh as much as 200 pounds.

Stories of the dog's bravery have poured into Mr. Macpherson's office. Some have come from the battlefield, some from the Labrador barrens, some from Asia, scores from ex-captains and even more from swimmers all over the world. Life-saving comes naturally to the dogs.

Mr. Macpherson's favorite story is about a nurse who passed his home one night and was accosted by a stranger. A Newfoundland dog rushed spontaneously to the scene, drove off the man and accompanied the nurse home. Although the dog had never seen the woman before, he stood by her gate until she was safely inside.

Broken Bottles Block Highway At Napanee

NAPANEE (CP)—Thousands of empty broken beer bottles blocked No. 2 highway here early today after a west-bound transport en route from Kingston to Toronto struck a bridge pier at the east end of town. The tractor upset its full load of boxed empties, strewing them for 200 feet along the highway but driver Frank Adie of Toronto was unhurt.

Immigration Creates Jobs Says Warrender

TORONTO (CP) — Immigration has created employment rather than unemployment in Ontario, Planning Minister Warrender, of Ontario said Wednesday night.

Speaking to delegates at the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association convention, he said that of every 100 immigrants coming to Ontario, about 50 are dependents or self-employed.

These immigrants, the minister said, do not enter the labor market but become direct consumers of all sorts of agricultural and manufactured goods.

EFFECTIVE MEDIUM

He said that the local weekly newspaper is the surest medium of acquainting people with the need for community planning and conservations. Many weekly editors had started the movement for the setting up of watershed authorities.

DOUBLE PROBLEMS

GUELPH (CP) — With school opening in early September, weeks, teachers here face the problem of what to do with the twins. They wonder how they are going to tell them apart when 32 sets of twins enter city schools, nearly 7 in the Kindergarten classes Sept. 7.

Foreign Secretaries at Manila Face Three Key Problems

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign secretaries of eight countries meeting in Manila next month to form a Southeast Asian defence organization will have three key problems to work out.

Diplomatic sources said today major questions awaiting decisions in conferences starting Sept. 6 were these:

1. How far will the countries go in binding themselves to a common defence of the area.

2. What sort of pledge will they make to combat Communist subversion.

3. What sort of continuing machinery will be set up to keep the countries advised and prepared to meet emergencies.

The United States and the other countries pioneering the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO), Britain, France, New Zealand, Australia, The Philippines, Thailand and Pakistan, have made no advance commitments, but have exchanged views on all these points.

OPINIONS VARIED

Opinions range widely, with the Philippines and Thailand understood to be urging strong military commitments and Britain counselling more emphasis on an economic rather than a military approach.

The Philippines was said to be seeking a North Atlantic Treaty Organization - type agreement in which an attack on one of the countries would be regarded as an attack upon all of them.

State Secretary Dulles was understood to prefer a more limited approach: an attack on one country would be recognized as a threat to the security of all pact members. This is the principle underlying the Anzus pact, linking the United States, Australia and New Zealand, and also the defence treaty between the United States and the Philippines.

Britain is reported to want an even milder commitment than that.

But the Philippines was said to feel that a treaty organization that failed to go beyond Anzus would not bolster anti-Communist defences in the vital Southeast Asia area.

MAKE SHIP A BARGE

WINDSOR (CP)—By decree of city council, a once-proud luxury ship on the Detroit-Cleveland run will be converted into a barge for use on the St. Lawrence seaway project. Public works committee Tuesday night gave permission to a Detroit demolition company to dismantle superstructure and interior on the City of Cleveland.

Mobile Force to Halt Communism In Far East Proposed by Veteran

MONTREAL (CP) — A British Columbia pilot who claims 450 supply flights in the Far East set out today to enlist support for a volunteer group to halt the spread of communism in Asia.

Al Mah, a veteran of the Second World War and the Korean war, and a native of Hillcrest, said the group would move into any trouble spot in the Far East and help fight communism.

"We believe certain people over there are spoiling for some sort of trouble, and if they're willing to take us on, maybe we can stop them from harming innocent people," he said in an interview.

"The Russians supposedly sent in volunteers in the Korean war so that's what we would amount to—volunteers from the free nations."

Mah said the group will try to obtain support from Western governments to buy planes and supplies.

"What's wanted is a highly-skilled mobile outfit, including pilots, mechanics, radio technicians, radar technicians, cooks, and so forth. We'll have to be in a position to move quickly and easily without too much fuss or bother."

Mah said the idea for the group came up at a meeting of members of the China National Aviation Corporation in New York in May.

N.B. Publisher Heads Weekly Newspapers

TORONTO (CP) — William B. Sawdon was elected president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association yesterday at the association's 30th annual convention. Mr. Sawdon is publisher-owner of the twice-weekly Sackville, N. B., Tribune-Post.

MULCH TAX DEPARTMENT

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—An accountant told Tuesday how he had sent phony income tax return statements to about half of the internal revenue districts in the United States, claimed a $630 refund on each, and collected nearly $10,000. James L. Proctor, II, 27, of Vancouver, Wash., waived preliminary hearing and was jailed in lieu of $15,000 bond.

Antique

This single-barrel Kentucky rifle was first used about 1730 by early settlers in the vast uncharted country west of the Alleghenies.

Muzzle loading, this weapon was fired when a piece of flint hit the frizzen and sparked, igniting powder in the pan.

TODAY, this Remington 410-gauge autoloading gun, weighing slightly over six pounds, is one of our most modern sporting guns. The peaceful use of firearms provides healthful, competitive sport. The thousands of marksmen who use our ranges each year have developed a high standard of self-discipline, keenness of eye and steadiness of hand necessary to successful rifle shooting.

Textile Town Wants Tariffs Raised Higher

OTTAWA (CP) — The Ontario textile town of Almonte has added its voice to those pressing the government to boost tariffs on competing British wool fabrics.

Mayor G. M. Dunfield said in a brief to the tariff board he personally is not an advocate of high tariffs, but Almonte has been hit by unemployment.

"I do feel most strongly that our wool cloth industry should have such protection as to enable it to compete on an equal basis with British and foreign mills."

Other briefs came in from the Textile Workers Union of America (CCL-CIO) and the Canadian Secondary Materials Association, representing firms dealing in textile wastes.

The union said continuance of the current tariff rates—under which the duty on British fabrics are 50 cents a pound, half the rate on imports from the United States and other countries—"cannot but spell further ruin and the ultimate destruction of the entire woollen and worsted industry."

CONTINUE STRIKE

HULL, Eng. (Reuters) — Some 4,000 longshoremen on strike here voted Tuesday night to continue the stoppage which is crippling the port. Work on 73 ships has now been held up and the full effects of the strike, which is not backed by the unions, are being felt. The men have been on strike since Aug. 16.

SHOW GOES ON

EDMONTON (CP)—A capacity audience was watching a student presentation of one-act plays at the University of Alberta's studio theatre when the lights went out. After a pause of a few minutes, the performance continued by candlelight.

NEW QUARTERS

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask. (CP)—Mayor H. J. Maher, a civil engineer, opened North Battleford's new city hall when Premier T. C. Douglas was unable to attend. The mayor said this city of 8,500 had "waited a long time" for the new hall.

DOG RETRIEVES BABY

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (Reuters)—The black pet dog of Mrs. F. H. Miller of Primrose, near Johannesburg, came home with a new-born African baby in its mouth and placed it at her feet, police reported. The baby, which now is doing well in hospital, was believed to have been abandoned by its mother at a nearby rubbish heap.

Sarnia Capitalizes on Fumble To Defeat Dutchmen 23-19

SARNIA (CP)—Sarnia Imperials capitalized on a fumble by Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen late in the fourth quarter here Wednesday night to win 23-19 in the opening game in the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union's 1954 schedule. More than 5,000 fans witnessed the game.

Tackle Ross Smith recovered the fumble on the Kitchener nine-yard line late in the fourth quarter after the Dutchmen leading 19-17. On the first play from scrimmage Bobby Lee, second-year import halfback, went around right end to the one on a pitchout from import quarterback Jim Lambert. On the next play import halfback Cookie Gilchrist from Brakeridge, Pa., dived onto a pile of players to score the game's winning touchdown. Lambert converted to complete the scoring.

STRONG IN FIRST

The Dutchmen were their strongest in the first quarter when they went ahead 12-0. Blake Taylor, former Hamilton Tiger-Cats, scored the first major from one yard out after a march from the Kitchener 43.

Just before the quarter ended Paul Amodio, import half from Kent State College in Ohio, recovered an onside kick by quarterback Bob Celeri on the Sarnia 49. A screened pass to former Brantford Redskin Dutch Hilland picked up 11 yards and then Amodio took a Celeri pass on the Sarnia five and fell over the goal line. Stu Crouse converted both majors to make the first quarter score 12-0 in Kitchener's favor.

In the second quarter the Imperials broke into the scoring on a 24-yard field goal by Gilchrist. A short time later Kitchener went ahead 13-3 on a punt by Celeri from the Sarnia 33 which bounced over the Sarnia deadline.

Late in the second quarter the Imperials marched from their own 15 to the Kitchener 14, Gilchrist then picked up six yards and Lee after a pitchout from Lambert went around left end for a touchdown. Lambert converted and the Dutchmen led 13-9 as the half ended. Two passes by Lambert to Jim Burr and Perk Johnston for a total of 54 yards aided the Imperials in their drive for the winners' first touchdown.

The Imperials took the lead for the first time in the third quarter when Lee scored his second touchdown of the game on a one-yard plunge and Lambert converted to make the score 18-13. The Imperials had driven on the ground from their own 15-yard line, picking up eight first downs.

Kitchener regained the lead late in the third quarter when the Dutchmen took to the air and marched from their own 34 to the 18 from where Celeri passed to Bill Tonegusso in the clear in the Sarnia end zone. Crouse kicked his third convert to make it 19-18.

Early in the final quarter Imperials moved to within two points of the Dutchmen when Jim Burr scored into the Kitchener end zone and Carl Totzke punched the ball in touch, giving Sarnia a safety touch.

The Imperials' game - winning major came with approximately five minutes of play remaining.

The Imperials went to the air 16 times and Lambert made four completions. Celeri tried 29 passes and completed 10. Sarnia picked up 25 first downs to Kitchener's 17.

CANADIANA THIRD

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Samuel M. Pistorio's Singing Beauty set a track record Wednesday as she came from far back to whip 12 other fillies and mares in the $40,500 Mermaid Handicap at Atlantic City. Second money went to Jouett Shouse's favored Cinda with E. P. Taylor's Canadiana third.

Bob Lemon Needs Only One More For Sixth Season of 20 Or More Wins

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

Which team is going to cop the National League Pennant in 1957? Hold your hats—Pittsburg.

If we may be allowed to pry the addictic loose from this year's frenzied feature involving the Giants, Dodgers, and to a lesser degree, Milwaukee, we shall proceed to explain how come.

It is because Branch Rickey promised the Bucs a pennant when he went there four years ago and has not yet delivered. That's how come. The recent announcement about Ricky's impending retirement notwithstanding, we feel confident in predicting Pittsburg in '57. (Another reason of course is that by that time no one will remember our prediction, and it will be necessary for us to remind all and sundry of it come October 1st.) Another reason, or maybe it is the same one with a little more punch, is that the Mahajma has sunk $200,000 of his own money in backing his gamble. This is in addition to the $1,850,000 which Pittsburg has dropped in the last five seasons and the $250,000 which owner John Galbreath poured into the sickly body this season.

You cannot dismiss Ricky. He is 72 but his vigor appears undiminished. It seems hard to believe now but when Rickey was at the helm of the Cardinals he pulled the St. Louis club out of a morass almost as sticky as the one he voluntarily moved to when he went to Pittsburg. It hardly needs repeating that Rickey invented the farm system —and that Brooklyn's present eminence is the result of Rickey management in cornering the market in young ball players during the war, and his successful introduction of Negro ball players into the league, a feature that has favored Brooklyn more than any other major league squad to date.

• • •

Last week's five game Pirate winning streak seems like a short honeymoon to the current leaders but it is a marathon run for a team in the cellar. It could also be an indication of things to come.

• • •

Word from the farms is encouraging too. Seven of the Pirates' 14 farm clubs are leading their leagues and the others are in the first division. Pittsburg also has 120 men in service, far more than any other club. The United States armed forces have not appreciably damaged the likes of Dick Groat, Bill Williams, John Antonelli, Jerry Coleman et al, and it is reasonable to assume that some of the promising drafters shall return in condition to assist the Pirates.

It is hard to imagine at this stage that Rickey originally planned to hoist the flag over Forbes Field in 1955 but such was the master plan. The draft, bonus babies who still have not matured, but principally the draft, will have to bear the blame for the postponement of success. And anyone has only been postponed, if he is in command, he has his farm system and the farms are producing. The Pirates have put up their most stubborn defense in years this season. Every sign points to better days ahead, and who knows, in 1957 . . ?

BRAND NEW REF FRIDAY

There will be fresh meat in the ring at Memorial Arena Friday night for the weekly wrestling show. Sam Gotter has been called in to assist referee Al "Bunny" Dunlop in directing traffic among Mighty Ursus and George (Zebra) Bollas, and Ray Villmer and Paul Baillargeon, the Quebec strongboy. Last week's main event wound up with referee Joe Gollob unconscious on the bottom of a pile of pachyderms. Only referee Dunlop survived the weird and whacky goings on. This time Dunlop will be head traffic cop and Gotter will be deputized to back him up.

Villmer and Baillargeon have stated that they are fed up with the tactics of Ursus and Bollas and intend to make short work of their villanous foes—in a perfectly legal way, of course.

Luther Lindsay, sensational colored wrestler who proved to be a big hit with the fans here a few weeks ago, will provide the opposition for Ski Hi Lee in the main preliminary. Lindsay, a noted football and wrestling ace, is expected to provide Shy Hi with one of his most furious battles.

Don Lewin opposes Jan Gotch in the opener.

NORTHERN DOWNS FT. ANNE

A pair of two run doubles off the bats of Don "Sunt" Locke and Doug Soules plus a little clutch hurling by Al "Broken Rib" Adams put Hecking Herbie Herm and his "Hunting Hens" right back in the battle for the City "A" section championship and the Bill Ott trophy last night. The Feinters might as well have had toothpicks in their hands with ears wound up with reference Joe Gollob unconscious on the bottom of a pile of pachyderms. Only referee Dunlop survived the weird and whacky goings on. This time Dunlop will be head traffic cop and Gotter will be deputized to back him up.

JUST WHITLIN'

N. A. "Pete" Beach, popular athletic director at Albert College, is back in town after directing the Kingston Y camp for the summer. His first self-imposed chore? Digging out football equipment. Cleveland Hurler Has Not Been Beaten in Last 10 Starts; Bums, Braves Gain on Giants

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Lemon, who moved from obscurity in the outfield to stardom on the pitching mound, needs only one more victory to complete his sixth season of 20 or more triumphs.

Only one other active pitcher—Lemon's Cleveland teammate Bob Feller—has enjoyed such success.

It took the 33-year-old right-hander eight seasons of professional ball to decide to concentrate on pitching. But once he put his mind to it in 1948, Lemon became a 20-game winner immediately. Only a slump in 1951, when he posted a 17-14 record, mars his string of 20-plus seasons as hall-mark of fame in the pitching profession.

Feller's 20-game run was broken by the war. He has a total of six.

Percentagewise, 1954 could be Lemon's best year. He won his 19th game Wednesday night, 4-3 over Philadelphia. He's lost only five and he has lost only five. The last 10 triumphs have come in succession.

CAME FROM BEHIND

The Indians had to struggle for their Wednesday night success, coming from behind in the seventh. They scored a 3-3 in the eighth, tie the score in the ninth and Hal Naragon's single in the 10th.

Second-place New York and third-place Cleveland remained 4½ in front of the Yankees and 8½ ahead of the Chicago White Sox.

The Yankees defeated Baltimore 5-1 and Chicago topped Detroit 5-3.

Boston whipped Detroit 5-3.

Brooklyn and Milwaukee widened their gap over the fifth place National League when rain washed out New York's scheduled game with Chicago. The Dodgers thumped Cincinnati 13-2. Milwaukee shaded Philadelphia 3-2 and Pittsburgh edged into fourth place with a 13-0 runaway over Washington.

Eddie Lopat checked the Orioles on three hits including a home run by Bobby Young for his 11th victory. His Yankee support included homers by Yogi Berra, Hank Bauer and Irv Noren. The loss was the 16th in a row for the last-place Orioles. The major league record is 20.

The White Sox jumped on the Senators for seven runs in the first two innings. Lefty Billy Pierce struck out 10 in one of his best performances of an injury-marred season.

WILLIAMS HAS DOUBLE

Boston put together three doubles including one by Ted Williams, a walk an infield single and a sacrifice fly for the runs in the fifth inning in shaving the Tigers' fourth-place margin to one percentage point.

The Dodgers, who hit four home runs Tuesday night in Cincinnati, smashed five in Wednesday night's rout of the Reds. Duke Snider, the Dodgers' second string pitcher, hit a pair, equalling his previous total for the year. Gil Hodges hit two and Carl Furillo one in support of Billy Loes' three-hitter.

The Dodgers now trail New York by 3½ games with 37 to play. Today while the Giants play a doubleheader in Chicago.

Milwaukee's seven games behind used five hits and two Philadelphia errors to shave Curt Simmons and the Phillies. Lew Burdette gave up 10 hits in eight innings but registered his 12th victory.

Wings Pick Up Two at Expense Of Buffalo Bisons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rochester Red Wings, rapidly losing ground to the pace-setting Toronto Maple Leafs and with their second place spot in the International League in jeopardy, have righted themselves partly because of the fine relief pitching of veteran Marip Picone.

While the Leafs were winning one Wednesday night with a 4-0 victory over the fourth-place Syracuse Chiefs, the Wings picked up two victories, 6-0 and 5-4, at the expense of Buffalo Bisons.

The twin victory cut the Leafs' lead over the Wings to six games and increased Rochester's margin to two games over the third-place Montreal Royals, who dropped a 7-4 game to Richmond Virginians.

Picone won his fourth game in five decisions when he gave the Bisons three-hit treatment in the second-inning opener. In the night-cap the Wings put over the winning tally in the 10th on a two-base throwing error by second baseman Doug Hansen.

Trosky received a fine relief pitching job from Eddie Blake in beating the Chiefs. He relieved Rudy Minarcin in the fifth with runners on first and second and none out. He put out the fire and limited the Chiefs to one infield hit the remainder of the way. Elston Howard drove in two runs with a single and triple.

Richmond, moving out of the cellar as Havana defeated Ottawa 5-1 on Bill Powell's three-hit hurling, chalked up its fourth straight win when Frank Fanovich scattered nine hits. Ken Wood drove in three of the Virginians' runs.

New York at Chicago postponed.

Experts May Have Problem To Pick Champs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Intercounty Senior Baseball League was down to four teams and the playoffs today after a tough 60-game schedule. The experts may have a problem trying to pick the champion.

Ever since the regular schedule started months ago Galt Terriers and Brantford Red Sox were labelled as the boys to watch in the run to the wire. The others including St. Thomas Elgins, weren't given too much of a chance.

Things could be different, now. The Terriers and Red Sox finished one-two in the league standings all right. But they chose to play each other in the semi-final series and leave the Elgins and London Majors to scrap in the other semi-final.

ELGINS WIN

The Elgins defeated the Majors 9-7 in St. Thomas Wednesday night in a special windup game called to break a tie for third place. That's where they each now come in.

The Elgins have been showing plenty of power at the plate and on the mound lately. They are favored to whip the Majors in the best-of-three series that starts in St. Thomas tonight. If the Terriers and Red Sox knock each other around hard enough, Elgins might sneak in.

Elgins were involved in a free-hitting contest Wednesday night with Butch Lawing hitting a two-run homer for the win in the first inning and Jim Hallard smacking a bases-empty home run for London in the seventh. Hallard also hit a double and a triple to lead the Majors.

Southpaw Jack Caffrey pitched six innings for the victory. He was relieved by manager Tom White. Stan Slack started for London. Bob Simpson took over in the sixth and Slack was charged with the loss.

One more team dropped from the playoff picture in the Nickel Belt Senior League. The leading Copper Cliff Redmen shut out Coniston Red Sox 5-0 and knocked the Red Sox out.

In the Niagara District League, Crowland Bisons whitewed a ninth-inning rally to defeat Chippawa Kerrios 7-3 and go one game up in their semi-final series.

Batting—Gil Hodges, Brooklyn Dodgers, hit two home runs and a double in Brooklyn's 13-2 triumph over Cincinnati.

Pitching—Gordon Jones, Los Angeles Angels, pitched his first major league shutout, a five-hitter, in beating Pittsburgh 13-0. He's started four games, won two and lost one with no decision in the other.

GRANTED FRANCHISE

HULL, Que. (CP)—Hull sportsmen have been granted a franchise for this city in the Quebec Junior Hockey League, effective on completion of a rink-arena, it was learned Wednesday. Construction of an arena at a cost of $400,000 is scheduled to start in November, with completion set for next March —in time to hold a number of exhibitions during the playoff season.

Douglas Chops Eight Strokes Off Par to Take Lead In Labatt $26,500 Open Tourney

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—There was a growing suspicion today that lanky Jerry Douglas has acquired at least squatter's rights to suburban Scarboro Golf Club.

The lean, poker-faced man from Grossinger's, N.Y., toured the 6,436-yard par-3 course at it he mowed it Wednesday and chopped eight strokes off par to card a 68 to take the first-day lead in the $26,500 Open. He headed a string of 10 blondes in his round, shared only by a two-over-par five on the 225-yard 14th.

It was a tremendous kick-off to the country's richest tournament that attracted 170 shotmakers from four countries for the 72 holes. All told, 48 shot in the 60s, another hit 70 on the nose and 13 matched regulation figures in possibly the greatest one-day exhibition on this course has ever seen.

The fairways and greens were soaked from a heavy rain Tuesday night and as the early starters teed off there was little indication that the big guns would tour the layout in those lightning fashion. It didn't last long.

By early afternoon mid-60 scores started coming in and the lead changed twice before Douglas burned up the fast-drying course with his 63 that equalled the competitive course record set by Ed 'Ike' Oxley (Purky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill., in 1950.

As the players started on the second 18 holes, the line-up showed Douglas in front with a one-stroke margin over Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Gene Littler of Palm Springs, Calif., in the runner-up spot.

Four others—Wally Ulrich, Fresno Manor, Pa.; Bo Wininger, Oklahoma City; Tommy Bell, Houston, Tex., and Torakichi Nakamura, Tokyo—were tied with Six Americans were tied at 66 while at 67, Jules Huot of Level ne le Lac, Que., shared honors

The leading amateur was Toronto's Gerry Magee with 68, the last man off the course.

Three other Canadians—all pros from Ont. They were: Vancouver's Bill Mawhinney, Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, and Bill Kerr of Montreal.

Kesselring's 68 was made up of two 34s. Two birdies, one each by Lloyd Tucker and N. Himes, had Gerry respectfully matched par together 36-34 and Himes 35-33.

Two Kitchener amateurs were in the 70s. Ron Norman scored 35 and 35 for a 70 total, while Grant Shirk had matching 35-35 for 70. Bert Butler of Oshawa toured in 38-34 for 72 and Rudy Horvath, Windsor, in 38-32 for 70. Ben Norris, Timmins, scored a 40 and 36 for a 76.

Chief Justice Allows Niemi To Play With Lions

VANCOUVER (CP)—Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris of the British Columbia Supreme Court Wednesday set aside an interim injunction against Laurie Niemi, star tackle of the B.C. Lions.

The injunction restraining Niemi from playing or practising with the newly-formed Western Interprovincial Football Union team was obtained Friday by Pro-Football Inc., owners of the Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

Niemi played for Redskins last season and the team contended he was under option to them this year.

The decision allows Niemi to play against Winnipeg Blue Bombers here Saturday night in the WIFU opener. No date has been set for the next round of the court battle.

CRITICIZES STAND

Chief Justice Farris called the Redskins' stand "a dog-in-the-manger" attitude. He said the Lions and Redskins were playing different games in different countries and there seemed to be no competition between them.

"His playing here can't damage the plaintiff.

"The injury was done when he (Niemi) left Canada to report to Washington, which is apart from this case altogether."

Northern Scores All Runs in First To Defeat Pointers by 5-1 Count

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Scoring all their runs in the first inning, Northern Electric turned the tables on Point Anne last night with a 5-1 victory at the C.N.E. Park to even the best-of-five city title series at one game each.

Although Pointers outhit Northern 10-7 they falled time after time to come through in the clutch and left 17 base-runners stranded. They left the bases loaded in the second, when they notched their only run, and in the fourth the first three batters got on and died on the infield popouts and a long fly.

Claude Carr ignited the initial frame fireworks for the victors by reaching first on Maracle's error when he fielded the ball but fell and dropped it. Vern Goyer blooped a single over first with the lead runner taking third and Goyer taking 2nd. Wes Bateman then hobbled the ball, but Batchelor popped up for the second out of the inning. Don Locke followed with a clean double to centre scoring both runners and Wally Schram put the game on balls. Doug Soules rapped his 2nd safety of the night to centre to plate Locke and Deacon Whiting registered the two runners with a sharp single to left, but Soules was out to Hill.

Elliott's boys came back with one in the second on a hit batter, a fielder's choice and back to back singles by Don Straham and Pat Maracle but Mallory was an easy infield out after Hull walked to refill the sacks.

Al Adams sweated the distance to chalk up the all-important win and his ability to come through with men on bases saved the game on numerous occasions. He allowed ten hits, all of which were singles with four of them going to his mound opponent Pat Maracle. Adams issued free passes to six without fanning a batter while hitting one.

TOUCHED FOR SEVEN

Maracle settled down to pitch three-hit ball after the first inning and was touched for seven safeties in all. He walked only one while walking four and hitting another.

The Cementmen threatened to rally in the sixth and seventh when Elliott walked and Bob Straham was safe on a fielder's error that put runners on second and third. Pat Maracle smashed his fourth hit of the night to first just to the left of second base but it hit Straham for the final out of the game.

Doug Soules used the wood to good advantage for the victors pounding out a double and two singles in four trips. Deacon Whiting contributed a brace of singles with Locke getting a double and Goyer a single.

Maracle's four singles paced the Pointers attack while Bob Straham came up with a pair of singles as did Roger Mallory. The others went to Doug Hull and Pat Maracle with the latter's hit being a beautiful drag bunt.

The lineups:

Point Anne: J. Wardhaugh D. Hull, R. Mallory, J. Green, J. Wade, P. Gilmour, L. Goyer, J. Elliott, Bob Straham, P. Maracle.

Northern Electric: G. Young, C. Carr, V. Goyer, J. Batchelor, D. Locke, H. De Rushie, D. Whiting, Al Adams, D. Soules.

Line score:

Point Anne	000	000	100—1	7	2
N. Electric	500	000	00x—5	7	2

533,000 Fans Turn Out To Watch 23 Games

LONDON (AP)—English League soccer again pulled in the crowds for Wednesday's mid-week games and 533,000 fans turned out to watch 23 matches.

A crowd of 70,000 packed Goodison Park where newly-promoted Everton snatched a 1-0 first division victory over Arsenal.

Arsenal was a goal down inside five minutes as Everton inside forward Ray Eglinton slammed one in from 18 yards.

Cup-holders West Bromwich Albion again went under. It lost to Sunderland Saturday and Wednesday crashed 3-0 to goal-hungry Newcastle United. Jack White (2) and right winger Jack Milburn scored Newcastle's goals.

WINS BY TKO

NEW YORK (AP)—Moses Ward of Detroit battered Tuzo (Kid) Portuguez of Santa Rita all over the ring Wednesday night to win on a technical knockout in 1:23 of the fifth round of a televised bout at Madison Square Garden. Ward weighed 161, Portuguez 157½. Referee Ray Miller made the stop equal contest after Ward nailed the bleeding Central American middleweight champion with a long right to the jaw. Portuguez shook all over but he didn't go down.

ORFU Names Fitzgerald As Statistician

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Rugby Football Union Wednesday announced appointment of a statistician to be headed by Johnny Fitzgerald of Toronto as official statistician.

Fitzgerald, former sports writer now in public relations work, will issue statistics weekly for the union, Canada's oldest.

The union's 72nd consecutive season opens Wednesday night with Kitchener-Waterloo at Sarnia. Toronto Balmy Beach is the third team in the loop.

The eight officials appointed by secretary Harold Bailey to handle league games are: Ralph Burr, Point Edward; Logie Allen, Sarnia; Jim Fumio, Hamilton; Ralph Adams, Leo Deady and Fred Spandell, Toronto; Ralph Dufina, London; and D'Arcy Hiltz, Kitchener. Four officials will work each game.

Argos Get Berezowski

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four made another player trade tonight by sending halback Jack Berezowski and tackle George Arnett to Hamilton Tiger-Cats in exchange for big Bill Berezowski.

Argo coach Frank Clair said he completed the deal in a telephone conversation with Carl Voyles, coach of the Tiger-Cats.

Argos started trade talks involving Karpuk when they took him from Ottawa last week for the $500 waiver price.

International Six-Team Hockey Loop Proposed

CORNWALL (CP) — A meeting here Tuesday night discussed the possibility of organizing a six-team international senior hockey league.

Teams represented at the meeting were Cornwall Colts, Brockville Magedomas, Lake Placid, N.Y., Clinton, N.Y., Syracuse and Utica, N.Y., Braves.

The new loop would be known as the Canadian - American Hockey League. Officials hope to obtain permission from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to allow the U. S. clubs to compete for the Allan Cup.

A second meeting will be held Sept. 2 to elect league officers and draw up a constitution.

Plans call for the new league to be affiliated with the Ottawa and District Hockey Association branch of the CAHA.

B.C. Lions Convinced

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Lions were convinced Wednesday that Al Pollard is under contract to the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League, as Eagles claim.

A photostatic copy of an Eagles contract, with his signature affixed, was received by the Western Interprovincial Football Union club here. Lions officials wouldn't comment immediately. Pollard had claimed he believed the contract was destroyed.

Marathon Runner, Who Went Wrong Way, to Get Medal

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—Five judges pondered fate and debated, thought once more and then came up early today with a solution for the European Games' "wrong way" marathon that even Solomon might have envied.

So the track and field games entered their second day with an unprecedented squabble and a decision that will take its place in athletic annals.

Now it can go ahead with more qualifying heats and even the finals today with the hope that spectators interest will be centered on the events themselves and not on which way a runner turns.

Wednesday night Ivan Filin, a Russian coal miner, came into the Neufeld Stadium with a comfortable lead but he turned left when he should have gone right.

During the confusion and in semi-darkness, Veikko Karvonen of Finland rushed into the stadium, circled one lap of the 400-meter track and finished first. Another Russian,- Boris Grischaev, also slipped home for second place. Meantime, Filin had been told of the error of his ways, returned, made the right turn and finished third.

The Russians protested bitterly that Filin had been misdirected and that the officials' error had cost the 21-year-old runner victory in his first international marathon.

For more than three hours, the jury of these fifth European track and field championships — two Frenchmen, a Swede, a Briton and a Russian—argued the matter.

The judges finally conceded Filin would have triumphed had he not taken the wrong turn. Then they unanimously decided that the order of finish would remain the same but that Filin would receive a gold medal identical with that of the winner. The inscription on Filin's medal however, would not mention his third place, only his time of two hours, 25 minutes, 26.6 seconds. Karvonen was timed in 2:24.14 and Grischaev in 2:24:55y.

The marathon fiasco stole the glory from extraordinary Czech topek family. Emil, the incredible Czech, was to be pleased in the 10,000-metre race. His time of 29.03 was second only to his world record of 28.54.2.

At the same time his wife, Dana, showed the old Zatopek brilliance when she beat out a trio of favored Russians in the javelin with a throw of 52.91 meters (173 feet, 7.11 inches).

Hamner Admits He Was Wrong Says Manager

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Manager Terry Moore and his Philadelphia Phillies second baseman, Granny Hamner, shook hands Wednesday afternoon after a conference and Moore said there would be no disciplinary action taken against the veteran infielder.

Earlier Wednesday Moore accused his players of a full-scale rebellion and said Hamner would be disciplined for his remarks that the club is "treating the players like high school kids."

"Hamner admitted he was wrong," Moore said after the meeting at a downtown hotel where the Phillies are quartered. "There'll be no disciplinary action against him. I'll tell the rest of the team tonight it's supposed between us, but it will be at a closed meeting in the clubhouse."

Hamner said after emerging from the conference that there had been no apology for him "but I admitted I was wrong in sounding off like I did."

"Terry is a good man," Hamner said. "I shouldn't have sounded off like that but I get sick of reading in the paper how lousy we are all the time so I slopped off."

Moore, who replaced the veteran Steve O'Neill as Phillies manager after the all-star game last month, blasted his players for disregarding training rules.

NEW YORK K (AP)—The great Canadian football experiment is only two days away, and the ones who are doing the most sweating about it as the fateful hour approaches are the two American "experts" who have been entrusted with the task of explaining to a nation-wide television audience what in the world is going on.

High in a booth all by themselves when the Toronto and Ottawa professionals have at one another Saturday afternoon will be Lindsey Nelson, NBC's able commentator, and Jim Crowley, who learned considerable American football as a member of Notre Dame's famous "Four Horsemen," as coach at Fordham and as president of the All-American Conference.

Nelson will be expected to call the play-by-play, or a reasonable facsimile thereof, for his American audience, and Crowley to apply the "color" during periods when there's no action on the field. After thinking it over carefully, they've decided not to have a Canadian within speaking distance.

"It would only confuse things," Nelson explains, "to have a Canadian expert coming on every now and then saying that it hadn't happened the way Jim and I told it. We don't want anybody second-guessing us."

The gridiron explorers were up north last week to watch on exhibition games and to see if all their reading-up on Canadian rules had really sunk in. Crowley's eyes popped out when the teams, taking advantage of the wider Canadian playing field, suddenly ripped off a triple lateral pass that carried out to the sideline and sprang a man free.

"I'll bet your Fordham teams never tossed the ball around like that," a Canadian enthusiast remarked to Crowley.

"Not intentionally, anyway," Jim replied.

Actually, neither of our nervous experts expects to have too much trouble interpreting the Canadian version unless something peculiar happens, and both of them think the American audience is going to like the swifter-moving game very much after a brief indoctrination.

"There really isn't a great deal of difference once you get beyond the fact that there's a fifth man in the backfield and that they get only three chances to make a first down instead of four," Nelson says. "There are a lot of other little differences that Jim and I will have to watch for, but they won't mean a lot to the audience.

It was suggested that American fans might be confusing when a team can score a point merely by kicking the ball across the opponent's end zone. Seems like a mighty easy way to pick up a point, Nelson said you can forget about that.

Full Seven Games

BRAMPTON (CP)—Long Branch Monarchs defeated Newmarket 6-5 Wednesday night to send the final series for the Ontario Lacrosse Association junior championship to the full seven games. Peter Rise of the Monarchs scored the winning goal in the final period. The seventh game will be played Friday.

Disney Takes Big Leap into Costly Venture of TV Entertainment

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Look out, Arthur Godfrey, here comes Disneyland!

The red-haired uke player has dominated Wednesday night programming since the early days of TV. This season he will meet his strongest challenge when the ABC network unleashes its most ambitious program to date. This is the big and promising Disneyland, a new venture in TV entertainment.

The new show makes its debut Oct. 27 and will present a different type of program each week. Each will draw from the wide range of Walt Disney's interests, from space travel to the antics of Mickey Mouse, from American folk heroes to the habits of Alaskan seals.

The show's budgeted up to a whopping $100,000. I asked Disney how he could hope to turn a profit at that figure.

NO PROFIT

"We can't," he replied. "Sometimes I wonder why the hell I got into this thing.

"Actually, we entered the project without the profit motive in mind. We thought it would be useful to let people know what we are doing here at the studio, and the series will be helpful in developing new characters and interests which we wouldn't have developed otherwise."

Disney was one of the first film bosses to see the value of TV in publicizing movies. He did a few hour-long shows to help ballyhoo films like "Peter Pan" and "Alice in Wonderland." Apparently the added push helped, because Disney profits have never been higher.

The profit outlook for the Disney land series is not as bleak as it might first appear. All the shows will be made in color, and some will be put together as feature films to be shown in foreign countries.

USE SOME OLD FILM S

Some of the shows will be based on films Disney has already released to theatres. He plans to show "Seal Island", one of the Academy Award-winning subjects. Other features include "The Pluto Story" and "The Story of Donald Duck," which will chronicle the lives of these famous figures in both live action and cartoons.

Most of the Disney shows will be brand new material. Part of the series will be titled "Man in Flight." There will be films programs on how humans will fly to Mars.

Stranahan Favored to Take U.S. Amateur Golf Crown

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

DETROIT (AP)—The field in the national amateur golf championships was divided today between a few "haves" and a lot of "have nots"—speaking in terms of national reputations—as the last 16 survivors set out on another double round of 18-hole matches.

And standing out head and shoulders above the rest was Frank Stranahan, who must be numbered among the "haves" in any way of reckoning. The tempestuous 27-year-old Toledo spark plug heir has won national championships in three countries, including the coveted British Amateur title. And he's dead set on adding the American title—the only important one that has escaped him.

The 16 players left of an original field included, along with Stranahan, Dale Morey, Don Cherry, Bill Campbell, Bob Sweny, Ed Meister and Arnold Palmer, all of whom are more than a little fame in amateur golf.

NAME PLAYERS STOPPED

There was no assurance at all that these seven would survive today's fifth and sixth rounds. The lineup was such that almost any one could go the way of Billy Joe Patton, the fast-talking, wild-shooting North Carolina lumber tycoon internationalists Harvie Ward and Jim Jackson and long-hitting Robert Manley and Dave Smith, all of whom were eliminated in Wednesday's double knockout.

Stranahan, who stopped ward on the 18th hole Wednesday and then disposed of another old acquaintance, Tommy Sheehan, runs right into another rugged match against Cleveland's Palmer, who has been shooting about as good golf as any amateur around this summer.

In the same quarter of the draw Cherry, who crowned in a tight club until late hours then makes his clubs sing sweetly during the day, encounters 42-year-old Jimmy McGonagill, a one-time pro who now operates a fleet of oil trucks in Shreveport, La.

Among these eliminated Wednesday was Don Doe of Granby, Que. who lost to Wilson Barnes of Chicaque, N.Y., 3 and 2 after Doe had ousted Patton, pre-tournament favorite.

The Kibitzer

Long before you were born there were whist players who could give you cards and spades. One was an expert called Deschappelles, a master at the game in France a century ago.

One day he pulled a clever defensive play. It was a lead that deliberately sacrificed his king and saved valuable trumps for his side. Since then it has been called the Deschappelles coup.

See an example of it in the deal shown here.

South was declarer at a contract of four hearts. At nearly all the tables in the tournament, West led the diamond jack and declarer took his needed ten tricks with safe plays.

At one table, however, west did not open with the deadly lead of the diamond jack. He sensed that only some desperate action might kill four hearts. So he started right out with the lead of the spade king.

South won with the ace and led a trump which west captured with the six. The spade queen was cashed by east and his returned spade put the ruff with his tiny remaining trump.

Ultimately, east got a trick with his diamond king and south had a dead contract on his hands. It is the spectacular diamond lead of the spade king that gave defenders the needed timing for a ruff.

Even the orthodox diamond lead would give the declarer if dummy takes the diamond finesse. East wins with king and returns a small spade. If south runs with his spade ace he loses a trump trick.

If south finesses spades, west takes the trick with his king and returns a spade for a later ruff of a third spade. But this did not seem to happen at any of the tables in this match.

Deliberate loss of a possible winner for a brilliant purpose is known as the Deschappelles coup. It works your partner calls you a hero. If it does not he calls you something else.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Man With a Million"

Mark Twain's single most famous short story, "The Million Pound Bank Note," forms the basis for "Man With a Million," new Technicolor production starring Gregory Peck and opening today at the McCarthy Theatre through United Artists release.

"Man With a Million," a presentation of the J. Arthur Rank organization, was produced by John Bryan and directed by Roland Neame. The strong supporting cast is headed by Jane Griffiths, lovely young English discovery, and such stalwarts of the British stage and screen as Roland Squire, A. E. Matthews, Wilfred Hyde-White, Joyce Grenfell, Maudie Dunham and Reginald Beckwith.

The screenplay was adapted from the Mark Twain story by Jill Craigie, and the chief cinematographer was Geoffrey Unsworth. The musical score, composed by William Alwyn, was conducted by Muir Mathieson.

Mark Twain wrote "The Million Pound Note," as a sort of comic valentine of affection for the English people. Twain and the English, despite the fact that, on the surface, they were poles apart in background and outlook, held each other in the most profound mutual esteem. On Twain's famous trip abroad (resulting in the articles "An Innocent Abroad"), he was the recipient of unprecedented homage in England. And the regard the English felt for Twain was warmly returned by the author.

Although "Man With a Million," with its sly story of a penniless American who is launched on a series of fantastic adventures when he is given a million pound note by two eccentric Londoners, pokes fun at the English it does so with a gentleness and a fondness. And the English, despite the fact that they are the butt of the joke, have always enjoyed it hugely.

"Man With a Million" was shot entirely on location in England. Among the famous London landmarks used for exterior location sites—to the delight of earlspraising Londoners — were the Treasury Building and Belgrave Square.

AT THE BELLE—Donna Corcoran, Frances Dee, Ward Bond and the Sensational new four-footed star, Highland Dale, as they appear on the Belle Theatre screen in "Gypsy Colt", M-G-M's exciting production of the book by Eleanor Gates. It's a story of courage and pursuit, of a runaway colt who defies bulls, bars and guards to be with his young mistress. The picture was filmed in exciting color, on spectacular locations 10,000 feet high in the Colorado Rockies.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 27, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Show your really fine assets now, also what you can do with new responsibilities. Day calls for clever management; small planning, perhaps romance, but much can be accomplished.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Your willingness to try and your gift for getting around difficult situations will be needed now but the day will be profitable. Pause when in doubt, but don't worry. Have faith in your capabilities.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Outlook stimulating. This can be a beneficent day if you exercise moderation steadily. Your specific interests are favored and you may gain through an avocation, too. Lodge wisely.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — You have a knack for sensing others' needs and knowing how far to go if selling, trading, buying. Today you can profit by using these gifts. Be mindful of duties.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Helpful vibrations should work to your benefit if you are patient, reasonable and alert to conditions. Working at your best, things should run like clockwork. Pleasant surprises likely.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Don't blame the stars if you aren't as quick mentally and as original as usual. A period for calm thinking, checking your course can be profitable, prevent needless errors.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Much in the way of news and gains can be expected today. Your judgment, management and general attitude may be taxed. Be amenable to advice; it may lead to advantages, benefits. A good day on the whole.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—A pleasant, gainful day either for finishing incompleted matters or for planning new projects. Make time for healthy recreation over the week-end.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Aspects favor both business and personal affairs and may advance your interests considerably. But don't be over-confident or careless; either or both could thwart success. Romance honored.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—You, too, have a promising outlook today and could benefit from unexpected sources, also from previously well made plans and constructive work. Home, family, romantic affairs honored.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Accuracy and attention to urgent matters should insure you a pleasant week-end and a profitable day generally. Don't procrastinate; doing things at the right time is important.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—A.M. is mildly favorable and the day continues to grow better as it advances. You should have a full, happy reward for earnest, conscientious endeavor. Family, heart affairs sponsored.

YOU BORN TODAY show steadfastness of purpose, a dependable, kindly nature and fine reasoning faculties. Mercury, your natal planet, invigorates the mind, speeds mental alertness, marks its natives as intellectuals. Highly imaginative and intuitive, you are constantly seeking information and knowledge. You are resourceful, uncomplaining and usually recover quickly from setbacks. Devoted to family, loved ones, you often sacrifice too much for their comfort. Curb a tendency to try to make others over to suit your high standards. Birthdate: Theo. Dreiser, noted novelist; Chas. Dawes, Amer. statesman, economist.

Bobcats Defeat Stewart Warner 17-2 at Alemite

Bob Temple's Bobcats were snarling wildcats last night as they trampled Stewart Warner TV's 17-2 at the Alemite Field.

The win gave Bobcats a 2-0 lead in a best-of-seven series for the right to represent the Belleville and District Softball League in OASA Intermediate AA playdowns. Third game of the series will be played Friday at the C.N.R. Athletic Field at 8.15.

Three TV hurlers failed to stem the Bobcat assault as they scored the first seven runs.

Bobcats opened the scoring in the first frame with two runs on a single three walks and an error at first. Stewart Warner knotted the count in the third on a single by Bertram an error at second that gave Crean a free ride to first and Ted Hurst's two run double to short left field that fell between two fielders in the only defensive lapse suffered by Bobcats all evening.

Bobcats clinched it in the fourth with a six run rally highlighted by Gord Donovan's three run homer over the right field fence. They added four more in the fifth as Charlie Dracup and later Frank Barkwell, lost first plate in walking four. Harry Wardaugh smacked a three run homer to left field to spark a four run seventh inning rally and Temple's safe at first on an error scored the only run of the eighth frame as Logue tripled to right.

TWO DOUBLE PLAYS

TV's, despite the pounding, registered two twin killings. The third inning double play, Miller to Jarvis to Bertram choked off a threatening rally, while Brooks fielded Bone's grounder at first and fired to James who tagged Duesbury sliding at the plate. The eighth inning double play.

Bobcat defenses were so tight especially in the outfield that only two Stewart Warner runners reached first in the first six innings.

Top defensive play of the night was Gord Donovan's running backhanded stab of Crean's sinking fly to short centrefield in the sixth. Ted Hurst took Wardaugh's low liner to left field off his shoelaces in the eighth inning for TV's best single effort.

Doug Thomonson went all the way on the hill for Bobcats walking four, striking out three, and giving up seven hits for two runs.

Carding a total of five hits and 2-3 inning gave up one hit and three walks in five runs. Dracup came on in the first and lasted until one man was out in the fifth, when he was relieved by Bob Baldwin. Dracup came back, however, when Baldwin took a cramp with two out in the eighth.

Dracup was charged with the loss.

Rusty Logue led Bobcats at bat with two singles and a triple in four tries. Gerry Lewis had two doubles in four attempts for TV's.

Singles:

Bobcats: Nolan rf, replaced by Bob Whalen; Duesbury 2b, replaced by B. Young rf in 9th; Temple c; Bone 1f 2b; Logue 1b; G. Thomson, St. Louis ss; Thomson 3b; Hatfield as replaced by Fitzpatrick as 4th; Thompson 3b.

Stewart Warner: Bertram 3b; S. Creeggan cf; Miller ss; Lewis 2b; Y. Hurst lf; B. Hurst 1b; Ashley rf replaced by F. Baldwin p in 5th inning; Crean c replaced by D. James c; Canning p replaced by C. Dracup in 1st.

Billy Graham Missing From Top Ten

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time in years, the name of Billy Graham is missing from the ranks of boxing's welterweight division. The 32-year-old veteran of the 100 pro fights was dropped from the 147-pound division's elite in the latest Ring Magazine's ratings, released Wednesday, as the result of his loss to unheralded and oft-beaten Chris Christensen of Denmark.

Earl Walls of Toronto ranked ninth among the heavyweights.

Harold Johnson of Philadelphia held on to his No. 1 contender's post in the light heavyweight division because of his good scrap with champion Archie Moore but middleweight Bob Cox of Canada, who was outclassed by champion Bobo Olson, fell from No. 1 to No. 2. Joey Giardello of Philadelphia was moved up into the top contender's position.

FRANKFORD

Frankford Whips Bloomfield 16-12 To Sweep Series

FRANKFORD (Special) — Frankford Merchants outslugged Bloomfield Orioles 16-12 last night to sweep their OASA Intermediate "B" baseball series round playdown Series in two games.

The winners were out front 13-3 until the top of the eighth when a bases-loaded homer by Hamilton sparked a Bloomfield rally that netted nine runs and a 13-13 score. However, Merchants pushed across three markers in their half of the eighth to sew up the verdict.

Barney McColl hurled 8 2-3 innings for the winners to gain the victory while fanning four and walking eight. Radner finished the game with one strike out and one walker.

McLellan went six frames for Bloomfield and walked in less than 13 while whiffing three. Kitchen finished the game while fanning one and walking two.

Dafoe paced the victors at bat with a double and two singles while Allen Hamilton, Jones and triple to supply the power. Rankin contributed a triple and single with Cole getting a double. Cooke, Leavitt and Murphy hit singles.

Hamilton had a grand-slam homer in defeat with Perry hitting a brace of singles and Pastelle a two-base blow. Hayden, Stacey and McDonald rounded out the seven hits.

Line score:

	R	H	E
Bloomfield 130 000 090—	13	7	4
Frankford 031 501 33x—16	11	0

McLellan, Kitchen, (7) and Cooke; McCall, Radner (9) and Murphy.

Minor Softball

Blaind's Sports buried the Pepsi Cola youngsters under a 26-7 score in a pee wee playoff game played at the fireball last night.

Norm Till pitched for the winners, allowing 11 hits, fanning three and walking six. Mallory did the same but hurting and was pounced on for 20 hits while whiffing two and walking nine.

Latchford got top honors for the victors with three singles and a home run while Pointer had four singles. Mallory replied with a trio of singles with Hill getting a homer. Mallory was best for Pepsi with three singles while Cassidy had a double and single. Davis and French had two singles each.

Bob Wallbridge and Ron Bessaw were the umpires.

Batteries — Pepsi Cola: Mallory and Connors; Blaind's: H. Till and Pointer.

"Haven't Felt So Well In Years - Thanks To Syntona"
Eat Well; Sleep Better At Night. Stomach Disorders, Headaches, Rheumatic Pain No Longer a Problem, Says This Man.
"For a long time my stomach was in bad shape and my entire system became rundown, but I haven't felt so well in years than I have since I've been taking Syntona," said Mr. Roy J. Smith, R.R. 7, St. Thomas, Ontario, in a recent report.
Former Energy Gone
"I would have indigestion very bad with heartburn and gas after my meals. I'd belch up hot, sour liquids and often get dizzy spells and throbbing headaches. At night I couldn't get my proper sleep, more recently rheumatic pains set in my joints and muscles. I'm not one to go to a doctor, instead I thought that I didn't have my former energy
Different Now
"Reading about Syntona helping other people like this I made up my mind to try it and now after taking the first bottle I began to notice a difference. My appetite began to return, began to digest better and all the gas, souring and belching disappeared. I've also noticed since taking Syntona that the headaches and dizzy feelings ceased to be a problem to me. Now I sleep much better, enjoy my meals, feel better generally."
How It Acts
Made from 21 of Nature's Finest Herbs and Roots, Syntona will help any person who suffers from stomach disorders and associated symptoms. At the same time it helps tone up the entire system. Rheumatic pains and overtired, run-down symptoms usually disappear and sleep becomes more sound and restful.
Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dehan The Druggist.

Retired General Says U.S. Was Required to Lose

ORLANDO, Fla. (EP)—A retired air force general told a Senate sub-committee here today, "we were required to lose" the Korean war.

Lt.-Gen. George E. Stratemeyer told the committee "state department and political interference kept us from winning the war." He said that as head of the Far East Air Force under Gen. Douglas MacArthur "I wasn't permitted to do a job and certainly MacArthur was handcuffed. Never before in American history was a military commander placed in the position of not being allowed to win."

"We never had enough ground troops but we could have won with what we had on the ground and in the air if we had been allowed to use it wisely from a military standpoint."

Stratemeyer said his planes were forced to bomb bridges across the Yalu river crossways instead of lengthwise "so we would not violate the Manchurian and Siberian borders." He said this method of bombing made it impossible to knock out the bridges.

Driver Should Be Charged Not Owner

TORONTO (CP)—W. M. Nickle (PC—Kingston), chairman of the select highway safety committee, said the decision of the attorneys-general department to lay speeding charges against the owner of the car instead of the driver is "ill-advised."

Many speeding charges laid under Section 28 of the Traffic Act have been dismissed because police could not identify the driver. Under Section 49 the owner of the vehicle is made responsible.

Mr. Nickle said he was afraid that if owners were prosecuted instead of drivers, merchants would be liable for actions of their driver-employees.

John Yaremko (PC—Bellwoods) and T. D. Thomas (CCF—Ontario) said it would make the job of local police forces almost impossible if they had to stop every speeding driver.

SMASHES POLICE WINDOWS

MONTREAL (CP)—Police said a 46-year-old woman walked into their headquarters Tuesday carrying a bag of rocks and proceeded to smash three plate glass windows. The woman, Mrs. Irene Crevier, had been refused financial aid by the social welfare department. She was arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace.

ORE SHIPMENTS DOWN

CLEVELAND (AP) — Great Lakes vessels loaded 2,143,512 gross tons of iron ore during the week ended Monday at 7 a.m., the Lake Superior Iron Ore Association said Tuesday. That brought the total for the year to 90,174,506. During the season week last year lakes ships loaded 3,431,282 tons.

Armed Intruder Threatened Mother and Babe

ORILLIA (CP) — Police who raced to a home Tuesday in answer to a report that a rifle-armed man was threatening a woman and her baby arrested Alvin Croucher of Bracebridge.

He is charged with having liquor in a public place and pointing a gun with intent.

Witnesses told police Croucher entered the house and demanded to see the woman and her baby.

While other residents at the house tried to reason with Croucher, the woman fled through a window, and a neighbor phoned police.

Croucher forced his way past the persons trying to detain him, and started to search the house, but failed to find the baby lying in a bedroom.

Police said he had a quantity of ammunition in his pockets.

They said he bought the rifle and ammunition Tuesday, and was heard to make threats against the woman.

Flies Attracted By High Humidity

TORONTO (CP) — Swarms of small black flies Tuesday attacked men and their alike in Toronto's high temperature and humidity.

They pestered pedestrians, drove cats and dogs frantic and plagued spectators at ball games. Doctors report many calls from parents of children, bitten by the buzzing insects.

Toronto University and Dominion weather office officials say the flies could have been attracted by high humidity.

Selling Top Soil Not Subject To Tax Says Board

OTTAWA (CP) — Selling top soil can be a profitable business but the income is not necessarily subject to tax.

The income tax appeal board today overruled the revenue department and granted the tax appeal of John Pawluk, an Edmonton farmer, who had sold about $12,700 worth of his farm's black top soil in 1951.

The revenue department maintained this was subject to income tax, but the board ruled that by selling his top soil, Pawluk was disposing of part of his assets and therefore the money received was a capital receipt.

Chinese Reds Claim Raid on Nationalist Offshore Island

No Indication It Is Prelude To Invasion of Formosa

23 Freight Cars Are Derailed By Washout

NORTH BAY (CP) — Shattered boxcars stacked in lop-sided pyramids made a solid barrier across the Ontario-Northland Railway's main line where 23 cars were derailed by a washout Thursday night, 60 miles north of here.

There were no injuries in the wreck but an unidentified section hand working on the scene broke a leg as crews struggled to punch a hole through the tangled debris.

It was the second bad wreck on the ONR in two weeks and railway officials believe that both were caused by heavy dams that gave way to wash away culverts.

Sixty cars, the locomotive and caboose stayed on the rails. The double-header diesel engine and two cars passed safely over the spot before the derailment occurred.

Derailed and smashed were 10 empty cars.

The train was under conductor G. D. Cameron of North Bay. Engineer on the crew, also from North Bay, were engineer Herb McLean, fireman Miles Walsh-ville, and brakeman A. Jarvis and B. Ross.

The derailment occurred shortly before 5 p. m. and repair crews from North Bay and Englehart worked through the night to clear away debris and re-open the line.

It is not expected that the line will be re-opened to traffic until tonight.

A spokesman for the ONR said there was no explanation as to why heavier culverts have been put out to cause the wreck, other than that a human agent was responsible. There has been no rain in the area for several days.

The cost of the derailment is in a beaver meadow where a four-foot embankment has been completely washed away.

Laborites' Visit Starts Outflow Of Chinese News

By FRASER WIGHTON

SHANGHAI (Reuters)—For the last two weeks newspapers all over the world have been carrying stories datelined from China by Communist China which have been a closed book to Western correspondents for several years.

The British Labor Party delegation's goodwill delegation, which now has reached this city in the course of a two-week tour of Communist China, again has started the outflow of news from China to the West on a big scale.

This correspondent, arriving in Peking from Hongkong, was told that separate Chinese accreditation would be necessary before he filing and accreditation from London, before stories could be handled by telegraph offices in Communist China as a matter of routine.

NO TROUBLE

As passes with attached photographs could not be completed before Monday, officials in Peking made special arrangements to enable news to be cabled pending accreditation by the British correspondent filing from China.

The necessary passes were duly delivered Monday. Thereafter facilities were operated with complication.

There has been no evidence of any censorship. Chinese officials were apparently received without blog held up and without interference with their contents.

Telegraph offices in most cases have sent messages to the man who speaks a little English. A general helpful and friendly attitude has been shown in handling traffic from this correspondent.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: The large mass of cool, dry air now centred over Ontario is moving east to the Atlantic coast and will be followed by a disturbance, located in the Dakotas this morning. Southerly winds Saturday will bring a warming trend to the maritime and Great Lakes peratures should be close to normal.

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China today announced a small-scale hit-and-run on Quemoy, a Nationalist-held offshore island.

There was no indication that it was a prelude to the Reds' loudly-heralded threat of invasion of Formosa.

A Peiping radio broadcast said 40 Communist soldiers made two separate landings on Quemoy Monday night, killed 13 Nationalist soldiers before pulling back to the mainland 15 miles away.

Nationalist sources in Taipeh said the raid was one of several staged by the Reds in recent weeks to capture prisoners. They said one Nationalist soldier was captured and the Reds lost one man taken prisoner.

U.S. SAYS SKIRMISH

U.S. officials in Washington labelled the raid as more than a skirmish and pointed out that even the capture of Quemoy would leave the Reds far from their goal of "liberating" Formosa.

The Nationalist stronghold lies 100 miles across the Formosa strait guarded only by U.S. Fleet and an American-equipped army of 600,000.

For several weeks Peiping has been broadcasting almost daily threats to "liberate" Quemoy and wipe out the nationalist regime of Chiang Kai-shek.

In advance of any invasion, the Reds would be expected to seize a chain of Nationalist-defended islands running from Quemoy north to the Tachen, some 300 miles northwest of Formosa.

However, U.S. military experts have discounted the possibility of a Red attack on Formosa and have pointed out that there has been no large-scale Red troop buildup along the coast opposite the Nationalist island.

BUSY WITH FLOODS

Diplomats say Communist China is busy at home with floods which have made an estimated 15,000,000 homeless and upset Peiping's five-year industrialization plans.

U.S. sources in Tokyo said today they regarded the Quemoy attack and recent threats to invade Formosa as a propaganda campaign aimed at the forthcoming Manila conference to map a Southeast Asia security agreement.

These sources said the Reds are trying to create the impression participants that the United States will go to war over Formosa and the threat of any defence plan would be giving up any initiative in the matter.

Formosa has been under protection of the U.S. Fleet since 1950 and President Eisenhower warned recently that any Red invasion would be met by the fleet.

Washington sources pointed out, however, that the president's warning did not apply to Quemoy.

NATIONALISTS ADMIT RAID

TAIPEH, Formosa (Reuters) — Nationalist Defence Ministry admitted a party of Chinese Communists made a landing and made a mock raid on the Nationalist-held island of Quemoy this week.

The ministry, confirming a claim broadcast by Peiping Radio, said the Communists were driven off one Nationalist prisoner when they returned to the mainland after the raid.

The Nationalists said they captured seven weapons.

James Mason and Wife Ask Million Damages for Story Marriage Shaky

LOS ANGELES (AP) — English movie actor James Mason and his wife Pamela Mason today filed two suits asking for $1,000,000 damages for "false and libelous statements" allegedly printed in the Motion Picture and Television Magazine, a monthly publication, and the Daily News, a Los Angeles newspaper.

They named as defendants the two publications and Erskine Johnson, identified as a writer of articles declaring their marriage was shaky and that they were about to part. On the contrary, they said, they have been happily married for 15 years, have a family of separated and are devoted to each other and their child.

The Masons asked $250,000 damages against Johnson and the Fawcett Publications, publishers of the Motion Picture and Television Magazine, and $250,000 punitive damages against Johnson alone. In the other suit they asked $250,000 damages from the Los Angeles Daily News and $250,000 punitive damages against Johnson.

FRENCH UNION ASSEMBLY VOTES AGAINST EDC

Consultative Group Recommends Rejection

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP)—The Assembly of the French Union, senior consultative body for France and her overseas territories, recommended today that parliament reject the European Defence Community treaty. The 100-to-83 vote against the sixnation army plan came after an all night session.

The Union Assembly's recommendations have no legal weight. But the vote was another indication of the rough road EDC faces when it comes up for the crucial ratification debate in the National Assembly, tomorrow.

The two-month-old government of Premier Pierre Mendes - France threatens to disintegrate over the explosive European army issue.

Powerful political forces kept up steady pressure on the half-dozen cabinet ministers supporting EDC to resign at once.

These factions were angered by Mendes-France's failure to work harder to get the EDC treaty across in the Assembly. A series of crucial debates was held Thursday night, but no final decisions were taken.

PRESIDENT RETURNS

The threat to the government brought President Rene Coty hurrying back to the Paris from his Normandy vacation for a meeting with Mendes-France. Cabinet meetings take on additional weight and meaning in France when the president is in the city.

Officials said Mendes - France's chief of staff, Andre Philip, resigned two weeks ago after Mendes-France drew up his modified version of EDC which the five other European army countries later turned down at their Brussels conference.

The ultra-nationalist de Gaullist movement theft pressured a no-confidence motion against Mendes-France in the forthcoming debate.

Mendes-France may ask for the resignations of all his ministers, with the idea that he'll ask for the premier to fill in if he needs to use them.

Through this device, the premier would avoid an open cabinet split on EDC and the ministers could vote individually according to their beliefs.

WANT VOTE DELAYED

A group of influential deputies from the Mendes-France majority parties planned last night to discuss the possibility of putting off the vote until more parliamentary support for the passage could be created.

Mendes-France has strongly opposed any delay, arguing that France already has made too many concessions in his hopeful talks.

Despite his eagerness to get the debate going, the premier has been unwilling to back EDC in the test of ranking it the subject of a confidence vote in the Assembly. Defeat on such a vote would require the government to resign, condition which frequently swings votes in the government side.

FONDER TV CABLE

CRESTON, B.C. (CP)—Creston's village commission decided a plebiscite will be held in December to determine whether a closed circuit system should be installed to service the village. Purpose of the plebiscite this is the end of the trail. But it know that in the years to come you will do things that I have done. It has been a rough trail, but a very happy one."

Archbishop Renison recalled the early days of his service in the church when, at 21, he started as a missionary among the Ojibway and Cree Indians along the rugged shores of James bay. He ministered to them for 10 years and translated hymns into Indian tongues.

The young minister was well-trained for his work. He had learned the Indian's customs and language as a boy. He was the son of a Church of England clergyman who came to Canada from Ireland's County Tipperary in 1881 to do missionary work in northern Ontario's Algoma diocese.

Archbishop Renison was educated at Trinity College school at Port Hope, Ont., and at the University of Toronto and completed his theological studies at Wycliffe College, Toronto, in 1898. It was then he went north as a missionary to James bay, travelling much of the way by canoe.

He returned south in 1912 to become rector of the Church of the Ascension in Hamilton, a post he held 15 years. He served overseas during the First World War as chaplain of the 21st battalion, fourth infantry brigade, a Kingston

Talks Break Off Between 12,000 Workers, 2 Large Firms

TORONTO (CP)—Labor Minister Daley announced today he has arranged for a meeting in his office next Wednesday between representatives of the Massey-Harris-Ferguson Ltd. and the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) in an attempt to resume contract negotiations.

The meeting was arranged after negotiations between the company and the union representing 6,000 workers at plants in Brantford, Woodstock and Toronto, broke down.

George Burt, UAW director, said the company and the union met until Sept. 7 to accept its proposals or have no contract at all.

The union had demanded a 10 cent hourly increase, increases in off-shift premiums and improvements in group insurance and pension plans. All were rejected by the recent conciliation board report and the union turned down the report.

Meanwhile, negotiations between Local 1005, United Steel Workers of America (CIO-CCL) and the Steel Co. of Canada broke off Thursday at Hamilton after the union turned down the company's latest offer.

The session was the first since a conciliation report recommending a five-cent hourly pay increase was handed down Wednesday. The union had demanded an 8½-cent boost and the company's latest offer included a 3½-cent increase, retroactive to last April 1 and a new contributory benefit plan which, the company said, would have a combined cost to the company of about 4½-cents an hour.

Representatives of the Massey-Harris and Stelco workers and of employees of Ford of Canada plants in Windsor and Oakville will attend a meeting at Windsor Saturday.

The meeting was called by UAW, USW and United Packinghouse Workers to discuss recent conciliation board reports which recommended less substantial benefits than the unions demanded.

Metropolitan of Ontario, Archbishop Renison, to Retire

MATHESON, Ont. (CP) — An unit, and was director of air force chaplains in the Second World War.

In 1947 he became rector of Vancouver's Christ Church Cathedral and two years later was named Dean of New Westminster. Still later he was appointed Bishop of Athabaska in the Peace river country. In 1952 he came to Toronto to take over the parish of St. James the Less and the duties of H. J. Cody became president of the University of Toronto.

He became head of St. Paul's for 11 years until elected Bishop of Huron in 1943.

He returned to the northland and travelled by airplane, train, canoe, dog team and snowshoe to minister to some 105,000 scattered residents in the diocese covering 600,000 square miles.

In 1952 he was elected Metropolitan of Ontario, succeeding Most Rev. John L. Lyons of Kingston, who resigned because of ill health. His ecclesiastical province included the dioceses of Toronto, Huron, Ontario, Niagara, Ottawa and Moosonee.

He married Elizabeth Maud Bristol of Hamilton in 1914. They have two sons, Robert and George; a grandson and two grand-daughters.

RAIN OF MONEY

WADENA, Sask. (CP)—Currency notes mingled with the hailstones that fell on Wadena during a violent wind and hailstorm. They spread and uprooted a tent in which travelling showmen were playing a "friendly" card game with a large stack of notes on the table.

DUCHESS READY TO OFFICIALLY OPEN EXHIBITION

With Daughter Will Drive to CNE Grounds

TORONTO (CP) — The duchess and princess are in town and today's the big day.

The attractive royal pair, the Duchess of Kent and daughter Princess Alexandra, were to drive the three miles from their downtown hotel to the Canadian National Exhibition grounds for the duchess to officially open this year's mammoth fair.

Their exhibition appearance was the main item in a crammed 2½ days of receptions, dinners and other engagements.

They were to arrive at the exhibition grounds before the annual opening-day luncheon at the administration building and inspect a guard of honor.

SHARE HEAD TABLE

Among those at the head table during luncheon were Lt.-Gov. Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Brelaugh, Premier and Mrs. Frost, Mayor Leslie Saunders and Mrs. Saunders, exhibition president Robert H. Saunders and Mrs. Saunders, Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of Ontario and Mrs. McRuer and Commence Minister Campney.

The push of a button by the duchess was to be the start of a fireworks display and unfurling of flags at the government's building.

Later she was to tour the grounds and at the governments' building meet Steven Rockanas, consultant-engineer for Disneyland, before return to her hotel for a reception for 400.

Changes and improvements mark the 75th exhibition, including the new food corporation building, housing displays that top anything ever presented by Canada's food industry.

Last year the "Ex" was visited by 1,618,000 persons, about 100,000 fewer than the record mainly because of the 1953 cold, disappointing weather could increase this year's attendance to the 3,000,000 officials are aiming Mrs. Frost's age said, has contributed to this (North Atlantic) collaboration and wishes to continue to do so in the spirit the minister hoped, as he knew Mr. Mendes-France and his colleagues hoped, that nothing would happen which would vary or prejudice such collaboration," the embassy statement said.

Paper Says Raid 'Smack in Face' For Attlee

LONDON (Reuters)—The London Evening Standard sees the Chinese Communist raid on the Nationalist-held island of Quemoy as a "flat, calculated and contemptuous smack in the face" for British Labor leader Clement Attlee, who now is visiting China with seven other party members.

The newspaper observes editorially: "The raid was made on a Monday when the Labor party delegation was being entertained to tea on old Chinese restaurant."

The raid could not be "strictly" due to an overzealous display of a civil aircraft immediately after the delegation's departure or the exuberance of a local commander.

But Chinese leaders are sophisticated men well able to judge for themselves of their actions on Western minds.

"Mr. Attlee's humiliation is, in its context 'and circumstances, a very much greater affair than the bombing of Quemoy."

The Standard says the British Labor party in one sense "brought the Communists to heel" by its better relations between China and

Plea for 'Real Emergency Brake' Voiced Before Road Safety Hearing

TORONTO (CP) — A plea for "real emergency brake" instead of the present parking brake was made by members of the select committee of the Ontario legislature on highway safety Thursday.

Acting chairman John Yaremko, of Wilson, Conservative, suggested the brake should not be considered a second, or emergency brake. It is designed to hold cars parked on a grade.

The brief of the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce said no emergency or duplicate braking system is needed because of the reliability of the main brakes. The chamber represents the eight car manufacturers in Canada.

James G. Dykes, general manager of the chamber, said he could not see the need for a second braking system any more than a car would need a duplicate steering wheel.

John Root, (PC — Wellington North), said there is a definite place for a second braking system.

"I've driven 500,000 miles," he said "I've had brake linings and cylinders go. The Highways Traffic Act requires every vehicle except a motorcycle, to have a braking system with two separate applications, each effective on at least two wheels."

The Ontario Medical Association also told the committee Thursday it should study Norway's 24-hr. a drive system which makes it illegal to drive after just one drink.

Pearson Voices Canada's Interest In Fate Of EDC

Message to Mendes-France One of Interest, Sympathy

PARIS (Reuters) — Canadian External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson today sent French Premier Pierre Mendes-France a message expressing his "earnest hope" that a settlement of the European question will be reached.

A Canadian embassy statement issued later said Pearson stated "It would not be an overstatement to say an early settlement providing for German participation in collective defence and for the avoidance of purely national German rearmament is essential to the progress and, possibly, even to the maintenance of that North Atlantic co-operation which has been one of the most important and inspiring post-war contributions to peace and a better future."

The embassy statement said: "The Canadian ambassador in Paris has transmitted a message from the minister for external affairs to Mr. Mendes-France conveying his sympathetic interest in and a sympathetic understanding of the difficulties the government faces with respect to ratification of the European Defence Community treaty and his earnest hope that through his efforts agreement may be reached on Atlantic co-operation."

Canada, Mr. Pearson's message said, has contributed to this (North Atlantic) collaboration and wishes to continue to do so in the spirit the minister hoped, as he knew Mr. Mendes-France and his colleagues hoped, that nothing would happen which would vary or prejudice such collaboration," the embassy statement said.

Former Editor Is Brazil's New President

Following suicide of President Getulio Vargas because of military pressure that he resign, Vice-president Joao Cafe Filho, seen above, automatically became head of Brazil. The shooting to death of an air force officer and wounding of anti-Vargas editor Carlos Lacerda started the political crisis that led to Vargas' suicide Filho, 55, a former editor who had been elected vice-president with Vergas in 1950 took the oath of office without ceremony and in a statement identified himself closely with the dead leader and said Vargas suicide "hit me like a blow."

New Brazilian Finance Minister Takes Office

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Eugenio Gudin, head of the Brazilian Institute of Economics, was sworn in as Brazil's new finance minister Thursday night to steer the country through its financial political crisis.

He said his first concern would be the coffee situation. Declining exports of this main Brazilian product have caused a severe foreign exchange shortage.

Gudin, 68, promised also to do his best to stabilize prices and curb state expenses in an effort to halt growing inflation.

President Joao Cafe Filho appointed Gudin to replace Osvaldo Aranha, who resigned this week with the rest of the cabinet of ex-president Getulio Vargas after Vargas killed himself.

The new foreign minister, Raul Fernandes, told an interviewer the new government will not attempt drastic changes in foreign policy. Under Vargas Brazil was allied solidly with the United States against communism. One of the planks of Vargas' presidential campaign was party platform calls for greater freedom for foreign investors.

The new government might look to normal following riots touched off by Vargas' death. Police and police source expressed confidence the outlawed Communist party was to be soon under control. Reuters.

MUSICAL PROGRAMS GIVEN BY ARMY END THIS WEEK

This week ends the musical programs given each evening by students of the Salvation Army music camp, at Roblin Lake, Ameliasburg. Open to the public, the final presentation will be held Saturday.

A total of 400 enrolled for the Salvation Army summer camp this year, with fifty of the young campers attending the seven-day music camp, taking instrumental instruction, music theory, and a special class for voice tuition. At the end of the camp period there will be examinations, and presentation of diplomas will take place Sunday.

This year the camp is under the direction of Brigadier and Mrs. A. Dixon, youth officer Lt. I. McNeilly, with guest conductor bandsman William Hosty recently out from England, where he was a member of the famous Salvation Army International Staff Band.

Took to Ditch Bit Too Soon, Cars Damaged

Max Morris, Toronto took to ditch a bit too soon Thursday when he was forced off the road by an approaching car, which had turned out to pass a truck.

Morris' car went into the ditch, struck a telephone pole, then bounced back onto the highway just in time to hit the other car as it was going past. No one was injured but damage of about $400 resulted to the cars.

Aubrey McNaughton of Brooklyn, N.Y., was eastbound on No. 2 highway about three miles west of the city when he turned out to pass a truck and forced the approaching car off the road. Provincial Constable Robertson investigated.

Tots-N-Teens, City's Newest Store, Opened

"Tots - N - Teens", Belleville's newest business, opened its doors this morning at 10.30.

The store, owned by Bob Michaud and managed by his wife, Barbara, caters to children from 0 to 14 years, with all the better lines of children's clothes. It also carries an excellent assortment of children's furniture — cribs, carriages, playpens and high chairs.

The staff, formerly the staff of Tiny Tot Town, includes, besides Mrs. Michaur, Mrs. Fern Vandervoort and Mrs. Ethel Rickets.

The store, located at 253 Front Street, is attractively decorated. Wide show windows and a glass door display the interior of the store from the street. Coral pink dominates the color scheme and is featured on the ceiling in the linoleum tile flooring and in the interior of the show cases. Varying shades of green alternate with the pink along the walls and in the floor.

The wall paper is a lighthearted combination of blue pups and yellow ducks.

Show cases line both walls. A narrow centre table and mobile low cost racks leave maximum space in the centre of the store for customer shopping convenience.

A double band of fluorescent tubing runs the length of the store giving it a light and airy atmosphere.

Children's clothing is attractively arranged in the front portion of the store with a comfortable furniture section at the rear. A fitting room and office in the rear complete the accommodations.

Robert "Bob" Michaud, owner of "Tots-N-Teens" was born and educated in Belleville. During the war he was in the RCAF, and since his discharge in 1946 until recently served as manager of Farmer's Furniture store in Belleville.

Eddie Bush Named Coach Of Biltmores

GUELPH (CP) — Eddie Bush, former National Hockey League player and hockey coach in his home town of Collingwood, has been named coach of Guelph Biltmores of the OHA Junior-A series it was announced by Biltmore officials today.

Bush signed a one-year contract to pilot the Guelph club for the coming season. He succeeds Alfie Pike, who was placed under a year's suspension for withdrawing his team in a game at Maple Leaf Gardens last year.

Bush played hockey here before starting his professional career with the Pittsburgh Hornets. He played for Detroit Red Wings and later with Philadelphia Warriors, St. Louis Flyers and Cleveland Barons.

He is survived by two daughters, Irene and Jean, both of Trenton.

MRS. HERBERT BEDELL (Picton)

Emma Alberta Sandleaf, widow of Herbert Bedell, died in Picton, on Tuesday, August 24, in her 85th year. Mrs. Bedell had been ill for the past few months, following surgery. Her passing will be regretted by a host of friends in every walk of life in Picton. All her life Mrs. Bedell had been identified with movements that worked for the good of her native town. She had worked in the Sir Thomas Picton Chapter I.O.D.E., and had been one of those responsible for opening, and helping to furnish the first hospital in Picton. Her husband passed away many years ago, and an only son, Wilfrid Bedell, at the time of the First World War.

The funeral service was held at the G. M. Hicks Funeral Home on Thursday afternoon with interment in Glenwood Cemetery.

GORDON EARL COCHRANE (Campbellford)

CAMPBELLFORD—Funeral services were conducted on Monday for Gordon Earl Cochrane, 58, who died suddenly on Saturday afternoon following a heart attack. Mr. Cochrane had suffered from a heart ailment for the past four years.

Born in Campbellford, he worked as a foreman in the weaving room of the Campbellford Cloth Company. His parents are Peter Cochrane, who resides in Campbellford, and Kate Cochrane, who died some time ago.

His wife, the former Emma Genereux, survives. Also surviving is a step-daughter, Aileen, of Campbellford and one sister, Bess, of Peterborough.

A veteran of the First World War and a member of branch 153 of the Canadian Legion at Campbellford, Mr. Cockrane served overseas for about four years.

Funeral services were conducted by Branch 103 of the Canadian Legion with Legion members acting as bearers and flower bearers, The Rev. A. E. Toombs of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church officiated. Burial was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

MRS. JOSEPH A. DOYLE (Lonsdale)

Mrs. Elizabeth Doyle, Lonsdale, died in Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, Friday morning, August 27, after an illness of one week's duration. She was 69.

The deceased was born in Westport, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Neil, and lived in Westport prior to moving to Lonsdale 36 years ago.

She is survived by her husband, Joseph A. Doyle, four sons and five daughters: Gordon, of Brockville; Harold, of Sudbury; Jack, of London; Joseph, of Belleville; Mrs. E. (Ellen) Cullen, Montreal; Mrs. J. A. (Gertrude) McCallum, Guelph; Mrs. E. (Marian) Cavanaugh, Rochester, N.Y.; Miss Dorothy Doyle, Rochester, and Mrs. J. (Teresa) Hewitt, Napanee.

Also surviving her are two brothers and two sisters: John O'Neil, Detroit; Thomas O'Neil, Alberta; Mrs. P. F. Doyle, Rochester and Mrs. J. J. Keough, Florida.

The deceased was a member of Holy Name of Mary Church, Marysville, the Catholic Women's League and the League of the Sacred Heart. She was active in community affairs, while health permitted.

Resting at the Purcell residence of George F. O'Brien. Funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

THOMAS WILSON CHRISTIE (Madoc Township)

The funeral of Thomas Wilson Christie, Madoc township, who died at his home on Tuesday, following a brief illness, was held from MacKenzie Funeral Home on Thursday. Interment was in O'Hara cemetery with the Rev. J. Giovetti- rector of St. John's Anglican Church, Madoc, officiating.

Bearers were: John Martell, Walter Wilson, Harry Rooke, George Rooke, Henry Reynolds, Oscar Reynolds.

In his 78th year, Mr. Christie was the last of his family. Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Christie, he was a life resident of the district. A farmer, he was retired for the past ten years. Mr. Christie was a member of the Church of England.

The Duchess of Kent and her 17-year-old daughter, Princess Alexandra, stopped briefly at the station Saturday afternoon and while en route to Toronto and came out on the rear platform of their special section to wave at more than 100 spectators.

The Duchess and her daughter, in Canada to open the CNE today, left Montreal at 1.30 p.m. on No. 2 generating station at Hamilton Falls on Monday, were greeted casually for their informal appearance.

The Duchess wore a sky blue cotton dress, a darker blue sweater and a yellow scarf while Princess Alexandra was dressed in a green sweater, greenish plaid skirt, yellow scarf, and low-heeled, open-toed sandals. The latter was smoking a cigaret in a long black holder.

The three car special section bearing the Royal crest on each car, was attached to the rear of No. 3 and arrived at the station 40 minutes behind schedule. Because of the delay the cars were shirt, yellow scarf, and low-heeled, open-toed sandals. The latter was smoking a cigaret in a long black holder.

The three car special section bearing the Royal crest on each car, was attached to the rear of No. 3 and arrived at the station 40 minutes behind schedule. Because of the delay the cars were switched to the Belleville yards and a special train was made up for the Duchess and her entourage on to Toronto. The Royal couple was in the station for approximately 5 minutes.

Belleville police, members of Belleville detachment of the RCMP, and OPP and railway police, as well as divisional personnel of the CNR were on hand.

Only spectators were kept back about 20 feet from the observation platform on which the Royal party appeared, by railway police. White curtains were drawn on all windows in the cars and it was not possible to see into the coaches.

There were no official presentations and no ceremony. An RCMP officer was the only other person to appear on the platform.

Burglars Ransack Front St. Office, Get No Cash

Jimmying the door to gain entrance to the premises, burglars some time last night ransacked the office of the American Hospital Company on Front street and made off with an undetermined amount of display articles.

Desk drawers were turned out and a steel filing cabinet in the office was opened by the thieves who apparently were looking for cash. Expensive binoculars on display in the office were left untouched.

Inspector J. C. Hayes and P. C. Lee of the city police department are investigating the break-in.

Leader Charges Spy Document Was Concocted

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Australian Labor party leader Herbert Evatt today charged a Soviet Petrov spy document was "concocted and fabricated."

Continuing his defiance of the royal commission on espionage, Evatt angrily told today's hearing here that "Document J" had been "concocted to make it appear attractive and worth $25,000."

Prime Minister Robert Menzies' government paid $25,000 to Soviet diplomat Vladimir Petrov after he deserted the Russian embassy last spring and turned over hundreds of secret documents to Australian agents.

Evatt, leader of the Opposition party, has made a political issue of this payment.

The document allegedly was found in the possession of Russian Rupert Lockwood. But, Evatt said, historical errors in the document make Lockwood could not have written it.

Handwriting expert James Rogers told the commission today everything pointed to Lockwood having typed the document.

Evatt claimed "J" had been produced in an "espionage factory" and employed language not normally used by Australians.

One Is Killed, Three Injured In Car Crash

TORONTO (CP)—One man was killed and three injured today when two cars collided near the intersection of highways 7 and 12 Malton road five miles northwest of here.

Killed was John Freeman, 28, an employee of the A. V. Roe Company in Malton.

Injured were R. C. Whitehead, Queen Parker, 32, and Harold Baptiste, 21.

Hospital officials said the three are suffering concussion. Baptiste suffered a broken leg, and the others received facial cuts and eye injuries.

Freeman, who came to Canada five years ago, was married only last March.

U.K. REQUESTS SERVICES OF OTTAWA SCIENTIST

Dr. George S. Field, 49, of Ottawa, chief of division "A" for the defence research board and scientific adviser to the chief of the naval staff, has been seconded from DRB for a tour of duty in the United Kingdom as scientific adviser to the air ministry, D.C. Field's appointment to one of Great' Britain's foremost scientific posts was announced simultaneously in Ottawa and London following a request for his services recently from the secretary of state for air. A physicist with a widely known reputation, Dr. Field distinguished himself during World War II for his contributions to naval research. He was particularly interested in sea mines, his special contribution to those of an acoustical nature. He directed Canada's wartime anti-submarine research program which was carried out on a co-operative basis with the United Kingdom and the U.S.—Central Press Canadian.

Police Trap Set For Extortionist

NEW YORK (AP)—A police trap set in the Fifth avenue home of Serge Rubinstein Thursday snared the alleged leader of a $335,000 extortion plot against the millionaire drug dodger.

Two other men also were arrested outside the town house of the Russian-born Rubinstein, who served two years in prison as a Second World War draft evader and currently is fighting deportation proceedings.

Seized in the financier's quarters was Emanuel Lester, 31, who asserted used tactics in an attempt to force Rubinstein to settle a pending $750,000 federal court suit for $335,000. The suit was filed some months ago as a result of a foreign business transaction.

Rubinstein's lawyer, Edwin B. Wolchok, quoted Lester as saying he'd "put 21 shots" in his own ways "of settling personal matters" when the lawyer refused to settle the case on Lester's terms.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream was quoted at 56 cents here today; 61 cents delivered in Toronto. Butter print 58-59.

The egg market was firm on large, steady to firm on other grades. Offerings were light, demand good.

Quotations provided by the Dominion department of agriculture: Eggs—In fibre cases, graded: A large 56; A medium 37; A small 29; B 31; C 24. Delivered to retail: A large 59; A medium 42; A small 34; B 36; C 28.

Butter solids: Out., first grade, tenderable 58; non-tenderable 56½-57.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market crept cautiously forward in the forenoon today after three straight sessions of losses.

Volume was moderate, just passing the 600,000-mark in the first hour. Papers, utilities, agricultures, foods and manufacturers climbed minor fractions, while refining oils and financial institutions eased.

Senior base metals, western oils and mining holding companies showed light strength. Junior base metals and golds were steady while uraniums eased pennies.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP)—Cattle prices were uneven this week at the Ontario stockyards. Calves and lambs were higher and lambs sold strong to higher.

The run of 9,700 head of cattle was 700 more than last week. Meagre offerings of good to choice steers and heifers helped these grades to gain 25-50 cents a hundredweight.

Shipments to eastern buyers were light and there were no exports to the United States. The estimated carryover is 800 head, plain killers and stockers. There was a broader demand for replacement cattle.

Choice steers, all weights, $21-22; a few loads to $22.25; picked single sales reached $22.50; good steers $20-21; mediums down to $18; good heifers $18-18.50; a few choice at $19; medium heavy heifers down to $16; common light boner steers and heifers down to $8.

Cows opened steady at $12.50-13 Monday morning but by mid-day Tuesday the class was 50 cents to $1 lower; at the close good cows were generally $12 with a few sales at $12.50; canner and cutter cows sold as low as $5 a hundredweight; bulls closed on a par with last week at $12-13 a hundredweight for good heavy bolognas; a few butcher bulls up to $14; common light bulls down to $8, choice-fed yearlings $22-25; a few top steer calves at $23.50; mediums down to $20.

Good replacement cattle generally $18-19; mediums down to $16; a few lots of common heifers as low as $14.

Calves totalled 1,900 head; good to choice veal calves were active and $1 a hundredweight higher this week on a light offering of these grades; medium calves $14-21; common light dairy type grass calves down to $8.

Hogs were about 2,800 head; prices were 25-50 cents a hundredweight higher with grade A selling at $28.50, $1 $27.50; several lots sold at $28.75; sows were $2-2.50 a hundredweight higher selling at $18-19.50 a hundredweight dressed.

Sheep and lambs totalled 1,800 head; lambs firm to 50 cents a hundredweight higher in spots; lambs delivered by rail were unchanged at $23 a hundredweight; delivered by truck they were 50 cents higher at $22.50 a hundredweight; bucks were discounted $1 a hundredweight; common to medium lambs $15-20 a hundredweight; good light sheep $8-10; common sheep down to $4.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The bell from an old sealing ship, used in the chapel at nearby Pepperrell air base for several years, has be discarded in favor of chimes. The bell was acquired by the U.S. air force after it was saved from a sinking ship in 1944.

Tennant Denies Romance Rumor With Princess

LONDON (AP) — The Evening Standard today quotes Colin Tennant as denying there was a romance between him and Princess Margaret.

The romantic rumors blossomed recently when the press noticed the 27-year-old son of Lord and Lady Glenconner was a frequent escort of the princess.

Princess Margaret "has friends all over the world and deserves every one of them," the Standard quotes Tennant as saying when asked about the rumors. "What more can I say?"

Tennant was among the guests at Margaret's 24th birthday party at Balmoral Castle, last weekend.

EDC Ministers May Hold Meet If Pact Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP)—An unofficial report from Europe said Thursday that the foreign ministers of the six EDC countries and of Britain and the United States will meet in Paris early next month if France rejects the European Defence Community Treaty.

Purpose of this session, the report said, would be to chart West Germany's future — specifically, how to grant it sovereignty and integrate it with western defence.

British and French sources declined comment today of such a scheduled meeting. So did the U. S. high commissioner's office in West Germany.

The state department in Washington, however, said say nothing at all about the report.

"I am unable to comment on any phase of EDC," replied department press officer Henry Suydam when asked about it. As to why, he replied:

"One reason is that the issue is before the French assembly on Saturday and that is a good reason for not commenting."

Air Services' Director Named

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Vice Marshal J. L. E. A. de Niverville, a First World War pilot who became the highest French-speaking officer in the RCAF, today was appointed director of the transport department's air services.

The 57-year-old Montreal officer, who retired from the RCAF in 1945 and became associate director of air services succeeds Air Vice Marshal A. T. N. Cowley who retires on superannuation, the transport department announced.

Canada Deeply Concerned Over EDC Dispute

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is deeply concerned that strife over French ratification of the European Defence Community might affect co-operation among the North Atlantic Treaty partners.

This was the interpretation placed by officials here today on the message sent to French Premier Mendes-France by External Affairs Minister Pearson.

The message was not a note but was delivered orally to the French premier by Archibald Day, Canadian minister to Paris.

Officials said that since NATO is the cornerstone of Canadian foreign policy, this country has always been acutely concerned that co-operation among the NATO partners, including France, be maintained and improved.

"The main intention of the message was to impress upon the French premier the hope that some settlement of the general problem can be reached without prejudice to NATO," one authority said.

Differences of opinion over EDC might lead to differences of opinion within NATO, officials said.

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Commodore J. L. Hurley, 47, of Fredericton, N. B., head of the RCAF staff college at Toronto, will retire early next month, the air force announced today.

Moving Fraud Case to be Heard By Military Court

QUEBEC (CP)—Twenty-five soldiers charged in a $10,000 furniture-moving fraud are scheduled to appear before a military court of justice at Valcartier army camp next week, Col. Jacques Dextraze, quartermaster general of the Eastern Quebec military district, announced today.

The men have been in military cells for a month at Valcartier, 15 miles north of Quebec.

Thirty-two army members and one civilian—owner of a furniture-moving firm—were said to be involved when the fraud was uncovered in mid-July. The civilian has not, been charged.

Col. Dextraze said the proceedings of the military court will be closed but in the event of a court martial the proceedings would probably be public.

New Brunswick Uranium Finds Touch Off Boom

FREDERICTON (CP) — Discovery of uraniuni deposits in three widely-separated sections of New Brunswick has touched off the province's second mining boom in less than two years, provincial government officials said Thursday night.

The most promising find was reported in the Harvey and York Mills district of York county where at least seven mining companies have sent prospectors and drilling equipment.

Other finds have been reported by a geologist at Robinsonville, Restigouche, county and on the southeast Upsalquitch river, C. T. Ritchie of Upsalquitch and Toronto said grab samples had shown from 1.52 to 2.48 per cent uranium oxide by chemical analysis.

Plan Underway To De-Emphasize 'The Kremlin'

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP)—A campaign is underway to de-emphasize the Kremlin as the seat of Soviet government power and to establish the ancient walled fortress as a symbol of Russian history and culture.

Government leaders are moving out to new offices while and many government departments already have been established elsewhere in Moscow. A plan has even been announced to move the bodies of Nikolai Lenin and Joseph Stalin from their Red square tomb to planned new mausoleum in the outlying Lenin hills.

Persons present at the British embassy reception for former British prime minister Clement Attlee and his Labor party delegation during their recent visit to Moscow said Communist party secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev told them the government hopes to open the entire Kremlin to the public as a museum within a relatively short time.

The informants said Khrushchev did not tell them the government was planning to leave the Kremlin, altogether. They said such a conclusion might be drawn from the plans to make it a museum.

The Red square fronting on the Kremlin presumably will still be used for military parades and popular demonstrations.

IS HIGHER PRODUCTION THE ANSWER?

Mr. Percy Bengough, who is retiring as head of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, made a speech at Regina last week.

The Toronto Globe and Mail, quite properly, takes him to task on several points. On the main point at issue, though, Mr. Bengough's interpretation of economic facts appears more reasonable than that of the Globe and Mail.

Mr. Bengough urged a reduction in immigration, an increase in tariffs, efforts to diminish the wage-earning population by raising the age for leaving school and lowering the age for retirement and a curtailment of Canada's foreign aid program.

We join with the Globe and Mail in thinking that he is wrong on all these points.

Most people, though, in all walks of life would be willing to accept Mr. Bengough's belief that our present economic difficulties cannot be solved by higher production.

"Just a little while ago," he said, "we were told that production and more production was the answer to our problems. Now we have no problems of production. We can provide far more than we can use, and will as long as a high priority is set on money values and a low priority on human values."

To this the Globe and Mail replies: "If we have no problems of production, if we can provide far more than we can use, what is all this talk about a housing shortage?"

A year or so ago, by referring to the housing problem, the Globe and Mail might have selected an exception to the general rule. Today, however, it is extremely doubtful whether the shortage of houses is any different from the shortage of a host of other things which, as the Globe and Mail says, thousands of Canadians want and need but are going without. They are going without, in many cases, because they cannot afford to purchase them, not because we lack the ability to produce them. The Globe and Mail views this as a production problem, in very serious one, which is to provide goods at a price which consumers at home and abroad can afford to pay." That such a problem exists almost every Canadian, including Mr. Bengough, would admit. This, however, is more correctly described as a problem of distribution, rather than of production. It is quite obvious that Mr. Bengough recognized the existence of the problem. He was, however, still correct when he declared that "we can provide far more than we can use" for we cannot use the products of our mines, mills, fields and factories unless we can afford to pay for these goods.

"Present unemployment is essentially a matter of costs, and hence prices, running too high," says the Globe and Mail. That is correct. The answer is to reduce these costs. One way is to reduce wages. That would help Canada to compete in overseas markets, but lower prices in the domestic market would be offset by reduced consumer income. Moreover, while some costs of the average family would be reduced, not all would be lowered. Many a family today has to face fixed charges, in the form of payments on mortgages created at a time of high prices and wages. Any substantial reduction in the nation's wage scale would create a formidable crisis for many families, for the financial institutions and mortgage loan firms and for the government itself.

What is the solution? We can offer none — beyond expressing the belief that it is neither Mr. Bengough's remedies of reduced immigration, increased tariffs, a dissatisfied working population and curtailment of foreign aid, nor the Globe and Mail's method of calling what is basically a problem of distribution by another and misleading name and terming it a production problem.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS

An Associated Press report says that U.S. businessmen are hopeful but a little nervous about the prospect for an upturn in the nation's economic activity this fall.

Where experts differ, it would appear unprofitable for a layman to speculate. Still, the Associated Press report contained two sentences which provide food for thought.

"Consumer income," it is said, "stays high. What was lost by factory layoffs and the drop in overtime pay was pretty much regained through tax cuts, U.S. social security payments and increased dividend and interest payments."

The implication is that because the total consumer income is practically unchanged, the effect that this income will have on business is unchanged.

Surely that is a dangerous over-simplification?

Factory wages are normally spent for consumer goods. The same applies, though to a lesser degree, to overtime pay. Social security payments one would expect to be expended for goods. It is not so certain that money retained by citizens as the result of tax cuts will be spent. It may be saved. A good proportion of increased dividend and interest payments will almost certainly be re-invested, or saved. Some of these savings will be used to purchase capital goods, rather than to increase consumer goods. Economists differ more often than they agree, but if there is one point of agreement between different schools of thought, political, economic and social credit alike, it is that depressions or recessions often have their origin in a disproportionate amount of money being spent on goods which produce more goods and not enough money being spent on goods which are consumed by the consumer.

Hopes for an improvement in business conditions in the U.S. this fall may prove justified but it would hardly appear safe to base them on the fact that total consumer income remains high.

SUNDAY SUIT

When I was just a growing lad
A "Sunday suit" always had,
And when had passed the Saturday bath day
'Twas brushed and pressed and put away.

Six days a week I used to wear
A suit designed for wear and tear;
But Sunday meant that I must be,
As mother told me: "Fit to see."

That seemed to be the custom then
For little boys and grown up men,
And so that he might look his best
A "Sunday suit" my dad possessed.

But times have changed. Now little boys
Have various suits to fit their toys.
I think it something to deplore
We hear of "Sunday suits" no more.

Seeking Right To Pay Taxes

(Windsor Star)

To individuals burdened by heavy income tax the idea of living in a tax-free state may appear idyllic. People would have so much money to spend on their own. But usually it is the reverse of paradise.

Most of the taxes paid by people through their local council have petitioned for the right to pay income tax. They want it collected, in this manner just the same as other Danish subjects. Non-payment of taxes is a crime in an inferior position.

There is more to it than just pride or self-respect. Green landers figure if they pay income taxes they will be able to get more money to improve local conditions. It is a right and not just as a handout.

This, of course, is the essence of taxes. They are the commitment of poor services and low standards of living. Instead of living in luxury, people have to put up with primitive conditions. Countries with the highest standards of living, generally, also hit those with the highest taxes.

It is erroneous to think of taxes as money wasted—unless there is waste in the expenditures of tax money. The revenues go to provide the improved life of the people. In democracies the people themselves, through their elected representatives, decide how they should be spent.

Money for defence, or war purposes is in a different category, of course. It helps protect prevailing standards and way of life, but is non-productive. Otherwise taxes wisely used are very contribute to the betterment of all the people of a nation.

This is no argument for excessive taxation. Excesses in taxation, as other excesses, are harmful.

Engineer's Kind Waves

(Stratford Expositor)

Of all the good men in this world, one of the best is the locomotive engineer who waves at little boys.

Maybe he waves because he has a son or grandson of his own—a boy for whom the day's highlight is the thrilling pound-past of a long freight or the sudden swoosh of the super-deluxe streamliner.

Or maybe he likes to be remembers waving at locomotive engineers himself two-or three score years ago.

Or, of course, maybe he just likes waving.

But whatever the reason—and whether he realizes it or not—the locomotive engineer who waves at little boys creates a lot of happiness.

If he does realize it, he must sleep well.

So must some other good men.

The bus driver, for instance, who has a smile instead of a scowl for the little boy who wants to put his mother's ticket into the farebox.

The policeman who unbends and says "Hi!" to the same little boy.

The neighbor who'll spare five minutes to let the two-year-old "help cut the grass."

Or the stranger who'll spare 10 seconds and wait for that red ball to turn green—when he sees you're trying to teach your lad about traffic signals.

A lot of these good men and the good things they do go unnoticed—until it's you whose hand the two-year-old holds as he waves at the engineer and drops the ticket into the box and says "Hi!" to the policeman and "helps cut the grass" and tries so hard to learn about green lights . . .

Then you really notice the good men.

Editor Tells Sad Story

By Robert U. Brown
in Editor and Publisher

We wish there were time to peruse all of the grass roots press that thunders editorials and small dailies serving our smaller communities, thoughtful words of wisdom, bright comments, sound reasoning, spring from philosophical pens and papers.

One comes this week from the pen (or typewriter) of Ed Markham, editor of the Brodhead (Wis.) Independent Register, who writes:

"I don't know how newspapers got into the world, and I don't think 'God does, for they aren't mentioned in the Bible. Maybe the editor was one of the fallen angels, for he seems to fall for about everything people tell him.

"If the editor prints what is true, folks say he ought to be hung; if a lawyer makes a mistake, he speaks the case; when a doctor makes a mistake, they say nothing, because they don't know Latin and they couldn't read his writing if they did.

"A good doctor can use a word a mile long and it won't make any difference if he is right. What it means, for folks will think he's educated, while an editor has to be able to spell every word right. If the doctor goes to see another man's wife, he charges for his visit, while if the editor goes, he gets shot.

"People that call the doctor and get well think he's a great man, but if they don't get well they're dead and can't say anything. Two-thirds of the folks in town are sore at the editor because he knows the paper said something about them they don't like or said something nice about somebody else.

"The editor might have continued his editorial by saying: People are funny. They like to be insulted as suburbia over the tea cups or around the cracker barrel, but if it gets in print they deny having said it. If someone makes an accurate prediction he is proud to have another public soothsayer, but if reminded of his statement he denies it and will scream that the editor is trying to ruin his reputation.

"People will come into the editor's office and tell him he ought to do this and say that and not this and that. When asked if they want data for quotation on the subject, they usually back down.

"We have freedom of expression in this country and most people exercise it to a certain small extent as long as their thoughts are not being recorded for posterity. But most of them, when they face the possibility of their names down by the printed word, are insecure in their own opinions.

Pointers Pleasing Dogs

(London Spectator)

Of all the dogs I have ever seen in action, the movements of a pointer please me most. It is perhaps the way they tread and lope from one scent to another, growth to another and the way they carry their tails until the moment of action, but it is chiefly their behavior so fascinating.

The pointer is the only dog that breath, spellbound in admiration of the statue that a pointer becomes. It is the way it stands there with his head still and his foot raised.

I am no expert on field dogs or the finer points of their behavior, but I think the pointing dog is as much part of natural life as the way of a hopping falcon or a weasel searching a hedgerow for mice.

I watched a pointer at work this week and a magnificent animal he was too. Delight in his owner's heart as he moved through cover and low undergrowth marking the game under it made me wish to have such a dog.

Broad Feet Bring Success

(Winnipeg Tribune)

An English physician claims to have discovered that people with wide feet have more chance not succeed in life than those with narrow feet.

This runs counter to the oft-heard complaint, from editorial writers, ditch diggers, coal passers and other downtrodden, that the world is run by people with eyes and broad across the toes and condemns them to a life of toil.

It does however tend to support the Chinese poet Li Po, who wrote 1,100 years ago that while formerly he had yearned for a brilliant son who might bring him honor, he had come to yearn for a stupid one who might become prime minister of China that is.

The good doctor admits that his theory shows a 10 per cent margin of error, and he does not define with any great precision what it means to succeed in life.

He did find one thing very definitely, however: which makes him wonder if it is anonymous. He revealed his theory to 200 of his friends and colleagues and found that it lost friends and alienated patients. Those who had wrong feet became offended and declared he was crazy. Those with right feet, he thought he was pulling their leg.

That is human nature—and that, perhaps, is the one thing that does distinguish it most distinctly from moment to moment.

Painless Vacation

(London Free Press)

Are you just back from a holiday vacation? Are you in the refreshing creel, a two-ton punctured by mosquito bites, a radiator full of boiling oil and a headache reduced to two? Then you will want to try the new Painless, Cheap Vacation Plan. It took some men a lifetime to learn this secret.

Here is the plan. Listen with feigned interest while your neighbor tells you about the wild fields his road map and tells you how he's going to get to Camp Wanderlust in four days and fast driving. (That's what he thinks.)

Watch television or listen to the radio until 1 a.m. on Saturday. Then get up at the alarm clock. Wake up whenever you like. Have breakfast in your pajamas. Water the lawn, wearing your crumsiest clothes. That was work, but you're not going or drive downtown. You won't meet a soul. Maybe the boss or wife out for a leasurely dinner. The restaurants won't be crowded. Neither will the movies, so take in a picture.

If you decide to enjoy the plot, make up your own. Cars bumper-to-bumper heading north, east or west. Heavy honking. The smell of exhaust fumes, the flash of brake lights, the accidents, the endless frustrations. You know the scenario of old. Embellish it. Live it.

Repeat paragraph three on Monday. Start March Over on change. You'll find it strangely satisfying. Have another snooze. Then go to work. Remember to drive out to one of the highway intersections, just for the good program and then watch the home-bound parade. Tired faces etc., and the harassed mothers, the cranky children, the smell of exhaust fumes etc., etc.

Go to the office the next day and listen with feigned interest to the yarns about the fish that didn't get caught, all the nerve-wracking traffic problems. You might have had, tell the other guy, but didn't. Painless, Cheap Vacation Plan.

If enough people stay home to try it, we hardly sell a magazine if the art editors had to portray homely-looking characters like you and me. Imagine a number one feature love story about a girl weighing 187 pounds and a

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WHEN THE NOVELTY IS OVER

Nearly every writer, poet, or public man, has arrived, or will in time arrive, at the day when he as a novelty will be over. Fame is trickster. The crowd that cheers and pays well for entertainment has some other popular name upon the brief honeymoon. Sometimes Mammon comments upon this in his book "The Summing Up." He tells us that he is "the most unpopular" "They don't want me any more." He has stated the reason for discontinuing play writing was for the reason that he felt he had written himself out, and he turned to fiction.

We who read newspapers recall when a name as a feature writer whose popularity long ago went to the limbo of "has been" and by many a writer of books. Only the great survive. I can have no reason for bitterness as "nobody" as I am a student of literature and early learned to love all that was worth reading.

I am happy if I have served and been the means of inspiring others to make books. It is a little hour and given comfort thereby. I know my worth better than anyone else and am willing to abide by it. I am honored and complimented when I am taunted with envy. But when I am appreciated I sit on a chair in my seventh heaven!

I am not sure that it is not to have been appreciated or to have enjoyed even for a little time the good opinion of one's fellows. Some of this there is nothing to look back upon but a blank and a heartache. Even the great of this earth however never experienced even their day of novelty. They came to W. H. Hudson the great naturalist, begging for his writings and he had to send them money to get them. Then it was too late, for his dream of adequate appreciation had gone. He died miserably up on the morning, as the poet Byron had, to find himself famous was not for Hudson.

WHY CREAMPUFF SMOKERS GET COLD FEET

After all, there are some signs of improvement in this wicked world. A Philadelphia man has retired from the stick-up business, a New Orleans woman no longer conducts a finishing school for gentlemen and the American Medical Association has quit selling cigarets.

Dr. Brady

It wouldn't astonish me to hear one of these days that the KLIX NICK racketeers who have created medicine into a wretched kind of business have decided they can now afford to junk the Sober Goldberg machine for measuring basal metabolism, since many are becoming aware that the metaboli-meter gives little diagnostic information except that the customer is under a free spender, and that's always nice to know, don't you think?

A crapulent smoker is a hoggish gen. Usually a cigaret smoker, a cigaret smoker is one who indulges to excess. Not only hoggish but frequently offensive and rude in his habits. I got to her disregard for the sensibilities of people around him. The cigaret smoker blows his smoke in the face of a person whom he comes across on the street, and he always leaves a lighted cigaret where it will burn furniture and coverings; the hog strews the environment with ashes and foul odds.

Common queer individuals who are apparently developing thrombo-angiitis obliterans (the disease) from excessive smoking, nearly if not quite always cigarets, is how long will it take to destroy circulation in your legs if you quit smoking altogether?

The answer is, you'd better quit about 15 years ago if you hope to avoid amputation. Of course the doctor can't tell this as much as possible, short of encouraging the victims of cold feet to think he or she can smoke a smoke when no one knows about it.

Now I'm not sure that thromb-angiitis obliterans in a young adult is invariably caused by crapulent smoking. A few cases have occurred in persons who have never smoked at all. I have often wished I could obtain the history of such persons, particularly trustworthy information regarding possible exposure to atmosphere polluted with carbon monoxide. It is almost certainly the carbon monoxide in cigaret smoke that is responsible for the constriction of arterioles and the cell or tissue asphyxia (anoxia) in the legs that characterizes thromb-angiitis.

When a heavy smoker of cigarets begins to complain of cold feet, comfort from cold feet, and the feet or foot has a reddish-purple discoloration, or the toenails have blanches corpse-white when held between fingers, he or she had better make the last smoke the last, and before pain or cramp in the calves appears, or at least pain-cramp is cramp relieved by sitting down and elevating the leg to vertical.

Most investigators of the effect of smoking agree that cigarets are most harmful, cigars less harmful and pipe smoking least harmful of all.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THAT NEEDED MARGIN

People very often disregard some moral convention and think nothing of it because it apparently brings no immediate disastrous results, so far as they are concerned. But we should never forget that although we may not need a certain social convention for our moral protection, somebody else may need it, and it is therefore essential that we do disregard anything which might be of benefit to any other person, even the humblest.

We may well liken the human race to a large company of people whose souls are at the top. The pyramid broadens as it goes down, and the great mass of humanity to be found at the lower levels of the pyramid. Imagine such a pyramid placed in a body of water. Something occurs which causes the pyramid to sink slowly into the water. Usually as the top are utterly unaffected by the sinking, but the sinking has overtaken the middle and the souls of thousands and perhaps millions at the base of the pyramid. The sinking process could go on and the waters rise for a great deal before even the souls at the top would be affected. But each sinking would engulf multitudes lower down on the pyramid.

In this liberal age, millions of people have come to disregard what we call "moral" standards, or what we—are casting moral convention to the winds. We don't need these things," they say. But conventions are always necessary. They are always for a wide margin of moral safety.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Love does not always come in pretty packages. In fact, according to a sort of Dr. Gallup among the pamper-your-children set, we always making surveys up side alleys, then not often seen down in pretty packages. The greatest love stories among the married people he investigated were those of the homeliest men and the plainest women. One of the ugliest men and women amongst the married folk belong to the best looking men and the prettiest women.

In brief, the quality of the love of the married seems to vary in inverse ratio to their good looks.

This is surprising only because of popular fiction. In the fiction magazines the hero is always big and handsome, the heroine small and beautiful. This may be due to the demands of the art editors of these flashing publications. It would hardly sell a magazine if the art editors had to portray homely-looking characters like you and me. Imagine a number one feature love story about a girl weighing 187 pounds and a boy five feet five weighing 189 pounds wearing a size 6 3-4 hat! Yet all over creation this month, this summer and next summer and dinghies, under the August skies, thousands of such couples are afloat on love's fleecy pink clouds. And many of them will have the story that no editor ever sees, will have years and grow better as the years whirl by.

If two attractive looking people fall in love, there is a chance they have fallen for the package, as the salesmen say, not the contents. When two unattractive or plain looking people, however, they fall in love, it must necessarily be the contents that are interested in, rather than the package.

Soldier, Home from Korea With Japanese Bride, Daughter Warmly Welcomed by Friends

TRENTON, (Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Fulford, of Bayside Street, welcomed home their soldier son, Gerald and his Japanese bride and their new grandaughter, Linda-Marie, on Wednesday night.

The Fulford residence was gaily decorated with bunting and Union Jacks befitting the long awaited homecoming.

A "Welcome Home" sign hung over the front entrance to the living room while relatives and friends gathered around to give the soldier and his wife bride a warm reception.

Corporal Fulford with No. 2 Administrative unit of the Canadian Army Force in Japan met Miss Mukai of Hiro, Japan, were married by an army chaplain in Hiro four months after they met over a sale of a souvenir the corporal was hoping to send back to Canada.

Yoshie was a sales girl in the shop. The corporal returned many times to the shop before he convinced her that she should become his wife and return to Canada.

SPOKE NO ENGLISH

Yoshie spoke no English, the corporal no Japanese but after 20 hours of instruction he learned so much the language well enough to convince Yoshie that his intentions were serious.

Yoshie's father and mother live on a farm near Hiro, situated in 35 miles from Hiroshima the target for the first atomic bomb dropped in war. She has a vivid recollecting of that sordid explosion but was reluctant to talk about it. She told her husband that the blast rocked houses and buildings in Hiro and a brilliant flash, which turned darkness into daylight followed. Her pretty eyes seemed to reflect the terrible experience as she helped her husband with the story.

Corporal Fulford made several trips to Hiroshima now almost reconstructed with the exception of the twisted framework on one of the buildings that directly faced where the blast and which has been preserved as a reminder of the horror of all horrors of modern war.

A gift shop has been set up in the ruins. The shopkeeper is one of the city men who came through the terror and shows 45 surgical operations to prove it.

BOTTLES FUSE TOGETHER

Three bottles sitting on a merchant's shelf were through the radiation and molten heat. They were fused together and flattened out. This is just one of the many pieces displayed in this souvenir hunters emporium, according to Corporal Fulford.

Yoshie had a good look at Canada on the train trip across country from Vancouver. Her sole comment was "I think Canada is big and there are lots of trees." Her husband explains that the trees in Japan are a much smaller variety and not so numerous.

The Fulfords plan to visit in Trenton for a week or more and then before the coppers go they leave is up look forward to a trip to Halifax to see Yoshie's closest and only friend in Canada Sgt. Karl Farmer's wife also a Japanese bride.

YEARNS TO RETURN

Corporal Fulford is glad to be back in Trenton but he yearns to return to Japan, a country whose people and habits he learned to live after 23 months. He anticipates a further discharge from the army. He expects to go into partnership with his father on a farm near Trenton. He looks forward to the day, when he can take his wife and child back to Japan to visit her people. Yoshie left behind five sisters and four brothers.

Mrs. Fulford has noticed the difference in Canadian foods but her husband finds the courses the same as Japanese restaurants served the tourists. Food over there was just as tasty but much cheaper," he noted.

Medical Assoc. To Study System Used by Norway

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Medical Association Thursday told the select committee on highway safety it should study Norway's drink-and-drive "system" which makes it illegal to drive after just one drink.

Dr. Glen Sawyer, association secretary, in his brief said the medical men are not suggesting implementation of the Norway plan. But they felt it should be studied.

Dr. R. M. Mitchell of Sudbury, president of the association, questioned the usefulness of blood tests.

"A man may have a drink and seem to be in an accident, and yet seem sold sober to the police and tell a good story," he said.

"Yet alcohol may have played a definite part in the accident. It may be psychological. They may have the answer in Norway."

TESTS USEFUL

The medical brief said present tests are useful in detection of gross impairment "but the association realizes there are areas of dangerous impairment for which no acceptable test has yet been devised."

The Toronto Cartage Association differed with the medical men on the most important issue in accidents.

"It is bad judgment on the roads, not liquor," said Clifford Howard, association counsel.

Mr. Howard asked the committee to recommend a change in legislation so that drivers of commercial vehicles, not the owners, would be summoned in case of traffic violations.

WANT DRIVER TO PAY

"We want the driver to pay the fines, or pay the lawyer to fight the charge," he said. "It will make a greater impression on the driver and encourage safety."

The Medical Association also suggested that initial tests should be given applicants for drivers' licences: a medical history of physical impairment and a practical screening to cover such points as distance perception, reaction time and literacy. The practical test would be mandatory each year for persons over 70.

The tests could be given by trained personnel under supervision of the Ontario provincial police who failed to meet the minimum standards should be referred to a special appraisal board.

Weddings

HAIRE—EMPEY

Tall standards of gladioli, asters and snapdragons formed a lovely setting in Holloway Street United Church on Saturday, August 21st at 3.00 p.m., when the Rev. S. E. Lawson united in marriage Miss Jane Empey, of Belleville, young-est daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Empey, and Harry Ian Haire, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Haire, of Belleville.

Traditional wedding music was rendered by Mr. William J Connor, great uncle of the bride, during the ceremony. He also accompanied the soloist, Mr. A. Duby, who sang "Because", and "Through The Years."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a strapless gown of white, peau d'ange lace and gossamer tulle, featuring a fitted bodice with matching lace jacket, and long skirt. Her fingertip veil of embroidered tulle illusion was held in place by a tiara encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of Pinocchio roses and stephanotis.

The attendants wore gowns of net and taffeta in ankle-length; Miss Joyce Martin maid of honor, in pale green and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Sheila Coon, sister of the bride, in daffodil yellow, and Miss Edna Orser in mauve. All wore lace gloves and matching headdresses in bandeau style. They carried lace fans ornamented with harmonizing flowers.

The little flower girl, Susan Westfall, of Calgary, Alberta, and niece of the bride, was sweet and demure, frocked in white, having a full skirt and puffed sleeves, edged with lace. She wore a tiny lace bandeau and carried a miniature fan of pink roses.

Mr. Fred Haire, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, and the ushers were, Messrs. Carman Coon and Tom Haire, all of Belleville.

The reception was held at the bride's home on the lawn, which was artistically decorated for the occasion. Pink and white streamers cascaded from white wedding bells above the bride's table, which was centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped by a silver loving cup and tiny roses. A froth of tulle surrounded the base, while satin streamers fell in graceful loops from the cake top to the four corners of the table which was enhanced by vases of pink and white carnations.

The bride's mother received, wearing a grey flitted gown, fleck pink velour hat and gloves, and corsage of white chrysanthemums. The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing navy blue with white accessories, and corsage of pink roses.

For traveling the bride wore a dress of glacier blue with silver verfleck, white accessories, and corsage of red roses.

Guests were present from Calgary, Oshawa, Lindsay, Dymond-ville and Trenton.

Prior to the marriage ceremony the bride received a telegram of good wishes from a girl friend in England

Recent Bride Feted By Showers of Gifts

Previous to her marriage Mrs. Harry Brian Haire, nee Mona Jane Empey, was the happy recipient of many lovely gifts presented to her at showers held in her honor. One was held at the home of Miss Joyce Martin, her maid of honor, on Catherine Street, which about 20 girl friends of the bride assembled to wish her much happiness in the years ahead.

The evening was spent in games and contests after which the bride-to-be and guests retired to the dining room where wedding bells and pink and white streamers formed a canopy over the table which was centred by a beautifully decorated basket filled to over-flowing with wrapped gifts for which each donor was most graciously thanked, after which the hostess, Mrs. Westerfelt and co-hostess served delightful refreshments.

Mrs. D. Redpath held a linen shower with 20 friends of the bride present. The home was delightfully adorned in pink and white streamers, wedding bells, and multi-colored balloons.

Games, contests, and a social get-together passed a most enjoyable evening. Later, an attractively decorated bassinette was brought in heaped with beautiful gifts.

After opening the gifts, and reading the lovely cards which accompanied each one, the bride-elect expressed her appreciative thanks to each and all, both for their well wishes, and for the tangible evidences of those wishes.

Refreshments, served by the hostess and the co-hostess concluded a pleasant occasion.

Plan to Licence School Teachers Is Proposed

TORONTO (CP)—A plan for licencing teachers was proposed Thursday at the annual convention of the Federation of Women Teachers' Association of Ontario.

"It will be many years before the public in general and boards of trustees will consider valuable the federation's stamp of approval" said teacher Margaret Grant of Toronto.

Purpose of licensing public school women teachers, Miss Grant said, would be to raise qualifications of the teachers, protect the profession from teachers who have been proven inefficient and improve public esteem of the teaching profession. The 400 delegates approved the idea and voted for further study of the plan.

Miss Grant said the holding of a "licence" would be something over and above the holding of a teaching certificate under the plan.

Delegates criticized the department of education's emergency plan for recruiting public school teachers. They said the summer courses would degrade the profession by lowering training requirement standards.

Dr. Eleanor Boyce, Winnipeg school inspector, suggested each province should set up a table of equivalents in teacher qualifications so that teachers would know where they stood on the salary scale and qualification list throughout Canada.

'Just a Little Afraid' of Job Says Colonel Mary Railton

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Slim, active Col. Mary Railton is "just a little afraid" of her new job as boss of the 6,500-strong Women's Royal Army Corps.

The new post, which she assumes Sept. 3 with the rank of brigadier, climaxes a 16-year military career.

"It's really frightening," she said, "to think that all major matters of policy, uniform and rules of conduct for the entire corps will be my responsibility."

The blue-eyed, 49-year-old officer now is deputy director of the women's section in the army's southern command. Her new job will be little different in routine—"just fluch bigger."

PICKED FROM FIVE

Col. Railton is proud of her new appointment. She was one of five officers under consideration as successor to retiring Brig. Dame Francis Goddard. The appointment is for a maximum term of three years and during that time she will be the only brigadier in the female force. Her only superior will be the Princess Royal as major-general.

The colonel's keenest ambition is to see an interchange of officers between British and Commonwealth women's forces. This has been proposed and is under discussion, but negotiations are still in the early stages.

"It would be a wonderful finish to my service experiences," she said. Col. Railton has met many officers from other countries and a close liaison is kept, by correspondence, between the directors of the "Commonwealth women's army forces, including Canada's reserve force.

TO TRAVEL FAR

She looks forward with enjoyment to the extensive travelling—within a set budget—which is part of her new job. She wants to visit such places as Singapore and Hong Kong and there will be trips to Gibraltar, Germany and other bases.

One of her first problems is to find a flat in London for entertainment purposes—"a necessary part of the job." Col. Railton finds entertainment an excellent way in which to meet visiting officers.

Col. Railton was a corporal driver when the Second World War started. She had joined the army in 1938, after service with the First Aid Nursing Yeomanry, and in 1940 was commissioned as a junior subaltern at transport command in Bristol. It was her responsibility to organize the transport of blood supplies to blitz areas.

"It was a job worth doing against challenging odds," she recalled.
